Third Team Of Ambassador Scholars Assist College

Four honor students were recently chosen to receive full tuition as Surry Community College Foundation Ambassador Scholarships for the 1995-96 school year.

The new Ambassador Scholars are John Dickenson of Pilot Mountain, majoring in Accounting Technology; Christi Lowe of Mount Airy, a College Transfer student; Beth Stone of Dobson, an Accounting Technology student; and Glenda Prim of East Bend, who is majoring in Business Computer Programming.

John Dickenson, a Jamaican, now residing in Pilot Mountain, is one of SCC's international students. He graduated in 1981 from York Castle High School, Brown's Town, St. Ann, Jamaica. Married with two children, he began his career as a clerk for Jamaica's National Company Bank. After various office jobs with the Americana Hotel and the Jamaica Electric Co., he worked as supervisor/contractor for the Jamaica Telephone Co. At SCC, he is working toward an Associate of Applied Science Degree in Accounting Technology. After graduating from SCC, he plans to pursue a B.S. in business administration and accounting, then seek a management position in the banking or hotel industry. He is currently interviewing for an accounting position in the College's service area. Church activities — children's ministry, choir, and community outreach — as well as music and theatre fill his free time.

The new team — student leaders who represent the varied student population of the College — will be trained during the summer months to serve as public relations representatives for the College and the College's supporting Foundation. During fall, winter and spring quarters, the group will attend weekly leadership classes, work in the Foundation Office and Student Services, and represent the College and Foundation at special events on campus and in the College's six-county service area. When schedules allow, Ambassadors will assist other non-profit organizations with worthwhile projects.

In return for their efforts and scholarship, Ambassador Scholars receive numerous educational and career benefits: full tuition, transportation reimbursement and official collegiate attire. They meet employers and community leaders and are exposed to different industries, enabling them to make future career contacts while providing feedback to college administrators as to the needs of the community, as well as ways the college and Foundation might respond to these needs.

The Ambassador Scholars Program, originated by the Surry Community College Foundation, Inc. in 1993, is under the direction of Laurie Forbes, the Foundation's Executive Director.

Bad Weather Delaying New College Building

By TIM PRESTON
Staff Writer

DOBSON — A new Health Sciences building at Surry Community College won't be open for students by spring, but could be ready for classes next summer.

Wayne Motsinger, vice president of administrative services for the Dobson school, said construction crews have been confounded by weather throughout the first part of 1995, but he hopes to see progress soon.

"Right now there isn't much change. It is still behind schedule," Motsinger said after a Thursday meeting with architects and contractors. "We hope to see it get caught up when they get the roof on the main three-story structure."

"I understand they had only five productive working days in the month of June," the college official continued. "February and March were both bad months for them, but they did get to make some progress after that ... the last two months have been really bad."

"It won't be ready for the spring quarter — we originally had a March ending date. But, we are now hoping to get moved in to the building for the summer sessions," summed-up Motsinger.

The 65,000-square-foot Health Sciences facility originally was projected for completion by mid-March 1996.

Surry Community College To Offer Televised Course

By JEFF LINVILLE
Staff Writer

DOBSON— This fall, Surry Community College will offer a course taught not in the classroom, but through a television set.

The UNC Center for Public Television will broadcast lectures for an "Introduction to Sociology" class on the public broadcasting system. In this area, the channels that will offer this class are 4 and 26. Introduction to Sociology (SOC 201) is a study of the fundamental principles and concepts of sociology, with emphasis on contemporary American institutions in relation to technological change, ethnic groups, population trends and social control.

Students will be able to watch the telecasts and follow along in their textbooks. At the end of each learning section or chapter, they will be required to take a test at the college, given in the Learning Center over the library in the "R" building.

The director of the course is Dr. Doug Reinhardt, a sociology teacher at SCC who will be available to students via telephone or at his office. To help them prepare for the tests, Reinhardt will lead three study sessions on campus during the class, which lasts from an orientation session Sept. 2 at 10 a.m. until Dec. 16.

...participants may either tape the show on their videocassette recorder at home or borrow copies of the program from the school library.

Since there is no classroom instruction, the course can enroll 40 or 50 students, according to Dr. Gary Tilley, the director of the SCC business center. The only restrictions come from giving the instructor too many students to be readily available and subjecting the Learning Center to a multitude of tests to give out and grade.

The college's director of records and registration, Dr. Sherry Shaw, said the broadcasts might come at a time of day when people are not able to watch them live.

However, she said participants may either tape the show on their videocassette recorder at home or borrow copies of the program from the school library.

"That's the beauty of a telecourse," said Shaw, referring to the flexibility of the class to fit each person's lifestyle.

Tilley said those who cannot watch the show at home or do not own a VCR can view the tapes at the library on the school's equipment.

When students sign up for the class, they will receive a sheet listing all the broadcast times, the dates of the three review sessions and the reading selection from the textbook for each section.

The cost of the class includes tuition, a student activity fee and the book price, Shaw said. The tuition is $39.75 and the activity fee $1.50. The books have not been shipped, so the final tally is not known. The average cost of a sociology book is $35 to $40, making the total expense of the course around $80.

This is not the first time the college has offered such a telecourse.

Shaw says. The pre-registration process already has begun at SCC for the fall quarter. Those wishing to take the telecourse or any other class offered at the school may sign up now through the end of the month.

Pre-payment for classes will be possible Aug. 14-18. Those signing up and paying early ensure they will have a space for their desired subject.

The regular registration date is Aug. 29, but courses still can be added for the next few days after registration, officials say. Classes begin Thursday, Aug. 31.

More information is available by calling or visiting the Student Services office on campus at 910-386-8121.

Real Estate Class Slated By College

DOBSON— The Continuing Education Division of Surry Community College has scheduled a real estate brokerage class beginning Aug. 14 and lasting for five and one-half weeks.

Students must have successfully completed the Fundamentals of Real Estate course before enrolling in the upcoming class.

It will meet each Monday and Wednesday from 6 to 9 p.m. in Room V-107 on the college campus for a total of 33 hours of instruction. Joyce Lawrence will teach the class, which is accompanied by a registration fee of $25 and a textbook cost of about $43.

Plans move ahead for television auction to benefit children

Surry Community College will host those who can't access Star Cable

A television auction to raise money for a proposed Children's Center of Surry County will be held on Star Cable of Dobson on Aug. 24, beginning at 6 p.m. and will last until all items are sold.

A "sneak preview" of items to be sold during the telecast will be broadcast on Monday beginning at 6 p.m.

Officials at Surry Community College are giving the project the use of their teaching auditorium as a television and telephone station for those who want to participate in the bidding but won't receive the program at home.

Star Cable vice president and general manager Gary Carpenter said that cable customers on the Dobson "leg" of his company's system will be the only households tuning in to the auction.

He encouraged those who won't get the telecast to visit friends in the Dobson area or go to the SCC campus to participate.

The benefit will auction items from many celebrities and sports personalities as well as articles and services contributed by individuals and businesses throughout the county. The items will be delivered to bidders' homes by volunteers and Star Cable employees.

The Children's Center facility, to be located near Dobson, will be a temporary foster-care shelter for up to nine children at one time who are displaced by domestic situations or other problems in the home.

This center will enable the child to stay in his or her own school and maintain other social contacts that, in turn, minimize emotional trauma for the child.

John Sales and Kay Dinkins of Target Television have filmed a promotional clip to advertise the up-coming auction.

The film includes Dr. Michael Wells, psychology instructor at Surry Community College, who also serves as chairman of the board of directors for the Children's Center.

The filming was done under the pine trees on the lawn of the campus and features, in addition to Wells, his two grandsons, Corey and Travis Wells.

WHAT IS THE CHILDREN'S CENTER OF SURRY COUNTY?

- The group has raised $25,000 toward construction of a foster-care shelter for children disrupted by trouble at home.
- It was created in 1994 at the recommendation of the Surry County Community Child Protection Team.
- It has launched nine fundraisers since its creation.
- It is about to begin a campaign to seek money from larger philanthropic foundations.

WHY DOES IT EXIST?

- About half the Surry County children who need foster care are shipped out of the county, at considerable expense. Out-of-county care costs about five times as much as in-county care.
- Foster care demand in Surry County has gone up 172 percent since 1991 but there has been no increase in the number of beds available in foster homes.
- In Surry County, 10 cases of child abuse are found each month. There are approximately 60 youngsters in protective services at any one time.

WHO IS DOING SOMETHING ABOUT THIS?

Sociology

An Introduction to Sociology course will be offered this fall as a telecourse by Surry Community College.

This course is designed so that students will be able to view the course in the privacy and convenience of their own home through the UNC Center for Public Television.

Introduction to Sociology (Soc 201) is a study of the fundamental principles and concepts of sociology, with emphasis on contemporary American institutions in relation to technological change, ethnic groups, population trends, and social control.

The course carries three hours of college credit and is directed by Dr. Doug Reinhardt, sociology instructor at SCC.

According to SCC officials, this telecourse may be a good alternative to the on-campus course when there are schedule conflicts or excessive travel time is involved.

Auction Nets More Than $10,000 For Surry Children's Shelter

By TIM PRESTON
Staff Writer

DOBSON — A televised benefit auction Thursday night netted more than $10,000 in donations and bids for The Children's Center of Surry.

This will allow organizers to advance to the planning stage in building a temporary foster-care shelter now lacking in the county.

Children's Center board Chairman Dr. Michael Wells said auction items, some donated by sports celebrities, netted more than $9,000 for the non-profit group, and a last-minute appeal for contributions pushed the fund-raising event over its $10,000 goal. The auction was televised over the Star Cable system in Dobson and a room was set up at Surry Community College for the event.

"Everybody that bought something got a real good bargain,"

Wells said today, "We had something like $9,300 when the last items were auctioned, and we asked for cash contributions to help us get to the goal. We had $10,300 when they turned the camera off."

The shelter chairman said two sets of chrome wheels, a decorative saber and a shotgun were among the most-popular items, which drew bids for several hundred dollars.

But he equally was impressed with smaller contributions, such as a 11-year-old boy's gift of $11 of his Christmas money. The boy also challenged others to give of themselves.

Star Cable General Manager Gary Carpenter said 17 members of his staff had a great time answering telephones, delivering items and collecting funds for the benefit. Each worker volunteered their time to the effort.

"People who came in this morning to pay their bills were also making donations," Carpenter said today. "It went really well. It was hard work, but it was fun."

Wells said the fund-raiser will allow shelter volunteers to begin seeking an architectural firm to design the facility, which will offer local youth temporary foster care when domestic situations arise in their homes. Surry County leaders have given the shelter project an 11-acre site near Dobson.

The center will allow displaced children to maintain school and social contacts, while providing considerable cost benefits to county taxpayers. Such foster care now must be provided at locations outside Surry, which results in huge transportation costs.

PILOT MOUNTAIN — James Templeton is well into his third career, and looking forward to retirement — again.

Templeton has spent his professional life as an educator at everything from teaching high school to serving as a college dean. He's run a hardware store. And most recently, he's serving a term, which ends next year, on the Surry County Board of Commissioners.

Despite the possibility of continuing his political career, Templeton wants more time to devote to the things he enjoys — woodworking, travel, community projects and spending time with his family.

Caught during an afternoon free of other demands recently, Templeton relaxed in the living room of his retirement cabin — a project he and his wife Edith designed and built shortly before his retirement 15 years ago.

As the fifth of 10 children, Templeton grew up in a house full of kids. "My mother kept foster children. I had 50 or 75 foster brothers and sisters while I was growing up," he said. "There were as many as 15 children catching the bus at our house at one time."

"It was during the Depression, and there were a lot of homeless people. It also provided some income for the family's basic needs."

As Templeton and his siblings approached college age, his mother bought a house in Boone near the state teachers college at Appalachian State University. "It was just natural that I go into teaching."

After college, Templeton's first teaching job was in Statesville at a senior high school. From there his educational career led him in 1957 to Pilot Mountain School, where he was principal over the 12-grade facility operating at that time.

He spent four years there, then served as the first principal at East Surry High School. "East Surry was one of the highlights of my career," said Templeton. "Starting a new high school and consolidating three schools, and getting off to a good start, has been an object of pride for me."

In 1965, he joined the first administrative staff at Surry Community College. "There were a lot of firsts with the college," said Templeton, who had a part in establishing the first adult education and extension classes, organizing industrial and vocational classes and setting up the initial home-health training course.

He became an academic dean at the college and played a role in setting up its nursing program in order to take Martin Memorial School of Nursing out of the Mount Airy hospital.

When the first college president retired, Templeton served a year as interim president until Dr.

Angela Leonard/The Mount Airy News

Swanson Richards arrived in 1970. Templeton was a vice president at the college for the last 10 years of his tenure before retiring in 1980.

"I was involved in the growth of the college from its beginning until I retired," he said.

After his retirement, Templeton joined a son and daughter in opening a hardware store in Pilot Mountain. They ran it for about four years before selling out, and Templeton went into his second retirement. He and his son who owns a portion of the property now lease the building.

"We traveled a lot when I finally retired," he said. "Our favorite traveling ground is Alaska. We like the wide-open spaces and the ruggedness of the terrain and people."

Three of the Templeton children still live nearby, two in Pilot Mountain and one in Dobson. Pete, who is beginning a cattle farm near Dobson, lived in California for a time, but returned to raise his children on the farm. Templeton's other daughter, Susan, is a designer in New Zealand.

One son, Lynn, is following in his father's footsteps and teaches building trades at Surry Community College. His classes are involved in construction projects for Habitat for Humanity, and Templeton hopes to get them involved in the construction of Children's Center of Surry — one of his pet projects.

Templeton said that both travel and his active involvement in such projects as Habitat for Humanity and the children's foster-care shelter have been hampered by his political career. He is in the third year of a term as a commissioner and said it has been an interesting experience.

"I have been impressed with the professionalism of the county employees. They work hard and are very proficient, for the most part, at what they do. You can find enthusiasm in about every major office and service we have."

Templeton also has a few visions he wants to work toward during his remaining year of service. He'd like to see additional money for the schools and efforts toward making waste disposal more self-sufficient through recycling and user fees. He's also proud of maintaining a low property tax rate, and glad that county growth has allowed it to be maintained.

The Pilot Mountain resident also is concerned about the need for a new county courthouse, and meeting that need without doing more than Surry taxpayers will believe is justified. "Most taxpayers said 'tax us, but spend the money wisely.' That's what we've got to do here and in other areas."

The county commissioner also is planning for the future. The Templetons want to visit New Zealand, and plan another trip to Alaska soon.

"And we're very involved with our grandchildren," Templeton said. "Our next project will probably be majoring in grandchildren, farming and travel."

SCC Foundation Announces Plans For Yard Sale And Auction

The Surry Community College Foundation, led by Executive Director Laurie Forbes, announces plans for Year III of the Surry 2000 Campus Campaign Fund Drive.

As part of this year's campus campaign, the SCC faculty and staff will conduct a yard sale and auction to benefit the Foundation's general fund. This fund provides scholarships to students who do not meet restricted scholarship guidelines and funds for unanticipated or special student needs. Last year, the SCCF paid child care costs for student parents when federal funds ran out.

The yard sale and auction will be held on the SCC baseball field on Spoon Street in Dobson on Friday, September 15, beginning at 7:00 a.m. and ending at 6:00 p.m. The auction will then begin at 8:00 p.m. and will feature new items, as well as any items that were not sold during the yard sale. The rain date for the yard sale and auction will be Friday, September 22.

SCC faculty and staff will be contributing items for both the yard sale and the auction. Additionally, local businesses and friends of the college will also be contributing new and used items in "good repair."

The campus campaign, "Third and Goal," is chaired by Phil Bowers, who is assisted by Vice-Chairmen Garrett Hinshaw and Jerry Weaver. Co-chairmen include Lisa Davis for records, Laurie Forbes for campaign collateral, Renee Hutchins for displays, Garrett Hinshaw for storage/security, Susan Johnson for the AAWCC bake sale, Sherry Shaw for yard signage, Susan Wilmoth for publicity and Jerry Weaver for sound.

The campus campaign began August 28 and will run until September 30. During this time, the goal is to have 100 percent participation of full-time faculty and staff.

Items to donate include new, up-to-date, never-used or valuable items for the end-of-sale auction. These items could be called "big boys' toys": cars, boats, guns, chain saws, golf carts, jet skis, golf clubs, sports memorabilia or NASCAR items. They could also be "big girls' delights": china, antiques, paintings, jewelry, exercise equipment, furs or sealed perfumes. Finally, items for children, such as swing sets, playhouses, bikes, trikes or Nintendos, are needed.

Used items to donate could include toys, tools, costume jewelry, kitchen, bath, yard/garden items, clothes (clean, in good repair, folded or hung on hangers), furniture, electronic equipment and material. All of these items should be in good repair, clean and immediately usable.

The campus campaign committee for this sale does not need items for parts. Also, items should have a value of $1.00 minimum when compared with a $1.00 thrift-shop price.

If you have items you would like to contribute to the SCC Foundation's efforts to raise money for the general fund, contact Laurie Forbes at SCC.

If you desire pick-up for these items, contact Forbes, or you can drop off your sale items at the Foundation office in the Administration building at SCC. Items will be accepted until 4:00 p.m. on Thursday, September 14.

All contributions are tax deductible. If you would like a donation receipt for your items, price the items and call Forbes. According to IRS information, a person should claim as the value the price that buyers of used items actually pay in consignment or thrift shops. Cash donations are always welcome. Checks may be made payable to SCC Foundation, Inc.

College Professors Gain Insight On Local Industry

By JEFF LINVILLE
Staff Writer

DOBSON — College professors spend a great deal of their class time teaching students to be prepared for the real world.

The problem is that many instructors have been in the classroom so long they may not know what the real world is like themselves.

In an effort to update teachers' views on life after graduation, Surry Community College holds an annual faculty workshop for all of its full-time instructors.

According to John Collins, vice-president of curricular programs, the workshop was held on Aug. 28 and 30.

About 70 teachers trained in crisis intervention and learned team-building exercises. The staff also took a field trip to local businesses to learn more about the job market SCC graduates will enter.

"Our students go into industry to work," said Collins. Keeping that in mind, the faculty wanted to learn more about what their classes would face in the future.

The Tours

The instructors chose seven businesses that they wanted to visit; five were in Mount Airy, one was in White Plains and the other was in Yadkinville.

The instructors chose seven businesses that they wanted to visit; five were in Mount Airy, one was in White Plains and the other was in Yadkinville.

Roy Thomas, chairman of the vocational-technical division, took one group to the Andrew Pearson Design headquarters. Thomas said the members of his clan were interested in seeing the glass furniture created by the company.

When asked what the group learned, Thomas said the trip was very informative and he saw how the company's computer system was invaluable in making the products.

Thomas said he would emphasize to his students that computer knowledge is essential in every occupation.

Another group headed by the chairman of the division of business technologies, Roy High, toured Hamilton Beach/Proctor-Silex in Mount Airy.

High, a business instructor, said the experience was very positive. The trip allowed him and the others to see what employers are looking for in new workers and allow the teachers to learn what their students need to know.

High said that the executives of the industry "exemplified good techniques in management." High added that he now felt more confident that he is teaching students what they will truly need in the job market.

Bill Sroupe, chairman of the math, science and physical education division, led a group to Foothills Nursery and Herbs in White Plains to study how biology is used in everyday life.

Jerry Eller, chairman of the computer science division, led another clan to Pike Electric Co.

Chairman of the health occupations division Sharon Kallm headed a tour of the Mount Airy Dialysis Center, while Larry Scott led a group to the Yadkin Correction Center to tour the jail.

Mathematics instructor Dwight Atkins filled in for an ailing Dr. Norwood Selby and led a group to The Mount Airy News office.

The Training Classes

The second day of the workshop was held on campus. Mike McHone, dean of student services, brought in health care specialists to discuss what teachers should do when their students come to them with personal problems.

Afterwards, the instructors learned about the Internet and the technology available on the campus to both the staff and the students. The full-time teachers were also schooling in team-building exercises and administrative matters that must be addressed on a daily basis.

Collins said that evening the full-time instructors met with the part-time and evening-class teachers. Collins stated that many day instructors do not have the opportunity to meet and talk with the part-time staff.

"Basically," said Collins, "this is a time to rethink the past year and plan for the next year."

College To Hold Yard Sale, Auction

From Staff Reports
DOBSON — The Surry Community College Foundation has announced plans for "Year III" of the Surry 2000 Campus Campaign Fund Drive.

In connection with the effort, the college faculty and staff will conduct a yard sale and auction Friday from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. on the Spoon Street baseball field in Dobson.

The foundation will continue to accept donated items for the sales until 4 p.m. Thursday. Sought are children's toys in good condition, tools, furniture, electronic equipment, lawn equipment and other items.

The proceeds from the event will benefit the general fund of the SCC Foundation, a separate endowment group that supports academic activities of the college. This money provides scholarships to students who do not meet restricted scholarship guidelines and funds for unanticipated or special student needs.

According to the group's executive director, Laurie Forbes, the SCCF paid child-care costs for student parents last year when federal funds were exhausted.

Forbes pointed out that all contributions toward the foundation's effort this week are tax-deductible. To obtain a receipt for donations, one should price the items and call Forbes. According to IRS information, a giver should claim as the value the prices that buyers of used items actually pay in consignment or thrift shops.

The foundation also will accept cash donations. Checks should be payable to the SCC Foundation Inc. More information is available from Forbes, Phil Bowers or Susan Wilmoth at (910) 386-8121.

College Foundation Raises $6,600

From Staff Reports
DOBSON — A Surry Community College Foundation sale has been considered a success by organizers.

The combination auction/yard sale/bake sale raised more than $6,600 Friday. The proceeds will benefit college and adult-education students. The SCC Foundation provides scholarship and other programs to complement the college's mission.

The foundation's executive director, Laurie Forbes, said the $573 raised by the American Association of Women in Community Colleges-sponsored bake sale will be used to pay a testing fee for GED students. Forbes believes the fee is about $7 per student, meaning this total would finance 81 students taking the GED exam.

The more than $6,000 raised by the auction and yard sale is to be turned into unrestricted general fund scholarships, according to Forbes.

Forbes said that while she and others were setting up for the yard sale about 5:30 a.m. Friday, people already were starting to gather in anticipation of the 7 a.m. starting time.

"They were there to buy," she said. "There was a big rush at 7 a.m. as people came by before they went to work."

Entertainment was provided by a local group composed of SCC students — The Travis Bullin Band.

Forbes also said the event "would have been impossible without the maintenance crew."

College Awards GED Diplomas

DOBSON — Surry Community College recently held its 10th Graduate Equivalency Diploma commencement exercises in the college gym.

The ceremony began with an invocation presented by GED graduate Mitchell Robertson, and Chris Puckett, a member of the SCC Chorus, sang "Angels Among Us."

The graduates and their relatives and friends, as well as the staff of SCC, were welcomed by Dr. Claude Ayers, the college's vice president for continuing education.

Ayers remembered that GED testing on campus was begun through the joint efforts of Dr. James Reeves and himself in 1969, when SCC had 59 GED graduates. Ayers' dream for the program is to produce 200 graduates a year, which is only two students, away based on the most-recent total.

Presently, the GED program produces more graduates than any single high school in Surry or Yadkin counties. Ayers urged each to continue striving to reach his or her farthest star, which is the quest suggested by the college motto.

Judy Riggs, director of basic education, introduced special speaker Sue Brammer, a 1994 GED graduate. Brammer compared the students' educational pursuits to a garden and reminded each, "Now you have harvested yourself."

Riggs then recognized the oldest graduate, Betty Crim, 60; husband and wife graduates Roger and Kathy Jones; sisters Lisa Alderman and Ellen Wingfield; and cousins Carrie McMillian and Louise Stewart.

Additionally, Riggs announced the top-10 graduates, who are eligible for scholarships to SCC — Emily Wood, Jeanne Lester, Kimberly Glass, Mitchell Robertson, Sheila Smith, Billy Barron, Karen Holder, Angela Bowman, David Hart, Richard Cagle, Lesa Harrill and Phillip Grimes (there were two ties, so the total number is 12). These same "top-10" scholarships are offered to each area high school through the SCC Foundation.

Dr. Reeves, the president of SCC, presented diplomas to graduates and reminded the students that they represented what Surry Community College is all about — opportunities. They now have the opportunity to do whatever they want with their lives, Reeves said.

More than one-third of these graduates have enrolled for at least one class at SCC since receiving their diplomas.

More information on the GED program is available from Susan Wilnoth at Surry Community College at (910) 386-8121, Extension 210.

Students receiving diplomas (with asterisks denoting honor graduates) were:

Diverse Fall Courses Offered By SCC

The Continuing Education Division of Surry Community College announces a wide-selection of classes this fall.

European Knitting will begin on Thursday, September 28 at 6 p.m. in Room A-11. The class will meet for 11 weeks. The basic difference in European Knitting is that it is twice as fast as the traditional method.

A 12 hour "Customer Service Series" will begin October 5. The class will meet from 6:30-9:30 p.m. for four consecutive Thursday evenings at the Yadkin Senior Center in Yadkinville.

A seminar entitled "General Business Overview" will meet from 6-7:30 p.m. on Monday, October 9 in room E140.

"Staying At Home and Making It Work" will be the title of a seminar meeting on Monday, October 16 from 6-8 p.m. in Room E140.

A seminar on "Managing Multiple Priorities" will meet at the Yadkin Senior Center in Yadkinville on Thursday, September 28 from 6-9 p.m.

Two new basic education classes will be offered during the fall quarter. The classes include GED-High School Completion and ABE-Adult Basic Education.

A one hour credit course in "Power Point" will meet October 26, 31, and November 2. This class will meet from 6-10 p.m. in Room E113.

A "Federal Income Tax" class will begin on Thursday, October 19. The class will meet for six weeks every Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 6:30-9:30 in room V107.

A one hour course in dBase III Plus will begin on October 17 and meet from 6-10 p.m. in Room E113.

"Powerful Business Writing Skills" will be offered Tuesday, October 24 in room E140 from 6-9 p.m.

Pre-registration is required for most courses. For more information call SCC at 368-8121 extension 211.

Boonville Center Of SCC Now Has Day Time Hours

"If you have been in the Boonville Learning Center this month, you've probably seen a new and always smiling face," says Wayne Matthews, director of Yadkin County Programs for Surry Community College.

This face belongs to Mrs. Sheila Swift who joined the staff of the Yadkin Center in September.

The center will now be open on Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday from 9:30 am until 2:30 pm.

These new hours will allow students to have additional time available so that people who work second and third shifts; "four on, three off" shifts; or other irregular sched-

Mrs. Swift has a B. S. degree in Education and a M. A. degree in Reading with a concentration in adult literacy. She is a member of the International Reading Association, Alpha Epsilon Lambda Graduate National Honor Society, and the Association of American Women in Community Colleges. She is also certified as a resource specialist by the Department of Community Colleges. She has been employed in the field of adult basic education, GED programs, or adult high school programs since 1982.

While in the Yadkin Center, she will be involved in teaching classes, recruiting students, working on retention, and organizing volunteers. Additionally, she will serve as a resource instructor or mentor to other Adult Basic Education and GED instructors in Yadkin County.

The center provides a stress-free, relaxed learning environment. Each student's program of study is designed to meet his or her specific educational needs.

Said Mrs. Swift: "I would like to encourage those who have not had the opportunity of getting all the education they would like to have, to come over to the center and take advantage of the classes and new hours that are offered now. Anyone having questions about GED or Adult Basic Skills programs can call me at the Boonville Center at (910) 367-7562."

Matthews said Surry Community's Yadkin program has been greatly enhanced by Mrs. Swift's presence and the new day-time hours.

SCC Presents Diplomas To 198 GED Graduates

Surry Community College recently held its tenth Graduate Equivalency Diploma graduation in the gymnasium at the Dobson campus.

Although the weatherman had promised cooler weather, the cold front did not arrive until later, so the gym containing hundreds of people gathering to see friends and relatives receive diplomas was sweetly hot. However, even the heat and humidity couldn't put a damper on the joy and excitement of those present to receive their diplomas.

The ceremony began with the invocation presented by GED graduate Mitchell Robertson, and Chris Puckett, a member of the SCC Chorus, sang "Angels Among Us." The graduates, their relatives and friends, as well as the staff of SCC were welcomed by Dr. Claude Ayers, Vice President for Continuing Education.

Ayers remembered that the GED testing on campus was begun through the joint efforts of Dr. James Reeves and himself in 1969, when SCC had fifty-nine GED graduates. Ayers' dream for the program is to produce 200 graduates, and since that only means two more students, maybe next year will be the year SCC will fulfill the dream.

Presently, Surry's GED program produces more graduates than any single high school in Surry or Yadkin counties. Ayers urged each graduate to continue striving to reach his or her farthest star, which is the quest suggested by the college motto.

Judy Riggs, director of Basic Education, introduced the speaker, Sue Brammer, a 1994 GED graduate. Brammer compared the student's educational pursuits to a garden, and reminded each student that now "you have harvested yourself."

Riggs then recognized the oldest graduate, Betty Crim, who was 60 years old. She also recognized husband and wife graduates Roger and Kathy Jones; sisters Lisa Alderman and Ellen Wingfield; and cousins Carrie McMillian and Louise Stewart.

Additionally, Riggs announced the top ten graduates who are eligible for scholarships to SCC. These scholarship winners are Emily Wood, Jeanne Lester, Kimberly Glass, Mitchell Robertson, Sheila Smith, Billy Barron, Karen Holder, Angela Bowman, David Hart, Richard Cagle, Lesa Harrill and Phillip Grimes — there were two ties, so the total number of winners is twelve. These same "top ten" scholarships are offered to each area high school through the SCC Foundation.

Dr. James Reeves, president of SCC, presented the diplomas to each graduate and reminded students that they were what Surry Community College is all about — opportunities. They now have the opportunity to do whatever they want with their lives. Interestingly, more than one-third of these graduates have enrolled for at least one class at SCC since they received their diploma.

