Of my many genealogical questions, these 3 are causing the greatest current bottlenecks in my search.

Spring 2005

1. Who were Squire Brown's parents?
Squire was born around 1798 in (now) Surry County and married Elizabeth Farrington, who was born in Guilford County.

2. Who were Rhoda Dudley's parents? (Dudley is Rhoda's married name)
Rhoda married Charles Dudley (unfortunately, that's about all I have on her)

3. Who were Ann Tate's parents?
Ann was born in 1786 in Guilford County. She married William Farrington in Guilford.

MONDEE TILLEY/THE NEWS

Soldier enjoys Christmas at home before heading to Afghanistan

MONDEE TILLEY
STAFF REPORTER

This Christmas will be a special time for Renee Brown. She is enjoying every moment with family — because next year at this time, she will most likely be hunkered down in a cold hut in Afghanistan.

Brown, a 27-year-old North Carolina native, will be shipping off on Jan. 5 for a 12- to 15-month tour of duty in Afghanistan. She is a Navy Corpsman Third Class and will be performing duties as either a nurse or laboratory technician.

Brown joined the Navy after Sept. 11, 2001.

"I knew eventually that I would go to serve over there," Brown said.

The one thing she wants for Christmas this year is a "normal" Christmas Eve.

"We are used to spending every Christmas Eve at my grandma's house. I have five uncles and my mom and aunts and over a hundred cousins if you add them all together. I just want everybody to be home so I can see everybody before I leave," Brown said.

She is stationed at the Great Lakes Naval Station in North Chicago, Illinois.

She joined the corps school in 2002 and following her training at the Great Lakes academy, she went to San Diego, Calif. where she earned her associate's degree in science. From there she went to Japan.

"The first time I went over I was stationed in Okinawa. We did a lot of humanitarian aide. We went all throughout the Pacific doing relief."

Two years ago she went back to the Great Lakes Naval Academy. Now she is preparing to go to a foreign land to fight for freedom.

Now, Brown is enjoying pre-deployment leave in Mount Airy with her mother, sister and grandmother. She will be returning to the Great Lakes Academy on Dec. 29 for training.

Although Afghanistan is land-locked and Brown is a Navy corpsman, she will be providing medical assistance for not only American troops, but NATO troops as well.

"People think that we are the only country that's there. A lot of people think that it is only the United States helping, but it's not. Great Britain is there. Germany is there. Canada is there. A lot of countries besides America are there and we work one on one, side by side, with all nations, with all kinds of services to help everybody, that's what we do," Brown said.

"What I want most people to know is that nobody is forced to join the military. We are all serving by choice. War is never good, but we have a purpose and we have a mission and until our government decides that we have done what we need to do, we have a mission are we are going to do it until it's done."

As for Christmas this year at home with her family, Brown said, the only thing she said she wants for Christmas is an I-pod. She said music and reading are precious commodities while serving overseas.

She said using the phone and Internet will be limited while in Afghanistan.

Brown said her biggest hope for living in Afghanistan is having running water and electricity. She will most likely be living in a metal or wood hut during her stay in the war-torn country.

She explained that receiving letters is a soldier's most valuable asset in the field.

"Getting a letter is like gold over there. If anybody wants to make anyone's life brighter over there, send them a card, even if you don't know them," she said, "Beef jerky is like poker money over there."

Brown explained that soldiers really like to get soap, toothpaste and candy, but not chocolate, "Because chocolate melts," she said.

Books and magazines are also treasured by soldiers overseas, she said.

"A lot of people these days have gotten used to the Internet and e-mail. But soldiers mostly receive hand-written letters and packages from home."

She said packages from school children are well loved by soldiers.

"I knew a gunny-sergeant, and you don't talk to him unless he is yelling at you. But he got a care package from a sixth grader and I saw that man in tears. It's that kind of stuff that can make your time over there worthwhile."

While home, Brown is enjoying being with her family every chance she gets.

"I am enjoying spending time with my family. I will be gone for quite a while, when I leave this time. I will miss my baby sister's (Christy Wagoner's) graduation from high school. I missed my brother's graduation, also."

Brown attended North Surry High School for a short time, but spent the bulk of her high school years at East Burke in Morganton.

