

FRANK FREEMAN

Frank Freeman, native of Dobson, is one of the younger members of the Surry county bar and has spent his entire life in the Surry county seat. He was graduated from the Dobson High School and then attended The Citadel at Charleston, S. C., N. C. State College and took his law course at Wake Forest College. He taught school at Germanton one year and at Dobson two years before entering into the practice of his profession. Freeman has taken an interest in civic affairs and politics since he returned to Dobson. He is Surry county chairman for the celebration of President Roosevelt's birthday and is vice-president of the Surry County Young Democratic Club. He is also attorney for the four-county REA of Surry, Yadkin, Forsyth and Stokes county. He is a son of the late R. C. Freeman, for more than 40 years an attorney at Dobson and one of Northwestern North Carolina's best known men. He is a member of the Dobson Methodist Church and teaches the Men's Bible Class. He is married to the former Miss Clara Smith of Reidsville.