Students who received diplomas are: Donna Absher, Bambi Adams, Cathy Adkins, Lisa Alderman, Joy Anders, Debbie Angel, Tonya Atkins, Jeri Atkinson, Carmen Bailey, Angela Baker, Debora Bare, Eva Barr, Mark Barr, Billie Barron (honor graduate), Frank Bauguess, Kimberly Becker, Charles Beketov, Charles Blevins (honor graduate), Christopher Blevins, Randy Boggs, Grayson Boles, Stacie Bostic, Darin Bowers, Angela Bowman (honor graduate), Michael Brady, Jammie Brin, Angela Bryant, Phyllis Bryant, Daniel Butner (honor graduate), Richard Cagle (honor graduate), Melinda Calloway, Jennifer Casstevens, Arthur Caudle, Tamrin Causey, Darlene Childress, Melissa Childress, Patty Cleary, Sandra Clement, Keyla Cline, Ricky Collins, Kimberly Cooke, Randy Cooke, Jason Couch, Josh Cranford, Aaron Craver, Betty Crim, Sheila Cromer, Tracie Crotts (honor graduate), Linda Crouse (honor graduate), Christopher Culler, Johnny D'Amico, Pauline Davis, Bradley Dawson, Edith Dobson, Mary Donathan-Willard, Jason Draughn (honor graduate), Lisa Durham, Daniel Dwiggins, Olivia Easter, Tammy Edmonds, Rodney Edwards (honor graduate), Tennille Elkins, Christopher Ester, Linda Farlow, Bobbie Jo Flippin, Angela Frazier, Glenda Freeman, Bobby Fulk, Jose Garcia, Tammy Gartland (honor graduate), Kim Glass (honor graduate), Jennifer Goins, Daphne Green, Christopher Griffin, Phillip Grimes (honor graduate), Robert Gumpert, Melissa Gwyn, Lisa Hall, Scott Hardy, Angela Harold, Lisa Harrell (honor graduate), Brenda Harris, Lloyd Hart (honor graduate), Christy Hawks, Celia Haynes, Robyn Hicks, Christopher Hill, Karen Holder (honor graduate), Bobbie House, Diane Hulbert, Billy Hutson (honor graduate), Kerry Inman, Carolyn Irby (honor graduate), Ronnie Johnson, Jr., Tammy Johnson (honor graduate), James Jones, Roger Jones, Dwight Joyce, Ernest Key, Jeff Lawrence, Shelly Lawrence (honor graduate), Anita Lawson, Rebecca Ledford, Christina Lee, Jeanne Lester (honor graduate), Jason Linville, William Linville, Jr. (honor graduate), Matthew Lockaby, Johnny Lowe, Kevin Martin, Marty Mayes (honor graduate), Page Mayes, Derek McIntyre, Carrie McMillian, Terry McMillian (honor graduate), Christy Miller, Teresa Moore, Edwina Moree, Terri Morris, Priscilla Niten, Doris Norman, Joseph O'Dell, Rhonda Oakley and Matthew Payne.

SCC's Yadkin Learning Center Adds Instructor And Daytime Hours

"If you have been in the Boonville Learning Center this month, you've probably seen a new and always smiling face," says Wayne Matthews, director of Yadkin County Programs for Surry Community College.

This face belongs to Shelia Swift, who joined the staff of the Yadkin Center in September.

Matthews, who was "thrilled to have someone of Swift's caliber on staff," said that the center will now be open on Tuesday, Thursday and Friday from 8:30 a.m. until 2:30 p.m.

These new hours will allow students to have additional time available so that people who work second and third shifts, "four on, three off" shifts or other irregular schedules will have a chance to attend classes. The center also offers flexible scheduling so that students can come to class each of these days or any combination of days.

Swift has a B.S. degree in Education and a M.A. degree in Reading with a concentration in adult literacy. She is a member of the International Reading Association, Alpha Epsilon Lambda Graduate National Honor Society and the Association of American Women in Community Colleges. She has also received her certification as a resource specialist from the Department of Community Colleges. She has been employed in the field of adult basic education, GED programs, or adult high school programs since 1982.

While in the Yadkin center, she will be involved in teaching classes, recruiting students, working on retention and organizing volunteers. Additionally, she will serve as a resource instructor or mentor to other Adult Basic Education and GED instructors in Yadkin County.

Swift says, "We have many good instructors in all parts of the county; however, many of these instructors work full-time at one job and teach evening classes part-time for SCC. I will serve as a liaison between the part-time instructors and the main campus in Dobson. I will also be working toward recruiting new students in the Boonville Center, as well as the other classes in Yadkin County."

Swift added, "The part I like most about my job is teaching. Many times, adults juggle jobs, children, family and home responsibilities; also, they truly want to learn. These people have my utmost respect."

The center provides a stress-free, relaxed learning environment. Each student's program of study is designed to meet his or her specific educational needs. Swift observes that "one of my most rewarding experiences is attending GED graduation exercises in September of each year. This program is both a graduation and a celebration of achievement and fulfillment of dreams — especially when you know the obstacles that have been overcome and the hard work that has gone in to reaching this goal."

"I would like to encourage those who have not had the opportunity of getting all the education they would like to have, to come over to the center and take advantage of the classes and new hours that are offered now," Swift says. "Anyone having questions about GED or Adult Basic Skills programs can call me at the Boonville Center at (910) 367-7562."

Matthews concludes, "our program has been greatly enhanced by Mrs. Swift's presence and the new day-time hours."

SCC Foundation raises more than $6,000 at yard sale

The Surry Community College Foundation raised more than $6,000 at its yard sale and auction held recently.

Proceeds from the yard sale and auction will be used for scholarships. In addition to the yard sale proceeds, the American Women in Community Colleges held a bake sale in conjunction with the yard sale that raised more than $600 to be used to pay testing fees for GED students.

Entertainment at the yard sale was provided by a local group composed of SCC students—the Travis Bullin Band.

Laurie Forbes, executive director of the Surry Community College Foundation, says she is especially grateful to Roger Snow and the maintenance staff and the campaign committee—Phil Bowers, chairman; Garrett Hinshaw, vice chairman; Jerry Weaver, vice chairman; Lisa Davis, records; Renee Hutchins, displays; Susan Johnson, bake sale; Sherry Shaw, signage; and Susan Wilmoth, publicity.

Additionally, the fall campus campaign raised $9,164 from contributions made by college faculty and staff. These efforts combined raised $15,264.25 to benefit the various scholarship funds on campus.

Checking it twice: Sen. Virginia Foxx, Dallas Nance, chairman of the SCC Board of Trustees, and Dr. Sherry Shaw, dean of College Transfer and administrative assistant to the president, check items for the SCC auction.

Campaign Nets Over $15,000

Laurie Forbes, Executive Director of the Surry Community College Foundation, considers the third campus campaign sponsored by the foundation, faculty, and staff of the college a success.

The proceeds from the yard sale and auction held during the campaign will benefit college and adult education students. The SCC Foundation provides scholarships that enable students to attend the college. According to Forbes, the more than $6,000 raised from the yard sale and auction will be turned into unrestricted general fund scholarships. The bake sale sponsored by the American Women in Community Colleges held in conjunction with the yard sale raised more than $600. This money will be used to pay testing fees for GED students.

People began arriving at the yard sale long before the 7 a.m. starting time. "There was a big rush at 7 a.m. as people came by before they went to work," Forbes noted.

Entertainment was provided by a local group composed of SCC students called, The Travis Bullin Band.

Forbes was especially grateful to Roger Snow and the maintenance staff saying, the event "would have been impossible without them." She noted the great work done by the campaign committee: Phil Bowers, Chairman; Garrett Hinshaw, Vice Chairman; and Jerry Weaver, Vice Chairman. Forbes also praised the work of the Co-Chairmen: Lisa Davis, Records; Renee Hutchins, Displays; Susan Johnson, AAWCC Bake Sale; Sherry Shaw, Signage; and Susan Wilmoth, Publicity. Ms. Forbes served as co-chairman for campaign collateral.

Additionally, the fall campus campaign raised $9,164 from contributions made by the college faculty and staff. These efforts combined raised $15,264.25 to benefit the various scholarship funds on campus.

During the three years this campus campaign has been conducted, the faculty and staff have raised more than $41,000. From this, $3,552 goes to the Excellence in Advancement Fund to help pay for additional education for faculty and staff; $4,999 goes to the Peggy Scholastic Fund to help finance the education of SCC faculty and staff members; $2,827 goes toward the purchase of a gift for the college in the year 2000; $21,511 goes to other foundation scholarships and $2,183 goes to other special foundation memorials and honors.

SCC Honors Bradley

The Surry Community College Board of Trustees recognized Dr. Harris Bradley by presenting him with a resolution of appreciation for his service to the board from July 1985 through June 1995. During his tenure on the board, Dr. Bradley served as a member of the long-range planning committee for ten years and as Vice-Chairman of the Board of Trustees from September 1987 through July 1993.

The resolution also recognized the "many hours he devoted toward planning for the development and growth of Surry Community College." Additionally, the Board recognized and expressed "their appreciation for the services rendered by Dr. Harris W. Bradley as a member of the Board and for his contribution to the citizens of this area through his dedicated, effective leadership from 1985 until 1995." A copy of the resolution was placed in the permanent records of the college and Mr. Dallas Nance, Chairman of the Board, and Dr. Jim Reeves, President of SCC, presented a framed copy to Dr. Bradley.

Dr. Bradley thanked the board and said the thing for which he was most proud during his association with the college was that "the word community in Surry Community College really applied — this college serves and is a vital part of the community." Dr. Bradley also serves on the SCC Foundation Board of Directors.

Surry Community College to sponsor ski trip

Surry Community College has scheduled a new class in snow skiing in cooperation with Appalachian Ski Mountain in Blowing Rock.

Orientation for the class will be held Jan. 9 from 6-8 p.m. in the gymnasium on the Dobson campus.

Cost for the course, including all equipment, slope and lift fees is $93 plus tuition of $13.75. Those interested should plan to register for this course during winter quarter pre-registration Nov. 13-17 or during registration on Tuesday, Nov. 21, in student services. Tuition of $13.75 should be paid at this time.

The class will include four sessions of on-site skiing for all ability levels to be conducted by the French-Swiss Ski College on Tuesday nights from 6-10 p.m., beginning on Jan. 16.

Activities for the course, including the orientation on Jan. 9 at which time a non-refundable deposit of $53 is due, will be sponsored by the SCC physical education department under the direction of Dr.

Gene Blackwell. One credit hour will be given on completion of the course.

Small classes grouped by ability will enable students to maximize their learning experience while enjoying the fun of group participation. Lessons are not just for beginners. Intermediate and advanced skiers learn to ski parallel and control speed on steeper terrain. Beginning skiers develop sound fundamental skills making skiing safer and more fun. A closely timed series of lessons will have students skiing better than they would have believed possible.

If you would like more information, you may contact student services at the college at (910) 386-8121, Ext. 218.

SCC teacher honored for excellence

A Surry Community College speech and developmental English teacher has been named this year's winner of the Excellence in Teaching Award.

Margaret Shepherd has been a member of the SCC faculty for 25 years. She has also taught English, reading, business communications, report writing, and children's literature. She also advises cooperative education students and during her tenure at SCC, has been sponsor of the cheerleaders.

Shepherd has taught an estimated

12,096 students and if each of these students had completed four writing assignments, she has graded 48,384 assignments. She and her husband, Dr. Carlyle Shepherd, math instructor and advisor for the SCC Alumni Association, live in Dobson and are members of First Presbyterian Church in Mount Airy. They have four children—Carla, an SCC graduate who received her B.S. and M.S. degrees at N.C. State University and is a project engineer for Proctor & Gamble; Angie, who lives in Raleigh and is a senior at N.C. State University majoring in chemical engineering and textile chemistry; Stacie, a senior at Surry Central High School; and Brad, a sophomore at Surry Central High School.

Shepherd was chosen for the award by a committee of past recipients who reviewed the nominations from the faculty and staff. She will advance to state competition where she will compete with 57 other nominees.

SCC Plans Watercolor Class

The Continuing Education Division of SCC has scheduled a Watercolor class beginning Thursday, November 30 at 1:00 p.m. at the Charles Stone Memorial Library in Pilot Mountain.

This class is designed for both beginners and advanced artists in the development of still life and landscape paintings. The class will meet each Thursday afternoon from 1:00 to 4:00 p.m. for eleven weeks.

The registration fee is $35.00. N.C. residents 65 and older may register free of charge. Interested persons should plan to attend the registration/first class meeting on Thursday, November 30.

SCC, ASU agree on transfer credits

Surry Community College and Appalachian State University in Boone have developed a transfer agreement allowing SCC Electronics Engineering Technology graduates to gain advanced entrance standing in the ASU's Industrial Technology/Electronics Technology four-year program.

The agreement sets up a guide for graduates of SCC's two-year Electronics Engineering Technology program to provide a smooth transition into the ASU bachelor of science degree program.

It allows students who complete the A.A.S. degree at Surry to transfer to ASU the equivalent of the first full two years of study.

Students often find it difficult to transfer from a two-year college into a four-year college without losing credits, and may require as much as three additional years to complete the bachelor of science degree.

This agreement between the two schools will eliminate transfer difficulty if a student follows the program from his or her initial enrollment at SCC.

A direct transfer under this agreement allows the transferring student to complete the bachelor of science degree in two years after the transfer.

The agreement provides the mechanism for smoother transfer from one institution to the other, although some academic stipulations are included and automatic acceptance into ASU is not a part of the agreement.

For more information, contact the Student Services Office at SCC at (910) 386-8121.

College Names Two To Board

Two Other Members Are Reappointed

From Staff Reports

DOBSON — Two new members have been appointed to the Surry Community College Board of Trustees.

Jim Crossingham, a Mount Airy industrialist, and Dobson businessman Clifford Scott have been named to the board that oversees operation of the local school. Their appointments were partly due to the recent death of Raymond A. Smith, a Mount Airy industrialist who served as an SCC trustee.

The Board of Trustees, which makes decisions on building projects and other vital issues of the community college, also has announced the reappointment of trustees Eleanor Jones and Floyd E. "Flip" Rees, both of Mount Airy.

Crossingham is the CEO and president of Spencer's Inc. of Mount Airy, a manufacturer of infant clothing. He has been with the company all of his professional life and most of his childhood, since his father was one of the founders of Spencer's. Crossingham's term on the SCC board ends in 1996.

The Mount Airy resident has served as CEO and president since the early 1980s. He and his wife, Mary Helen, reside on Willis Gap Road.

Scott, the other appointee, has been in the insurance field for 34 years, and has been chosen "Man of the Year" 11 times. He was appointed to the SCC board by the Surry County Board of Commissioners to a term that ends in 1999.

He also has served as a member of the Northern Hospital of Surry County Board of Trustees and been moderator of the Surry Baptist Association.

Seminar Planned On Motivating And Training Hourly Workers

How do you motivate and train today's hourly worker to do a great job? You might not like the answer, "It's up to you."

Today's managers are under increasing pressure to get the job done, and hourly workers are often the keys to making it happen.

The Small Business Center of Surry Community College will sponsor a seminar on "Motivating and Training Hourly Workers" on Tuesday, December 5 from 1:00 to 4:00 p.m. on the College campus in Room E140.

There will be no charge to participants, but pre-registration is required by calling 386-8121, extension 211.

Colleges Joining Forces

The Mount Airy News

Wednesday, November 15, 1995

DOBSON — Surry Community College and Appalachian State University have developed a transfer agreement aimed at helping electronics students.

It allows SCC Electronics Engineering graduates to gain advanced entrance standing into the four-year ASU Industrial Technology/Electronics Technology program.

The agreement establishes a guide for graduates of Surry Community College's two-year Electronics Engineering curriculum to provide a smooth transition into the ASU bachelor of science program, according to college officials. This allows students who complete work for an A.A.S. degree at Dobson to transfer to Appalachian State the equivalent of the first two years of study.

Students often find it difficult to transfer from a two-year to four-year college without losing credits and it can take as much as three additional years to complete bachelor's degree requirements, college officials say.

But the pact between the two schools will eliminate transfer difficulties if students maintain the program from their initial enrollment at SCC. A direct transfer under the new agreement allows the student to receive a B.S. degree in two years after the transfer, officials say.

They stress that the change provides a mechanism for a smoother transfer from one institution to the other, though some academic stipulations are included and automatic acceptance into ASU is not part of the agreement.

EMT Refresher Course Planned

DOBSON — The Continuing Education Division of Surry Community College will offer the Emergency Medical Technician Refresher Course beginning Monday on the college campus.

The class will meet each Monday and Wednesday from 7 to 10 p.m. through Jan. 31. Sessions will be held in Classroom C-112, with Dale Ring as lead instructor.

A $35 registration fee will be charged, although members of life-saving agencies and North Carolina residents 65 and older may register free.

Seminar Slated On Small Business Ideas

What are the best small business ideas of the 1990s? Personal services, business services, computer businesses, health care and "fun and profit" industries will all grow rapidly.

The Small Business Center of Surry Community College will sponsor a seminar on "The Best Business in the 90s" on Tuesday, December 5 from 6:00 to 9:00 p.m. on the College campus in Room E140.

There will be no charge to participants, but pre-registration is required by calling 386-8121, extension 211.

The Mount Airy News

Being a police officer was a dream I had as a young girl; even though, the only females you saw with a uniform back then were "meter maids." The world was not ready for female officers.

After having to drop out of high school and then three years later being left to raise a small baby on my own, I had to live on welfare for about two years. I found out really quickly that this was not the way I wanted to live. However, for the next six or seven years, I could not get a job that paid above minimum wage because I didn't have a high school diploma.

I came to SCC and with the encouragement of my then new husband, Woody, and SCC GED instructor Glenda White, in no time at all, I had my GED. I could never put into words what that accomplishment alone did for my self esteem. I knew then that I could and wanted to open other educational doors for myself. I got a job at the Surry County Sheriff's Office and completed a 160 hour course of Jailor Certification Training through the Continuing Education Division. Next I enrolled in the Basic Law Enforcement Training Program at SCC and successfully completed 685 hours of training and became a sworn deputy. I was on a roll, so I decided that I wanted to work toward a degree in Correctional Technology and Criminal Justice so I enrolled in some evening courses at SCC. During my English classes, my instructor, Susan Wilmoth encouraged me to do some writing and said that she thought I should go into teaching. At first, I thought she was out of her mind, but I enrolled in an 80-hour class and became a Criminal Justice instructor.

These accomplishments really started paying off in March of this year when Sheriff Connie Watson promoted me to a sergeant's position. Never before, in the history of the Surry County Sheriff's Office, had a female ever held a ranking position and here was a man who had enough confidence in me to make that kind of decision. And to think, all those opportunities were there waiting for me and all I needed to get started was a high school diploma.

With the programs offered at SCC and the encouragement of so many instructors, I have seen my dream to become a law enforcement officer come true, and I'm not through growing and advancing yet.

New SCC Board Members Announced

The Board of Trustees of Surry Community College announced the appointment of new board members Clifford Scott and Jim Crossingham who will complete the term Raymond Smith's death created. The board also announced the reappointment of Mrs. Eleanor Jones and Mr. Floyd E. Rees.

Mr. Scott has been employed for thirty-four years in the insurance industry and has been chosen Man of the Year eleven times. He has also served as a trustee of Northern Hospital of Surry County and been moderator of the Surry Baptist Association. He and his wife, Frances, live on West Kapp Street in Dobson. Scott was appointed to the SCC Board by the County Commissioners for a term to end in 1999.

Mr. Jim Crossingham is CEO and President of Spencer's, Inc. of Mount Airy. He has been with Spencer's all of his professional life and most of his childhood since his father was one of the founders of the company; he has served as CEO and President since the early eighties. He and his wife, Mary Helen, live on Willis Gap Road in Mount Airy. Mr. Crossingham's term will end in 1996.

Additionally, board members, Mrs. Eleanor Jones and Mr. Floyd (Flip) Rees were reappointed to terms to end in 1999. Mrs. Jones is the retired librarian from Mount Airy Senior High School and the widow of L.H. Jones. She has served on the Board of Trustees at SCC since 1983 and served for six years as a member of the Executive Board of the North Carolina Association of Community College Trustees. She was also a member of the Education and Orientation Committee which developed a training program for new trustees—a program she participated in earlier this week. Mrs. Jones is appointed by the school boards of Surry County.

Mr. Rees is appointed by the governor's office for a term that will also end in 1999. Mr. Rees and his wife, Marjorie, live on Country Club Road in Mount Airy. Mr. Rees has been past Chairman of the Board, Board Representative to the SCC Foundation, as well as Chairman of the Nominating Committee, Finance Committee, and the Building Committee. Mr. Rees is a well-known Mount Airy citizen who has won numerous awards and honors for his civic contributions.

Seminar To Look At Management College To Host Program On Thursday

From Staff Reports

DOBSON — Area leaders wanting to learn more about effective management techniques for the 21st century can do so next week at a free seminar.

Titled "Developing Plants and People for Globally Competitive Manufacturing," the seminar is a joint presentation by Surry Community College and the Mount Airy Chamber of Commerce's Economic and Business-Development Committee.

Neil Cahill, the vice president of the Institute of Textile Technology in Charlottesville, Va., will present the seminar, providing information on procedures and management philosophies he has learned in the U.S. and abroad.

Chamber official Dale Badgett said the information in the seminar was developed for manufacturing, but is good for anyone involved in management. "It's about how not only industry, but management as a whole, has evolved in a global economy. We have to keep up or be left behind."

"While the focus may be on manufacturing industries," Badgett emphasized, "the information will be something that can be used anywhere."

Badgett said this year's Chamber of Commerce president, Teresa Yeatts, and other members have attended the three-hour seminar elsewhere, and endorsed the program.

The seminar will be presented at Surry Community College Thursday at 1:30 p.m. Those wishing to attend are asked to call the Mount Airy Chamber of Commerce at 786-6116 to allow appropriate planning.

College To Offer Spanish Course

From Staff Reports

DOBSON — Surry Community College again is offering an eight-week Spanish class in response to the needs of an increasing Hispanic community.

"Spanish for Health-Care Professionals" is designed especially for area health-care workers confronted with the language barrier.

The class already has met once, on Tuesday of this week, but registrations still are being accepted for the course scheduled on Tuesday nights. Interested persons who might not have heard about the class previously need simply to show up for the next meeting Tuesday at 6:30 p.m.

It is running from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. on eight Tuesdays for a total of 24 hours of instruction. The course is offered periodically by the college as the need arises.

Meeting in Room C-111 on the SCC campus, the class is instructed by Eldon Rogers, a retired Spanish teacher who has worked as an interpreter for several years with the Surry County Health Department and other area agencies.

Registration costs $35 per student, plus about $8 for a textbook.

More information is available from SCC's Continuing Education Division at 386-8121/Extension 269 or 261.

Community College To Offer CPR Class

From Staff Reports

DOBSON — A basic-lifesaving CPR class for professional rescuers is scheduled Saturday by the Continuing Education Division of Surry Community College.

The class will meet in Room C-104 from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. for a total of four hours of instruction.

It is geared toward anyone who wants to be certified in adult, child and infant CPR techniques. Judy York will be the instructor for the course, which requires a registration fee of $35.

Since class size is limited, interested persons are asked to contact the SCC Continuing Education Division at (910) 386-8121/Extension 261 or 269 to pre-register.

College Offers Skiing Class

From Staff Reports

DOBSON — Just in time for a winter weather outlook that calls for more snow during the upcoming season, Surry Community College will offer a new class in snow skiing beginning next month.

The class is planned in conjunction with Appalachian Ski Mountain at Blowing Rock, with an orientation session for it scheduled Jan. 9 from 6 to 8 p.m. in the SCC gym.

Included will be four sessions of on-site skiing for all ability levels, to be conducted by the French-Swiss Ski College on Tuesdays from 6 to 10 p.m. beginning Jan. 16.

College officials say small classes grouped by ability will enable students to maximize their learning experience while enjoying the fun of group participation. Lessons are not just for beginners, they say, with intermediate and advanced skiers to be taught techniques for skiing parallel and controlling speed on steeper terrain.

Beginning skiers will develop sound fundamental skills to make the activity safer and more fun, class organizers say, with a closely timed series of lessons planned to allow students to ski better than they would have believed possible.

Activities for the course, including the Jan. 9 orientation — when a non-refundable $53 deposit is due — will be sponsored by the SCC Physical Education Department under the direction of Dr. Gene Blackwell. One hour of credit will be given upon completion of the course.

The total cost for the class — including all equipment, slope and lift fees — is $93, plus tuition of $13.75.

While registration for SCC's winter quarter was held in November, sign-ups still are being accepted for the skiing course, either by present students of the college or others wishing to take the class.

More information is available from the SCC student-services office at 386-8121, Extension 218.

Textile Official To Hold Seminar

DOBSON — A seminar, "The Design of World-Class Textile Plants," is scheduled Thursday from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. in Room A-121 on the campus of Surry Community College.

The seminar will be sponsored by the Mount Airy Chamber of Commerce Industrial and Business Development Committee and the Industrial Training Center of Surry Community College.

Conducting it will be Neil Cahill, vice president of the Institute of Textile Technology in Charlottesville, Va. Before joining the institute in 1974, he spent 13 years in industry with various textile companies, including Milliken, Bibb and National Spinning.

Cahill's areas of expertise included process engineering and process control and subsequently progressed into manufacturing management as a plant manager.

At present, he heads the Institute of Textile Technology's effort in "The Design of World-Class Textile Plants." To this end, Cahill has led study missions to analyze world-class textile-manufacturing organizations around the planet and consulted with member companies on an individual basis to help them reach goals of being globally competitive.

Jeremiah Bryant helps spark SCC to home victory

By MICHAEL PAUL
Sports Editor

DOBSON — It was Jeremiah Bryant at his finest.

Whether he was setting up the offense, driving toward the basket on a layup or passing off to a teammate, the former Elkin star helped spark the Surry Community College basketball team to a 107-85 win over Wilkes Community College in the Knights' home opener Thursday night.

Bryant wasn't the leading scorer — Jeff Spells had 24 points and 12 rebounds, Chris Gwyn 21 points and 13 rebounds, and Tony Smith 20 points and 17 rebounds — but most of Bryant's 14 points came during a pivotal run midway in the second half, a run that saw SCC extend its lead from 74-62 to 88-66 and clinch the win.

"He gave us a spark off the bench," said SCC coach Tony Searcy. "He increased the intensity. He really pushed the ball up the floor, which is what we want to do. ...

"We tried to establish an inside game early with Tony [Smith] and Jeff [Spells]. When they closed that off, we have to try to push the ball up the floor. Jeremiah did a good job of pushing the ball up the floor for us and getting some easy baskets."

Bryant began the 14-7 run with a pass to former Surry Central star Brandon Whitaker for a layup and a 76-61 lead. (Whitaker finished with nine points.)

Wilkes, with two baskets by former East Wilkes star Kager Brewer (15 points), cut the lead to 78-66. But Bryant hit a three-pointer and scored on a layup for an 83-66 lead.

After a basket by Wilkes, Bryant hit another three. Spells then scored off a missed Bryant layup, giving SCC an 88-66 lead with 7:41 left.

Jeremiah and Josh Bryant had key roles in the next 14 SCC points. Josh scored twice (his only points) and Jeremiah had an assist and two baskets — his final basket scored SCC's 100th point, a memorable way to end a memorable home debut.

Notes: Matt Couch did not dress for the game. Searcy said Couch is ineligible pending receipt of grades from Chowan ... The Knights (2-1) don't

Knights Wallop Wilkes

Spells Knocks In 23 Points; Smith Has 22 Points, 20 Rebounds

By MARK CRAMER
Sports Writer

DOBSON — Surry Community College made the most of its home opener Thursday night, besting Wilkes Central 107-88 to even its record at 1-1 and move to the top of the Western Tarheel Conference at 1-0.

Five of the Knights' 10 players scored in double figures, and all but one scored. Jeff Spells led the attack with 23 points, with 18 coming in the first half. Spells sat out much of the second half with a minor ankle injury. Tony Smith, a North Surry product, pumped in 22 points and also grabbed a game-high 20 rebounds, while fellow North Surry alum Chris Gwyn scored 21 points and pulled down nine rebounds. Jeremiah Bryant scored 14 points and Gabe Wykes added 10 to round out Surry's big scorers.

Wilkes Community College's Steven Barnes led all scorers with 28 points, 12 of which came at the foul line.

The Knights struggled early, as Wilkes scored six of the game's first eight points. Trailing 6-2 with 16:51 remaining in the first half, however, Surry used their up-tempo style to seize control of the game. A 3-pointer by Gwyn brought the Knights to within 6-5, and kicked off a 14-0 run that put Surry up 18-8. The Knights never trailed again, but could not put Wilkes away until the second half.

"We were a little sluggish in the first half," said Knights coach Tony Searcy. "We didn't play solid defense. They were going around us in the first half. We were letting the guards go by and we weren't getting any help. We stepped it up a little bit in the second half. We had a little powwow, and in the second half we took a little more defensive pride, and once we increased the intensity on the defensive end, we got easier shots on the offensive end."

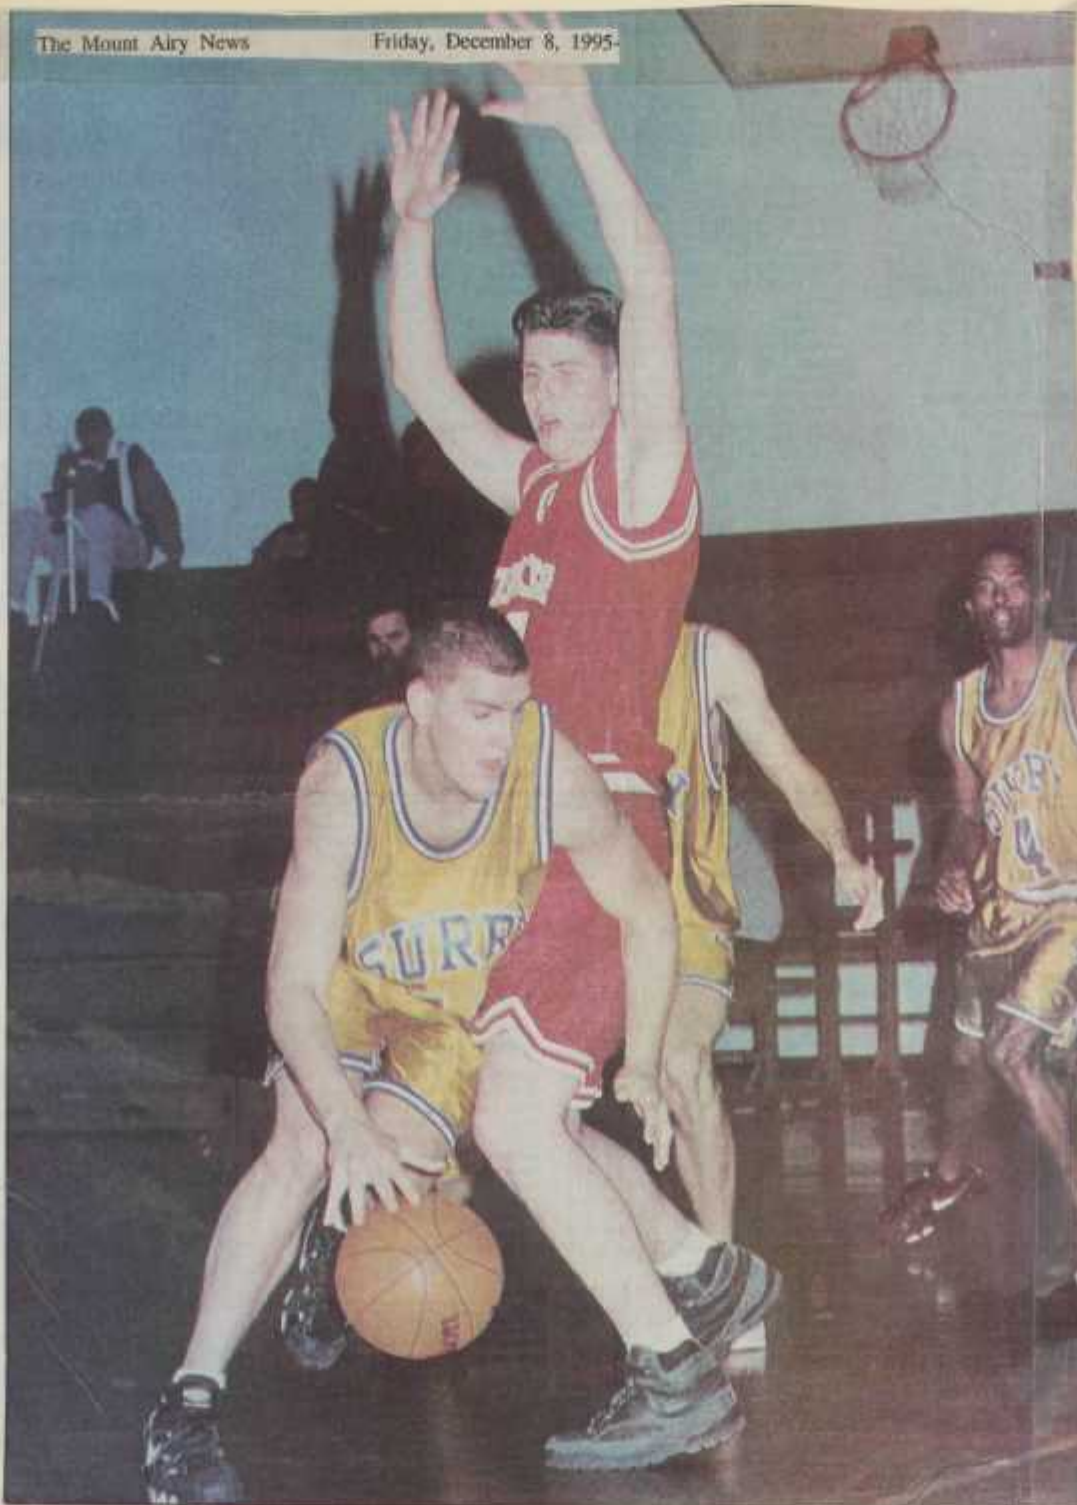

Wilkes fell behind by 11 points, 33-22, on another Gwyn trey with 8:40 left in the first, but went on a 10-0 run that was capped off by a Kager Brewer field goal off of a Michael Woodruff assist. That brought Wilkes to within one, 33-32, at the 5:50 mark.