Brown will also miss her two-year-old dog, Takimoto, that she got in Japan. Brown's mother, Pam Edwards, will be keeping Takimoto until her daughter returns.

Brown is single and doesn't plan on meeting "Mr. Right" in Afghanistan. She plans on adopting a child when she comes back from the war. She said she is "not a celebrity" and plans on adopting an American baby.

Apple Search---2002

I want to thank everyone again for your assistance in helping me locate heritage apples in 2002. It was a very productive year in which about 130 apple varieties were found. One of my top finds was the Hall apple which is a great tasting small red apple, long thought extinct. It was one of the most highly regarded dessert apples in the south.

Last year I found the Junaluska apple with the help of John Crawford of Macon County. It was the famous apple which can probably be traced back to a tree originally owned by the Cherokee Chief, Junaluska. This year I was proud to be able to donate three grafted Junaluska apple trees which were planted at the Chief Junaluska Memorial and Gravesite near Robbinsville, NC. I also donated four Junaluska trees to the Lake Junaluska Assembly and one tree to the Tsali Manor Senior Center in Cherokee.

The complete list of rare and lost apple varieties found during 2002 is as follows: Accordian, Amy, Ann, Balsam, Baltimore Red, Bank (Wilkes Co.), Barn, Big Rambo, Billy Sparks Sweetning, Biscuit, Bitter Queen, Black Bud, Black Limbertwig, Branch, Buckingham, Bug Horn, Burningtown Spice, Butler, Candy, Catawba, Cherry, Chickasaw, Chintz, Church, Coffee, Coffey Seedling, Council, Cow, Cullasaga, Curtis Cheese, Curtis, Darnell, David's Winter, Davis (large), Donnely Sweet, Dula Beauty, Everhart, Fall Limbertwig, Fall Rose, Fired Sweet, Flat Top, Golden Twig, Gold, Gragg, Grandma (Madison Co.), Green Horse, Green Pearmain, Green Russet, Green Sweet (Wilkes Co.), Half Acre, Hall, Harding, Horseshoe, House, Ingram, Iron Wedge, Jack, Jarrett (fall), Jarrett (summer), Jeff Cox, Jewel Smoker, Joe Buff (Yellow Buff). Juicy Sweet, July Stripe, Kansas Sweet, Karn, Lady Blush, Lady Finger, Late Queen, Lewis Green, Lieby, Little Brushy Spice, Little Limbertwig, Lute's Great Keeper, Manson Beauty, Miller, Mongolian, New York World, Nantz, Neverfail, Night Dropper, Nim, Nursery, October, Paint, Pokey Seedling, Pound Russet, Powder Spring June, Puff, Rabbit, Red Bird, Red Harvest, Red Horse, Red Jordan, Red Pippin, Red Sheepnose, Rockingham Red, Romanite, Rubez, Ruslin, Rusty Pippin, Scott, Sealy, Sheep, Sidelin, Spice (Ashe Co.), Stine, Sugar Core, Summer Buff, Sweet Buff, Tommy, Tough Hide, Trout, Twenty Ounce, Water, Water Core, Water Sweet, Watts Limbertwig, Wax, West, Wilson's Red June, White Buckingham, White Sheepnose, Winter Fleming, Winter Queen, Winter Neverfail, World's Wonder, Ruby Red, Yellow Pippin (Carter Co.), Yellow Queen, Yellow Sheepnose, Yellow Spitzenburg, and Yellow Sweet (Avery Co.).

What is even more fascinating than the apples themselves are the stories behind them. In the early 1900's the Brushy Mountain Nursery of Pores Knob, NC sold an apple called the Mongolian. It was large to very large, flat, "the reddest red you have ever seen", very waxy, and ripe in the fall. Two years ago I found that there might be Mongolian trees at an old Fortner home place on the Wilkes/ Alexander County line. I actually never visited the site because I then learned that the very old trees had been pushed out in a land clearing operation. Bad luck such as this in just missing an apple variety is rare. More typical is the "good luck" which followed over the next two years.

