Stanley M. King III

FROM THE PRESIDENT

This is my last opportunity to correspond with you as your president.

As I look back over the past year, I have a lot of mixed emotions: there have been some disappointments and some very inspiring moments as well.

We have plowed a lot of our new ground as Jaycees this year: our first Exhausted Rooster party way back last May, our first Jaycee Kids Day Cookout, our first booth in many years at the Autumn Leaves Festival and our first Past Presidents Party. We have continued many of our regular projects and much success has been had with them as well.

One area of Jaycee involvement has been a great disappointment, and I feel that I must conclude this year with a warning to the present membership and leadership. This is the area of chapter growth and the involvement of more young men in Jaycee Leadership Training.

I have heard it said that all the young men are doing their own thing and that civic involvements are a passe thing. The Jaycees are known as the greatest leadership training organization in the world.

You only have to look at the present leadership in our community to see the results of past leadership training opportunities the Jaycees offered.

Let's elect our new slate of officers April 3rd and really get behind these men in the upcoming year. The stage has been set to make this the greatest Jaycee year ever. Make the number one priority for the coming year the introduction of more young men to Jaycees of Mount Airy.

Have a good year.

Sincerely,
Jim Roberts

FROM THE TREASURER

This time of year we have a lot of members' dues coming up for renewal on the state level. Please try to pay these as soon as possible.

I would also like to remind everyone who attended the DSA Banquet that the money is now due. The chapter needs this money so we can pay for the banquet. You should remember if you attended the banquet. If there is any doubt as to whether or not you attended, I am sure that David Hawkins or myself can answer any questions.

Thank you.

Tycho Wood, Jr.

FROM THE UP-AND-COMING

Well, the year is almost at an end. As a matter of fact, this is the last newsletter of this Jaycee year. I want to remind everyone to please be at our next meeting April 3 at Captain's Pride at 7:00 p.m. This is a very important meeting because it is election night and everyone needs to be supportive at this time.

I would like to thank those who have shown an interest in assuming the responsibilities of an office for the coming year. I want to be your president. I believe that this coming year will be one of the best years the Mount Airy Jaycees have ever had. We have got some dedicated people and we cannot and we will not fail.

The Jaycees mean a lot to me. I would not trade it for any price. We must unite together and plan for a good year. No separation of officers and membership, only unification can put us on top.

Planning is the key, and following one's plans as much as possible will give us a great year. Organization is going to mean the difference in having a good plan. It will also eliminate confusion and leave more time for fun. Jaycees should have fun too. We can do it and I'll do my part to be the best. We must do the best we can with what we have got and this will not leave room for failure.

Let's unite into one chapter; let's all be friends.

See you April 3rd.

NEWS FROM MISS MOUNT AIRY

The weekend of March 22 the Raleigh Jaycees hosted the Work Weekend in preparation for this year's Miss North Carolina Pageant, which will be held in Raleigh June 23-29.

On Saturday all the paperwork for each contestant was completed and ads in the program and ticket orders were placed. Talent auditions were also held on Saturday. The audition helps the producers to determine how to group the girls so that a variety of talent will be presented each night.

On Sunday a tour of the Memorial Auditorium, where the pageant will be held, was taken. The group of contestants, business managers and chairpersons then toured the Peace College campus, where the girls will be housed for a week.

Miss Mount Airy, Cindy Cook, will be performing Thursday night, June 26. She is planning to sing and dance; the number she has chosen is from the 40's. She will be competing in the swimsuit competition on Wednesday night. On Friday she will have her judge's interview and fawn competition.

Season tickets can be purchased for $25, which includes tickets for each night. No single night tickets will be sold until June 1, when they will be sold on a first-come, first-served basis, so orders should be placed now.

We feel that Cindy has a great chance of winning the Miss North Carolina title and that the Jaycee chapter should support her the best they can. She will need more than her family and us to cheer her on. Please try to attend.