Wilkes was able to keep in the game in the first half due to their intensive rebounding. The Knights held only a two-rebound advantage in the first half, 29-27, as Wilkes scored again and again off of offensive rebounds. Surry improved greatly in the second half, limiting their opponent to only 25 rebounds while grabbing 38.

Knights

"We're really going to have to continue to work on that," Searcy said of his team's rebounding. "We're not very big. We're just going to have to do a better job finding bodies and just getting in front of them and then going to the glass. We're not very big, and we've got to do a better job, because when we go up against teams that are bigger than us, we're going to run into problems. So we've really got to work on that."

Wilkes could not regain the lead, however. The Knights held a 22-13 scoring advantage over the rest of the first half, with all of the points scored by Wykes, Spells and Smith. That put Surry up by 10 at the half, 55-45.

The Knights set the tone for the second half immediately, as Smith stole Wilkes' inbound pass and layed it in to start the half. Surry scored 13 of the half's first 15 points and led 38-47 after a pair of Spells free throws with 17 minutes left. Wilkes never got closer than a dozen after that.

Surry had their widest margin with 3:48 left to play, after Josh Bryant scored on a Smith assist to make the lead 102-74. The Knights basically played for fun over the last 3:30, allowing Wilkes to go on a 14-6 run to make the final score more respectable.

Overall, Searcy was pleased, particularly with the depth of his squad.

"We've got some good guards," he said. "I feel confident with our guard play. We've got a lot of guys who have played some good ball before, so I'm not hesitant to try anybody that we've got on our team. I'm never losing any confidence in any one of my players. I think they all help this team. Anybody can have a good night, and then some are going to have bad nights, so that next player is going to have to be ready."

Up next for Surry Community College is a road game Tuesday at Central Carolina Community College in Sanford. The tilt begins at 7 p.m.

College Receives Gift Of Confederate War Books

From Staff Reports

DOBSON — Surry Community College recently received a gift from two local organizations: a 14-volume listing of every known Confederate soldier.

"Roster of Confederate Soldiers 1861-1865" is a cumulative index of the more than 1.4 million men discovered among 535 rolls of microfilm entitled Consolidated Index to All Confederate Soldiers, as well as other sources.

The donation to SCC was by the Sons of Confederate Veterans and the Surry County Genealogical Association. The total cost of the 14 books is $742, of which the genealogy group pitched in $350 and the SCV the rest.

The 14 volumes in the series are scheduled for release at the rate of one volume per month. Gary Snow, the commander of local Sons of Confederate Veterans Camp 1598, said the first two volumes already have been received and were presented to the Genealogical Section of the college library last week.

Included in the books are soldiers of all branches: infantry, cavalry, artillery, etc., and from each of the participating states of the South: North

The donation to SCC was by the Sons of Confederate Veterans and the Surry County Genealogical Association.

Carolina, South Carolina, Virginia, Georgia, Florida, Mississippi, Alabama, Louisiana, Texas, Arkansas, Tennessee, Missouri and Kentucky.

Soldiers are listed alphabetically in the volumes along with their home state, regiment and highest rank achieved. One entry reads: "Aaron, Thomas M., GA 4th Infantry Company G Pvt."

The Sons of Confederate Veterans is committed to preserving the memories and legacies of the members' ancestors, Snow said. The SCV has served as a historical, patriotic and non-political organization since its origin in 1896.

Snow quotes Gen. Stephen D. Lee from July 1, 1896, in reflecting the group's purpose: "To you, Sons of Confederate veterans, we submit the vindication of the cause for which we fought...Remember, it is your duty to see that the true history of the South is presented to future generations."

The local SCV donated the books in honor of a deceased member, Wallace Kallam, Snow reported.

"The work that Wallace Kallam did on behalf of military veterans," said the SCV official, "canvassing and cataloging area cemeteries, publishing more than 30 cemetery books and ordering and setting veterans' grave markers, is just part of the projects he worked on for more than 40 years."

The Surry County Genealogical Association was formed in March 1981 as a non-profit organization to create and foster an interest in genealogy, preserve data and assist people in compiling family histories.

The group's research has uncovered many facts concerning local families as well as the history of the county. Surry was formed from Rowan County April 1, 1771. It underwent many changes before assuming its present size in 1870.

Retired SCC Professor Guarded Hess

By R.J. BERRIER
Staff Writer

A tad more than eight years ago, someone at Surry Community College in Dobson mailed a press release that was newsworthy then, but should now be of great interest to area history enthusiasts.

Dated Sept. 15, 1987, the release pertained to a segment of the military activities of a retired professor at SCC.

The old news release has resurfaced at The Mount Airy News via — where else? — the voluminous files of local historian Ruth Minick.

It should be of particular interest to history buffs in this, the waning days of the 50th-anniversary year of the end of World War II. Too, the 54th anniversary of Pearl Harbor, the "day of infamy" perpetrated by Germany's Japanese allies, was observed Thursday. The "day-of-infamy" expression, it will be remembered, was coined by President Franklin D. Roosevelt the day after the sneak attack nearly decimated this country's Pacific fleet.

"The recent death of Rudolph Hess brings back vivid memories for James Hutchens of Yadkin County, retired history professor at Surry Community College," the news release began.

Hutchens, the account continued, served as a guard at Nuremberg Prison, which held numerous Nazi leaders who were rounded up at the end of World War II and later went on trial for war crimes.

Hess was one of the more enigmatic.

As part of his assignment, Hutchens and others of the First Infantry Division mounted a house-to-house search in the Nuremberg vicinity for Martin Bormann, one of Hitler's top staff members, but without success. A skeleton found later on the outskirts of the city was determined to be that of Bormann.

Of Hess, Hutchens remembers, "I never heard him say a word. He would pace around and around his cell. As he passed the cell door, he would look me in the eye, but only in a passing way. Quickly he would change his gaze to the ceiling, walking around and around, looking up, never saying anything. He was a recluse, plain and simple."

Hess, World War II-era folks will Rudolph Hess tried to end World War II in 1941 and restore his falling prestige with Hitler.

remember, was Adolf Hitler's deputy. His power apparently waned during the late-1930s and the first years of World War II and further was eroded, historians say, by Bormann.

Hess then decided on a bold move to end the war and restore his prestige. On May 10, 1941, he secretly flew to Scotland with peace proposals. Those proposals demanded a free hand for Germany in Europe in return for its promise to respect the integrity of the British Empire and return all of Britain's former colonies.

His flight and proposals met with newspaper headlines, but no governmental response. After all, the British knew too well the falsity of any German promise. Hess was treated as a prisoner of war and held throughout the conflict.

Hess was tried at Nuremberg and given a life sentence.

Hutchens also recalled the day a group of officials came to the cell of Hermann Goering and read his death warrant. Goering had headed the Luftwaffe, Hitler's air force, and made a pledge early in the war that no enemy bombs would fall on Germany. That was another of those empty promises that, as Shakespeare put it, was merely "sound and fury, signifying nothing."

Goering committed suicide by poison and thus escaped hanging. Hutchens mentioned in the SCC news release, "There has been a suggestion that one of the psychiatrists who interviewed all the war criminals had secretly given the poison to Goering and later committed suicide by the same method."

Nuremberg Prison was filled with inmates at the time, with the more important ones on the main floor; lesser officials were housed on the second level. Initially, one guard was assigned to four cells, until Hitler's labor minister, Robert Ley, hanged himself. Then a guard was assigned to every cell.

Conversation with prisoners was strictly forbidden, but GI ingenuity won out in the matter. A soldier from Salisbury was successful in getting autographs of the major war-crime figures, except one, Dr. H.H.G. Schacht, Hitler's finance minister.

Schacht wouldn't sign the sheet because Goering's name was on it, Hutchens said.

Hutchens had joined the Army in 1943 and, in late 1944, sailed from New York for Liverpool. After training in England, his unit landed in Normandy and was trucked to the front lines.

In a firefight near Aachen, he and three others were assigned to retrieve the bodies of two infantrymen and a medic killed by German machine-gun fire. Hutchens was wounded as he crawled back to his unit.

He convalesced in England and, at the war's end, was back on duty. In the summer of 1945, his unit was in Bavaria near Nuremberg. It was given Military Police duty and transferred to the Nuremberg area. Hutchens was assigned prison duty as a sergeant, serving until the spring of 1946, when he returned to the U.S.

He joined the faculty of the then-new Surry Community College in 1967, teaching American history, economics and political science before retiring in 1986.

SCC Rolls To Big Win

From Staff Reports

SANFORD — Surry Community College picked up its second straight win by pounding Central Carolina Community College 106-83 Tuesday.

The Knights, who led 53-39 at the half, improved to 2-1 with the road win.

Chris Gwyn sparked the Knights in the first half with 17 of his 21 points. Brandon Whitaker also got 10 of his 14 points before the break.

Tony Smith and Jeff Spells led the way in the second half, with Smith getting 14 of his 21 points and Spells netting nine of his 16 in the final 20 minutes.

Matt Couch also hit double figures, finishing with 15 points. Ronnie Rothrock followed with seven points. Jeremy Johnson and Gabe Wykes had four apiece, Josh Bryant and Kevin Prevette two each, and Jeremiah Bryant didn't score.

The Knights hit 41 of 85 shots (48 percent) from the field, including eight

SCC Clubs Play Santa

Surry Community College's clubs sponsor Angel Tree. "Share the Warmth" project, and adopt families for Christmas. Phi Beta Lambda, the international business honor club; Psi Beta, the national psychology club; Phi Theta Kappa, the international honor society for two-year colleges; and the Cosmetology Club worked for weeks gathering gifts for their specific projects.

Phi Beta Lambda recognized that being a full-time student is difficult, but if you add to those responsibilities the ones connected with being a single parent of two or three children, you find a student who is carrying a terrific load. To help warm this holiday season a little less stressful, the club sponsored an "Angel Tree." Anonymity was maintained since Jamie Childress, Financial Aid Director, provided the names of students who then supplied the necessary information about their children. Gifts were provided for thirty-one children by other students, faculty, and staff of the college.

Debbie Fulk, PBL President, acted as facilitator of the project. Co-advisor, Tom Parker, and Vice-President, Judy Ayers, assisted Ms. Fulk in delivering the gifts to the student/parents. Ms. Fulk says, "It is an extremely rewarding experience to be involved in this project. Children are what makes Christmas for many of us and Phi Beta Lambda is proud to sponsor these children."

On the other hand, Psi Beta, working through the student services office at the college, chose one family and provided Christmas gifts and food for the children. The club purchased a bicycle as well as many other gifts and clothing for the children in the family.

Phi Theta Kappa sponsored the "Share the Warmth" project during which students collected anything warm—blankets, coats, hats, gloves, etc.—Phi Theta Kappa also sponsored a family through the Salvation Army by supplying gifts for the entire family, parents and children.

Additionally, the SCC Cosmetology Club adopted two families. In one of the families, the father is hospitalized with leukemia and expects to be there until January. This family has four children. The other family is a single mother recommended by the Salvation Army. The club has collected many new and like-new gifts for both families.

College To Offer Scholarship In Honor Of Accident Victim

By TOM JOYCE

DOBSON — Mickey Dean Arrington had plans to attend Surry Community College after having graduated from North Surry High School.

However, the 19-year-old resident of Turner Mountain Road, Mount Airy, never got the chance. He was fatally injured May 16, 1994 when his 1991 Camaro collided nearly head-on with a pickup on Old U.S. 601 in White Plains. Now his family wants to make sure someone else gets the opportunity to attend SCC in Mickey's memory.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Brintle of Mount Airy recently established a scholarship at Surry Community College in memory of Mickey — Mrs. Brintle's son — a 1992 graduate of North Surry. The youth had planned to attend SCC to study electronics.

"He had mentioned starting in the fall (of 1994)," Brenda Brintle said today.

If Mickey were alive today, he would be pleased with the establishment of the scholarship, according to Mrs. Brintle, as it was the kind of thing he did in life. "He was a kind and generous person who always put others before himself," she said, adding that Mickey had many friends and was a loving and devoted son.

Those who knew him say he "touches the lives of everyone who knew him," according to a statement from the college. He was "fun to be with and always had a smile on his face."

One of his friends, Misty Scott, wrote in a poem of her deceased friend, "Just remember one thing, good friend in the sky, we

Change Is Coming, Industry Leaders Warned

DOBSON — If American manufacturing doesn't change, it won't survive long in the 21st century, a textile industry analyst told Surry County leaders Thursday.

"Manufacturing in America will either go through a metamorphosis or there is no assurance we will be around by 2010," Neil Cahill, a vice president of the Institute of Textile Technology in Charlottesville, Va., told the group.

A free seminar, titled Developing Plants and People for Global Competitive Manufacturing, was held at Surry Community College and sponsored by the college and the Mount Airy Chamber of Commerce. About 50 to 75 business, industry and educational leaders from the county attended.

Cahill said that for a long time, the American consumer was a ready market for American goods. Now, although Americans are still the most significant consumers, their dollars are spent globally with the manufacturers who provide the value and service they want.

"The thing driving our impetus for change is that the largest textile and consumer market is within our boundaries," Cahill said. "For years that market was ours, but the world is different and the American market is sliced up."

He said the problem has been noticeably growing for the last 10 years. "The first seven years, we did nothing but complain," the seminar leader said. "The last three or four, the American textile industry and others have given their attention to getting

Teachers Offered Class On Spanish

From Staff Reports
DOBSON — Spanish for Teachers is the topic of an upcoming class planned specifically for teachers in public schools who need basic communication skills in the language.

The course is scheduled to begin Monday at 6:30 p.m. in Room C-111 on the college campus. It is to meet each Monday from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. for eight weeks to help meet a need prompted by a growing Hispanic population in this area.

The class will include instruction in basic classroom commands, days of the week, numbers, time, illnesses, emotions and much more, according to information from SCC. Additionally, participants will learn about Hispanic customs and traditions.

The tuition cost is $35 and a textbook, about $11, for the course that is approved by the N.C. Department of Instruction for 2.5 credits.

Interested persons should plan to attend the registration/first class meeting Monday.

More information is available from the SCC Continuing Education Division at 386-8121, Extension 269 or 261.

SCC fails to get revenge

By ANDY ANDREW

DOBSON — If it's Thursday this must be Dobson.

That is what Central Piedmont Community College men's basketball team must have been thinking as it successfully completed the second leg of a five-games-in-six-days road trip by handing Surry Community College a tough 79-76 loss Thursday night.

Central Piedmont took a three-point lead with five seconds to go and then watched as a desperation three-pointer by Gabe Wykes barely missed to the right as the horn sounded.

"We've been struggling," coach Ed Winch said of his road warriors. "To come from behind and win at the buzzer like that is a helluva thing."

Central Piedmont will cover 450 miles in three days. It defeated Brevard in the mountains on Wednesday night and has to go to New Bern near the coast on Friday. In all, it will play a total of 14 games in two-and-one-half weeks.

For a while, it looked as if Surry (6-3) would avenge a 15-point loss suffered in the first game of the season. Chris Gwyn started out red hot, scoring the first eight points for the Knights, who worked a 12-6 lead. Then Central Piedmont turned it on with a 21-12 run, fueled by Garrison Jackson, who came off the bench to score 13 points in the first half.

Surry fired back with an 18-9 out of its own. Jeff Spells, who played at Galax High School, scored 9 of the points and lit the emotion-fueled fire needed to send his team to a 3-36 halftime lead.

If nothing else, Central Piedmont was sure of itself as it came out ruttin' early in the second half. The Knights took care of that with a 24-16 run that ran the lead up to 66-56 with under eight minutes to go. Elkin's Matt Couch accounted for much of it, scoring nine points in a mid-portion of the half.

At that point the defense, which had been complaining loudly out all night, began to tighten up and take a toll. Surry began tiring and Central Piedmont began to convert the mistakes into shots. Kiba Hill got hot at just the right time, knocking down 10 points the last four minutes.

Tony Smith, Surry's leading scorer on the season, muscled inside for a power move, making the basket and a free throw to give the Knights a fairly safe 76-70 lead with 2:29 left. Central Piedmont's Chea Johnson scored off a turnover and then forced another one. He worked the ball to Hill, who nailed a three.

Surry still had a chance to put the game away but missed the front ends of one-and-ones twice. Then, in a sequence that one might see at an ACC game, Central Piedmont made a series of rapid-fire passes until it found Wendell Owens open on the left baseline. Owens took one step, soared over everybody and slammed home a dunk that put his team into the lead.

Surry missed another shot and found itself in trouble due to having only three team fouls against it. As time was running out, Central Piedmont committed a tactical error by Hill's making a wide-open layup with five seconds to go.

Wykes ran the ball up the floor, worked his way to the left of the key and launched the 30-footer that just missed going in.

For Surry, Gwyn was high man with 18, followed by Spells with 14 and Smith and Couch with 13 each.

Dejected Surry coach Tony Searcy said, "We didn't do what we had to do down the stretch. We got up by 10 and they picked up their intensity on defense. We still were getting some easy shots, but we missed them and the foul shots. You've got to make those to win.

"I thought Wykes played a good floor game and Brandon Whitaker [from Surry Central] played a heady game off the bench.

"Rebounding is still our weak point. I've got to figure out what we can do to be stronger inside."

Winch was impressed with Surry. "They lit it up in the second half in our earlier game," he said, "and they've improved 100 percent since then. They're a tough bunch of kids and their coach does a good job with them."

DOBSON — The chairman of the math and science department at Surry Community College will be remembered as a success and a friend, some college faculty say.

William A. Stroupe Jr., 46, of 804 South Franklin Road in Mount Airy, died Tuesday at Forsyth Memorial Hospital in Winston-Salem. Death was caused by a heart-related problem.

SCC President Jim Reeves remembers Stroupe.

"William A. Stroupe will be sorely missed at Surry Community College by all of those who knew him as a teacher, colleague and, most importantly, a friend," Reeves said Thursday.

Stroupe is survived by his wife Catha, and two daughters, Leslie Meredith and Jessica Reid. He was a biology instructor at SCC for years and the chairman of the math and science department since 1985. Edwin Miles, also a biology

An official of Surry Community College at Dobson died unexpectedly Tuesday in Forsyth Memorial Hospital, Winston-Salem.

William Augustus "Bill" Stroupe Jr. of Mount Airy was chairman of the Science/Health and Physical Education Division at the community college, a position he had held since 1985. He was 46.

Stroupe had been a member of the science division at SCC for 21 years. During that time he had judged numerous high school, middle school and elementary school science fairs.

He was a member of the Steering Committee for the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Reaccreditation, chairman of the Educational Programs Committee, and a member of the Planning Committee and Academic Council.

He had been a biology instructor since 1974.

Stroupe formerly taught in the Person and Nash county school systems.

A graduate of Hamlet High School in 1967, he received his B.S. degree from Appalachian State University in 1971 and his M.A. from Appalachian State University in 1974.

The college educator, a member of Calvary Baptist Church, was instrumental in forming the Surry County Pony Club. He had a personal reason for his interest, for his daughter, Jessica, is an enthusiastic horsewoman.

Board, he was instrumental in bringing the credit union to Surry County.

Dr. Jim Reeves, president of Surry Community College, said when he learned of Stroupe's death, "William A. Stroupe will be sorely missed at Surry Community College by all of those who knew him as a teacher, colleague and, most importantly, a friend."

Dr. Edwin Wiles, a colleague at SCC, spoke of Stroupe's caring attitude, saying it "is the thing for which he'll always be remembered."

The most common response of students, when asked to describe Stroupe, was "supportive."

Joe Maye, retired SCC psychology instructor, remembered his former colleague this way: "Bill really listened to people. He listened to understand, not as most of us do when we listen, to decide how to respond."

Stroupe lived at 804 S. Franklin Road with his wife, Mrs. Catha Easter Stroupe, and their two daughters, Leslie Meredith Stroupe and Jessica Reid Stroupe.

Funeral services will be held Thursday at 3:30 p.m. in Calvary Baptist Church.

DOBSON — Before his team's basketball game with Surry Community College, coach Tom Peterkin of Caldwell Community College said, "My two starting guards missed the van and didn't make the trip."

Two hours later, the seven exhausted players who did show up probably wished they hadn't, as Surry (8-3 overall) unleashed every weapon in its arsenal in a 114-86 blitzkrieg Thursday night.

"Everyone played — everyone scored," said SCC coach Tony Searcy.

For a while, it looked as if the game was going to be a runaway, except it was Caldwell doing the running as it moved out to a 26-19 lead. At that point, Searcy inserted former Surry Central standout Brandon Whitaker into the lineup, and he made his presence known by scoring seven points in an 18-2 run that reversed the flow and put Surry in front 37-28. Moments later, Elkin's Matt Couch picked up where Whitaker left off and scored 10 points in the last five minutes of the first half to give the Knights a huge 60-37 halftime spread.

Searcy kept fresh legs in the game, and a result Surry had many breakaway opportunities. Unfortunately, they didn't make all of them.

"We need to do a better job of finishing," said Searcy, in about the only bad thing he could think of to say. "I hate to see them work so hard to get the break and then not finish it off. We must have missed 10 layups and dunks out there."

The score continued to mount until 6-9 Kevin Prevette, seeing his first action of the night, stepped to the line with the scoreboard showing 98. He cleanly made both attempts and reached the century mark as the crowd cheered loudly.

"Kevin is from Wilkesboro and he didn't play high school ball," said Searcy. "He tries hard, and he really wants to play. He is kind of raw. If he was real, real good and 6-9, I wouldn't have him. But he's improving."

Gabe Wykes, the leading Surry scorer with 21, finished off the scoring with three layups. He was knocked to the floor on the last on and landed against a rolled-up wrestling mat. When no foul was called, he crossed his feet and pretended to take a nap.

Also finishing in double figures for the Knights were Jeff Spells (18), Whitaker (16), Couch (14) and Elkin's Jeremiah Bryant (11), whose twin, Josh, scored eight.

"They scared us at first," said Searcy. "Then we picked up our intensity at about the 10-minute mark. We've got to play hard for 40 minutes."

"I thought Gabe Wykes played well on both ends of the floor. They're all good kids with good attitudes. If they weren't, I wouldn't be doing this."

SCC To Sponsor Financial Aid Workshop At Forbush High School

Jamie Childress, director of Financial Aid at Surry Community College, will be presenting a financial aid workshop at Forbush High School on Thursday, January 25.

This meeting will be held in the Media Center at 7:00 p.m. for individuals who need information concerning financial assistance in order to continue their education after high school graduation.

This workshop will be especially beneficial to senior students and their parents, because Childress will be discussing information concerning recent federal guidelines pertaining to financial aid for students continuing their education after high school graduation in 1996. She will also explain the FAFSA - Free Application for Federal Student Aid - for the 1996 through 1997 school year.

For additional information, contact Terren White at Forbush High School - 961-4744.

DOBSON — Both students and administrators at Surry Community College are excited over plans to convert the school from a quarter to a semester system.

"I've been here 30 years, and it's the biggest change I've seen. It certainly is," college President Dr. James Reeves said today.

The switch from the quarter to the semester system will be made in the fall of 1997, as part of a statewide review of community college operations, according to Reeves. The change will serve to get SCC "on the same page" with the systems used by both four-year colleges and universities as well as area high schools.

"I think the main thing is going to be the ease of transfer from Surry Community College to some school in the university system," said Reeves. This will lessen confusion when students move to another institution and loss of credits in the transition. Students will benefit regardless of their field or programs of transfer, the SCC official said.

"I think it's a good thing for the students," Reeves stressed, "and it will help us administratively."

The semester system will reduce the number of registration periods on year at Surry Community College from four to three, counting the summer session.

This means less administrative time spent for signing up for classes, a more faculty time for advising students while releasing restraints for admissions, counseling and recruitment staffs. This will enhance services to dents and the efficiency of taxpayer dollars spent on community colleges, officials say.

Other benefits foreseen will include:

- Additional review time at the end of school terms.

- More time for students to participate in extracurricular activities.

- A greater opportunity for students to find summer employment at a time when jobs are most available.

- A reduction in the cost of books, for most students.

"Another student benefit of this system is that the SCC calendar will be coordinated with high schools and four-year colleges and universities in our service area," according to a statement from the college.

The change is a welcome one for students who have encountered problems with the quarter system, although Reeves said that Surry Community College hasn't faced great difficulties in this regard. "We think we've had a good program and the university system has accepted our transfers with ease over the years."

The reason this conversion is coming some three decades after Surry Community College opened dates back to the original intention of state industrial training centers and community colleges, according to Reeves. "I don't think transfers was a big-ticket item as far as the original community college system was concerned," the SCC official explained.

But the change acknowledges a growing number of technical transfer students seeking to meet increasing educational requirements of the employment market, officials say.

Reeves said the conversion was a result of streamlining the community college system in North Carolina. "It's just a good time to convert," he said. This has included assessing programs and reviewing every course taught at the various colleges to make them uniform.

As part of this process, all 59 community colleges in the state system will have a common catalog.

The conversion to the semester system won't occur until the fall of 1997 because Reeves said it will take that long to realign all the operations at the various schools.

Surry Community College now has around 3,000 day and evening students, reflecting general growth including a gain of some 300 students during the fall quarter.

More information on the switch to semesters is available from the SCC Student Services Office or the Institutional Development Office at 386-8121.

Appraisal Courses Are Scheduled At SCC

The Continuing Education Division of Surry Community College will sponsor two courses in Continuing Education Appraisal.

Administrators from Surry, Yadkin and Forsyth Counties and State Senator Foxx participate in the national teleconference, "Counties Confront the New Federalism - Dealing with Devolution" held at Surry Community College.

SCC Organizes National Teleconference For County Employees

Surry Community College organized and provided the site for a national teleconference entitled "Counties Confront the New Federalism - Dealing with Devolution."

The teleconference is sponsored by the National Association of Counties and focused on the impact of changes associated with devolution (the return of governmental) and how they could affect county governments. The host for the teleconference was the Surry County Administration.

According to Larry Naska, executive director of the National Association of Counties, "this broadcast will help participants understand the many changes brewing in Washington - changes that will transform counties' budgets and the relationship counties hold with Federal and state officials. Most immediate, we believe, will be the shifts in job training, Medicaid, and welfare, which we address in this broadcast. We hope this broadcast will help keep participants one step ahead of the tidal wave of change."

The teleconference was held on January 24 in the Teaching Auditorium at Surry Community College from 1:00 until 4:00 p.m., with the last hour used as a question-answer session with State Senator Virginia Foxx speaking to the group and answering specific questions related to changing state regulations that will affect county government. Dennis Thompson, Surry County Manager, served as moderator for the teleconference.

Those participating in the workshop in addition to Senator Foxx and Thompson were Betty Taylor, Surry Finance Office; Gayle Brown, director, Yadkin County Health Department; Wayne Black, director, Yadkin County Department of Social Services; Cecil Wood, Yadkin County manager; Linda Wilkins, assistant to Surry County Manager; David Swann, Surry-Yadkin Area Mental Health; Peter Low, Forsyth County budget department; Kathy Knecht, director of Forsyth County Department of Social Services; and David Adkisson, director of Surry County Department of Social Services.

A Great Asset

There is a man that works for Surry Community College in the upkeep department of the campus that has the most radiant personality of any person that I have ever met. He is so friendly and nice all the time. I can be feeling depressed and meet him on the campus and he lifts my spirits. If people who owned a business knew about him, they would be beating down his door trying to hire him. He would be an asset to any business.

SCC COSMETOLOGY STUDENTS WIN AT STATE CONTEST

The National Cosmetology Association of North Carolina sponsored the Spring/Summer Trend Release and Trade show at the Holiday Inn Four Seasons Town Center in Greensboro. The recent event involved more than 50 student contestants from community colleges across the state. From the three medallions awarded in each category, SCC cosmetology students won two, a first-place and a third-place medallion.

Andre Garvana from Winston-Salem won a $100 cash prize as well as the first medallion in the total Fashion category. Garvana's model was Jennifer Carol, a student in the SCC cosmetology program.

Another SCC student, Beth Spicer from Jonesville won the third-place medallion in the same category. Her model was student Jill Smith. Gigi Gilliam from Jonesville also won a third-place medallion for her work in creative nail art using acrylic nails. Kelly Wornack, Surry cosmetology student, modeled for Gilliam.

"The students really did a super job in the competition — to have three prizes awarded and for Surry to win two of them in their competition, is really impressive," said Shirley Stanley, SCC cosmetology instructor, who took the students to the event. She also believes, "students learn so much from watching professionals, educators, and other students who participate in these competitions. They also get to see the latest trends in hair styling."

The competition was open to both professional and student cosmetologists; however, they competed in separate categories. The awards were given in three different categories: Fashion, African-American Total Fashion and Total Fashion. The Total Fashion category included judging in three areas: creative attire and accessories.

Peggy Haynes, SCC instructor, is responsible for training students in application of acrylic nail application, as well as other manicuring techniques.

According to Blanche Murphy, director of the Cosmetology Program, cosmetology students also received training recently when Susan B. Haynes, educator for Goldwell Hair Products, conducted a special training session. She lectured and brought sample hair products so that students could get "on" training using these products under supervision.

Beth Spicer (standing) was a third-place winner. Jill Smith was her model.

Gigi Gilliam (right), manicurist, won third-place in nail art. Her model was Kelly Wornack.

SCC Students Win At Competition

The National Cosmetology Association of North Carolina sponsored the Spring/Summer Trend Release and Trade Show in Greensboro, NC. From the three medallions awarded in each category, SCC cosmetology students won two, a first place and a third place medallion.

I-Real Estate Update (arrives at 7:45 a.m. for registration). The class will be held in Room A-121 on the college campus on Friday, March 8, from 8:00 to 12:00 noon.

II-Real Estate Elective - The Buyer: Customer or Client? will be held in Room A-121 on the college campus on Friday, March 8 from 1:00 to 5:00 p.m.