Herb Key of Wilkes County made contact and wanted to show me some apple trees in Virginia where he worked repairing stringed musical instruments. Through him I met

J. C. Greear who said that he would help me look for the old apples. Mr. Greear in turn introduced me to Leslie Call who had several old trees (Cotton Sweet, Neverfail, etc.). The next winter I went to her home to get cuttings for grafting. One of her apples was called the "Clothes Line" apple because it was a single limb grafted into a tree and extended over her clothes line. The following fall I went to see some of the apples Ms. Call had collected for me. Also she had about five of the Clothes Line apples. As soon as I saw them, I said to myself, "This is probably the Mongolian", as it perfectly fit the unique description. I later showed the apples to three Fortner family members who confirmed the identity of the Mongolian.

Finding the Mongolian was incredible good fortune, but more was to come from this single trip to Virginia. About two miles before I reached Ms. Call's home I saw three men standing in front of a garage. I stopped and talked to them about old apples. One of them (Hobert Hall) mentioned that he had an apple tree he wanted me to look at. After visiting Ms. Call's I went by the Hall home. The tree still had many apples. The apples were large, almost round, greenish yellow, with a little red blush and some russet spots, and having a delicious flavor. It perfectly fit the description of the Catawba apple which had been in the area. I later mailed some of the apples to a man in Rockingham County who confirmed the identification, having seen the apples in Patrick Co., VA.

Did you know that there is a connection between the US Dept. of Agriculture's decision to import Russian apple varieties in 1870 (including the Lieby apple) and the discovery of a very rare North Carolina gemstone called Hiddenite? I grew up about 15 miles from the old Hiddenite mine and as a child I was always fascinated by the stories involving the mine. When I remarried I wanted to give my wife a special ring with a Hiddenite stone. Unfortunately when the man mounted the stone he used a soft type gold and improperly modified the mounting. This resulted in the stone eventually being lost (cry, cry, cry). I then started trying to find another Hiddenite stone. I eventually went to the home of an excellent gemstone cutter, Paul Burton. On one of the visits I decided to ask Mr. Burton's neighbor (Paul Curry) about his apple trees. He had a Queen apple and he also described a Leiby apple that he remembered from the Shepherds Cross Roads area of Wilkes County. This started a two-year search for the Lieby. The search was complicated by the fact that there was another apple in the area called Liddy. When I had trouble finding the Lieby I started to wonder if Lieby could just be another way of saying Liddy. In the past I had talked to Paul Clanton about the old apples he remembered in Iredell County. One time when I called his home he said that he wanted to show me some trees at the home of a neighbor. The apples were medium to large, round and a little pointed, yellow almost covered with dull red streaks, and having a good but slightly dry taste. When someone mentioned the name Lieby at a near-by store, it finally dawned on me that the apple could possibly be the Lieby, as it fit the general description. It was later positively identified as the Lieby. What is so exciting about the old apple search is the wonderful and unpredictable routes that am I eventually led. I never did find a Hiddenite stone, but instead Mr. Burton cut a beautiful clear green Moldavite stone (formed from condensed rock vapors after being hit by a meteorite---Czech Republic).

I hope you and your family have a very happy holiday season.

DEDICATION

Each life is precious-- unto itself-from the tiniest insect to the greatest tree..
Vigorously it must protect its right to be--
---and to become---

Upon this one obsession rests____
the continuance of the universe...

May your heart be a garden
where God's thoughts grow
May the thoughts you think be the seeds you sow
May God abide and guide
you from day to day
May He be with you forever and all the way.

JOSEPH SANFORD BROWN

Dear Family Members,
This family record deals primarily with Christopher Columbus Brown (Aug. 25, 1846-Feb.16,1909) and his eleven children by two marriages and other descendants of his. Brief summaries of C. C. 's brothers and sisters are included and a minute amount about his parents. In some instances this material covers seven generations.

It was not written as a historical document and was never intended to be. It is a simple and informal approach for this type material. It is as accurate as we can make it considering that for many included here there were no registered birth certificates or any recorded data to confirm what we were told. Our information came from old family Bibles, tombstones, census checks, elderly members of the families, old discharge papers, old newspapers, courthouse records and of course each of you. We wrote alot of letters, made many phone calls and took several trips to help us in compiling this booklet. Needless to say it has been a fascinating experience.

As you read through this booklet, you will find discrepancies as we know. One example is Christopher Columbus Brown's age. His age,taken from his discharge papers from the Union Army, varies slightly with his age taken from his tombstone. There may be other things you will notice and if this booklet is ever updated maybe corrections can be made then.