These two courses will be grouped together as one, and you may take both or one depending on the class that you need.

These two classes will satisfy the eight hours of continuing education credit required by the Real Estate Commission. You may take one or both of the courses for a $35 registration fee.

The instructor for both classes will be Ann Bowman of Carolina Beach. She was voted 1994 Educator of the Year by the N.C. Real Estate Educators Association and, in 1995, she was chairperson of the NCAR Internal Affairs committee and president of the N.C. Real Estate Educators Association.

Both courses are recently mandated continuing education requirements for real estate brokers and salesmen. Each course carries four hours of continuing education credit awarded by the Real Estate Commission.

Students should bring their current pocket renewal cards to class, as providing license numbers is a condition of registering and receiving credit for each course.

Each class will consist of four hours of instruction. Course materials will be provided free of charge. Registration fees will be collected at the time of the course; therefore, there will be no refunds.

A minimum of ten students will be required to offer a class.

For further information, contact the Continuing Education Division at 386-8121, extension 269 or 261.

Author To Teach Creative Writing Course At SCC

February 22, 1996, The Enterprise

Frank Levering, co-author of the book, "Simple Living: One Couple's Search for a Better Life," will teach a Creative Writing course at Surry Community College beginning Wednesday, March 6.

The course will meet each Wednesday evening from 6:00 to 9:00 p.m. for eleven weeks in room C-101 on the college campus.

Topics will include structure of materials, journalism, interviewing skills, poetry, book review, and marketing. Registration fee is $35.

This course offers a perfect opportunity for the person who has the desire to write but needs encouragement, and for the experienced writer sharpening his skills.

Levering graduated from Mount Airy High School and is a Magna Cum Laude graduate of Wesleyan University with a degree in English and American Studies. In 1978, he received his Master's degree in Theological Studies at Harvard Divinity School.

He and his wife, Wanda Urbanska, spent a number of years in Los Angeles working as writers, with Levering concentrating on book and movie reviews and screenplays and Urbanska on reporting for the Los Angeles Herald-Examiner.

Levering and Urbanska came to Orchard Gap in 1986 to help with the Levering Orchard and just could not leave, captured by the lure of the Blue Ridge Mountains and the people.

Levering continues to write book reviews for the Los Angeles Times, the Washington Post, Baltimore Sun, Winston-Salem Journal, and Smithsonian Magazine. In 1990, he won the Governors Screenplay competition of Virginia. His play, "Home Town," was presented by the Surry Arts Council in September of 1991. The play, written in the spirit of fun, gave a glimpse into life in a small town with familiar characters center stage.

Class size is limited to 20 participants. Those interested should call early to pre-register and ensure a place in the class.

For further information, contact the Continuing Education Division at (910) 386-8121, ext. 269 or 261.

Floral Design Class Scheduled

Anyone wishing to learn how to create floral arrangements for the home and the holidays is invited to join the Floral Design class which is being scheduled by the Continuing Education Division of Surry Community College.

Registration fee will be $35. N.C. residents 65 and older may register free of charge. The instructor will be Frances Nichols.

Interested persons should plan to attend the registration/first class meeting as stated above.

The class will begin on Tuesday, March 5, and meet in room C-104 on the college campus each Tuesday evening from 6:30 to 9:00 p.m. for eleven weeks.

For further information, contact the Continuing Education Division at 386-8121, ext. 261 or 269.

Memorial Bricks Are Sought For Wall Of Honor At SCC

SCC Plans A Special Wall

By JULIE SMITH
Staff Writer

DOBSON — A Community Support Wall of Honor is the next construction project for Surry Community College, according to SCC President Dr. Jim Reeves.

"This 260-foot wall will be a symbol of the tremendous community involvement and support which has characterized Surry since its inception in 1964," Reeves said. "We envision the wall as being the focal point of the campus since it will mirror our history — as well as demonstrating that SCC is and has been the place where the community has gone and continues to go to college."

The wall will be constructed with "memorial or honorary" brick that will be inscribed with the names of SCC friends,

The Wall Of Honor will be constructed with "memorial or honorary" brick that will be inscribed with the names of SCC friends...

supporters, students, alumni, trustees, foundation members and faculty and staff members. The 5-foot-tall wall also will display the college seal along with the names of the members of the original board of trustees and other college officials.

The wall including a walkway will connect a present construction project, the for scholarships supporting SCC students. The sale will last through April.

"Some colleges are building these walls and walls by selling the bricks primarily to their alumni," Reeves said. "However, we wanted our wall to mirror the makeup of our students and community; consequently, the bricks are priced so that every student, former student, and community supporter can participate."

The wall will have a brick representing each endowed scholarship. An endowed scholarship holds at least $10,000, which accumulates interest that pays for a student's full tuition, fees and books. SCC now has 226 students receiving this type of financial aid.

"In order to build the wall we need to sell 4,600 bricks," Wilmoth said. "We expect to be able to sell quite a few."

Excess money raised for the construction of the wall will be placed in the foundation's general scholarship account.

"We hope every alumni, student, faculty and staff member, volunteer fire department or rescue squad member, and anyone else who has taken classes, gotten a degree, had a child or parent attend the college, attended a seminar or supported the work of the college will participate," Reeves said.

"We want folks to remember the word community in the name Surry Community College, and 200 years

Richards Health Sciences/Administration Building, to the rest of the campus. The wall is planned along the west side of Adams Street.

Director of Institutional Development Susan Wilmoth said the idea for the wall came from an advertisement she saw for honorary walls. Also, she said other nearby colleges and universities such as Appalachian State have similar walls or walks.

"I think the wall is a perfect way to tie the old part of the campus to the new," Wilmoth said.

The SCC Foundation will be selling the inscribed bricks at $25 for individuals or non-profit organizations and $50 for businesses. The foundation raises money from now when none of us are here. SCC will still be a vital part of the community — and the Wall of Honor will be testimony to the solid partnership of the community and the college in preparing Surry, Yadkin and surrounding counties to meet the challenges of the future."

Fred Butler provided the architectural work as a courtesy to the college. Columbus Marble Works, Miss., will be constructing the wall in eight to 10 weeks.

Some SCC students will have the opportunity to help construct the wall. The light-construction class will lay the foundation for the wall, and the electronic engineering technology class will do the wiring for the lighting.

The wall is expected to be completed by August or September in time to be introduced to the public during an open house for the new building.

The bricks can be obtained by clipping the advertisement in today's paper, filling out the order blank and enclosing a tax-deductible check made out to SCC Wall of Honor. People should mail this completed order form and check to SCC Wall of Honor, P.O. Box 304, Dobson, N.C., 27017. Those desiring more information about the brick sale or the Community Support Wall of Honor can call Susan Wilmoth or the Office of Institutional Development at SCC at (910) 386-8121, Extension 210 or Becky Money, Extension 205.

College To Construct Wall Of Honor

Dr. Jim Reeves, President of Surry Community College, announced plans to build a Community Support Wall of Honor on the college campus. This wall will tie the older part of the campus to the new Richards Health Sciences/Administration Building, which should be completed by summer. According to Reeves, "the new building is separated by distance and streets from the older part of the campus. We want the building to be connected to all parts of our campus, so we decided to build a walkway along the west side of Adams Street and to put the Wall of Honor beside the wall."

Reeves further believes, "this 260-foot wall will be a symbol of the tremendous community involvement and support which has characterized Surry since its inception in 1964. The wall will be constructed with 'memorial or honorary' brick which will be inscribed with the names of our friends, supporters, students, alumni, trustees, foundation members, faculty and staff. We envision the wall as being the focal point of the campus since it will mirror our history—as well as demonstrating that SCC is and has been the place where the community has gone and continues to go to college." The wall will be five feet tall and also display the college seal.

The bricks can have an inscription of up to three lines with fourteen (14) characters per line including spaces and punctuation. The SCC Foundation is sponsoring the sale and the bricks can be purchased for $25 for individuals and non-profit organizations and $50 for businesses. According to Reeves, "Some colleges are building these walls and walls by selling the bricks primarily to their alumni. However, we wanted our wall to mirror the make-up of our students and community; consequently, the bricks will be priced so that every student, former student, and community supporter can participate. SCC is a great school because of this solidarity and cooperation between community and the college."

The wall will have the names of the original Board of Trustees and Foundation Board, as well as the current Board members. Other categories for the wall include Alumni, current Students, Faculty and Staff, Friends, and Supporters. The wall will also include a brick for each Endowed Scholarship—a scholarship with at least $10,000 so that the interest earned yearly funds one student with full tuition, fees, and books. Since the SCC Foundation which raised money to fund these scholarships is sponsoring the sale, any money left after the construction of the wall will be applied to the Foundation's general scholarship fund. Jerry Venable, the Chairman of the Foundation Board of Directors and an SCC Alumni, says that by purchasing a brick, people are demonstrating their support of the college in the past and the present as well as their belief in the college and the community for the future."

Reeves sums up the feelings of the college saying, "We hope every alumni, student, faculty and staff member, volunteer fire department or rescue squad member, and anyone else who has taken classes, gotten a degree, had a child or parent attend the college, attended a seminar, or supported the work of the college will participate. We want folks to remember the word 'community' in the name 'Surry Community College', and 200 years from now when none of us are here, SCC will still be a vital part of the community—and the Wall of Honor will be testimony to the solid partnership of the community and the college in preparing Surry, Yadkin, and surrounding counties to meet the challenges of the future."

The first class, "USPAP," will be held on Mondays from March 11-25, while the second, "Practical Approach to Commercial Appraisal," is planned on Mondays from April 1-15.

Registration will be held at the first class meeting and fees will be collected then. Pre-registration is required at 386-8121, Extension 211.

Area Chambers & SCC Planning Business Showcase

By JACK BENNETT
Business Expo 1996, the First Annual business-to-business showcase of products and services for businesses and professionals within Surry and Yadkin counties, will be held Thursday, April 11, from 11:30 am until 7 pm at Surry Community College.

The Expo—in the college gymnasium—is a cooperative project of the Greater Mount Airy, Elkin/Arlington/Jonesville, and Yadkin County Chambers of Commerce and the Small Business Center of SCC.

The purpose of Echo is:

- To promote small business as a vital element to the local economy.
- To provide an opportunity for suppliers/vendors in Surry and Yadkin counties to display their products and/or services.
- To provide major buyers/manufacturers an opportunity to meet with local vendors/suppliers and learn of products and services available and perhaps previously unknown.
- To "network" in the local business community.

A 10 X 10 booth package will be available and will be assigned on a first-come, first-served basis. The costs are $50 for each booth for Chamber members and $75 for each booth for non-Chamber members.

Those wishing to reserve a booth may contact the Yadkin County Chamber, Bobby Todd, (910) 367-251; or Elkin/Jonesville-Arlington Chamber Webb Smalling, (910) 26-1111. THE YADKIN RIPPLE

Seniors Invited To Seminar Tuesday

From Staff Reports
DOBSON — A seminar on topics that affect seniors will be held Tuesday from 8:30 a.m. to 4:45 p.m. at Surry Community College.

The Elderly Service Providers Seminar, to be held in the SCC auditorium of the administrative building, is sponsored by the Older Americans Act.

At the one-day workshop, participants will hear guest speakers discuss issues important to senior citizens, such as nutrition, exercise, transportation, elder abuse and wills.

The speakers include Sandi Nelson of the Northwest Piedmont Council of Government; Iris Dick of the Tarheel Senior Legislature; Roger Coggins, a professor of nutritional services at North Carolina Central University; Lee Merritt, an attorney; Gary White of the Department of Social Services; and Fonda Younger of the Surry County Recreation Department.

The seminar is free and refreshments will be provided. Since seating is limited, the organizers request that those planning to attend call to confirm seating space. For more information, call Barbara Hall at 367-7251 or Kevin Robertson at 786-6155.

Event To Look At Grief College To Host Teleconference

By JEFF LINVILLE
Staff Writer

DOBSON — Surry Community College plans to be a local host for a continental teleconference on grief. On April 17 from 1:30 to 4 p.m. the Third Annual National Bereavement Teleconference will be held across the U.S. and Canada, sponsored by Hospice Foundation of America.

The community college will be one of 2,000 or more organizations and agencies serving as local sponsors for the event, which has a topic this year of "Living with Grief-After Sudden Loss." The live-via-satellite video conference will focus on grief and bereavement issues involved with sudden and traumatic death.

Cokie Roberts of ABC News is slated to moderate the event, which will feature a panel of experts answering questions presented by participants throughout North America.

Organizers say some people might find the topic somewhat unusual for a hospice-based foundation, but that nearly all Hospice agencies in this country — 88 percent — now have bereavement services to help survivors when a loved one dies.

"Individuals, families, even communities, often suffer sudden and traumatic losses," said Jack Gordon, the president of Hospice Foundation of America.

"We want to do what we can to assist individuals in mourning," Gordon added, "as well as physicians and nurses, clergy, social workers, teachers, police and emergency service personnel who deal professionally with traumatic death so they can respond effectively to survivors in need."

Barbara Wood, social-work coordinator for Northern Hospice in Mount Airy, said her agency has been providing bereavement services since being established in 1993. Hospice of Surry County Inc. has offered its services for 12 years. The agencies will be inviting local Hospice families to attend the teleconference.

Northern Hospice's services to grieving persons, said Wood, include support groups, personal visits, audio-video and group counseling, and correspondence such as newsletters mailed to affected families.

Both Northern Hospice and Hospice of Surry County offer bereavement counseling to the entire community. Beth Brittain, Hospice of Surry County chaplain, said these services are offered free by her organization because of the generosity of donors who make donations and donate memorials to the agency.

Brittain said she and other staff members help not only Hospice families, but churches, schools, and communities when assistance is needed.

Wood said her organization develops new groups as needed to fill voids in the community, such as a support organization for high school students when a young person commits suicide or dies in a tragic car accident.

Brittain said she has participated in the two previous teleconferences, including last year's when children and grief formed the main topic. The chaplain was impressed with the event and believes many important issues will be discussed during the upcoming conference.

This year's teleconference is co-sponsored by Mothers Against Drunk Driving and the Association for Death Education and Counseling in cooperation with the American Medical Association and the American Nurses Association.

Funding has been provided by Service Corporation International and the Open Society Institute's Project on Death in America.

Continuing education credit can be earned for those participating in the teleconference and post-conference discussion at a fee of $15, payable to Health Foundation of America. Brittain said the credit could be used by Hospice employees, medical personnel, educators and social workers.

More information on the teleconference and pre-registration is available from the Continuing Education Division of Surry Community College at 386-8121, Extension 261 or 269.

Knights Sweep Wilkes In Weekend Play, Climb To 5-5

From Staff Reports
DOBSON — Surry Community College halted a five-game losing streak over the weekend, sweeping Wilkes Community College in a three-game series.

The Knights improved to 5-5 with the sweep. All five victories have come at the expense of Wilkes.

In Saturday's doubleheader, Surry stopped Wilkes 3-1 and 5-4. The Knights took Sunday's game by an 8-7 score.

Casey Wilmoth was Surry's winning pitcher in Saturday's opener. Wilmoth improved to 2-0 on the season and went the distance, giving up only three hits while striking out nine and walking three in seven innings.

Shawn Lawson and Andy Foit were the Knights' leading hitters. Lawson turned in a 2-4 performance with one run, one RBI and a walk while Foit went 1-2 with a run, a RBI, a walk and a stolen base. Both players delivered two-out RBI singles to help clinch the win.

In Saturday's second game, Wilkes hopped out to a 1-0 lead in the first inning, but the Knights scored two runs in the bottom of the inning for a 2-1 lead. Surry increased its advantage to 3-1 after two innings, but the score was tied at four in the fourth. Surry put the winning run across the plate in the sixth.

Ted Creed picked up his first win with a complete game three-hitter. Creed gave up three earned runs, struck out six batters and walked three in improving to 1-1.

Shawn Lawson and Mike Surane had two hits to lead Surry, while Bryan Baker drove in two runs on a 1-3 performance.

Wilkes appeared to have the answer to besting the Knights Sunday. The visitors scored six runs in the third inning, but Surry limited Wilkes to only one run the rest of the way, and tied the game in the sixth. Wilkes again led, 7-6, after seven innings, but two runs by the Knights in the eighth clinched the victory.

Ricky Cooper got the win for Surry, improving to 2-2 on the season. Cooper pitched a complete game, surrendering five earned runs on nine hits. He struck out six batters and walked only one.

Chris Smith led the Knights offensively, connecting on three of five trips to the plate, including a double. Smith scored one run and drove in two RBIs. Andy Foit was 2-4 with a run and two RBIs, and Ryan Boles smacked a solo homerun.

Surry will host Mohawk Valley Community College, a school from New York, Friday. The contest gets under way at 3 p.m.

Pitching Fueling Knights' Current Hot Streak

From Staff Reports
DOBSON — Pitching once again played a key role for Surry Community College, which rolled to wins in three of four games over the weekend.

The Knights got a no-hitter from Jeff Spells in its weekend opener against Mohawk Valley (N.Y.) and complete games from Ted Creed and Casey Wilmoth in taking two of three games from Pitt Community College.

"I think we really played hard all weekend and we got some great pitching," said Knights coach Mark Tucker. "Our pitching has kept us in games so far this season, and all four starting pitchers threw well this weekend. I don't think this team is satisfied, but I think we're really playing well."

The Knights have now won six of their last seven games and stand 8-6 overall. Spells got the Knights off to an impressive start Friday by holding Mohawk hitless in a 9-0 win. However, Spells, who struck out 10 batters, kept it interesting by walking nine batters.

"It just seemed like he (Spells) got the big strikeout when he needed it," said Tucker. "He was really overpowering when he got his first pitch over for a strike."

Spells (1-1) got plenty of backing from the Knights' bats. Chris Smith went 2-for-3 with three RBIs. Shawn Lawson was 2-for-3 with one RBI and Chris Smith 2-for-4 with a RBI. Ryan Boles drove in two runs with a double and Matt Voss collected two hits in three trips.

The win over Mohawk, the fifth-ranked team in the NJCAA Division III poll, provided a real boost for the Knights, according to Tucker.

"I think it gave us some confidence, knowing that we could beat a team like that, and we played well the rest of the weekend," he said.

That confidence was reflected in the Knights' two wins over Pitt, a NJCAA Division I team that came to Dobson with an 18-1 record. Three of those wins came during a sweep of Surry earlier this month.

In the first game of a doubleheader Saturday, Creed went the distance, striking out four and walking three, in hurling the Knights to a 9-5 win.

Pitt got four of its runs in the first inning off Creed, who then settled down for five straight shutout innings. The Knights got two runs back in the third inning when Smith and Ryan Boles each drew a base-loaded walk.

They took the lead for good with four more runs in the fourth. Three of those runs came on a home run by Taylor and Smith drove in another with a double.

"Chris Smith delivered the big blow and meant a lot for us," said Tucker.

"It (the homer) was the spark that ignited us."

Taylor also had a single to give him two hits in four at-bats and Matt Voss was 2-for-3 with a run-scoring sacrifice fly in the fifth inning. Boles drove in three runs two of which came on a single in the sixth.

It looked as if the Knight would come away with a sweep when they took a 7-5 lead into the seventh inning of the nightcap. However, Junior Newsom tied the game with a two-run homer in the seventh and a six-run 10th inning propelled Pitt to a 13-7 win.

"We made a big error in the seventh inning on a ground ball and that really hurt us," said Tucker. "But they (Pitt) are a good team and you've got to give them credit. They're a Division I team with 24 full-scholarships so it makes it hard for us to compete with them, but I was real pleased with our effort."

Mike Surane led the Knights with a 3-for-5 game that included a RBI. Voss went 2-for-4 with two RBIs and Chris Taylor had one hit and two RBIs.

The two teams met in a rubber match Sunday, and the Knights came away with a 4-3 win in a nine-inning game.

Casey Wilmoth went the distance, striking out seven, walking four and giving up seven hits and just one earned run to improve to 3-0 on the season.

"Casey was outstanding," said Tucker. "It was maybe the most dominating performance I've seen this year."

Taylor led the way with a 2-for-3 performance that included a RBI, and Smith and Voss each had a RBI single.

SCC TRUSTEES HONOR BILL STROUPE'S MEMORY

During the regular Surry Community College Board of Trustees meeting on March 11, Dallas Nance, chairman of the board, and Dr. Jim Reeves, SCC president, presented a "Resolution of Respect" to the William A. Stroupe family. Stroupe was a biology instructor and, later, chairman of the Science/Health and Physical Education Division at the college. He died suddenly on Jan. 30.

The purposes of the resolution were to "record our feeling of sadness and sense of great loss in the sudden and untimely death of our friend and colleague," to "express our sincere appreciation for his dedicated and unselfish service to SCC and its students from September 1974 until January 1996," and to "express our appreciation for his enthusiastic spirit, warm friendship and outstanding services to this community and its citizens."

The resolution will be included in the permanent records of the college as well as being presented to his family "in the hope that they will receive some measure of comfort in knowing the people of this institution, community and county deeply appreciated the life and services of this good and able citizen."

During his 22-year tenure with the college, Stroupe served as chairman of the educational programs committee and as a member of the steering committee for the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Reaccreditation. He also was a member of the Academic Council and the Planning Committee.

The Stroupe family was represented by his wife, Catha E. Stroupe, his daughters, Lesley and Jessica, and his brother and sister-in-law, William Isley and Mary Barnes.

Community colleges need more than 'chump change,' official says

Burgeoning enrollment will require more facilities, Hackley tells instructors

By William L. Holmes
JOURNAL SURRY COUNTY SPECIAL

DOBSON

Community colleges expect big increases in enrollment, but they won't be able to fit all those students on campus unless legislators approve more money for buildings, the president of the state community-college system said yesterday.

Lloyd V. Hackley, the president of the system since Jan. 1, said that students, teachers and administrators should work together to lobby legislators for the extra cash. "They have treated us like second- and third-class citizens, and we have not used the power we have," Hackley told a gathering of about 50 instructors at Surry Community College.

"We're caught between saying, 'Yeah, we're the best in the world, and we need $250 million.' As long as we keep doing that, we're going to get chump change.

"We need the best equipment," said Hackley, who is a former chancellor of Fayetteville State University and a former administrator for the University of North Carolina system. "Right now, we're just the best workers."

Hackley also spoke at an induction ceremony for a college honor society. He told students to remember that they are the center of the educational system.

About 760,000 students attend the 50 campus of the state community-college system. Hackley expects that cuts in financial aid, the ever-increasing cost of four-year colleges and recent statistics that say that 85 percent of all jobs require only a two-year degree will lead to increased enrollment during the next few years.

He couldn't estimate the amount of the growth.

Community colleges in the state already handle all the students they can fit on campus, Hackley said.

Hackley also encouraged teachers to remain focused on instructing students instead of becoming caught up in political struggles and philosophical debates. He said that they have the toughest job in the state's educational system: bringing sometimes ill-prepared high-school students up to the level of college juniors.

The job is also one of the most important in the state, Hackley said. Economic development hinges on the success of the community colleges, he said.

"If the economy of North Carolina is going to develop, the community colleges are going to have to take the lead role," he said.

"The economy will not develop if we do not get better."

James M. Reeves, the president of Surry Community College, said that businesses looking to relocate often call him to ask about the availability of job training.

"People still haven't raised the level of respect for what we do at community colleges," Hackley said.

"It's time for us to stop apologizing for being a community-college system."

LLOYD HACKLEY: He spoke yesterday at Surry Community College.

Educator tells honor students they are 'center of the universe'

By THOMAS M. WILLIAMS JR.
Staff Reporter

DOBSON — The president of the state's community college system delivered a thought-provoking speech at the induction ceremonies of two honor societies at Surry Community College last Thursday.

Lloyd "Vic" Hackley, president of the system, told the inductees that they are "the center of the educational universe, the keys to the future."

With April declared National Community College Month, and with Gov. Jim Hunt declaring April as N.C. Community College Month, Hackley's visit was extra special. Susan Wilmoth, spokeswoman for the office of public relations for the college, said Thursday.

"Dr. Hackley is the first state community college president to visit us and stay the entire day. We consider this a treat," Wilmoth said.

Hackley did double duty while on campus — first as the keynote speaker at the induction ceremonies, and then in address the relationship of the community college system to the faculty and staff of the college.

Having graduated from a community college himself, Hackley is proud that the system plays such a major role in today's economic system. Eight-five percent of all jobs require some type of technical training, and the community college system offers such training, said Hackley.

He encouraged the inductees to give their best, adding "anything less than your best is a sin."

Forty-nine students were inducted into Phi Theta Kappa, an international honor society for community colleges. The Alpha Xi Tau chapter was founded at Surry Community College in December 1988.

To be eligible for membership, a student must maintain at least a 3.5 grade point average. Members also promise to become involved in the life of the college, as well as the community, state and nation.

Psi Beta, the national honor society in psychology for community colleges, inducted 22 new members. The unit was chartered in January 1994 as the second chapter in North Carolina.

Psi Beta recognizes students' outstanding scholarship and interest in psychology. Members must have completed at least six hours of psychology classes, have at least a 3.5 GPA in all psychology classes and an overall 3.25 GPA.

Dr. Hackley closed his speech with these words of encouragement:

People are unreasonable, illogical and self-centered.

Love them anyway.

If you are successful, you will gain false friends and true enemies.

Succeed anyway.

The good you do today will be forgotten tomorrow.

Do good anyway.

Honesty and frankness make you vulnerable.

Be honest anyway.

People need your help, but attack you if you help them.

Help them anyway.

Give the world the best you've got, and you'll get kicked in the teeth.

Give the world your best anyway.

State College Official Talks About Character

By TOM JOYCE
Managing Editor

DOBSON — Many who heard Lloyd V. Hackley, Ph.D., speak at Surry Community College Thursday likely came away wishing his words could be bottled and distributed to every school in America.

Hackley, the president of the North Carolina Community College System, visited the Dobson campus Thursday and was featured speaker for an induction ceremony of honor students, where he delivered a dynamic and inspirational address. He focused on the need for America's classrooms to build character among students, which he called just as important as learning reading and math.

"Ethical, moral behavior is not for wimps and it's not for ignorant people," Hackley told a large gathering of students being inducted in the Phi Theta Kappa International Honor Society of Two-Year Colleges and the Psychology Honor Society of Community Colleges. Parents and SCC faculty members also had assembled for the ceremony in the gym and heard Hackley terminated over dishonesty, integrity and other traits of low character.

"Character is important to your future employment," the president said. Regardless of whether or not one has been a great student, "If you are low in character, you won't keep your job."

Hackley, who also met with SCC faculty members Thursday to answer questions about a new semester system for community colleges, praised the value of education in general and that of community colleges in the future of North Carolina.

He commented that it is no crime for someone to be ignorant, saying ignorance is "to be without knowledge."

charge schools have let the nation down by not stressing character. He advocated that the traditional Three R's of education — be joined by two others — "Respect" and "Responsibility."

"Wouldn't it be nice if our children could ask their teachers today, 'Does character count?' and wouldn't it be nice for the teachers to say, 'Of course, it does!'" said Hackley.

His view is, "You can get an 'A' in arithmetic, but if you get an 'F' in character, you fail."

The state community college leader says he believes that schools need to be doing more to teach basic values to students that don't involve philosophical or non-judgmental ideas — but simple rules for self-control and decent living. Kids ought to be taught, in no uncertain terms, that's it's wrong to hit people, to cheat others, to behave with low character.

Along with the moral benefits of this, Hackley told the students that financial rewards await those with good character.

"Less than 10 percent of new hires are fired because they can't do their jobs," he told the assembly. On the other hand, 90 percent of the newly hired persons let go are

See COLLEGE, page 3A

"You are stupid if you have the opportunity to be without ignorance and you don't do it."

Such opportunity is afforded to everyone through the community college network, which Hackley said is the key to changing the economic, political and moral fiber of this state.

A community college made a difference in his own life, said Hackley, who told his spellbound audience of his struggles as a young student who required seven years to earn a bachelor's degree. After a mediocre high school career academically, he said he ended up at a community college in Michigan which he said reorganized his head with "one of the best academic-development programs I ever met."

Hackley later went to Michigan State University and achieved a 3.5 grade-point average, and said the difference between his high school and university performance was unquestionably the community college experience. Hackley later earned his doctorate degree at the University of North Carolina-Chapel Hill, saying the key there was persistence, a quality every student should have along with a daily plan and a dream.

"It's not a disgrace not to reach the stars, but it is a disgrace to have no stars to reach."

The special speaker said he gave up a lifetime contract as chancellor of Fayetteville State University to become head of the community college system because he considers it to have such importance.

Also Thursday, Hackley praised the local students for having already recognized the value of education and striving to become excellent students as highlighted by the induction ceremonies.

But he challenged them to continue to try to achieve, to be examples for others in their community and state and to have the courage to be honest and decent in the face of scrutiny from others.

"You will have to continue to excel. They won't give you a medal tomorrow for what you do today. You have to excel every day."

College leader says more public funding needed

DOBSON — With big increases in enrollment expected in the not-so-distant future, legislators must appropriate more money for buildings and technology, the president of the state community college system said here Thursday.

"(Legislators) must give us more money or we won't be able to accommodate all the students," said Lloyd "Vic" Hackley, to the faculty and

With expected financial aid reductions and the increasing cost of four-year colleges, many students will be coming to community colleges, Hackley said, and that shouldn't be seen as a negative.

"We are handling all the students we possibly can with what we have right now," Hackley said. That's why it's important to use the power of lobbying to get the funds necessary to accommodate the expected growth, he said.

staff at Surry Community College.

"To be the best, we need the best," said Hackley. He encouraged the faculty and staff to lobby legislators for the necessary funds.

For years, the community college system has been seen as a second option when it comes to post-secondary education, Hackley said.

"We've been bridging the gap between the K-12 system and the four-year colleges," Hackley said.

The economy will not develop if we don't get better," Hackley said. "Eighty-five percent of all jobs require some type of technical training, and where are they going to get it? At the community college level," he said.

James M. Reeves, Surry Community College president, said that businesses looking to expand in a particular area will often call the local community college to see what type of technical training it offers.

Induction Ceremony To Kick Off National Community College Month

Dr. Lloyd V. (Vic) Hackley, President of the North Carolina Community College System, will speak at the Psi Beta and Phi Theta Kappa Induction Ceremony at 2:00 p.m. on Thursday, April 4, 1996, in the Surry Community College gymnasium. Dr. Hackley is also the national spokesperson for the Character Counts Coalition; and, as such, he has been interested in and promoted all activities that stress excellence in scholarship, leadership, and character.

Psi Beta is the national honor society for psychology majors and is sponsored on the SCC campus by Dr. Michael Wells and Mr. Richard Woodruffe who are both psychology instructors. Phi Theta Kappa is the international honor society for students in two-year colleges and is sponsored by Mr. Chris Yopp, an English instructor at SCC. Both of these organizations are active in campus activities, sponsoring Angel Trees and special children at Christmas, balloon sales at Valentines, bake sales at Halloween, and assisting with special campus events such as the Foreign Language Festival and Student Appreciation Day.

Since April is National Community College Month, Dr. Hackley's visit is an appropriate time to "kick off" Surry Community College's celebration of the month. Dr.

Hackley, a native of Roanoke, Virginia, is himself an alumnus of Northwestern Michigan Community College in Traverse City, Michigan. Later, while serving in the Air Force for twenty years, Dr. Hackley obtained his Ph.D. in political science and international relations from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. He is also a member of several honor societies, including Phi Beta Kappa.

While on campus, Dr. Hackley will have lunch with Psi Beta and Phi Theta Kappa officers and advisors as well as Dr. Jim Reeves, President of SCC; Dr. Sherry Shaw, Dean of Arts and Sciences/Administrative Assistant to the President; Mr. John Collins, Vice-President for Curriculum Programs; Mr. Mike McHone, Vice-President for Student Services; Mr. Wayne Motesinger, Vice-President for Administrative Services; Dr. Claude Ayers, Vice-President for Continuing Education; Dr. Gary Tilley, Dean of Career Technologies; Mr. Bob Hemmings, Dean of Evening Programs; and Ms. Susan Wilmoth, Director of Institutional Development. At 3:30 p.m., Dr. Hackley will meet with the SCC faculty and staff to discuss issues related to the system, in general, and conversion to the semester system, in particular. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Plumbing Codes Course To Start

The Continuing Education Division of Surry Community College will offer a plumbing codes course beginning Tuesday on the college campus in Dobson. The class will meet in Classroom C-201 each Tuesday and Thursday from 6:30 until 9:30 p.m. through July 2.

Dale Goins will be the instructor and a $35 registration fee will be charged. N.C. residents 65 or older may register free of charge.

Nursing Assistant Course Scheduled

A 16-hour nursing assistant evaluation and competency (refresher) course will begin April 30 on the college campus in Dobson. Bonnie Hardy will instruct the course.

Classes will meet in Classroom C-103 each Tuesday from 6 until 10 p.m. through May 21. A $35 registration fee will be charged, although N.C. residents 65 and older may register free.

SBC Seminar Slated Tuesday

The Small Business Center of Surry Community College will sponsor a seminar on "Image, Attitude and Professionalism" Tuesday from 1 until 4 p.m. in the Jonesville Comfort Inn.

Bob McHone will be the seminar leader. The cost will be $5, payable to the Greater Elkin-Jonesville-Arlington Chamber of Commerce.

Seminar details are available by calling 386-8121, extension 211.

Travel Agent I Classes To Begin

A 48-hour Travel Agent I course will begin Monday in Room R-215 on the campus of Surry Community College, Dobson. The class will meet on Monday and Wednesday from 6 until 9 p.m.

Taught by Anne Franklin, president of Mount Airy Travel Center, the course will cover reservations, flight planning, fares and taxes, airline ticketing, refunds, exchanges, prepaid tickets, miscellaneous charge orders and tour orders.

A registration fee of $35 will be charged. Books and materials will cost about $30.

Pre-registration is required. Those interested may call 386-8121, extensions 202 or 234.

Travel Agent II and III classes will be offered later.

SCC Now Using Internet To Find Jobs For Students

Finding a good job has just gotten easier at the SCC Student Employment Center, which has gone On-line for student job search. Internet Job Search allows center staff to list students resumes on the World Wide Web and provides access to national and international job listings.

For example, a student recently requested information on jobs in Fairbanks, Alaska. The student's resume was posted on the Internet, using CareerMosaic. A list of career opportunities was located and printed, along with names, addresses, and phone numbers for contacts in Fairbanks, AK.

With the rapid expansion of Internet use, job postings are expected to dramatically increase in North Carolina.

Students may post their resumes on the Internet to be reviewed by employers around the world and have access to numerous job listings. This service is available to Surry Community College students on Tuesday and Thursday from 8:30 am to 9:30 am and Monday through Friday from 2 pm to 4 pm. Students interested in Internet Job Search should bring a current resume (if one is not currently filed with SCC Student Employment Center) during these times.

Residents may take advantage of IIS through the Surry Community College Human Resources Development Program by contacting Carolyn Plippin at 789-0063.

College Hosts Business Expo

From Staff Reports
 DOBSON — The first Business Expo was held Thursday in the gymnasium of Surry Community College, highlighting more than 30 local businesses and service companies.

The event was sponsored by the college's Small Business Center, in conjunction with the chambers of commerce from Mount Airy, Elkin-Jonesville-Arlington and Yadkin County.

Business Expo '96 showcased businesses including industrial companies such as Unifi Inc. and Kentucky Derby Hosiery; equipment companies such as Basics Plus Business Machines, Copier Consultants, MacThrift Office Furniture; and temporary services such as Griffin Staffing, Popi Temporary Services and Surry Temporary Services.

The event also contained a wide variety of other products and services through such Unifi Inc. won the judges' choice for best display, showcasing the many types of garments and designs made by the Yadkinville industry. Cow Patty's won the second-place award for an exhibit, while BeautiControl was selected for third place.

Said SCC Vice President for Curriculum

Programs John Collins, "I thought it was a real good show; there was a lot of information available." He mentioned that one software vendor traveled from a town near Charleston, W.Va., to attend the event.

Linda Williams, the president of Management Systems of West Virginia Ltd., said the drive from St. Albans to Surry County took about four hours, but she thought it was worthwhile.

Sue Marion, the director of the college's Small Business Center and the Occupational Extension Service, said there was strong interest among the exhibitors to hold another expo next year.

The owners of Parents Choice Caring and Learning Center said they were part of the event to let people know about their new 5,500-square-foot day-care center under construction in Dobson.

Career Fair Scheduled At Local College

From Staff Reports
 DOBSON — Surry Community College still has slots available for an annual Career Fair at the Dobson campus April 24. The event showcases area companies and businesses for the observation of students from the college and high schools. The school gym will host up to 45 displays during the fair, which will last from 9 a.m. to 1:45 p.m., according to Dennis Lowe, job developer in the SCC Cooperative Education Department. Lowe estimates that about 440 students will attend the Career Fair from high schools in Surry, Alleghany, Stokes and Yadkin counties, along with many of the college's own students. With more than half the exhibit tables still available, Lowe added that interested businesses have the chance to reserve a spot in the gym to promote their organizations and recruit prospective employees. The spaces are being filled on a first-come, first-served basis. Lowe said the companies would be provided a table of 3 feet by 6 feet on which to place brochures, forms and display items. Two chairs will also be available for company representatives. "A lot of them (companies) bring examples of what they manufacture," said Lowe. "Some show videotapes."

Said Anita Bullin, the director of the Cooperative Education/Student Employment division of SCC, "We plan to divide presenters into three categories: technical and industrial; business, marketing and financial; and health and human services."

Those signing up so far include Central Continuing Care and the city of Mount Airy in the health and human services category; Insteel Wire, Cross Creek Apparel and Penn Engineering and Manufacturing in the industrial classification; and Kentucky Derby Hosiery and Godwin's Book and Dickinson, business/financing.

Lowe said 10 high schools were contacted earlier this year to allow their administrators to establish a date when their students could attend without conflicting with other obligations. Because of this flexibility, more students are expected than last year.

To obtain more information on the Career Fair or register for exhibit space, interested persons may call the Cooperative Education/Student Employment Department of Surry Community College at 386-8121, Extension 320.

Community College Hosts Career Fair

From Staff Reports
 DOBSON — More than 550 local high school students participated in a career fair last week at Surry Community College.

The event sponsored by the college's Student Employment Division featured local and out-of-town companies and businesses explaining their trades or services to students of the college and high schools from Surry, Alleghany, Stokes and Yadkin counties.

A display area was divided into technical and industrial; business, marketing and financial; and health and human-services categories.

The event included five temporary service agencies: Griffin, Kelly, Popi, Surry and Winston; care services represented by Carolina Medicorp Inc., Bowman Gray School of Medicine, Hospice of Surry County, Central Continuing Care and Surry Community Nursing Center; and cosmetics firms including BeautiControl and Mary Kay.

In addition, there were displays for North Carolina Data and Information Service displayed its services and explained how the firm's information can help in business, while Sprint/Centel explained the part it played in developing an information superhighway in North Carolina.

According to Marion, the event had strong participation from 11:30 a.m. until about 2 p.m. when many students' school day ended. After that, she added, attendance was somewhat slow until around 5 p.m., when people began arriving after work.

Marion, who has been in the community college system for 21 years, came to Surry Community College about 18 months ago and brought with her the idea of holding such a business expo.

The director thanked her secretary, Renee Hutchins, for helping to organize the event, helping form a layout and to set up tables. "She did a super job," said Marion. "She went above and beyond the call of duty on this."

Marion also thanked Bill Phillips of BB&T in Mount Airy for sponsoring a hospitality room in the student lounge for the exhibitors' use. BB&T provided sandwiches, fruit trays, vegetable trays, soft drinks and coffee. The school provided soft drinks for exhibitors as well.

Many companies provided prizes for drawings at the event. "In all, there were about 35 door prizes given away," said Marion.

The top prizes were a Torn weed-eater donated by Lowe's, a gas grill from GND Oil Co. in Elkin and two trips given by Folger Travel (a trip for two for two nights in Asheville and one for two for two nights at Myrtle Beach, S.C.).

Booths also gave away individual door prizes and many promotional items.

Surry Community College Industrial Training Center

The primary purpose of the Industrial Training Center is to provide skills, training for manufacturing industries in Surry and Yadkin counties in the face of changing technology. Surry Community College is committed to working with industry to provide educational opportunities for employees.

Industrial training is a cooperative effort between Surry Community College and local industries.

The scope of industrial training is directly related to local industrial needs. The college is prepared to provide instruction whenever needed to ensure that manufacturing workers have the skills they need to be efficient and productive employees. Training may be conducted in workshops, seminars, or complete courses. Classes will be located at a site most suitable for meeting the course objectives, in a college classroom setting or industry site. When college staff are unavailable or are lacking in the necessary expertise in a given subject, technical experts may be brought in to provide instruction. Experts working for the industry can also be used as instructors and trainers. Through cooperative efforts, new courses and methods of quality instruction can be developed to meet existing needs.

The student population of the Industrial Training Center consists exclusively of manufacturing employees. Courses, workshops, and seminars are designed specifically with the needs of local industry in mind. Training can be done for specific occupations of an industry. The training conducted depends on the specific needs of the manufacturers.

Class sponsored through industrial training have no minimum class size. When there is an identifiable need, training can be done for any size class.

Almost any subject identified as a training need of a local manufacturer is justifiable through industrial training. The following are examples of some of the training areas previously offered.

- Machine Fixer Training
- Mathematics
- Basic Electrical Maintenance
- Industrial Safety
- First Aid and CPR
- Principles of Supervision
- Industrial Sewing
- Industrial Maintenance

Spanish Course Planned At SCC

From Staff Reports
DOBSON — Surry Community College has announced plans for a language class to help people learn the basics of Spanish.

Conversational Spanish will be held at the college beginning April 15 and lasting for 11 Monday nights from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. The instructor is Eldon Rogers, a retired Spanish teacher at North Surry High School.

College officials say the class is designed to assist persons in the community who have a need to communicate in Spanish on a regular basis.

The course will include basic vowel/consonant sounds, the alphabet, common questions/answers in Spanish and a basic vocabulary of the language, including the days of the week, numbers, giving/receiving directions and more, according to the Continuing Education Division of Surry Community College.

The registration fee for the class is $35 and there is a textbook cost. North Carolina residents age 65 and older can register free of charge.

Interested persons should plan to attend the registration/first class meeting in Classroom 202 in the SCC Administration Building April 15. Further information is available from the Continuing Education Division of SCC at 386-8121, Extension 269 or 261.

Surry Community College Small Business Center

When would-be entrepreneurs are dreaming about opening their own business or small business owners have questions about their vision, one of the important resources available to them is the Small Business Center at Surry Community College.

The Center provides assistance to the business community in the form of:

- training-seminars, workshops, and short courses
- counseling — one-to-one counseling from start-up to solving existing business problems.
- referrals — putting individuals in touch with the necessary agencies for technical advice.
- information — providing brochures, pamphlets, and video and cassette tapes on starting and operating a business. The Small Business Center does not have funds to lend nor does it involve itself with the lending process of securing small business loans. However, the Center Director, Mrs. Sue Marion, works closely with potential small business owners to help them better understand what the business concerns are and what plan of action would best suit their needs.

The Small Business Center is located on the Surry Community College Campus and has been in existence since 1989.

Ms. Marion says the most popular element of the Small Business Center is the seminars, workshops and short courses offered. She said the Center prides itself on bringing in qualified instructors and seminar leaders to conduct its programs. These experts give first-hand instruction in the areas of sales, marketing, finance, bookkeeping, customer relations, insurance, supervision, small-business management, credit, collections, and other pertinent topics related to small business operations. The seminars, courses and workshops are offered throughout Surry and Yadkin counties. The Center sponsors a seminar each quarter with the Greater Elkin-Jonesville-Arlington Chamber of Commerce, Yadkin County Chamber of Commerce, and the Greater Mount Airy Chamber of Commerce.

The workshops, counseling, and other resources offered by the Center shortens the learning curve that must be mastered for businesses to profit and grow. We are in a global economy, but successful small businesses will continue to be the backbone of economic competitiveness. They have in the past, and they will in the future. The Surry Community College Small Business Center is committed to increase the success rate of small businesses by assisting prospective and established small business persons to reach their full potential by utilizing all resources available.

Requests for counseling services or workshop information can be made by calling Sue Marion at (910) 386-8121, extension 309 or Renee Hutchins at extension 211.

Venable Receives Award

Marion Venable won the Jackson Award at the annual Lee, Jackson, Stuart Banquet held March 23 by local Gen. J.E.B. Stuart Camp 1598 of the Sons of Confederate Veterans, at Mount Airy Elks Lodge.

The main purpose of the Sons of Confederate Veterans is to preserve history of Surry County and the surrounding area, historical buildings and sites.

Marion was chosen for the Hester Bartlett Jackson Award for her successful work in securing a building that was the 1835 kitchen and dining room of the Reeves Plantation on the Yadkin River at Siloam. It is the original site of the plantation of Samuel Freeman, who settled there in the late 1760s, buying the land from Morgan Bryan, a kinsman of Daniel Boone's wife.

The site came into the Reeves family when one of the Freeman daughters married Maj. Micajah Reeves.

The Jonathan Hunt chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution placed a marker in memory of Samuel Freeman, who had a large part in "The Committee of Safety" at the beginning of the Revolutionary War.

Exhibits and functions are planned there. Marion is director of continuing education at Surry Community College. Before that, she was historical planner of Surry, Yadkin, Davie and Stokes counties from 1975-83.

The welcome at the banquet was given by Commander Gary Snow, the invocation by Chaplain Clyde Stewart and the pledge and salutes by 2nd Lt. Commander Corey Stewart.

Music was by The Amazing Sounds of Bluegrass, a group composed of Wayne Hauser, Carl Joyner, Danny Casstick and Ashby and they were especially good.

The dinner was also good and enjoyed by all.

The special speaker was Lt. Col. Jeffery Addicot of Special Forces at Fort Bragg. He discussed Gen. Robert E. Lee and Gen. William Tecumseh Sherman. He also visited the birthplace site of Gen. Stuart while here.

Camp Appreciation Awards were given to Mike Hayes, Dean Brown, Wayne Hauser, Edward Stewart, Scott Poindexter, Tom Jones, Randy Dollybigh and Ricky Secrest, who also won an award for recruitment efforts.

Surry Community College Hosts Regional High School Math Contest

SCC served as a regional site for the Algebra I contest sponsored by the Mathematics Department at SCC, the Mathematics Section of the State Department of Public Instruction, and the North Carolina Council of Teachers of Mathematics. All public and private middle and high schools in our region were invited to send a team of up to eight students.

These students were given a test covering topics that are generally taught in high school Algebra.

Both individual and team winners were chosen. Trophies, cash awards, certificates of merit and invitations to further competition were awarded.

The team from Gentry Middle School won the top overall team award and received a plaque. The six students with the highest scores have been invited to a second level of competition the central-region state finals, to be held April 23, 1996, at UNC-G and received a plaque. These students are Naomi Boulware, Elkin High School;

Robbie Ballew, Northwest Guilford Middle School; Lindsey Wilson, Mount Airy Junior High School; Jeremy Harper, Gentry Middle School; Scott Conine, Mount Airy Junior High School; and William Mosely, Gentry Middle School.

Additionally, the top three overall highest scorers were presented a plaque and cash awards. These students are Jeremy Harper from Gentry Middle School who was top scorer and won $50.00, Robbie Ballew from Northwest Guilford Middle School who was second highest scorer and won $30.00, and Scott Conine from Mount Airy Junior High School who was third highest scorer and won $20.00. Finally, the top scoring student from each team was awarded a certificate. These students are Ryan Davis, Pilot Mountain Middle; Jeremy Harper, Gentry Middle; Jeff Tarr, Forbush Elementary; Naomi Boulware, Elkin; Robbie Ballew, Northwest Guilford Middle; Adam Brenneis, North Stokes; and Scott Conine, Mount Airy Junior High.

The students took the test which covered topics that are included in the state curriculum guideline for Algebra I, mathematical aptitude, and general reasoning skills. During the time students were being tested, the sponsors participated in a workshop conducted by SCC Mathematics Division members Paula Gupton and Dwight Atkins related to incorporating technology into the mathematics classroom. Lunch was provided by Domino's Pizza of Mount Airy. After lunch, awards were presented by division members Paula Gupton and Susan Worth.

The purposes of the contest are to stimulate interest in mathematics, to provide recognition of outstanding mathematics students and teachers, and to provide a congenial atmosphere to share ideas and methods of teaching and learning mathematics. If you would like more information concerning this contest or future contests, contact Steve Atkins, Coordinator, Mathematics Contest or the SCC Public Information Office at (910)386-8121.

Community College To Host Foreign Language Festival

From Staff Reports

DOBSON — If the town of Dobson takes on an unusually foreign flavor Thursday, it probably will be because of the 16th Annual Foreign Language Festival at Surry Community College.

Some 1,000 high school, junior high and middle school students from Piedmont and western North Carolina and southwestern Virginia are expected to take part in the event that typically features colorful costumes, exhibits, music and other talent activities.

The purpose of the event is to allow students to demonstrate excellence and talent through use of their foreign-language skills in a variety of academic and artistic categories, organizers say.

Students will perform and compete in events in Spanish, French and Latin during the festival, begun by SCC foreign-language instructor Sharon Gates.

Some will prepare display booths and projects related to their particular language or country of study. Student projects cover such categories as costumes, flags, games, masks, needlework, models, sculpture, painting, sketches, posters and maps.

The Foreign-Language Festival also includes talent competition in vocal and instrumental music, dance, drama and costume, as well as extemporaneous speaking (three levels) and dramatic reading. Most performances are open to the public, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Trophies and ribbons will be given to winners in each category in the various languages involved during an awards presentation in the college gym at 2 p.m.

More information about Thursday's festival is available from Sharon Gates at 386-8121, Extension 288 or 211.

The students took the test which covered topics that are included in the state curriculum guideline for Algebra I, mathematical aptitude, and general reasoning skills. During the time students were being tested, the sponsors participated in a workshop conducted by SCC mathematics division members Paula Gupton and Dwight Atkins related to incorporating technology into the mathematics classroom.

Lunch was provided by Domino's Pizza of Mount Airy. After lunch, awards were presented by Gupton and Susan Worth.

The purposes of the contest are to stimulate interest in mathematics, to provide recognition of outstanding mathematics students and teachers, and to provide a congenial atmosphere to share ideas and methods of teaching and learning mathematics.

For more information concerning this contest or future contests, contact Steve Atkins, coordinator, Mathematics Contest or the SCC Public Information Office at (910) 386-8121.

The top three overall winners were Jeremy Harper, Gentry Middle School; Robbie Ballew, Northwest Guilford Middle School; and Scott Conine, Mount Airy Junior High School.

The team award went to Gentry Middle School.

Top students from each school were Ryan Davis, Pilot Mountain Middle School; Jeremy Harper, Gentry Middle School; Jeff Tarr, Forbush Elementary; Naomi Boulware, Elkin; Robbie Ballew, Northwest Guilford Middle School; Adam Brenneis, North Stokes; and Scott Conine, Mount Airy Junior High.

Politics, crime keep residents talking

By William L. Holmes
JOURNAL SURRY COUNTY BUREAU

DOBSON — Except for the yearly Berry Festival, criminal-court sessions continue to inspire the most excitement around Dobson, much like they once did in small towns throughout the country.

Few things stir residents like gossip about a murder trial or the antics of the accused. Attorneys gather during lunch at one of the two restaurants near the courthouse and retell the morning's events while some defendants perch on the courthouse stairs, smoke cigarettes and commiserate about the circumstances that have brought them here. Robert F. Comer, a native of Dobson and a former town manager, said that court is not the spectacle it was once but it remains an event.

"There are not that many pure spectators anymore," Comer said. "There are three or four courts going at a time and there's court about every other week."

Still, the big cases keep people talking, partly because it's their nature and partly because residents say that there's little else to

Date founded: 1851
Date incorporated: 1891

Named for: William Polk Dobson, a wealthy landowner in Surry County and a cousin of President James K. Polk, who donated 60 acres for the town.

Size: 1.8 square miles

Estimated population (1994): 1,285

Recent growth

Population	Pct. change
1950: 609
1960: 684	12.3
1970: 933	36.4
1980: 1,222	31.0
1990: 1,195	-2.2

Where they work: Most residents travel to Mount Airy or Elkin to work, but a few industries operate in town. Wayne Farms, a poultry processor, has 700 employees; Tuttle Inc., a floorware manufacturer (350); Surry County Government (450).

How they vote: Democratic

Most notable citizens: Brothers Alonzo D. and John Hamlin Folger. Lon Folger was born in Dobson, and both brothers practiced law there briefly before moving to Mount Airy. Lon Folger served in the U.S. House of Representatives from 1939 until his death from an auto accident in 1941; John Folger succeeded him and served until 1949.

Events to remember: Sept. 15, 1892. Tom Allison, a native of Iredell County charged with murder in the shooting death of W. H. Brown, a Mount Airy businessman, was rustled from the county jail and lynched by a mob of townspeople. Some suspected that Brown's fellow members in the Knights of Pythias, a secret fraternal order founded in 1864 for philanthropic purposes, avenged his death. No one was ever tried for Allison's death. Allison and Brown were said to have argued after Brown failed to show up for a spectacle that the two men had arranged. They wagered $2.50 on the outcome.

talk about but crime and politics in Dobson.

In that, Dobson has remained true to its founding purpose.

County leaders planned and designed Dobson in 1850 and 1851 as the new county seat, a patch of land set aside solely for the conduct of county business. Yadkin County had just been carved from the southern part of Surry County, and Rockford, a community near the Yadkin River that had been the Surry County seat, was no longer near the center of the county.

William Polk Dobson donated 60 acres from a large tract he owned in the middle of the county. In return, the town was named for him.

During its heyday in the 1950s, Dobson became a small hub of commerce. Tobacco farmers bought seed and supplies from the shops that lined the square around the courthouse.

"On any Saturday, I could catch a wagon downtown," said Comer, a retired Navy captain.

But as the tobacco industry shriveled and farmers struggled to pay their bills and eventually left or sold their farms, the number of retailers dwindled.

People who lived in and around town began to shop in Mount Airy and Elkin, the county's two largest towns and the places where chain stores offered less expensive prices than Dobson's remaining general stores. Most of those large stores had avoided Dobson because it is about halfway between the larger towns.

In 1966, the founding of Surry Community College helped add life to the town. The college offered job-training programs and general course work for students planning to transfer to four-year colleges. The college gave farmers and their families a chance to find work off the farm. Susan Wilmoth, a spokeswoman for the college who is the eighth generation of her family to live in the area, said that the college continues with that mission.

"People can't live here with just tobacco anymore," Wilmoth said. "Hopefully, this helps with economic development. Hopefully, this helps with training. I'm sold on what this college does. It really is a community partnership."

ABOUT 2,700 students attend Surry Community College. Many study electronics or business. A small crowd can be found in the college's cafeteria playing cards and chatting at nearly any time before noon.

It seems as if they're in training to join the discussions at The Lantern restaurant that keeps nearly the same hours as the card games. But instead of college students, the participants at The Lantern are law-

If you go:

Where to stay: The Surry Inn offers the only accommodations in town, but several motels surround the area.

Where to eat: The Lantern restaurant offers country cooking and a wide variety of other plates. The Garden Plaza Cafe has daily lunch specials and authentic Mexican food.

Festival: The Berry Festival comes into town each July with generous portions of cobbler, pie and other desserts filling winding tables throughout the town.

yers, farmers, truckers and business executives. Instead of dealing cards, they pass around sympathy cards for sick friends.

Ginger Utley, the owner of the restaurant, said that the ever-shifting discussion at "the roundtable" covers politics to sports. Participants gobble down lunches of stewed beef, creamed potatoes, fried squash or similar fare in between making their points.

Comer, a regular at the restaurant, said that the roundtable has also seen its share of bargaining.

"There are probably more deals put together around that table in The Lantern than in any small town in America," said Comer, who now works for a private group of businessmen who recruit industry to the county.

Dobson rarely plays a part in Comer's recruitment battles. Town Manager Wayne Atkins said he doesn't know why his town has been unable to attract big-time industry. But he doesn't act eager for much, either. "With industry, you also bring some problems," he said, citing the money the town would have to spend to improve or extend its roads and sewers.

But Atkins points proudly to a newly built Rite Aid drugstore and a planned Subway restaurant. They'll cater mostly to the daytime population of about 7,500 people who come to Dobson to work in court and county offices and to attend college, Atkins said. The only large businesses in town are Wayne Farms, a company that processes fresh chickens, and Tuttle Inc., a manufacturer of fleece clothing.

"We're sort of like a bedroom community," Atkins said. "I don't know what the reason would be. It just sort of worked out that way."

Atkins said that the town may run water lines to Interstate 77 to try to attract industry.

"Maybe some industry will start up out there," he said. "Before, you're just talking about agriculture."

Phi Beta Lambda Holds 42nd Annual State Conference

Phi Beta Lambda, a national organization for college business students, held its 42nd annual State Leadership Conference in Raleigh on Friday, April 12, and Saturday, April 13, 1996. Approximately 400 students from 40 colleges and around the state participated in the conference and state academic competition.

Omicron Sigma, the SCC chapter of PBL, earned six chapter awards and six individual awards. The chapter awards were for the second largest chapter membership and third largest professional membership in the Western Region. The chapter also won a membership achievement award, a Blue Ribbon award, and a Recruiting Professional Members Award. Similarly, they were recognized for their contributions to the State PBL scholarship fund and the National PBL Center Mortgage.

The individual awards included a first place award to Jim McAtee for Public Speaking; second place award to Judy Ayers for Business Communications; a third place award to Heather Allen for Job Interviewing; a fourth place award to Beth Stone for Impromptu Speaking; a sixth place award to Judy Ayers, Beth Stone, and Janet Bruner for Business Decision Making; and a seventh place award to Larry Hall for Computer Concepts. Jim McAtee and Judy Ayers both qualify to compete nationally in Washington, DC, in July.

For the first time in the SCC chapter's history, a student ran for state office. Jim McAtee was first-runner up for the Western Region's Vice-Presidency. His campaign manager was Susan Marion.

Internet Job Search Now Available At SCC Student Employment Center

Finding a good job has just gotten easier. The SCC Student Employment Center is now on-line for student job search.

Internet Job Search (IJS) allows center staff to list student resumes on the World Wide Web and provides access to national and international job listings.

For example, a student recently requested information on jobs in Fairbanks, Alaska. The student's resume was posted on the Internet, using CareerMosaic. A list of career opportunities was located and printed, along with names, addresses, and phone numbers for contacts in Fairbanks, AK.

Currently, most employers in North Carolina who post jobs on the Internet are located in Charlotte, Research Triangle Park, Greensboro and Raleigh.

Use of the Internet for job posting is not as widespread in North Carolina as in other states.

For example, in searching for management job openings, 23 were found in North Carolina; 49 in New York; 113 in Virginia; and over 500 in California. With the rapid expansion of Internet use, job postings are expected to dramatically increase in North Carolina.

Students may post their resumes on the Internet to be reviewed by employers around the world and have access to numerous job listings.

This service is available to Surry Community College students on Tuesday and Thursday from 8:30 a.m. to 9:30 a.m. and on Monday through Friday from 2:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m.

Students interested in Internet Job Search should bring a current resume (if one is not currently filed with SCC Student Employment Center) during these times. County residents may take advantage of IJS through the Surry Community College Human Resources Development Program by contacting Carolyn Flippin at 789-0063.

SCC Honors Alumni

Surry Community College honored five alumni at the Alumni Association's annual Outstanding Alumni Awards Dinner at the Elks Lodge Ballroom in Mount Airy on Saturday, April 6, 1996. Mr. Brack Llewelyn introduced the honored alumni: Ms. Glenda Bullen-Younger, Mr. Kelly Epperson, Mr. Jerry D. Hemmings, Mr. Roy High, and Ms. Teresa D. Yeatts, who were each presented with a personalized rocking chair.

Ms. Bullen-Younger has been a teacher in the Surry County Schools for twenty-two years as well as being a part-time instructor in the Learning Center at Surry Community College for ten years.

Mr. Kelly Epperson is station manager for WPAQ/WBRF and president of Blue Ridge Time Sales. Epperson is past president and one of founding members of Foothills Lion's Club as well as serving on the Board of Directors of the Surry Arts Council. He is an active member of Haymore Memorial Baptist Church where he serves as deacon, Sunday School teacher, and lay speaker. He organized and directed the All-American City presentation broadcast from the White House in Washington, DC. Epperson graduated from Mount Airy Senior High School and received his A.S. from Surry Community College and his B.S. degree from the University of North Carolina at Greensboro.

Mr. Jerry D. Hemmings has been head basketball coach at Brandon University since 1977, and during his tenure there, he has won more than 500 games. Also as head coach, he has had three CIAU national Championships, 12 Great Plains Athletic Conference championships, plus nine straight appearances at the CIAU finals and seven final four appearances. Hemmings graduated from North Surry High School and received an A.A. degree from Surry Community College, a B.A. degree from Lakehead University, and a M.A. from Appalachian State University.

Mr. Roy M. High has been a full-time instructor since 1972. During the time he was a part-time instructor, High worked as the Vice-President of Mutual Federal Savings and Loan Association in both Dobson and Elkin. In July of 1995, he became Chairman of the Business Technologies Division. High served on the Surry County Planning Board for 17 years and was a charter member of the Surry County Economic Development Commission, serving two terms as chairman. High graduated from Peachland High School and received an A.A. degree from SCC, a B.S. and M.A. from Appalachian State University.

Mrs. Teresa D. Yeatts is owner and President of Surry Temporary Services in Mount Airy. Yeatts is immediate past president of the Mount Airy Chamber of Commerce and served as vice-president from 1991-94; she also won the Chamber's Extra Mile Award, Citizen of the Year Award, and the small business award for innovation. She is also a member of the Elkin, Jonesville, Arlington Chamber, as well as the Wilkes and Yadkin Chambers. Yeatts is 1996 president elect of the Mt. Airy Rotary Club, serves on the Board of Directors, and is a Paul Harris Fellow. Yeatts graduated from Mount Airy Senior High School and received an A.A.S. degree from Surry Community College.

Also recognized during the banquet were the recent retirees from the college's faculty and staff who included Pauline Eads, Bill McCachren, and Crissila Morrison. Bill Stroupe who died in January was also remembered and was represented by his widow, Mrs. Catha Stroupe and daughters, Meredith and Jessica. All of those recognized were presented with a plaque which will be included on the Honored Retirees wall in the Administration Building. These four people represent a combined total of 80 years of service to the college.