The most distressing thing about preparing something like this is that many persons are not included simply because we could not find accurate information from any source about them.

Never-the-less, we feel what we have is a good start and will be of some value to you. Although it isn't complete, we decided to go ahead and share with you all we have at the present time.

We have left the backs of each page blank for additional births, marriages and inevitable deaths. We sincerely hope each family will make an honest effort to keep the information updated. We also encourage each of you to share important events as they occur in your own immediate family.

Steve did most of the research and organizing and I did the typing but we could not have done any of it without your help and cooperation. We wish to extend our most grateful thanks to each of you.

Sincerely and Affectionately,

Steve and Libby Taylor

FAMILY OF SQUIRE AND ELIZABETH FARRINGTON BROWN FROM YADKIN COUNTY, N. C.

Unfortunately, very little is known about Squire, better known as "Humpy" and his wife Elizabeth, known as "Little Granny". We have been unable to obtain birth, death or marriage dates. (They would have been born very late in the 1700's or very early in the 1800's because the first child was born in 1820.) Place of burial is also unknown. We do know that Elizabeth moved to ~~Yadkin~~ Surry County after 1820, where she and Squire made their home. We have been able to obtain some information about their children. They are listed not necessarily in order of birth except Greene is the oldest and Pinkney is the youngest. The list is not necessarily complete, but it is all we could find reliable information about.

Children:

S I William Greene Brown
S II Sallie Brown
S III Nancy Brown
S IV Christopher C. Brown
S V George Washington Brown
S VI John Pinkney Brown

S I William Greene was born 4-4-1820 at Guilford Court House. Greene was a Baptist minister of reknown. (See separate write-up - "Venerable Preacher") He first married Priscilla Eldridge in 1842. They had 7 sons and 3 daughters. Priscilla was born 7-21-19 and died 9-21-88. Greene remarried a Paulina Eaton in 1889. They had 1 son and 1 daughter. Greene died 7-3-1901 and is buried at Flat Rock Baptist Church Cemetery near Hamptonville in Yadkin County, N. C.

Death of a Venerable Preacher

At his residence near Hamptonville, N. C., on July 3, 1901, that valiant soldier of the cross, Rev. W. G. Brown fell asleep.

The deceased was born in Guilford County, N. C., April 4, 1820. As will be observed, he was 81 years, 2 months and 29 days old. In his early childhood he removed, with his parents, into the vicinity of Salem, N. C., where he enjoyed for a brief term of a few months the only advantages of schooling he ever had. Here also he enjoyed the privileges of an excellent Sunday School, conducted by the Moravian people, to which during his long ministry he often referred. In this Sunday School he was induced to memorize large portions of the Scriptures which, during his later ministry, he often said were the most familiar portions of the Word of God to him. While yet a boy his parents removed to Yadkin--then Surry County--where he resided until his death.

He was twice married, first to Priscilla Eldridge, in 1842. To this union was born ten children, seven sons and three daughters, six of whom survive him. Three of these sons became preachers, one of whom is the gifted S. M. Brown, editor of the "Word and Way", and author and compiler of a number of beautiful hymns and tunes. His second marriage was to Paulina Eaton, in 1889. To this union two children were born--one son and one daughter.

The following facts concerning his ministry were given by him to his son, Rev. S. M. Brown, and published by him in the "Word and Way" of Kansas City, Mo., some two years ago. His entire ministry has been with country and village churches, where he has served according to the old country style, of "once a month" preaching.

The following have been his pastorates and the time he has served: Flat Rock Church, 40 years; Courtney Cross Roads Church, 24 years; Booneville Church, 15 years; Yadkinville Church, 10 years; Clemmonsville Church, 6 years; Yadkin Valley Church 4 years; Eaton's Church, 4 years; Oak Forest Church, 5 years; Bethel Church, 8 years; Grassy Knob Church, 6 years; Huntsville Church, 5 years; Rockford Church, 6 years; Damascus Church, 32 years; Swaim's Church, 20 years; Society Church, 10 years; Bear Creek Church, 12 years; Zion Church, 5 years; White Plains Church, 4 years; Lewisville Church, 5 years; Black Oak Ridge Church, 5 years; Three Forks Church, 2 years; Vernon Church, 12 years; East Bend Church, 2 years. These twenty-three churches are situated in eight counties extending over a territory of eighty five miles long. To serve these churches he has traveled a distance of 88,992 miles, principally on horse back. During the thirty two years that he preached for one church (Damascus) he only missed three appointments. During his ministry he has preached some 7,344 sermons. He has baptized more than 2,000 persons.