Mr. Jerry Taylor, President of the Alumni Association, presented Mr. Dick Byrd with granite bookends in honor of his years of service to the Alumni Association through the publication of the SCC Roundtable.

Members of the Surry Community College Faculty Senate, representing the teaching faculty, presented the members of the maintenance staff with checks to thank them for their extra efforts to keep the grounds clean and clear of snow and ice during the long, difficult winter of 1995-96. The maintenance staff includes Roger Snow, Superintendent of maintenance; Greg Belcher; Carolyn Bingman; Andy Branch; Glenn Branch; Howard Brim; Brent Crissman; Danny Holt; Roger Hunter; Michael Joyce; Gary Kinston; and Barbara O'Neal. CLUB / CIVIC NOTES

SURRY COMMUNITY COLLEGE HONORS OUTSTANDING ALUMNI

Surry Community College recently honored five alumni at the Alumni Association's annual Outstanding Alumni Awards Dinner at the Mount Airy Elks Lodge ballroom. Brack Llewellyn introduced the honored alumni: Glenda Bullen-Younger, Kelly Epperson, Jerry D. Hemmings, Roy High and Teresa D. Yeatts, who were each presented with a personalized rocking chair.

Bullen-Younger has been a teacher in the Surry County Schools for 22 years as well as being a part-time instructor in the Learning Center at Surry Community College for 10 years. She is also active in professional organizations, North Surry Booster Club and Mount Airy Church of Christ. She graduated from Surry Central High School and received her A.S. degree from Surry Community college and her B.S. degree from High Point University.

Epperson is station manager for WPAQ/WBRF and president of Blue Ridge Time Sales. He is past president and one of the founding members of the Foothills Lions Club as well as serving on the board of directors of the Surry Arts Council. Epperson is an active member of Haymore Memorial Baptist Church, where he serves as deacon, Sunday School teacher and lay speaker. He organized and directed the All-America City presentation broadcast from the White House in Washington, D.C.

Epperson graduated from Mount Airy Senior High School and received his A.S. degree from Surry Community College and his B.S. degree from the University of North Carolina at Greensboro.

Hemmings has been head basketball coach at Brandon University since 1977, and, during his tenure there, his teams have won over 500 games. Also, as head coach, he has had three CIAU national championships, 12 Great Plains Athletic Conference championships, plus nine straight appearances at the CIAU finals and seven final four appearances.

He played basketball for the SCC Knights, Lakehead University, and had a year as a professional player in Voiron, France. Hemmings coached the Canadian National Student Team to a silver medal in the World University Games in Sheffield, England in 1991, as well as serving as assistant coach for the Canadian National Team in 1989, 1990 and 1994 World Champions.

He graduated from North Surry High School and received an A.A. degree from Surry Community College, a B.A. degree from Lakehead University and a M.A. degree from Appalachian State University.

High has been a full-time instructor in the Business Technologies Division at Surry Community College since 1985 and a part-time instructor since 1972. During the time he was a part-time instructor, High worked as the vice president of Mutual Federal Savings and Loan Association in both Dobson and Elkin. In July of 1995, he became chairman of the business technologies division.

High served on the Surry County Planning Board for 17 years and was a charter member of the Surry County Economic Development Commission, serving two terms as chairman. Additionally, he has served as president of the Dobson Lions Club, Scoutmaster for Troop 529, volunteer fireman, deacon of the First Baptist Church of Dobson, and as commissioner for the Pony League baseball.

High graduated from Peachland High School and received an A.A. degree from SCC and B.S. and M.A. from Appalachian State University.

Yeatts is owner and president of Surry Temporary Services in Mount Airy. She is immediate past president of the Mount Airy Chamber of Commerce and served as vice president from 1991-1994. She also won the chamber's "Extra Mile Award," "Citizen of the Year Award," and the small business award for innovation. She is also a member of the Elkin, Jonesville, Arlington chamber as well as the Wilkes and Yadkin chambers.

She is 1996 president-elect of the Mount Airy Rotary Club, serves on the board of directors and is a Paul Harris Fellow. She is actively involved in many community support volunteer activities, serving as chairman, president, or on boards of such groups as March of Dimes, United Fund, Mount Airy Rescue Squad, Junior Achievement, Health Advisory Board, United Fund, Reeves Community Center, Surry County Economic Development Partnerships Board, Better Business Bureau, Surry County Coalition on Aging, and American Business Women's Association.

Yeatts graduated from Mount Airy High School and received an A.A.S. degree from Surry Community College.

Also recognized during the banquet were the recent retirees from the college's faculty and staff, including Pauline Eads, Bill McCachren and Crissilla Morrison. Bill Stroupe, who died in January, was also remembered and was represented by his widow, Catha Stroupe and daughters, Meredith and Jessica. All of those recognized were presented with a plaque which will be included on the Honored Retirees Wall in the Administration Building. These four people represent a combined total of 80 years of service to the college.

Eads has 28 years of working in the library. When she came to the college in 1968, the library had 2,000 books and 50 magazines. When she retired, the library had 42,000 books and 350 magazines.

McCachren taught math at SCC for 23 years and was awarded the Excellence in Teaching Award by his colleagues in 1987. The annual mathematics award presented to the calculus student with the highest average is also named the William N. McCachren Award to honor his contributions to the division.

Morrison taught nursing for seven years before her retirement earlier this year. She is remembered by students for her excellent teaching and supervisory skills, especially during clinical classes.

Stroupe taught biology for 22 years and served as chairman of the science/physical education division until his death. He also was known for his smile and always being available to help students and colleagues alike. As a result of his personality and teaching style, Stroupe changed the attitudes of students toward science by making the study of science an exciting adventure, SCC officials said.

Jerry Taylor, president of the Alumni Association, presented Dick Byrd with granite bookends in honor of his years of service to the Alumni Association through the publication of the SCC Roundtable.

Dr. Jim Reeves, president of SCC, discussed the progress of the "Community Support Wall of Honor" and the sale of the bricks themselves, as well as the new programs and buildings which are being completed on campus. Dallas Nance, chairman of the board of trustees, gave the invocation.

Elkin Students Are Among Winners In SCC's Foreign Language Festival

Several Elkin High School students won awards in the sixteenth annual SCC Foreign Language Festival, held on Thursday, May 2, on the Dobson campus.

Approximately 1,000 enthusiastic and talented high school, junior high and middle school students from the Piedmont, western North Carolina and southwestern Virginia competed in Spanish, French and Latin. The competition began at 9:30 a.m. and ended with the awards ceremony at 2:00 p.m.

Among the winners were: Tasha Wineberger, Elkin High School - first place, French Advanced; Elkin High School, tied with Carroll County Intermediate School - first place, French Booth; Meredith Clark, Elkin High School - third place, Spanish I; Sarah Guiley, Elkin High School - third place, Spanish II; Elkin High School - first place, Spanish Booth; Christina Holthouser, Elkin High School - first place, Dramatic Reading; and Abbye Robinson, Elkin High School - third place, Needlework.

The festival, begun by SCC foreign language instructor Sharon Gates, allowed students to demonstrate excellence and talent through use of their foreign language skills. These students prepared display booths and projects related to their particular language or country. The projects were judged by categories, which included costume, flags, games, music, needlework, models, sculpture, painting, sketches, posters, maps, puppets (French only), piñata (Spanish only), and Mosaics (Latin only).

The contest also included talent competitions in music (vocal and instrumental) and dance, drama and costume, as well as extemporaneous speaking (on three levels) and dramatic reading. These performances, which were open to the public, were extremely popular events with students and visitors.

Trophies were awarded to first and second place winners in each category in each language; third and fourth place winners received ribbons. The awards presentation was held in the college gymnasium at 2:00 p.m.

Surry Community College instructor Charles Boles inspects hanging plants like the ones the college grew for the city of Mount Airy to hang along Main Street.

College Horticulture Class Lends A Helping Hand

By JEFF LINVILLE
Staff Writer

DOBSON — Before the 1996 Tour DuPont reached Mount Airy last week, volunteers were hard at work hanging plants on posts along Main Street.

The potted plants used in decorating the city did not come from a nursery, however, but from horticulture classes of Surry Community College.

Charles Boles, an instructor at the college, said he was approached in December by Michella Jones, horticulturist in the Mount Airy Planning Department. Jones asked Boles if he would like to grow the hanging plants for the city and he accepted.

The challenge, according to Boles,

In addition to the plants the class grew for the city, the students helped raise dozens of geraniums for the college graduation this spring.

was to get the plants grown before the cycling race came to town so the city could get them hung in time. "We had to really plan for the size they needed for the first of May," the SCC horticulture teacher explained.

Jones brought the plants and baskets to the school, where the 20 students in the horticulture program began to care for the more than 70 plants.

In addition to the plants the class grew for the city, the students helped raise dozens of geraniums for the college graduation this spring.

Outside the greenhouse, the horticulture students helped plant crape myrtle trees on campus as well as a flower bed in front of the library. Tammy Church, the secretary of student services, told Boles that the flowers had been the talk of the school since blooming.

The irises planted in front of the library, Boles reported, came from Shadowwood Iris Farm, run by retiree Chris Hale. The crape myrtles were bought at local nurseries.

The classes taught by Boles that are part of the horticulture program are open to students who might choose to enroll in a day or evening class by itself, earn a one-year horticulture technical diploma or earn a two-year associate degree in applied science, horticulture technology.

"If you take the greenhouse class," said Boles, "you always get your money's worth in free plants." The school does not charge for plants, he added, nor for work it does such as landscaping at the historic Gertrude Smith House in Mount Airy.

Three New Scholarships Endowed At SCC

Surry Community College Foundation has three newly established endowed scholarships: The Community Bank Scholarship, the Dr. Stanley and Norma Boyd Scholarship, and the Fred C. Pruett and Sons Scholarship.

An endowed scholarship must have a principal base of $10,000 or more. The funds are invested according to the SCC Foundation's Investment Policy. This endowment then generates enough interest income to award one, full-year scholarship for one student. Only the income from invested funds is used for awards or scholarships.

The Community Bank with branches in Pilot Mountain, Dobson, and Mt. Airy, established an endowed scholarship to benefit deserving students who need financial assistance and who are not receiving other awards. These students can be either a freshman or a sophomore in business, finance, or economics in a college degree or certificate program.

The second newly established endowed scholarship was funded by Dr. and Mrs. Stanley Boyd. Dr. Boyd is a retired dentist from Mount Airy. This scholarship is available to students who need financial assistance and preference will be given to residents of the Ararat or Catawba, Virginia, area. At times, Dr. and Mrs. Boyd may suggest recipients for review. This scholarship can cover the costs of tuition, books, and fees and will be available in the Spring of 1997.

Another newly endowed scholarship for the SCC Foundation is the Fred C. Pruett and Sons Scholarship. Mr. and Mrs. Don Pruett of Mt. Airy began this scholarship to honor his father and brothers who are all veterans. Fred C. Pruett was also an adjunct in the VFW for many years. This scholarship is available to any sophomore student with proven financial need who is a descendant of a veteran.

Mr. and Mrs. Pruett honored her mother and aunts last year with another endowed scholarship—the Mays, Owen, and Monson or MOMS Scholarship, which is intended for women with dependent children who are pursuing a health- or education-related field. Mr. Don Pruett died last week after a long illness.

If anyone would like to contribute to this scholarship or any other SCC Foundation Scholarship, he or she may send it to Susan Wilmoth at the SCC Foundation Office at P.O. Box 304, Dobson, NC 27017.

SCC Creative Writing Contest Winners Named

The English Department of Surry Community College announced the winners of its seventh annual creative writing contest in a ceremony held in the Teaching Auditorium of the Administration Building on Tuesday, May 7, 1996. The contest is open to area high school students who submit entries in short fiction and poetry divisions.

These entries are numbered to ensure the anonymity of the writer as well as the school he or she attends. Six area high schools participated submitting 120 entries. This year's winners came from two area high schools—Mount Airy Senior High School and North Surry High School.

In the poetry division, the first place winner was Dan Callaway of Mount Airy High School whose poem was titled "Caution Light in Charleston". Callaway is a student in Mrs. Martha Morgan's English class. The second place winner in poetry, Laura Brewington, was also from Mount Airy High School. She is a student of Mrs. Aarie Ammerman, and her winning poem was titled "Watchers". The third place winner was John Jackson from North Surry High School.

He is a student of Mrs. Lowanda Badgett, and his poem was titled "Nonentity Soul".

In the second category, short fiction, all three winners came from North Surry High School and Mrs. Lowanda Badgett's classes. The short fiction first place winner was Mandy Norman, and her story was titled "Poison". Amy Jeannette Boyd won second place with a short story titled "Anticipation". The third place winner was R. D. Tate with a story titled "Samantha".

Each winner received a plaque and a cash award. The first place winners received $75.00, second place winners received $50.00, and third place winners received $25.00.

Mr. Chris Yopp, a member of the English faculty who began the contest seven years ago, introduced the winners. The judges were Dianna Callaway, Debra Hillyer, Dr. Jim Booth, and Chris Yopp, all members of the English faculty.

The SCC Creative Writing Contest is held every year with entries being submitted in February and March. For more information, contact Chris Yopp or the Institutional Development Office at SCC at (910) 386-8121.

These students can be either a freshman or a sophomore in business, finance, or economics in a college degree or certificate program. The awards can be renewed for an additional year contingent upon other applicants' request and a satisfactory evaluation of the student's record by the SCC Financial Aid Office.

The Bank, represented by Jim Frye, president, and Van Coe, vice-president, decided that preference will be given to people who are employees of the Community Bank, their children, parents, or brothers or sisters.

The amount of the scholarship will be determined by the needs of each student; however, the amount can be no more than the total cost of tuition and fees. The recipient will be chosen by the SCC Financial Aid Office with possible recommendation from officers of The Community Bank. The Community Bank Scholarship will be available for Fall Quarter 1996.

The second newly established endowed scholarship was funded by Dr. and Mrs. Stanley Boyd. Dr. Boyd is a retired dentist from Mount Airy. This scholarship is available to students who need financial assistance and preference will be given to residents of the Ararat or Catawba, Virginia, area. have resided in the college's service area (Surry, Yadkin, Wilkes, Stokes, Carroll and Patrick Counties) for one year, and be studying in a degree program.

This scholarship will be administered through the Financial Aid Office, and the selection of the recipient shall also be made by this office. This scholarship covers tuition and will be available for Winter Quarter 1996.

Mr. and Mrs. Pruett honored her mother and aunts last year with another endowed scholarship—the Mays, Owen and Monson Scholarship (MOMS), which is intended for women with dependent children who are pursuing a health- or education-related field.

Just ask Brian Smith who graduated from the GED program and took "virtually every math class offered at SCC." This year Brian won the William N. McCachren Mathematics Award given to the fourth quarter calculus student with the highest average. Brian will be at North Carolina State next year majoring in mathematics or engineering. Brian believes "SCC is a great place to come and learn since the atmosphere encourages learning and everyone is so supportive—for me, the math department has been GREAT! Students are really lucky here to have the opportunities and instructors that are available and so close to home."

BASIC SKILLS PROGRAMS

ADULT BASIC EDUCATION (ABE)

The Adult Basic Education program provides instruction for adults who want to learn to read, write, and improve basic math skills. Practical teaching methods enable students to acquire skills such as using a telephone directory, reading road signs, counting money, and completing job applications.

HIGH SCHOOL COMPLETION (GED)

The high school completion program is designed to prepare adults for the Tests of General Educational Development (GED). Upon successful completion of the program of study and a satisfactory score on the GED Tests, students are awarded a high school diploma by the State of North Carolina.

ENGLISH FOR SPEAKERS OF OTHER LANGUAGES (ESL)

The ESL program provides a means for speakers of other languages to attend classes to learn English communication skills as well as American customs and history.

* Books, materials and instruction are provided free of charge. Classes are individualized and instruction is designed to meet each student's needs.

Sometimes it's difficult for a young person to talk to a parent or friend about a serious problem they are facing. A new telephone service in this area, "Straight Talk," could alleviate this dilemma.

"Adolescents are confronted with peer pressure, drug and alcohol problems, domestic-violence situations and teen-age depression," said Jack H. Moore Jr., chief court counselor for Judicial District 17-B, which includes Surry County.

"Most of these youths feel as if they have no one to talk with to obtain answers to their questions. Occasionally, they turn to their peers for help. Usually, they receive erroneous and inaccurate information. Frequently this leads the adolescents into making poor decisions and contributes to their becoming involved in delinquent behavior," Moore said.

Juvenile crime increased 40 percent last year in Surry and Stokes counties, according to Moore. He believes the "Straight Talk" telephone service can curtail those statistics. The 24-hour information network starts Wednesday in Surry and Stokes counties.

Teen-agers can access 85 factual messages on topics specifically targeted to their age group, such as drugs, alcoholism, suicide, health, sexuality, birth control, relationships and feelings. The messages are provided by the University of Wisconsin at Madison Health-Line.

Before a message is added to the Straight Talk hotline, it is reviewed by a North Carolina panel to ensure it is unbiased, factually accurate and relevant to this state.

In addition to listening to messages, callers can reach a counselor around the clock. Follow-up information and referral assistance will be available through Straight Talk partners, Surry/Stokes Friends of Youth and Charter Behavioral Health System of Winston-Salem.

"Straight Talk is such a valuable resource for teens and parents," said Denise Nelson, statewide director of the program. "Teens really do want to know the facts. They want to be safe and they want to be responsible. Straight Talk gives them the information they need to lead more responsible and productive lives."

"Straight Talk" is now available in 42 North Carolina counties. More than 327,000 calls to the messages and in excess of 5,100 follow-up calls to local information and referral partners have been logged since the service began in October 1991.

To access the free service, one should dial 1-800-427-5979. The call will be anonymous and confidential.

An open meeting on the program is planned Wednesday from 1 to 2 p.m. in the Surry Community College Teaching Auditorium at Dobson. More information is available from Denise Nelson at (704) 377-4438.

SCC Pins Forty-Four Nursing Students

Surry Community College pinned forty-four nursing students in Wait Chapel on the Wake Forest campus in Winston-Salem on Thursday, May 23.

The pinning ceremony was dedicated in the honor of Crisella Morrison, who retired from the nursing faculty earlier this year.

Kathy Woodruff, SCC Nursing instructor, delivered the invocation, and Dr. Jim Reeves, SCC president, welcomed the graduates, their families, the faculty, and other guests.

The first-year students were presented their stripes by Kim Adams, Robin Benfield, Dianne Caller, Marie Simmons, and Elizabeth Smith of the SCC nursing faculty. Sharon Kallam, chairman of Allied Health Division, Crisella Morrison, retired Nursing instructor, and Teresa Blevins, class president spoke to the graduates. Sharon Kallam presented their pins to the nurses, and Marguerite Burcham, Nursing instructor, presented the Nightingale Lamps to them. Roses were presented to each graduate by instructors Ellen Wyrick and Sherry Reese.

Elizabeth Brown Poole, member of the class, delivered the benediction.

The marshals for graduation came from the freshman class and were chosen based on academic achievement.

They were Tammy W. Anderson, Tammy H. Bailey, Ricky B. Bishop, Beth Ducus, Wendy C. George, Laura W. Pardue, Marguitta H. Pardue, and Tammy J. Whitt.

Local students receiving their pins were: Denise Banner-Lach of Booneville, honor graduate; Vonda P. Funderburk of Hamptonville, honor graduate; Letitia Ann Gregory of Hamptonville, honor graduate; Carol Matthews of Elkin, Audrey A. Owens of Elkin, honor graduate; Rebecca S. Trivette of Yadkinville, honor graduate; Carol K. Williams of Yadkinville.

...In The Classroom

Wendy George, a first-year student in the nursing program at Surry Community College, was recently awarded the first Donna Lynn Eaton Memorial Scholarship. Eaton was the nurse who was killed in the Air Care helicopter crash two years ago.

The scholarship is available to a student at any college affiliated with N.C. Baptist Hospital/Bowman Gray Medical School. It was presented by Richard Shaw, Air Care flight coordinator during an awards program at N.C. Baptist Hospital. The scholarship pays for tuition and books.

George had a 3.94 out of a possible 4.0 overall grade point average and a 4.0 grade point average in the nursing program. She is president of the Student Nurses Association at SCC, a member of Phi Theta Kappa national honor society and a member of the Ararat Volunteer Rescue Squad, Ararat, Va.

When she completes her associate degree nursing program next May, she hopes to be employed in the Neonatal Unit of Brenner's Children's Hospital at Baptist Hospital.

George and her husband, Duane, live in Ararat, Va. He is a mason and contractor.

Capacity Crowd Friday Sees SCC Graduation

From Staff Reports

DOBSON — Before a capacity crowd last Friday at 6:30 p.m., with late arrivals being turned away, 354 students at Surry Community College received degrees, diplomas or certificates in ceremonies held in the SCC gym.

A president's reception for graduates and friends held immediately afterward provided a welcome respite from the heat and humidity of the gym, with guests spilling from the student lounge onto the lawn. Family members and guests who chose to do so then toured the campus.

Dallas Nance, the chairman of the Surry Community College Board of Trustees, pronounced the invocation and Mike McHone, vice president for student support services, welcomed the group. He also announced the winners of the Eugene Sydnor and Elizabeth Brame Spainhour scholarships — Holly Deann Beck and Elizabeth Stone, both of whom will attend High Point University.

Marie Simmons, who chairs the SCC Faculty Association, presented a message from the faculty to the graduates. Degrees were conferred by Dr. Jan Reeves, college president, as John Collins, vice president for curriculum programs, presented the graduates. Music was provided by Benny Younger, SCC music instructor, and the college chorus.

Graduation marshals were Emily Sue Bledsoe, Tonia Dara Brown, Heather Mary Cook, Jennifer Goins Hutchens, James Frances McAtee, Newspapers In Education 354 Degrees Conferred At Surry Community College Ceremony

Services, welcomed graduates, faculty, and guests.

Mr. McHone also announced winners of the Eugene Sydnor and Elizabeth Brame Spainhour Scholarship which is to assist outstanding Surry Community College graduates who wish to continue their education beyond SCC at a private or public college or university. The winners were Holly Deann Beck, who will be attending High Point University, and Elizabeth Stone, who will also be attending High Point University in the fall.

Before a capacity crowd with late arrivals being turned away, students at Surry Community College received their degrees on Friday, May 24, 1996, at 6:30 p.m. The college conferred 354 degrees. The ceremony was held in the gymnasium on the college campus.

Local Scholars Chosen As SCC Ambassadors

Four scholars were chosen recently to receive full tuition Surry Community College Foundation Scholarships for the 1996-97 school year. The new ambassadors are James McAtee of Mount Airy, majoring in business administration and accounting; Sadie Michaud of Mount Airy, majoring in office administration; Cynthia Puckett of Cowgap, majoring in horticulture technology; and Alicia Quesenberry of Pilot Mountain, studying in the college transfer program.

Jim McAtee is president of PBL, a national business society, for next year. This year he won first place on the state level in public speaking and will be competing nationally in Washington, DC during July. He won the "Member of the Year" award for the SCC chapter this year. McAtee is also a member of Phi Theta Kappa, the international honor society for students in two-year colleges, and will serve as treasurer during the 1996-97 school year. He served as a marshal during SCC's 1996 graduation ceremony. McAtee plays classical guitar.

Sadie Michaud is a member of SCC's Phi Theta Kappa International Honor Society. Additionally, Michaud served as a marshal for graduation. She moved here from Athol, MA. During high school, Michaud was vice president of S.A.D.D. and made a commercial for alcohol-free prom nights. She also managed the book store and served as a peer educator. She reads, writes poetry, keeps a journal, and does needlepoint in her spare time. She is employed part time with Starrett Tool in Mount Airy.

Cynthia Puckett is also a member of Phi Theta Kappa and served as a marshal for graduation. She is active in her church and community having taught Bible School for fifteen years and served as secretary, treasurer, and clerk of her church for five years. Puckett has been an active member of her children's PTO and held the position of secretary and vice president of that organization. She operates a boxwood farm and gardens in her spare time. Puckett plans to use her degree from SCC by working as a horticulturist or agricultural inspector.

The final ambassador is Alicia Quesenberry, who is a member of Psi Beta, a national honor society for psychology students, and serves as secretary of that organization. She was employed as a work-study student for the social sciences, language arts, and mathematics divisions this school year. In her spare time, Quesenberry likes to work with children and tutor them. She plans to transfer after completing her course of study at SCC, receive her teaching degree, and teach in an elementary school.

The Ambassador Scholars Program was originated by the Surry Community College Foundation, Inc., in 1993. Ambassadors are proven leaders and scholars in the college who are trained as public relations representatives for the College and the Foundation. They are chosen from a variety of curriculum areas and have differing educational and career goals and experiences. As a group, they represent the varied student population of the College.

These students represent the College and Foundation at special events on campus and in the College's service area. Their duties, to name a few, include welcoming groups to campus, hosting official college events, recruiting prospective students, speaking to civic and service groups, conducting campus tours, working in the Foundation office and assisting other non-profit organizations with worthwhile projects when their schedules allow, as well as planning and participating in student activities.

In order to become an ambassador, students must have a 3.0 GPA for at least 24 credit hours, attend an orientation session, have references from SCC faculty/staff and from community leaders, write an essay, and be interviewed by the Ambassador Selection Committee, which consists of a member of the College's Board of Trustees, and member of the Foundation's Board of Directors, the Director of the Foundation, and the Ambassadors advisor. Management of the program is the responsibility of the Student Services Office.

If you would like to inquire about the program or arrange for a speaker or some other form of assistance for your non-profit organization, call Melissa Key Atkinson in the Student Services Office at Surry Community College.

College Offers Photography Class

From Staff Reports
DOBSON — Surry Community College will begin a photography class Monday.

To be held in Room T-101 on the Dobson campus, the class will meet each Monday from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. for 11 weeks for a total of 33 contact hours.

Instructor Ron Tickle, a former local newspaper photographer who now has a photography studio in Mount Airy, will emphasize learning to use a 35mm camera. This will include settings, exposures and getting the best photograph in a variety of settings, according to the college's Continuing Education Division.

Each student should bring a camera for use in class sessions.

A $35 fee will be charged for the class, with free registration offered to North Carolina residents who are 65 or older.

More information is available from the SCC Continuing Education Division at 386-8121.

Surry Community College students, including many from Yadkin County, Elkin and State Road, received their degrees on May 24.

Before a capacity crowd with late arrivals being turned away, students at Surry Community College received degrees on May 24 at 6:30 p.m. The college conferred 354 degrees in the college gymnasium.

Dallas Nance, chairman of the board of trustees, delivered the invocation; Mike McHone, vice president of Student Support Services, welcomed graduates, faculty and guests. McHone also announced winners of the Eugene Sydnor and Elizabeth Brame Spainhour Scholarship which is to assist outstanding Surry Community College graduates who wish to continue their education beyond SCC at a private or public college or university. Winners were Holly Deann Beck and Elizabeth Stone, both who will attend High Point University in the fall.

Marie Simmons, chairman of the SCC Faculty Association, presented a message from the faculty to the graduates. Dr. Jim Reeves, president of SCC, conferred the degrees, and John Collins, vice president for curriculum programs, presented the graduates. Music was provided by Benny Younger and the college chorus.

Marshals were Emily Sue Bledsoe, Tonia Dara Brown, Heather Mary Cook, Jennifer Goins Hutchens, James Francois McAtee, Sadie Lynn Michaud, Cynthia Marshall Puckett and Rebecca Lois Sparks. Marshals are chosen on the basis of academic standing and class rank.

The college offers degrees, diplomas and certificates to graduates. The Associate in Applied Science Degree is awarded to students who complete one of the college technical programs. The Associate in Arts degree is awarded to students who complete a two-year college transfer program. The curriculum is designed to parallel the freshman and sophomore years at a four-year college or university. Students are required to complete a specified number of courses in humanities, social studies, science and mathematics. A liberal number of elective courses provide flexibility to structure a program to parallel the curriculum at major colleges and universities.

The Associate in Science degree is also awarded to students who complete the two-year college transfer program. It differs from the Associate of Arts degree in that more courses are required in science and mathematics and fewer in humanities. The Vocational Diploma is awarded to students who complete one of the vocational programs offered by the college. The Certificate is awarded to students who complete a designated set of courses taken from certain technical programs.

Local students receiving diplomas were (* denotes honor graduates): Monte Phillip Absber, Elkin, associate in arts; Heather Cooke Allen, Dobson, associate in applied science, accounting; Denise Elizabeth Banner-Lach, Boonville, associate in applied science, nursing; Allison Leigh Barker, State Road, associate in arts; Tonye Annette Bauguess, Elkin, associate in applied science, paralegal; Holly Deann Beck, Siloam, Rt. 1, associate in applied science, accounting, business administration; Janice B. Wilmoth Receives A-A Honor

The Enterprise, June 27, 1996
From Staff Reports
DOBSON — Surry Community College's Casey Wilmoth has been named first-team All-American by the National Junior College Athletic Association.

"It was a shock," said Wilmoth, who graduated from Surry Central in 1993.

Wilmoth posted a 6-3 record and a 1.89 ERA for the Knights this past season. He gave up 42 hits and 18 walks, while striking out 60 in 66 2/3 innings of work.

"I think that he was the best pitcher I saw this year," said Wilmoth's coach Mark Tucker. "His velocity may not have been as great, but he was hands down the best pitcher."

Wilmoth had not pitched since his senior year in high school until Surry Community formed a baseball team this year.

"When I started out, I was kind of worried," said Wilmoth, who was second in all-conference voting his senior year at Central. "I thought maybe I had lost what I had had (in high school). Eventually, everything started to come back."

"He's not a kid who's flashy, he just gets people out," said Tucker.

Wilmoth, who graduated from Surry Community in the spring, plans to continue his education through a continuing education program offered by Gardner-Webb College through Surry Community.

Emergency Medical Technician Course Slated

The Continuing Education Division of Surry Community College will offer two Basic Emergency Medical Technician courses beginning on Monday, July 15, at the college campus in Dobson.

The classes will meet each Monday and Thursday through November 14. The day class will meet from 9:00 a.m. until 1:00 p.m. in room C-112. The evening class will meet from 6:00 until 10:00 p.m. in classroom A-121. Both classes will meet occasionally on Saturdays from 9:00 a.m. until 4:00 p.m.

Dale Ring will be the lead instructor for both the day and evening class.

For those people who have already been certified as an EMT but now need to be recertified, 70 hours of these classes will meet the requirements for EMT recertification. Anyone needing to be recertified should attend the first class meeting on July 15.

A registration fee of $35 will be charged for this course. Members of lifesaving agencies and N.C. residents age 65 years and older may register free of charge.

Any interested adult may register by attending either the day or the evening course on Monday, July 15.

Aviation Ground School Scheduled

The Continuing Education Division of Surry Community College will offer an Aviation Ground School for Pilots course beginning Monday, July 8, at the college campus in Dobson.

The class will meet each Monday and Wednesday from 6:30 until 9:30 p.m. through October 7, in classroom A-11, Grant Gordon will be the instructor for this course.

The purpose of this course is to assist those people who are pursuing a private pilot's license in passing the knowledge exam.

A registration fee of $35 will be charged. The books for the course cost $48.85. These books are not available in the campus bookstore. The instructor will have the books available in class.

Pre-registration is required for this course. Call 910-386-8121, ext. 243, to pre-register and for additional information.

Colleges Offers Special Courses

Thursday, June 26, 1996
From Staff Reports
DOBSON — Surry Community College will offer two courses this summer through its Continuing Education Division, related to flying and emergency medical training.

Aviation School
The first of the classes, Aviation Ground School for Pilots, opens July 8 at the Dobson campus. The purpose of this course is to assist those who are pursuing a private pilot's license in passing the knowledge exam.

The cost of the class is $35 for registration and $48.85 for a textbook that is available through the instructor, not the college bookstore.

Classes, taught by Grant Gordon, are planned each Monday and Wednesday from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. from July 8 through Oct. 7 in Room 11 of the Administration Building. Pre-registration is required for the course, with registration requirements and more information available at 386-8121, Extension 243.

Emergency Training
Emergency Medical Training classes will be offered in both morning and evening sessions from July 15 through mid-November with Dale Ring instructing.

The classes will run on Mondays and Thursdays from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. in Room 112 of "C" Building and again from 6 to 10 p.m. in Room 121 of the Administration Building. Occasionally, both classes will meet together for a Saturday session from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The class carries a registration fee of $35. However, members of lifesaving agencies such as the Surry County Emergency Medical Service and local rescue squads are exempt. Senior citizens (65 and older) also may register free of charge.

For persons who have been certified in the past, the 70 hours in this course will meet recertification requirements.

Anyone interested may register by attending either the day or evening class on the first meeting date, July 15.

SCC Repeats Spanish Course

Thursday, June 26, 1996
In response to the needs of an increasing Hispanic community, Surry Community College is again offering the eight week course entitled "Spanish for Health Care Professionals."

The course is designed especially for health care workers confronts with this language barrier.

The class will begin Monday, July 8, in room C-203 on the college campus. The class will meet each Monday evening from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. for eight weeks, for a total of 24 hours of instruction.

Eldon Rogers will be the instructor. Rogers is a retired Spanish teacher and has for several years worked as an interpreter for the Surry County Health Department and other area agencies.

Registration fee will be $35 per student plus approximately $6.65 for the textbook. Interested persons should plan to attend the registration/first class meeting on Monday, July 8.

Russian Graduates From Local College

By JEFF LINVILLE
Staff Writer

DOBSON — When Alex Pozdniakov traveled from Moscow, Russia, to the United States in 1994, the 18-year-old was so taken with the country that he decided to come here for college.

Now after completing two years at Surry Community College, the 20-year-old Pozdniakov has decided to stay in America for good. He has moved into an apartment in Dobson with his new wife, Melissa Frye Pozdniakov.

Pozdniakov said he had wanted to visit the United States for many years because of its "American spirit." He pointed out that all over Europe the U.S. is known as "a big country with a lot of freedom."

Pozdniakov got his first taste of Americana in the spring of 1994 when his father made a business trip to Winston-Salem and brought along his family.

While here, the teen and his parents, Ludmila and Valeri, made sight-seeing trips to such places as Reynolda House; Biltmore Estates; Charlottesville, Va.; Morehead City; Michigan State University; and places in Washington.

Of all the sites he visited, the youth enjoyed Niagara Falls most, naming it the greatest natural attraction he has ever seen.

Jeff Linville/The Mount Airy News

The trip made Pozdniakov realize that he wanted to spend more time in this country. A few months later, he returned to the U.S. by himself to attend Forsyth Technical Community College in Winston-Salem.

Due to administrative problems with his foreign status at Forsyth Tech, Pozdniakov instead enrolled at Surry Community College in a business computer-programming course, becoming the first Russian to take classes at the Dobson school.

"I studied English for eight years," the Russian said of his ability to speak English fluently. However, coming to Surry County was something new. "I had a problem with the Southern accent. I couldn't understand what they were saying."

He soon became acclimated to the United States and able to understand local pronunciations, has acquired a car and has grown to love American computers. While studying at SCC, Pozdniakov met his wife-to-be, Melissa. She explained that she had seen him around campus many times and was intrigued by his foreign accent. After speaking with him, Melissa found herself curious to know more about Pozdniakov.

"I was drawn to him like a magnet," said Melissa, a first-year student at SCC. They also found a mutual interest in their love of computers.

"That's my main hobby," her husband said. "We browse the Internet together."

The two became engaged in February and were married just after Pozdniakov received his associate degree in applied science last month. Since then, the two have worked to get settled into their new place at Dobson Village Apartments.

"we would like to give our appreciation to our parents," said Pozdniakov, "who gave us a lot of support." The families have been receptive to the marriage and the couple's dreams, he explained.

Alex Pozdniakov's next task is to go through the proper channels to earn employment status. At this time he is not eligible to work in the U.S., but could be allowed to once he has filed certain paperwork.

As for a job, the Russian would prefer the computer-programming field, but added, "Any big company would require moving." With his wife still having one year left at Surry Community College, he is leaning toward working locally for the next year or two.

Down the road, the two would like to share a career in the computer field. "I've always wanted my own computer company," Pozdniakov said.

Young Girl Helped

I would like to comment on Surry Community College. I think that it is the best thing that every happened to Surry County. I am an older lady who never got a chance to finish high school, having to quit to support my family. After a time, I decided to go back to school (recently). I would like to comment on a young girl that works in the library at the college. She is very young and has dark hair. I don't know her name, I was very nervous. It was my first time at the college. She helped me and even walked me to the place that I needed to go. She reassured me and told me that everyone would be very nice. The lady in the G.E.D. center was very sweet and I would like to thank the young lady that helped me to get started and I am now on my way to getting my G.E.D. God bless this girl.

Courses Slated By Local College

DOBSON — Two upcoming courses have been announced by the Continuing Education Division of Surry Community College.

The 10-hour CFC From Recycling/Recovery Certification Course begins Monday, Aug. 21, on the Dobson campus. It will meet Monday and Tuesday from 6:30 to 10 p.m. and end Thursday, Aug. 29, with the examination.

Charles McCraw will instruct the course, which will meet in Room T-125. A $35 registration fee will be charged; however, North Carolina residents 65 or older may register free. In addition to the registration fee, there is a $4 book charge.

At the conclusion of the class a $25 application fee must be sent to the State Board of Refrigeration Examiners in Raleigh.

Pre-registration is required by Aug. 8 by calling 386-8121. Each student's Social Security number must be provided at pre-registration, along with the type of test desired.

The class does not certify individuals for automobile refrigeration systems.

An Air Conditioning and Heating Fundamentals Course will begin Tuesday, Sept. 3. It will meet in Classroom V-104C each Tuesday and Thursday from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. through Nov. 21.

McCraw also will instruct this course, which has a $35 registration fee. However, state residents who are 65 and older may register free.

Pre-registration is required, since class size is limited to 20 people. Those interested may call 386-8121, Extension 234 or 243, to pre-register or obtain more information.

One Daughter: Maggie Anna, 11
EDUCATION: Graduated From Meredith College, 1975
HOBBIES: Local History, Pond Fishing and Wildflowers

By JULIE SMITH
Staff Writer

A closed door opened a wealth of opportunities for Siloam native Marion Venable, turning her into the historian she is today.

After graduating from Meredith College in Raleigh with a bachelor's degree in biology, Venable had planned to work in environmental protection or wildlife conservation. But Venable, like many college graduates, could not find a job in the field of her major study.

Her first job was as the regional historical planner for a four-county area including Surry, Stokes, Yadkin and Davie. "I worked with all the eight historical organizations in the area," Venable said.

As the regional historical planner, Venable initiated educational programs that included publications, tours, slide presentations and lectures. She prepared grant applications for federal and state historic preservation funds and managed grants that were awarded.

After working at that position for four years, Venable began dealing with a larger region when she was employed by Northwest Piedmont Council of Governments in Winston-Salem. As the coordinator of cultural and natural resources and Appalachian Regional Commission program coordinator, Venable provided staff support for 11 regional and local environmental, historical and professional organizations.

A highlight of Venable's career was working with an effort that was launched during the spring of 1982 to protect the Yadkin River as a natural resource.

"The most exciting work I did was with Bob Pate and Floyd Rogers, a Winston-Salem Journal reporter," Venable said. "I was their staff person on a 400-mile canoe trip from Ferguson to Georgetown, S.C."

The trip resulted in a book, "Yadkin Passage," by Floyd Rogers. "For the first time since college I was able to work in the natural environment," Venable said. "That was something I had planned on doing, so it was a thrill."

Other projects that Venable has been involved with have also resulted in publications. Her research of historical sites in the Northwest Piedmont was included in a book entitled, "Historic Sites Inventory - Davie, Forsyth, Surry, Stokes and Yadkin Counties," which was published in 1977.

During the 1970s, Venable conducted surveys of abandoned family cemeteries in Surry County. "I went through and recorded the names and dates of people buried there," Venable said. "Before 1913 that's the only records we have because we didn't record births and deaths until after that year." Her findings were printed in "Surry County Cemetery Survey, Volume I." Other research of Surry County conducted by

Venable is also in the process of transcribing a Civil War diary for someone. "I'm not doing it because I have to," she said. "I feel it is important to transcribe it into a form where more people could benefit from it."

Rewriting the diary has given Venable a first-hand account of the 1865 assassination of President Abraham Lincoln as it was seen through the eyes of a soldier. "There's no feeling in the world better than having a primary source like that in his own handwriting," Venable said. "He wrote about the chill and the feeling of treason that went across the camp as the soldiers got word of the President's death."

Through the Speaker's Bureau at Surry Community College, Venable is able to travel to different locations to lecture about various topics, including architecture, archeological digs, Civil War soldiers and many other things.

"I don't have a photographic memory. Historical data is something I just have a knack in," Venable said. "I have been dealing with it for so many years that it comes easy for me."

Venable finds her job as the director of continuing education at the community college as rewarding as her long-time hobby. Her primary responsibility is to plan classes for the older student population. She is involved with selecting instructors, materials and all the elements from a Venable, was included in "Simple Treasures: The Architectural Legacy of Surry County," by Laura A.W. Phillips, which was released in 1987.

While she was involved with historical projects, Venable has been introduced to people and ideas she would treasure. "Working with these historical organizations I found people who loved where they were, loved their city, loved their town and loved their community," she said.

"They all had made contributions of some kind and through these organizations they want to preserve that and keep that history for the next generation."

Ruth Minick, Surry County historian, worked with Venable on different historical endeavors. "She has been my mentor and dear friend," recalls Venable. "She has taught me a lot about collecting history and appreciating it."

Since 1984 Venable has been the director of continuing education at Surry Community College. "My work with historical subjects didn't end. I had developed a love for it," Venable has been a consultant to historical organizations since 1983.

"A month ago I was up on Fisher River recording the grave of John Hughes, who died in 1824, even though that doesn't have anything to do with what I do now," Venable said. "I want to record that for somebody who might come from Texas who might be interested in where John Hughes was buried."

class's inception to its completion. "It's not just a matter of planning classes and collecting tuition and going through the process," she said. "But seeing what continuing education can do for people's lives."

One of the interesting things she does in her department is follow trends. "It's very important for continuing education people to stay up with social trends, economic trends and job opportunities," Venable explained. "We ask the question, 'What do the people need?'"

Venable watches how educational programs improve the quality of life for people. "A program I have particularly enjoyed working with is called

CLUB / CIVIC NOTES

SCC CHOOSES FOUR AMBASSADOR SCHOLARS

Four scholars were chosen recently to receive full tuition Surry Community College Foundation Scholarships for the 1996-97 school year. The new ambassadors are James McAtee of Mount Airy, majoring in business administration and accounting; Sadie Michaud of Mount Airy, majoring in office administration; Cynthia Puckett of Lowgap, majoring in horticulture technology; and Alicia Quesenberry of Pilot Mountain, studying in the college transfer program.

McAtee is president of PBL, the national business society, for next year. This year he won first place on the state level in public speaking and will be competing nationally in Washington, D.C. in July. He won the "Member of the Year" award for the SCC chapter this year. McAtee is also a member of Phi Theta Kappa, the international honor society for students in two-year colleges, and will serve as treasurer during the 1996-97 school year. He served as a marshal during SCC's 1996 graduation ceremony. He also plays classical guitar.

Michaud is a member of SCC's Phi Theta Kappa International honor society and served as a marshal for graduation. She moved here from Athol, MA. During high school she was vice president of S.A.D.D. and made a commercial for alcohol-free prom night events. She also managed the book store and served as a peer educator. She reads, writes poetry, keeps a journal, and does needlepoint in her spare time. She is employed part-time with L.S. Starrett in Mount Airy.

Puckett is also a member of Phi Theta Kappa and served as a marshal for graduation. She is active in her church and community having taught Bible school for 15 years and served as secretary, treasurer and clerk of her church for five years. She has been an active member of her children's PTO and held the position of secretary and vice president of that organization. She operates a boxwood farm and gardens in her spare time. Puckett plans to use her degree from SCC by working as a horticulturist or agricultural inspector.

The final ambassador is Alicia Quesenberry, who is a member of Psi Beta, a national honor society for psychology students and serves as secretary of that organization. She was employed as a work-study student for the social sciences, language arts and mathematics divisions this school year. In her spare time, Quesenberry likes to work with children and tutor them. She plans to transfer after completing her course of study at SCC, receive her teaching degree and teach in an elementary school.

The Ambassador Scholars Program was originated by the Surry Community College Foundation Inc., in 1993. Ambassadors are proven leaders and scholars in the college who are trained as public relations representatives for the college and the foundation. They are chosen from a variety of curriculum areas and have differing educational and career goals and experiences. As a group, they represent the varied student population of the college.

The students represent the college and foundation at special events on campus and in the college's service area. Their duties, to name a few, include welcoming groups to campus, hosting official college events, recruiting prospective students, speaking to civic and service groups, conducting campus tours, working in the foundation office and assisting other non-profit organizations with worthwhile projects when their schedules allow, as well as planning and participating in student activities.

In order to become an ambassador, students must have a 3.0 GPA for at least 24 credit hours, attend an orientation session, have references from SCC faculty/staff and from community leaders, write an essay, and be interviewed by the Ambassador Selection Committee, which consists of a member of the college's board of trustees, and member of the foundation's board of directors, the director of the foundation and the ambassador advisor.

To inquire about the program or arrange for a speaker or some other form of assistance for a non-profit organization, call Melissa Key Adkins in the Student Services Office at Surry Community College.

College Hosts Grief Course

From Staff Reports.
DOBSON — Surry Community College will offer a course on grief and children, taught by an official of a local Hospice organization, beginning July 29.

Beth Britain, the chaplain of Hospice of Surry County Inc., will explore the topic of grief among children and adolescents. Participants will learn about loss and a person's normal response to grief.

Class members also will gain understanding of the grieving process through interactive group and individual exercises as well as multimedia and experimental activities, according to college officials.

The instruction is scheduled on four days from 9 a.m. to noon in Room 202 of the C Building on the Dobson campus. The class will be held July 29-30 and Aug. 5-6 at a $35 fee.

Those completing the course will earn two credits toward needed health-related recertification hours as approved by the North Carolina instruction department.

More information is available from the SCC Continuing Education Division at 386-8121, Extension 269 or 261.

Want to make a difference? Program is looking for you

BOONVILLE — Surry Community College and the Yadkin County Chamber of Commerce are hoping to create a few good leaders. The organizations are starting "Leadership Yadkin County," a program designed for those who want to make a difference, said Wayne Matthews, director of continuing education for SCC's Yadkin County campus here. "We're looking for people with a diverse background in Yadkin County," Matthews said Monday. "The goal is to improve the quality of leaders we have in the county."

Matthews hopes as many as 25 residents will be interested in the new program, which will begin in September. Leadership Yadkin County is patterned after other, similar programs, such as Leadership Mount Airy, which also is run by SCC.

He said participants will meet on the third Thursday of each month to look over the assets and problems in Yadkin County. Classes will meet in various spots in the county. "The idea is that the leaders will better understand the problems and concerns that face the county," Matthews said. "We can help participate in this county's development."

Matthews said the program is open to anyone in the county — business leaders, members of non-profit organizations and any other Yadkin resident who want to get involved. The cost of the course is $250.

People interested in Leadership Yadkin County must submit a completed application no later than Aug. 2.

Applications can be picked up by calling the Yadkin County Chamber of Commerce at 367-7251, the Boonville Office of SCC at 367-7562, or by writing the Leadership Yadkin County Planning Committee, Yadkin County Chamber of Commerce, P.O. Box 309, Boonville, NC 27011.

Work hasn't been finished yet on the new Richards Health Sciences building at Surry Community College. The $4.99 million, 85,000-square-foot facility was originally scheduled for completion in mid-March.

SCC Officials Watching The Clock

By JEFF LINVILLE
Staff Writer

DOBSON — College officials are counting the days until school starts again at Surry Community College, anxious that the new health sciences building may not be finished by the first day of class.

Construction on the $4.99 million facility began in January 1995 and was originally expected to be completed by mid-March of this year. However, the severe winter weather experienced earlier this year as well as the unusually high amount of rain received during some months held up construction by John S. Clark and the other contractors on the job.

Wayne Mottsinger, vice president for administrative services, said, "We don't expect everything to be in place by the start of the school year." He did hope the building was complete so that classes could be held in the facility, but the many programs slated to be moved to that site could wait until the work is done.

Mottsinger said work was in the final stages of the heating and air conditioning systems, the electrical wiring and the overhead drop ceilings.

Preliminary inspections have already been performed on the wings of the building, the vice president noted, and the rest of the building will also be inspected closely before any students are roomed there.

If the building work is not finalized by Aug. 28, then the classes will be held in the school's existing facilities.

"We've been in a crowded situation," stated Mottsinger. "They (the nursing program) have been very cramped for several years." In fact, the nursing program's previous space had been deemed too small by state officials in which to house a state-certified nursing program.

Once the building is complete, the nursing program will take over the entire top floor of the three-story, 65,000-square-foot building.

The college's cosmetology school, which is currently located on South Street in Mount Airy, will take up the first floor of the left wing, with the learning center being moved from above the library to the second floor of the wing.

Also to be housed in the building will be the language arts classes and offices, the math department offices and some general education classes.

According to Mottsinger, landscaping is not part of the job contract, meaning the school will be responsible for sowing grass, planting any desired shrubbery and the placement of a wall of honor.

The Community Support Wall of Honor was unveiled earlier this year by SCC President Jim Reeves. The 260-foot-long, 5-foot-high structure will be placed along the road between the current campus and the new health sciences building.

The wall will be constructed of bricks upon which the names of SCC benefactors, alumni, trustees, faculty and staff will be inscribed. The bricks are being sold for $25 for individuals and non-profit agencies and $50 for businesses.

College Hosts Jobs Program

Official Stresses Work On Children

By JEFF LINVILLE

DOBSON — Surry Community College hosted a two-day workshop last week in which speakers discussed the concept of "JobReady Awareness."

Commissioner of the N.C. Department of Labor Harry Payne Jr. was among the speakers who lectured on preparing children for the workplace.

Payne told the audience that the days of teaching someone to run a piece of machinery are over. "These jobs," he explained, "are going overseas."

"This ought not to be about fear," Payne added, but should be about making young adults well trained, happy,

safe and engaged in their occupation - people who make a difference in the workforce.

The concept of becoming job

off to a late start" following his liberal arts education. Pumphrey now works to get the message to educators about the need to properly train students to work after graduation.

Looking at the enrollment figures for Guilford Tech, Pumphrey said the leading supply of new students to the community college was the University of North Carolina at Greensboro. Coming in second was North Carolina

A&T.

In Surry County, Pumphrey noted, 68 percent of the public school teachers have spent some time in classes at Surry Community College.

Mike McHone, SCC vice president for student support services, remembered a young woman who came to his office a few years ago. He said the woman was a junior in college studying to become a teacher. After she went on her first student-teacher assignment, the woman realized she did not like teaching as she thought she would.

The student was in tears as her father explained that he had mortgaged his farm to pay the $30,000 he had spent for her college education thus far, recalled McHone.

Payne believed high school and college students should be taken out of the classroom occasional and moved into the workplace. He added that employers should visit classrooms to build a bridge between learning and working.

SCC Class Building Area Home

PILOT MOUNTAIN — A Surry Community College carpentry class again will be honing their skills in our area, this time while building a house for one of their own classmates.

The students are in the midst of building a home for classmate Carl "Skip" Price and his wife, Dorothy. The couple's new home will be found on Pilot-Westfield Road near its intersection with Brown Mountain Church Road.

The couple, both of whom retired from AT&T in the late 1980s, hope to be able to move into their new home by the end of November. The beautiful 3-bedroom house, a reworked version of a log cabin design, will contain some 2,000 square feet.

"After he retired, he joined the class and has been in it ever since," Dorothy Price said of her husband. "They had worked on several homes and ramps and one day in class they were talking about what their next project would be. Skip suggested that they build one for us and everything has developed from that."

The class began digging footings for the home late last summer but later postponed the project to complete work on the most recent Habitat for Humanity home in Pilot Mountain. Students had played a major role in constructing that home as well as other Habitat homes while also working on other community projects.

"We work on student-generated or nonprofit projects," Instructor Lynn Templeton explained. "This is a win-win situation. Someone will own a nice home and the students will get the benefit of being involved in the building from the footings through to trim-out. They'll get a sense of completion and will be required to meet all building codes. They'll get first-hand experience in all phases of construction and the cost of providing that experience is definitely to their benefit. For now, this is our most cost-effective method of providing hands-on teaching."

"This takes longer than the normal building of a home," Templeton continued, "probably half again as long. But these are not just laborers. We take our time and discuss what we're doing and learn from the experience."

After completing the Habitat home, the class returned to the Price home and have been spending five or more hours each day in construction.

"They've done a wonderful job," Dorothy Price noted. "They've worked hard and have done everything — the masonry, the framing, the plumbing, and the wiring — by themselves."

"As far as I'm concerned," added Skip Price, "Lynn Templeton is an excellent contractor and instructor. He's doing a good job and everyone is learning a lot."

"At this point, this is a necessary part of our curriculum," Templeton said. "In the future, we hope to be able to build a speculative-type house through the school. That would be more convenient and we might be able to recognize a minimal profit."

Fighting life's battles with the Mick

Mantle had a special presence that has inspired baseball fan through difficult times

By C. Chris Yopp
BEST COLUMNIST

It's been a year since Mickey Charles Mantle died: the Mick to those of us who loved him. Columnists and sports announcers have analyzed and re-analyzed the Mick's significance to generations of American youth and to the game of baseball itself.

What these pundits forget during their forays into sociological territory is the very real relationship tens of thousands of people felt with the Mick. With the Mick and me, it was personal.

Yes, I'm a first generation baby boomer — born in '48 just 10 months after dad returned from the Great War. And yes, baseball was the essence of my youth.

But I'm no sentimentalist, and I'm not given to long prose praises of a glorious past. I like the present. And one reason I like it is due to the Mick. The Mick is not just my past, though large chunks of it are associated with him.

We both had a good year in '56. The Mick won the coveted Triple Crown and was a unanimous choice as American league Most Valuable Player. I was elected MVP on my little league team — the highest honor a 10-year-old baseball nut can receive in Hendersonville.

In '64 the Yankee Dynasty was coming to an end. The Mick had his last good season and played in his last World Series. I finished high school, ending a horribly misspent adolescence, and headed to college.

The Mick hung up his spikes in '69. I read about the end of my hero's career in the rice paddies of Vietnam. And it was in Vietnam that my relationship with the Mick became clear to me. I don't care to count the number of hours I spent pulling guard duty at small LZs or base camps. Nor do I care to count the endless nights I spent lying awake waiting for the enemy on ambush patrols.

Something had to be done to help me through those agonizing hours of consciousness. I tried going through songs in my head, but I couldn't keep my body still. I was a noisy song thinker.

It was the Mick who saved me. I started going through every inning of every World Series game in which the Mick played. Most of these games I had seen on television and committed to memory. The few games I'd missed I learned about through newsreel footage, newspapers, magazines and books.

I saw the Mick's powerful swing. I saw all 18 times he rounded the bases with his head down, almost limping, home-run trot. I saw it all time and time again.

The Mick and I spent 12 sweltering months together in the foreign mud.

Mickey Mantle died last year, but he will never be forgotten.

In 1986, I spent a great deal of time with the Mick again. I had gone through a divorce, left a job I had had for 12 years and moved to Surry County, where I knew almost no one. Whenever I needed to escape an overly emotional situation, there was the Mick in all those World Series games.

And then the world came. The Mick himself — alive and in the flesh — was to appear at a baseball card show in Charlotte on Oct. 4, 1986.

I arrived at the show early only to be greeted by an impossibly long line of adults and children with the same goal in mind: an autograph from the Mick.

I stood in line nearly two hours waiting for the Mick's signature. And as I stood in line I did what I had done so often in Vietnam to pass the time: The Mick and I went back to the World Series. By the time we were getting ready to play the Braves in the '58 fall classic, it was my turn.

One of the show's promoters nodded at me. Clutching my first edition of his autobiography The Mick, I sauntered over to where my old war buddy was sitting. As I approached him, he looked at me and flashed the grin I'd seen my whole life on baseball cards and in newsreels. I was struck dumb.

The Mick continued to grin and drawled, "Hey, man, you bought my book."

I nodded and handed it to him for his signature.

"Can I personalize it for you?" he asked.

I wanted to fall on my knees and wash his feet. I wanted to tell him I adored him. I wanted to ask if I could follow him back to Dallas.

Instead, I mumbled, "Chris." He wrote beautifully, "To Chris, Best Wishes, Mickey Mantle."

He handed me the book, broadened his grin and said, "Thanks."

I pressed the book against my chest and reached for a hand that was connected to the biggest forearm I'd ever seen on a human being.

He shook my hand firmly, then nodded at me, still grinning. All I could do was look at him and say, "My God."

I hardly remember walking away into the early autumn afternoon.

Maybe I could have felt the same way about Mays or Aaron or Musial or Williams. I don't know. I was a Yankee fan. There is no ghost of the Mick, no specter who grabs me by the hand and takes me back to the dirt fields of 1956 and the smell of honey-suckle and leather.

But there is a presence that will be part of me the rest of my life.

When I sit in the dentist's chair for a root canal or when I drive long stretches of interstate highways by myself or when I need to escape the tedium of an overly long meeting, the Mick and I trot off together again.

Robert Frost had birch trees to swing. Not me. I circle the bases with the Mick.

Seminar Planned At SCC, Dobson

DOBSON — The Continuing Education Division of Surry Community College will offer a three-hour seminar, "What Every Supervisor Should Know," Aug. 20.

It will be held from 6 to 9 p.m. in Room C-101, the Classroom Building, under the sponsorship of the Small Business Center of the college.

Harry Overby will be the presenter. The seminar, its sponsors say, focuses on critical skills to help turn potential into success.

It will provide existing supervisors and potential ones with an overview of what a supervisor is expected to do.

The seminar is free. Those interested may call the SCC Small Business Center at 386-8121, Extension 211, to pre-register.

Jeremiah Cale Bryant

Elkin Tribune - 8-5-96
Mr. Jeremiah Cale Bryant, 18, of 178 Possum Trot Road, Thurmond, N.C., passed away Friday from injuries received in an automobile accident near Wytheville, Va.

Mr. Bryant was born August 6, 1977, in Surry County to Don and Gina Bowman Bryant. He was a graduate of Elkin High School, Class of 1995, where he was active in sports, playing baseball and basketball. He was employed by Neighbor's and attended Surry Community College where he played basketball. He was a member of Pleasant View Baptist Church.

Surviving are his twin brother, Josh Bryant, and a younger brother, Jacob Bryant, both of the home; and his grandparents, Charles J. and Martha Bryant of State Road.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Monday at Pleasant View Baptist Church by Rev. Finley McCoury, Rev. Bill Hale and Rev. Marty Nixon. Burial will follow in the church cemetery.

In lieu of flowers, memorials may be made to Pleasant View Baptist Church Van Fund or Surry Community College Basketball Team, Dobson, N.C.

Johnson Funeral Home in Elkin is in charge of arrangements.

Jeremiah Bryant: Athlete leaves inspiring legacy

By MICHAEL PAUL
Sports Editor

Jeremiah Bryant had the talent and the instinct for playing basketball — who can forget his cross-court passes or his arching three-point baskets? — but his legacy won't just be the points he scored, the assists he made or the awards he won during his four-year career at Elkin High School. It will also be his successful rehabilitation to overcome a serious knee injury — reminding us, inspiring us, never to quit, never to give up.

"He didn't let setbacks slow him down," said Brent Steelman, Bryant's high school basketball coach.

And that perseverance, that will to succeed, was as much a part of Bryant as any behind-the-back pass.

Bryant died Friday in an automobile accident near Wytheville, Va. He would have been 19 Tuesday.

Steelman described Bryant as "upbeat" and "outgoing."

"He was a very likable young man," Steelman said, someone who was willing to listen to advice on how to better play the toughest position in basketball, point guard.

"He always wanted to improve his basketball skills," Steelman said. "He played hard. He always wanted to become a better player."

Steelman was impressed with Bryant from the beginning. He had no hesitation playing Bryant, a freshman on the 1991-92 team, at point guard. And Bryant didn't disappoint Steelman or Elkin's fans. Bryant won the Coach's Award for the 1991-92 and 1992-93 seasons, his first two years on the team.

"He did an outstanding job as a freshman playing the point position," Steelman said.

As a sophomore averaging 8.0 points a game, Bryant helped lead the Buckin' Elks to a conference co-championship. He also was voted to the all-conference team.

Early in his junior season in 1993, Bryant had one of his more memorable games, taking a pass from twin Josh in the final five seconds to score a layup and what proved to be the game-winning points against rival Starmount.

"We worked on it at our house a lot of times," Jeremiah said at the time. "I'd go back and he'd hit me with a pass."

TRIBUNE/Michael Paul

Jeremiah Bryant overcame a serious knee injury to help lead the 1994-95 Elkin basketball team to a conference co-championship and the baseball team to the conference tournament title. Last year, he was a guard on the SCC basketball team.

Bryant and Elkin that preseason looked like contenders for another league title, but 11 days after the win over Starmount, Bryant suffered the knee injury. It was doubtful whether he would ever be able to play at the same energetic level as before, let alone play any kind of competitive basketball.

But Bryant rehabilitated the knee — "He battled back," Steelman said — and returned as a starter his senior year, leading the 1994-95

Buckin' Elks to another conference co-championship. League coaches later voted him to the all-conference team.

Bryant went on to play last year for the Surry Community College Knights' basketball team, a team that qualified for the Region XX post-season tournament.

Bryant also was an infielder for the Buckin' Elks' baseball team. In his senior year, he helped Elkin win the 1995 Blue Ridge 1-A Conference tournament championship, going 2-for-4 in the 5-0 victory over Ashe Central. Bryant was an honorable mention on the all-conference team.

It was an athletic career — in skills, in desire — that many strive to achieve, that few ever attain.

"He was always a real competitor," Steelman said.

An inspiration to all.

Seminar On "Difficult People" Is Offered At SCC

The Continuing Education Division of Surry Community College will offer a seminar on "Dealing With Difficult People" on Thursday, September 26, from 1:00 to 4:00 p.m. on the College Campus in Room C101.

This seminar is sponsored by the Small Business Center. Leader for this seminar will be Carolyn Milliron.