In 1840 he became a member of the Yadkin Association, which has now passed its 110 milestone. This body was then composed of fourteen churches. Since that date sixty churches have gone out from this body to join others and form new Associations.

In all his ministry he has been an earnest advocate of missions and Christian education. Nature endowed him with rare gifts as a public speaker, and by dint of application he made himself in many respects an educated man. He had a wonderful command of good English, so that he was regarded by educated men as possessing a rare vocabulary. He was in the great controversy between the Missionary and anti-Missionary wings of the Baptists of Western North Carolina, and stood with the heroes who gained the victory for our Missionary cause.

Perhaps no man has lived in the eastern part of Western North Carolina who has wielded a wider and more powerful influence for good.

For some years he had been quite feeble, still he never lost his love for the house of God. The writer well remembers the first time he ever saw this sainted man of God. A friend led him to the front, where he read from memory the 103rd Psalm, then with bowed head and uplifted hand he begged God, in childlike earnestness, to forgive and to bless His people. Last November, during the protracted meeting at Flat Rock, he would have them bring him to the services, and time and again he would rise and with feeble voice exhort sinners to flee the wrath to come and professing Christians to walk worthy of the vocation wherewith they were called. The Sunday before he passed away, when he was considered not altogether in his right mind, he lay upon his bed and preached most powerfully for more than an hour, closing what seemed to him to be a public service by singing with unusual power, "How firm a foundation, ye saints of the Lord". Then the wheels of life lost their steady motion, as the brake of death went down, and finally ceased to move about 3 p. m., Wednesday, July 3, 1901.

He sleeps in the old Flat Rock Cemetery, near Hamptonville, N.C.

Some interesting facts about Yadkin County

The name Yadkin:

The meaning of the word Yadkin is elusive; but all authorities agree it is of Indian origin. The story goes that the Pee Dee Indians used to stand on the West bank and fling challenges. Their word for " Why don't you fellows come over here and fight?" was "Yeatkin"; and that, supposedly, is how the river got its name.

The office of register of deeds at Dobson has a complete copy of the tax list of 1812, which at that time embraced all of what is now Yadkin County. On that date there were 12 Brown families in the area.

Yadkin County was once a part of the same territory in which Wilmington is now located. Yadkin was formed from the southern part of Surry in 1850; and Surry was formed from a part of Rowan in 1770.

SIV-FAMILY OF CHRISTOPHER AND SINISKER STOKES BROWN

There is little known about Christopher Columbus as it has been very difficult to obtain information regarding events and special dates. The best we have been able to establish, he was born in ~~Yadkin~~ County to Squire "Humpy" and Elizabeth Farrington "Little Granny" Brown on August 25, 1846 (if figured from discharge papers) and Aug. 25, 1844 if taken from his tombstone.

At the age of seventeen Christopher enlisted in the United States Army (Union) on 6-20-1864 to serve three (3) years. He served slightly over one (1) year as the Civil War ended. His discharge was given at Knoxville, Tenn. on 8-8-65. He was wounded in the shoulder (place unknown) during the war and did later receive a small pension for this injury. He served as a Private in B Company, Third Regiment of the N. C. Infantry. The original discharge document is in possession of the Cora Brown Riggs' Family.

It is apparent that he must have married very soon after returning from the war. He was married to Sinisker Stokes (date unknown) and they had seven children; four daughters and three sons. These children are listed in order of birth.

SECOND MARRIAGE OF CHRISTOPHER COLUMBUS BROWN

Christopher was married on April 5, 1886 to Elizabeth Melinda King after the death of his first wife. Elizabeth was the daughter of Nathaniel King of Yadkin Surry County, N. C. Her mother's first name is unknown.
There is little known about Elizabeth except that she was born on Feb. 14, 1858. It is to be noted that Elizabeth was approximately 7-8 years older than Molly (oldest child of C. C.'s 1st marriage). Elizabeth was one of five children in the family of Nathanial King. Nathanial came to Yadkin County from Orange County-Chapel Hill area-after he survived the "fever" which took the lives of all his immediate family. He had the fever and was unconscious for a time. He moved to an area in Yadkin County that is known as Brook's Cross Roads. There he met and married a widow whose maiden name had been Ball and her married name Gentry.

Mrs. Gentry had traveled west with her husband and two small children in a covered wagon. Her husband and one child became sick with the fever and died in Oregon. She returned to N. C. with the surviving child and later married Nathanial King.

Exact dates of these occurrences are unknown but a story is told that Nathanial was 21 years old when Andrew Jackson was elected President and that he voted in the election. This was the 1828 election.
Nathanial and his wife, the former Mrs. Gentry, had five children:

Docia and Cora were born in Surry County, N. C. at "Idlewild" plantation of Rich Gwyn who was a large land owner and operated a tobacco factory. Christopher had come to Surry County to seek employment at this factory for a living. He later bought a small tract of land from Mr. Gwyn located in the area of what is now Bevins-Banner Orchard on Fancy Gap Road. Here he built a house, farmed and did Missionary Baptist work. He traveled to his churches by horseback. The churches were located at Holly Springs and Oak Grove, which are rural communities around Mt. Airy, N. C. Christopher died on Feb. 16, 1909 leaving many descendants in Surry County. He is buried at Mt. Carmel, Surry County, N. C.

To Whom It May Concern:

I am researching my family history and would like to know how to obtain information on my great-great great grandparents, James Brown and Sarah (Sally) Russel, who were Quakers, moving from Surry County, North Carolina to Orange County, Indiana.

James Brown & Sarah (Sally) Russel m. 10-6-1817 in Surry Co., NC
Son Thomas G. Brown b. 2-1-1818 in Surry Co., NC

Thomas G. Brown and family moved from Surry Co., NC to Orange Co., IN, when Thomas G. Brown was 9 years old (1827).

James Brown died between 1827 and 1835

Sarah (Sally) Russell Brown remarried Daniel Ellis on 7-30-1835, Orange Co., Indiana
They had two sons, John William Ellis and William Berry Ellis.

Daniel Ellis died 8-6-1854, Orange Co., Indiana

Sarah (Sally) Russel Brown Ellis died 6-22-1889, Orange Co., Indiana

I am trying to work backwards from Indiana to North Carolina, but have hit a brick wall. I find where James Brown and Sarah Russel were married in Surry County, NC, but have been unable to find their parents.

Thank you for your time, I have enclosed a self-addressed, stamped envelope, just in case. Also, please let me know what I owe for this research request.

Sincerely,

Linda Hintzman

Linda,

Thank you for your letter dated October 21, 2003 regarding the James Brown and Sarah Russel family. We are very sorry that it has taken so long to answer your letter. We got behind during the holidays and can't seem to get caught up. We did no find anything in our files on this family. There are so many Brown's in Surry County during the early 1800s that it is hard to tell who the parents might be. There are a few Russell families during that period also. We will give you some info from tax list that may narrow your search some. We checked the NC Quaker book also and there are many Brown's listed. We only found one entry that was a possibility as you can see below.

Joshua Brown was on Deep Creek
Samuel Brown was on Deep Creek

James Brown and family granted certificate to Milford Monthly Meeting in Wayne Co., IN 9-3-1829 (The NC Quaker book) (You might want to check out that county in IN, perhaps the 1830 census record if you haven't checked it out.) You stated James Brown died between 1827 and 1835.

We also are sending you a copy from the Yadkin County heritage books about a Abner and Sallie Russell. We thought it might be of interest to you since they were Quakers also and it tells of a little of the local history. This was the only Russell family history we found.

We hope this information helps some. We are sorry that we could not be more specific. There appears to be Russel and Brown families in Yadkin, Rockingham and Stokes counties also. If we can help further, please write us again.

K&W honors Charlie Lee Brown, who was hired there in 1941 and is still reporting for work

'GREAT WORKER'

Charlie Lee Brown said that the recognition doesn't mean he's retiring.

By Mary Giunca
JOURNAL REPORTER

Back in 1941, when he was 14, Charlie Lee Brown walked into the K&W Cafeteria on Cherry Street in downtown Winston-Salem. He wanted a job, Brown said, to earn enough money to buy himself a big hat and a nice suit to wear to church.

In a little while, he had the suit and hat, he said, but he stuck around. Except for two years of military service, he has worked for K&W for 65 years.

Yesterday, Brown was recognized by K&W management for his years with the company. Certainly, Brown emphasized, it was not a retirement party.

"He's a great worker. We tried to get him to stop working so much, and he got mad," said Jimmy Sizemore, K&W's president, who noted that an old joke around the company says that K&W stands for "Keep Working."

Sizemore said that no one had ever put in 65 years at K&W before Brown, who still works a 40-hour week in the stockroom.

Brown starts his workday at 6:30 a.m. and weighs the ingredients out for each recipe. He has been doing the work so long that he has the recipes memorized, Sizemore said.

The people who trained him, Brown said, kept most of the recipes in their heads. They measured with a pinch of this and a smidgen of that.

"They all had secrets," he said of the recipes.

"They wouldn't tell you but so much."

In time, Brown said, he learned many of the secrets himself, so that's how he works, too.

He said his wife, Sallie, has asked him about retiring.

"She said, 'When you coming home?' I said, 'I don't know,'" Brown said.

After he came home from two years in the South Pacific in 1947, he worked at the cafeteria part time and went to school to learn how to do electrical work, Brown said. But he couldn't find a job in that field so he stayed on at K&W.

Brown spent about 12 years working at the K&W in Roanoke, Va.

He joined the Healy Drive restaurant when it opened in 1983.

He was promoted to a manager for three years but asked to be put back in the stock room, he said.

"It was tough, a lot of headaches," he said.

"When you're a manager, you have no friends."

Carlene Allen, who works in the stockroom with Brown, described him as pleasant.

"He's sweet as a lamb," she said. "He works hard."

When he is ready to retire, Brown said, he plans to pass along his tricks of the trade to his successor, along with a few words of advice.

"You have to have teamwork," he said, "no attitude, keep working."

CIVIL WAR SON

By Monte Mitchell
JOURNAL REPORTER

WARRENSVILLE

Austin Brown was tough as the chestnut rails he once split, just like his father.

They were also both fighters.

Brown is mellower now at 93, but in his younger days he was a drinker and brawler who tangled with police and once fired a shotgun at people who'd come to attack him in his home.

His father's battles were in the Civil War.

There are about 300 living children of Civil War veterans, according to recent research by the Sons of Union Veterans of the Civil War. The group counted about 50 children of Union Civil War soldiers, and said the Sons of Confederate Veterans had located more than 100 real sons and the United Daughters of the Confederacy had located more than 150 real daughters.

Brown is a rare combination, according to a family history that says his father fought for both the North and the South.

His mother, Jennie, married Benjamin Brown, a 68-year-old Civil War veteran, in 1913. She'd once helped care for his sick wife. After his wife died, he wrote to tell Jennie he was so lonely he could hardly stand it.

"He used to talk about what

See Civil War, Page A4

Civil War

a hard time they had in the war, and about how he started out fighting for the Union and ended up fighting for the Confederacy," she told a local newspaper in 1981, when she celebrated her 100th birthday.

Paul Escott, the Reynolds professor of history at Wake Forest University, said it was uncommon for soldiers to switch sides, but it happened sometimes, possibly through desertion or when prisoners agreed to fight for their captors.

"There was a strong dissatisfaction with the Confederacy among mountain people and a good deal of Unionism," he said.

Brown doesn't remember much about his father, and he doesn't know for sure where he served. He said he had papers with that information, but he can't find them now.

Born in 1917, Brown was just 8 when his father died.

He remembers going to church a few times with his father. His father made a living by using a mallet and froe to split chestnut timber for boards and rails.

"They said he made enough boards to cover Rich Hill Creek from one end to the other," Brown said. "That's all he done all his life when he wasn't in the service."

Brown said his mother moved to Bristol, Va., after his father died.

Meanwhile, he'd been taken in by John Oliver, a family acquaintance who reached down from his horse one day, scooped him up and took him home. Oliver treated him well.

"He thought the world of me," Brown said. "He wanted everything for me."

But Brown was rough. He got eight months hard labor as a teenager after some petty crime. He swung a 16-pound hammer breaking rocks along the highway from Blowing Rock to Lenoir as part of his sentence.

Later, he got married. He worked to build dams for a time in Tennessee. In Mountain City, he got drunk and jumped a police officer.

He wound up in Pennsylvania, where he had moved to work just across the state line at a General Motors plant in Delaware.

When men he had tangled with in town came to the house where he was sleeping, Brown came out with a double-barreled shotgun. He stayed in jail until the trial, he said, when he was released.

"I used to be pretty mean," Brown said, then immediately reconsidered. "I wasn't too mean, but I was a little bit rowdy."

He and his wife, now deceased, had eight children, including five who are still living. Along the way, he quit drinking. Like his father, he laid down his guns.

He came back to his Ashe County mountains when he retired from GM in 1975.

"Can't hardly beat these old mountains," he said.

Brown's memories are his fortunes. He sleeps nights now in his trailer beside the highway, beneath a framed portrait of his mother, the Civil War widow.

Mount Airy Man Loses Life In Lake

Roy Brown Drowns At Fairystone Park; In Water Only Few Minutes.

Roy Brown, 24. of this city, lost his life by drowning Sunday morning in the lake at Fairystone Park in Patrick County.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown and friends spent the week-end at the park and at Stuart. The group was at the side of the lake Sunday morning when the young man started swimming toward the diving platform. Guards were present and there were no others in the lake at the time. Brown was seen to take what was thought a dive beneath the surface of the water. When he failed to appear in a reasonable time the guards started to the place where he was last seen.

The body was recovered from the lake in a few minutes and every effort made to start up breathing without any success. He was known to be a good swimmer and friends are puzzled to know how the accident happened.

An inquest was held at Stuart by county officials who pronounced drowning as the cause of death.

Brown worked at Fowler Motor Co. for a time and recently secured employment with the Express Co.

Surviving are the widow, the former Miss Mildred Owen, two daughters, Treva Jane and Sylvia Sue, ages 4 and 5, three brothers and one sister.

Funeral services were held at the home Tuesday morning conducted by Rev. Seth Hinshaw. The remains were interred in Mount Carmel cemetery.

ROY BROWN OF MOUNT AIRY, N. C. DROWN SUNDAY MORNING

Was Swimming at Park

Roy Brown, 25, of Mt. Airy, N. C. drowned Sunday about noon when swimming with a party of friends at Fairystone Park, according to several eye witnesses, Brown was swimming towards the diving pier and was within a short distance of the platform when he sank suddenly. Several people were on the pier at the time but offered no assistance since they thought he was feeling out the depth of the water. He was said to have sank suddenly and without an outcry. When he failed to come to the surface after a brief space, an alarm was given and the two life guards on duty rushed to the scene and helped recover the body.

Artificial respiration failed to revive him and a call was made to Martinsville to rush the Rotary club's resuscitator to the scene. The apparatus was used and three Drs. tried to revive him but to no avail.

The body was brought to Mays funeral home where an autopsy was performed by Dr. J. T. Shelburne, coroner, assisted by Dr. W. N. Thompson. It was said there was considerable water in the lungs and certified death was caused by drowning.

It was the first fatality at the state park since it began operation five years ago. More than 100,000 bathers have in those five years taken advantage of the swimming facilities there.

Surviving are the widow, two daughters, three brothers and one sister.

Funeral services were held Tuesday a.m. at the home and interment followed at Mount Airy.

J. A. Gilbert

On Sunday, July 6th, over fifty relatives and friends assembled at the home of J. A. Gilbert to celebrate his 90th birthday, which was July 3. All of his seven living children were present except two.

Mr. Gilbert, who was born at the place he now lives, has spent his entire life in Patrick. In 1871 he married Ella Clark. Nine children were born to this union. His life has been spent quietly about his farm and in operating a mill, named for him, a few miles below his home.

He tended the mill for over 60 years personally, but now has a miller located there. He is still very active. Only a few months ago he drove to town in his horse and buggy rig. Although he walks with a cane, his carriage is still far more erect than many men at 50 or 60.