Those participating will learn: 1) to identify the buyer behavior styles, 2) how to communicate more effectively, 3) buzz phrases to deal with angry customers, 4) how to sell to a tough customer, 5) how to win back an unhappy customer, and 6) how to learn from complaints.

There will be no fee for this seminar.

Pre-registration is required by calling 386-8121, extension 211.

There are no words that we can say that would adequately express the overwhelming love and kindness shown to our family during this time of our loss.

To the multitude of family, friends and neighbors who took the time to wait out the long lines just to say a soothing word or let us know that they cared, gave us great reassurance and comfort.

As parents of teenagers, we, like other parents get discouraged at times, feeling that our kids would do not pick up on the values that we try to instill along the way, but we stand in awe at the tremendous compassion and love that was displayed from the hearts of our young people. We would also like to thank the Lord Jesus for making the way for us to see our Jeremiah again. Thank you and we love you all!

The Family of Jeremiah Bryant
Jeremiah received the following poem during a difficult time in his life and we would like to share it with you.

Don't Quit

When things go wrong as they sometimes will,
When the road you're traveling seems all uphill,
When the funds are low and the debts are high,
And you want to smile but you have to sigh,
When care is pressing you down a bit,
Rest, if you must, but don't you quit,
Life is queer with its twists and turns,
As everyone of us sometimes learns,
And many a failure turns about,
When he might have won had he stuck it out,
Don't give up though the pace seems slow—
You may succeed with another blow.
Success is failure turned inside out—
The silver tint of the clouds of doubt,
And you never can tell how close you are,
It may be near when it seems so far,
So stick to the fight when you're hardest hit—
It's when things seem worst that you must not quit.

Seminar On "What Every Supervisor Should Know" Is Scheduled At SCC

The Continuing Education Division of Surry Community College will offer a three-hour seminar on "What Every Supervisor Should Know." The seminar will meet on Tuesday, August 20, from 6:00 to 9:00 p.m. in Room C101 (Classroom Building). The workshop is sponsored by the Small Business Center.

Presenter for this seminar will be Harry Overy.

This seminar focuses on critical skills to help turn potential into success. It will provide current supervisors and potential supervisors an overview of what a supervisor is expected to do. It also gives some techniques for dealing with special supervisory concerns and provides a framework for encouraging employee participation, motivation and high productivity.

This seminar is free of charge. Interested persons should call the Small Business Center at 386-8121, extension 211, to pre-register.

New College Building Ready For Inspection

August 15, 1996, The Enterprise
By JEFF LINVILLE Staff Writer

DOBSON - Surry Community College is hurriedly finishing construction on its new $5 million Richards Health Sciences Building begun in January 1995.

SCC President Jim Reeves said state inspectors will be at the college Friday at 10 a.m. to begin final inspections of the three-story, 65,000-square-foot building.

Susan Wilmoth, another college spokesman, added that if the inspection goes well, the school could begin occupying the facilities immediately. Faculty and staff members would work over the weekend to move in all the furniture and personal belongings of those who will house the building.

Reeves and Wilmoth led the SCC Board of Trustees on a guided tour of the new health sciences building, named after past President Dr. Swanson Richards.

Seeing the offices and classrooms excited the trustees, with several exclaiming how attractive and functional the classes were.

Reeves told members of the college governing board that he is awed by the nursing facilities on the top floor, which he said were patterned after hospital rooms complete with oversized X-ray viewing screens, hospital-style lights on the walls and even rollers in the ceiling in which to mount curtains to pull around beds.

The nursing program will occupy the entire top floor, instructing 90 students each year - the limit set by state nursing program officials.

The college's cosmetology school, now located on South Street in Mount Airy, will take up the first floor of the new facility's left wing, with the SCC Learning Center being moved from above the library to the second floor of the wing.

After the Learning Center is relocated from the Learning Resources Center (the "R" building), the library operation will be expanded to take up both floors of the structure.

Also to be accommodated in the new health sciences building will be language arts classes and offices, Math Department offices and some general education classes.

Local Instructors Return To School

From Staff Reports

DOBSON - Several English instructors at Surry Community College are returning to graduate school for course hours in communications, speech and theater - a requirement related to a recent evaluation, according to Pamela S. Bledsoe of the SCC Language/Arts Department.

The college has arranged for a voice and diction class to be offered through A&T State University during the fall semester, beginning Aug. 29. The three-hour graduate-credit course will run from 4 to 7 p.m. each Tuesday at Forsyth Technical Community College.

Dr. Don Olson of Greensboro will instruct the course, with a maximum of 15 students needed.

Anyone interested in enrolling should contact Bledsoe at 786-8323 at once so she can compile a list of students and Social Security numbers for A&T.

"We will register for the fall semester on the first evening of class, but I will need a list before then to submit to A&T," she said.

Almost ready: A new $4.9 million building for teaching nursing and housing faculty offices is nearing completion on the campus of Surry Community College in Dobson. An open house is scheduled for Oct. 27. Half of the second floor is an exact copy of part of a hospital.

Surry Community College Adds Two New Endowed Scholarships

Surry Community College Foundation has two newly established endowed scholarships: The Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Graves, Sr., Memorial Scholarship and the William N. McCachren Scholarship.

An endowed scholarship must have a principal balance of $10,000 or more. The funds are invested according to the SCC Foundation's Investment Policy. This endowment then generates enough interest income from the invested funds to award one full-year scholarship for one student. Only the income from the invested funds is used for awards or scholarships.

The Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Graves, Sr., Memorial Scholarship was established by Dr. and Mrs. Charles Louis Sykes in memory of the parents of Mrs. Sykes (Dorabelle Graves Sykes). Student recipients will be selected by the Financial Aid Committee at SCC to receive financial assistance with tuition and books on a semester basis. The scholarship can be renewed each semester for the second year contingent upon a satisfactory evaluation of the student's record by the Financial Aid Committee.

Mrs. Sykes remarked that "my parents were so interested in education and Surry County — my mother was the first woman to serve on the Mount Airy City School Board — that we felt that there was no more appropriate manner to honor them than to help deserving students in the county get an education."

Dr. Sykes is a retired physician who practiced medicine in this area for more than 50 years. He and Mrs. Sykes are, understandably, very much interested in ensuring continuous excellent health care for the citizens of this area; therefore, the scholarship reflects their faith in local people to continue this tradition when they receive proper training.

The second newly-endowed scholarship is the William N. McCachren Scholarship. Mr. McCachren is a retired mathematics instructor from Surry Community College. During his twenty-three year tenure, he taught every class in the math curriculum, but most often taught college algebra and calculus.

At McCachren's retirement, Dr. Dwight Atkins announced that the annual mathematics award, presented to the SCC student with the highest average in calculus, would be now called the William N. McCachren Mathematics Award. Mr. McCachren also instituted a cash award to accompany the plaque.

The McCachren Scholarship will be awarded by the SCC Financial Aid Committee to students in sophomore classes in a college degree or certificate program who have completed Math 105, 106 and 107; are going to a math related field, and plan to complete the SCC math sequence (at least three additional quarters or two semesters of math classes).

According to Dr. Jim Reeves, president of SCC, Mr. McCachren's gift is especially appreciated by the college since it demonstrates the faith SCC employees have in the institution, its faculty and staff, and most importantly, its students.

Last year, SCC Foundation Scholarships provided assistance to more than 330 students, spending a total of $99,590 to help these students meet their educational goals.

If anyone would like to contribute to these scholarships, or create a new scholarship, or contribute to an existing scholarship, he or she may inquire or send it to Susan Wilmoth in The Office of Institutional Development at P.O. Box 304, Dobson, NC 27017.

If you are interested in more information about SCC Foundation Scholarships or in applying for a scholarship, contact the Financial Aid Office at SCC, (910) 386-8121, ext. 279.

If you would like information concerning establishing any type of scholarship, please call the Office of Institutional Development, ext. 210.

Students Receive State Certification

DOBSON — Three Surry Community College students received their state certification from the American Society of Mechanical Engineers for section 9 of the Boiler Code. The students, Chip Rierson of Ararat, Chris Stone of Westfield, and Nat West of North Wilkesboro, are now certified pipe welders.

"This certification is difficult to receive and, pretty much, guarantees the employment future of the welder," according to Mr. Roy Thomas, SCC welding instructor.

These students say the greatest advantage of the SCC welding program is that it allows the student to choose how much he or she wants to take at one time. This flexibility allows students to design a program to fit their needs and the level of skills needed for their situations. For example, a student can learn enough welding to do home repairs or enough to receive state certification.

"It's hard work but if you're willing to work hard at it, you'll get the training and skills you need, and then the job you want," West said.

Each of these students is employed and uses the welding skills on the job. Rierson works for Hicks Water Stove in Mount Airy where he does industrial pipe fitting. Stone works for North Carolina Granite in Mount Airy and does some welding as part of his job. West is employed by Beiman Rowell at a project at Appalachian State University. He was hired by this company because of his certification.

In order to become certified, a student must take a "hands on" test. After completing the test, which includes actually fitting pipes, the project is taken to Greensboro to PSI (Professional Service Institute). Then the test is evaluated by their engineers and if the student project passes, he is issued a certificate.

However, before a student can get his pipe welding certification, he must get his structural education. The main reward for completing all the required work and testing is that employment options are greatly increased for the student. A certified pipe welder can expect to earn a minimum of $12.00 an hour when he begins his employment.

SCC Seminars Monday, Tuesday

DOBSON — The Small Business Center of Surry Community College will sponsor two seminars Monday. Both will be held in Room C-101, the Continuing Education Building, on the college campus and be led by Paula Hildebrand.

The seminar, "The 21st Century Woman," will be held from 1 to 4 p.m. and deal with "getting it all done, getting credit for it and liking it," a college spokesman said. The second seminar, "Humor in the Workplace," will run from 6 to 9 p.m. It will help participants identify the status of their humor profile and determine if they are "underlaughed," the SCC spokesman continued.

The next day, from 1 to 4 p.m., the center will sponsor a seminar, "Low Cost Marketing Techniques for Small Business." It also will be held in Room C-101.

Mike Collins will be the seminar leader. The program will include how to create a low-cost marketing program for your business, how to create more word-of-mouth advertising, how to target return customers for more business and tips for getting more bang for your advertising buck, the college said.

No fee will be charged for the seminars, although pre-registration is required with the college Small Business Center at 386-8121, Extension 211.

SCC Announces New Chairman, Vice-Chairman

The Surry Community College Trustees at their regular August meeting swore in the new Chairman and Vice-Chairman for the 1996-97 term. The new chairman is Charles Madison of Elkin, a retired educator from Elkin, NC. The vice-chairman is Michael F. Royster a Pilot Mountain attorney.

Mr. Madison was appointed to the Board of Trustees for his first term in 1993 by the Surry County Commissioners. Before retiring, Mr. Madison was one of the original instructors in the North Campus Division at Surry Community College.

Mr. Royster was appointed to the Board of Trustees for his first term in 1992 by the Surry County School Board. Mr. Royster is a partner in the law firm Royster and Royster with offices on Depot Street in Pilot Mountain. At the conclusion of Mr. Madison's tenure as Chairman of the Board, Mr. Royster will assume the duties of board chairman.

Mr. Dallas Nance, past chairman, symbolically passed the gavel to Mr. Madison as SCC President, Dr. Jim Reeves, and Mr. Royster watched. The entire Board of Trustees then toured the new Richards Health Sciences building before going to dinner to honor Mr. Nance, Mr. Madison, and Mr. Royster.

SURRY

where the community goes to college...

In 1960 a committee was appointed to explore the idea of establishing a community college to serve the Surry and Yadkin area. In January 1964, the dream became a reality.

Now Surry Community College can look back on 32 years of providing the people of this area with excellent educational opportunities -- a chance to change their lives. SCC provides quality instruction for students who plan to transfer to four-year institutions, students who plan to work in business and industry, as well as students who want basic adult education or graduate equivalency training.

Education is critical to the continued growth and economic development of Surry and Yadkin Counties. SCC is proud of the contribution it has made and continues to make to the community.

Make plans now to attend the Open House and Dedication of the new Richards Health Sciences Building on Sunday, October 27, 1996, at 2:00 p.m.

Changes lead to more staff at SCC

By JAY R. DAVIS
Staff Reporter

DOBSON — Changes at Surry Community College are a response to recent growth at the college, a college official said last week.

Surry Community College hired more new employees this fall than at any other time since opening in 1966. One new building opened this fall and another one may be completed as early as next summer. Change is happening everywhere at the college.

"This is a year marked by change for Surry. We have added the new Richards Health Sciences building which brought about moves for almost all the faculty and staff as well as many classroom locations," said Jim Reeves, the president of SCC. "The former classroom or 'C' building has been converted to the Continuing Education Center; the new Learning Center on S. South Street in Mount Airy opened; the library and cafeteria will be renovated and expanded. . . It's certainly an exciting time for the college."

Eleven new employees were hired this summer at Surry. The reasons for all the new faces are two fold, said Susan Wilmoth, the director of institutional development for SCC: the retirement and death of some long-term faculty members and the increased enrollment at the college.

In the past two years, enrollment has increased 10.3 percent, 300 students, to 3,200 this fall quarter. Wilmoth said a 100 student enrollment increase this year surprised college officials.

"We were hoping this year that enrollment would remain about the same," she said. "We had some of the smallest high school graduating classes that there's been (in Surry County)."

That and the low unemployment rate in the area would tend to decrease enrollment at the college, but not this year, she said.

For the past nine years, enrollment has increased steadily, Wilmoth said, since then, enrollment has jumped up 18 percent.

In Surry County, 35 percent of recent high school graduates attend the college. Those figures also are higher at SCC than the average across the state. On average, 20 to 30 percent of recent high school graduates go to community colleges.

One of the new positions filled at SCC is in the college's new writing center. Dr. Jim Booth, who helped found the writing center at Salem College, was hired as the new director of the SCC Writing Center and as an English instructor.

The center, located in the new Health Sciences Building, provides tutoring, reference and support services to college students. The center also promotes writing programs for the college community and larger college service area.

The SCC Faculty Association, which is trying to improve the writing skills of students, helped initiate it.

The school also has added to computer science instructors. Computer science is the fastest growing program at the school.

Other new faculty include:
• Jeff Boles, an auto-body shop instructor. Boles was self employed as the owner of Jeff's Paint & Body Shop.

• Dr. Marvin Hall, a new psychology instructor. Hall had been teaching part-time as an instructor at SCC since 1990.

• Dr. Donna Harbour, economics instructor. Harbour was coordinator of distance learning and conference center supervisor of the Wake Medical Center Medical Education Institute.

• Sandra Hill, SCC Learning Center instructor. Hill has worked part-time in the Learning Center since 1995. Prior to working at SCC, Hill taught in the Elkin school system.

• Debra Hillyer, English instructor. Hillyer worked part-time/full-time at SCC during the last school year.

• Dr. Douglas Linebarrier, chemistry instructor. Last year, Linebarrier taught part-time at SCC and the University of North Carolina at Greensboro.

• Bob McPherson, computer-science instructor. McPherson has worked part time as a computer science instructor for Surry since 1992.

• Dr. Clinton Prim, history instructor. Prim previously worked as an assistant professor for Gardner-Webb • Candace Ring, computer-science instructor. Ring has been a part-time computer science instructor at SCC since last year.

• Mark Tucker, evening financial aid advisor. Tucker was employed at Surry as a part-time evening financial aid advisor and Learning Center assistant and Tutor coordinator.

As of this school year, 19 percent of SCC instructors hold doctorates and 53 percent have master's degrees.

Dr. Wiles Receives Award From SCC

Surry Community College has named Dr. Edwin L. Wiles as the recipient of the 1996-97 Excellence in Teaching award.

Dr. Wiles has taught both biology and chemistry classes since he joined the faculty in 1972. He also developed the manual used by the chemistry classes at SCC.

The award was announced at the annual fall faculty meeting held on the Dobson campus.

JOINS FACULTY—Dr. Clinton (Oz) Prim, former assistant professor of history at Garner-Webb University, has joined the Surry Community College staff as a history instructor. A Yadkin native, he is a son of Gorrell and Marjorie Prim of Yadkinville. He majored in political science at Wake Forest University and holds a Ph.D. in history from Florida State University. Prim has also taught at ASU and Mitchell College and once was a visiting professor at Winston-Salem State University.

Surry Community College Announces Opening Of Its New Writing Center

Surry Community College is pleased to announce the opening of the SCC Writing Center.

The Center, which is located in the new Health Sciences Building, provides tutoring, reference and support services to college students. The Center also promotes writing programs for the college community and larger college service area.

Dr. Jim Booth has been retained by the college to serve as director of the Center. Booth, trained in writing at the University of Albany (SUNY), is also a freelance writer and journalist.

He formerly served as assistant professor of writing at Salem College in Winston-Salem.

The SCC Writing Center grows out the efforts of the SCC Faculty Association, which has identified improvement in writing skills as a major goal for the institution.

The Writing Center provides an important step toward achieving this goal.

Surry Students Earn State Certification

DOBSON — Three Surry Community College students have received state certification from the American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

These students are now certified pipe welders, according to Roy Thomas, SCC welding instructor. "This certification is difficult to receive and, pretty much, guarantees the employment future of the welder," Thomas said.

Those certified are Chip Rierson of Ararat, Chris Stone of Westfield and Nat West of North Wilkesboro.

In order to become certified, a student must take a "hands-on" test on the SCC campus. After completing the test, which includes actually fitting pipes, the project is taken to Greensboro to PSI (Professional Service Institute). Then the test is evaluated by engineers and if the student project passes, a certificate is issued.

However, before a student can obtain pipe-welding certification, structural certification is needed. The main reward for completing all the required work and testing is that employment options are greatly increased. A certified pipe welder can expect to earn a minimum starting pay of $12 an hour.

The SCC welding program allows a student to choose how much he or she wants to learn at one time, depending on their need of level of skills desired to fit individual situations. For example, a student can learn enough welding to do home repairs or enough to receive state certification.

Said West, "It's hard work, but if you're willing to work hard at it, you'll get the training and skills you need, and then the job you want."

Each of the three students uses the welding skills on the job. Rierson works for Hicks Water Stove in Mount Airy, where he does industrial pipe fitting. Stone is employed by North Carolina Granite Corp. in Mount Airy, where welding is part of his job. West is employed by Beiman Kowell at a project at Appalachian State University. He was hired by this company because of his certification.

Dr. Edwin L. Wiles Honored

Surry Community College has named Dr. Edwin L. Wiles as the recipient of the 1996-97 Excellence in Teaching Award. The award was announced by John Collins, Vice-President for Curriculum Programs, at the annual fall faculty meeting held on the Dobson campus. Mr. Collins said of Dr. Wiles, "If those of you who are new instructors want to know how to become an excellent, effective instructor, all you need to do is to follow Ed Wiles and do exactly what he does."

Dr. Wiles joined the faculty at SCC in 1972 and has taught both biology and chemistry classes since that time. Wiles received his A.B. degree from Guilford College, his M.A. degree from Wake Forest University, and his Ph.D. from North Carolina State University. His major field of study was botany and plant physiology. His Ph.D. dissertation dealt with the effects of short chilling intervals on the germination and growth of cotton seeds.

He has also taught at the North Carolina Governor's School at Salem College in Winston-Salem, as well as at Kernersville Wesleyan College and Rockingham Community College. Dr. Wiles is a member of the North Carolina Academy of Science and the American Society of Plant Physiology. Wiles was chosen Alumnus of the Year from Kernersville Wesleyan College.

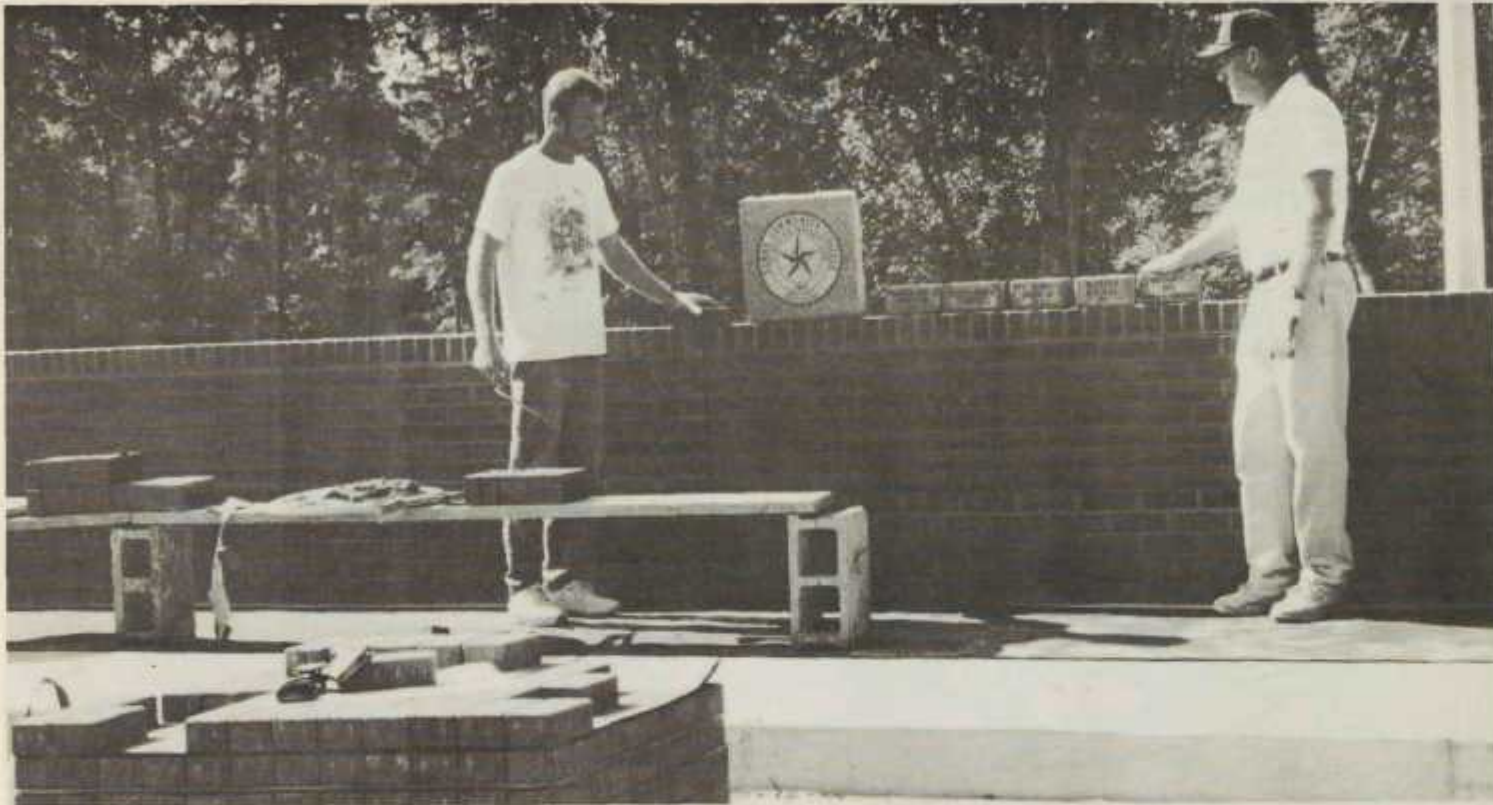

Dr. Wiles participated in a state-wide curriculum improvement project sponsored by the North Carolina Department of Community Colleges. Wiles developed the Chemistry Manual used by the chemistry classes at SCC. A colleague says of Dr. Wiles, "His pro-

Community College Opens JobLink Career Center

By JEFF LINVILLE
Staff Writer

DOBSON - Surry Community College held an open house Thursday for its new JobLink Career Center to showcase how the college can help people find careers and jobs.

As political candidates take their last swings at swaying voters this weekend, most list education as a top priority. When asked, however, many candidates are unsure how to get children more prepared for the work place and how to help them obtain better jobs.

The new career center offers assistance in job training, career counseling, resume writing and other areas many students and adults need help in to get a job or find a better one. SCC officials say.

Anita Bullin, the director of the school's cooperative education program, said SCC is pooling all its resources for the effort as well as bringing in outside agencies that work in related fields.

The college already has been offering student employment services, job information and courses aimed at developing job skills.

In its Career Development class, students are instructed in life planning through classroom exercises and discussions, interest inventories and surveys and out-of-class projects.

Students in the Professional Development class learn to recognize the importance of the physical, intellectual, social and emotional dimensions of personal and professional development. The objective is to alert participants to the qualities and techniques necessary to find a good job and be successful when hired.

Several members of the college faculty will be working with the JobLink center. Through their combined skills, anyone coming to the program will have a one-stop center for jobs, officials say.

Hagwood To Offer REAL Program At SCC

Rick Hagwood of Surry Community College spent ten days learning and teaching at REAL Institutes at Hilton Head Island.

These intensive professional development programs are sponsored each year by REAL (Rural Entrepreneurship through Action Learning) Enterprises, a non-profit educational organization dedicated to helping rural high schools and post-secondary institutions create entrepreneurship programs which enable students to create their own small businesses and explore self-employment.

The REAL Institutes attracted a diverse group of participants including teachers, administrators, and representatives from various community organizations. At the Institutes, participants addressed the theory and methodology of experiential education; studied and used the REAL curriculum as they planned their course; learned the basics of business planning marketing, operations, and finance; and prepared for the implementation of the program in their schools.

In REAL Entrepreneurship, students assess their own interests and skills, analyze the local community and economy, select promising business ideas based on their research, write comprehensive business plans for the ventures, and (if they choose) actually open and operate the businesses they have created. These businesses are not simulations or school projects; they belong to the entrepreneurs that create them.

The goals of the REAL program are to empower individuals, to promote experiential education and to revitalize rural communities through the creation of businesses and jobs.

Surry Community College is part of a growing network of REAL schools across the nation. REAL Enterprises organizations and individuals make the program happen in Georgia, Massachusetts, Montana, Nebraska, New York, North Carolina, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia, Wisconsin and Wyoming.

Hagwood and Surry Community College will offer the REAL program beginning December 5 and meeting through February 20, 1997 on Thursday evenings from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. on the college campus in Room C101.

The cost for the course will be $35 plus a materials charge of approximately $25.

For more information, contact Sue Marion or Renee Hutchins, 386-8121, extension 309 or 211.

viewer, says she helps people find the type of jobs they are looking for, if they know.

Dennis Lowe, a job developer, assists students at the college in finding cooperative-education positions in which one can receive class credit for working in an apprenticeship program with a company after school hours.

Suzanne Bumgartner, an employment representative, works with the JTPA program in which funds are provided for training through the federal Job Training Partnership Act.

Danny Haire, the program operations supervisor of the JTPA program, said he oversees case management of the students and makes sure each person in the program gets proper counseling as well as I.Q. and achievement testing to see what he or she is qualified for or capable of doing.

Paul Castle works in vocational rehabilitation, which assists physically and mentally handicapped individuals in receiving the proper physical and educational training necessary to perform in the work place.

The program also works closely with the Work First and the N.C. Employment Security Commission. Work First is a new program designed to move people on public assistance into jobs. Families with a child more than 5 years of age and two-parent families are the target groups of the effort.

The Employment Security Commission offers job information through two terminals set up in the lobby of the school gym where students can sit down and tie into the commission's computerized job files for work. According to employment officials, more than 500,000 people use the commission's services each year.

More information on the new career center and its services is available from Surry Community College at 386-8121.

SCC Receives New Entrance Marker

Dr. Jim Reeves, president of Surry Community College, announced the addition of a new four by six-foot granite entrance marker for the college.

The marker was donated to SCC by the North Carolina Granite Corporation in honor of Mr. John Frank.

Acme Stone Company, donating their services to the college, delivered and set the marker. The entrance marker was in place for the Dedication/Open House on the new Richard Health Sciences Building on October 27.

Mr. Frank was president of N.C. Granite Corporation and served as a trustee of the college from 1964 until 1989. He was also a member of the original Board of Trustees and continued to serve the college for the next twenty-five years.

Public Speaking Seminar Is Scheduled

The Continuing Education Division of Surry Community College will sponsor a three-hour seminar on "Public Speaking Magic" on Thursday, November 14, from 1:00 to 4:00 p.m. on the college campus in Room C101 (Continuing Education Building).

The seminar leader will be Hayes Ratledge of Success Seminars.

Topics to be covered are: 1) thinking on your feet, 2) easy way to "say a few words," 3) getting our listeners to like us, 4) how to make an impromptu talk, and 5) developing self-confidence.

There will be no charge for this seminar; however, persons interested should pre-register by calling 386-8121, extension 211.

The Community Support Wall Of Honor Will Be Dedicated Also

The Tribune, Elkin-Jonesville, N.C., Friday, October 25, 1996

Surry Community College will officially dedicate the new 65,000 square foot Richards Health Sciences Building on Sunday, October 27, 1996, with the actual ceremony beginning at 2 p.m.

The building is named for Dr. Swanson Richards who was president of the college from 1972-1994.

As part of the celebration, the entire campus will be open for tours conducted by the SCC Ambassadors from 1-4 p.m. Additionally, guests are urged to visit the "Community Support Wall of Honor" which is located on the west side of Frank Comer Drive.

Mr. William Sanders' painting of the SCC campus titled "Commitment," which was commissioned by the SCC Foundation, will be displayed in the main lobby of H building. Prints of this painting will be sold for $35 each with proceeds going to the General Scholarship Fund of the Foundation.

During the ceremony, Mr. John Springthorpe, chairman of the Surry County commissioners, will symbolically present the key to the building to Dr. James M. Reeves, president of Surry Community College. Dr. Reeves will accept the key and Mrs. Marie Simmons, president of the SCC Employees Association, and Mr. Jim McAtee, a student Ambassador Scholar, will speak representing each of those groups.

Mr. Dallas Nance, past Board of Trustees chairman, and Mr. Charles Madison, current Board Chairman, will also speak. The SCC Chorus will perform as well.

Immediately after the ceremony, refreshments will be served in the main lobby of H building.

The newly completed Surry Community College Community Support Wall of Honor, which features the college seal, the original and current boards of Trustees and Foundation Directors, the endowed scholarships, as well as more than 850 bricks with the names of people who support and have supported the college, will be dedicated and ready for inspection.

Members of SCC's Phi Beta Lambda (international business society) will be selling additional brick to those who wish to purchase one during the day. The brick will be sold on the lawn next to the wall and inside the administrative lobby of H building for $25 to individuals and $50 to businesses.

The Richards Health Sciences

Building, which was built with state bond money, houses the new state-of-the-art nursing department which will be open and offering free blood pressure screening.

The Cosmetology Department, which offers not only the latest in hair care but also facials, manicures, pedicures, acrylic nail application, and any other service a modern salon performs, will have the cosmetology students and instructors modeling and explaining the history of hair styles. The students will also be providing complimentary facials and manicures to demonstrate their skills.

The H building also contains the new SCC Writing Center which offers across-the-curriculum writing assistance to SCC students and community patrons.

The Learning Center, the developmental studies division, the English and mathematics divisions, as well as the president's administrative staff are located in H building.

All former students are encouraged to register in the administrative lobby of H building. This registration will help the college upgrade its alumni mailing list as well as give alumni a chance to win a framed print of William Sanders' painting "Commitment" which features an across-campus view of the Learning Resources Building. When the painting is examined closely, the viewer will see Mr. Carlos Surratt, longtime evening dean, in the lobby of the R Building.

Additional changes on campus include moving Continuing Education classes and staff into the former C or classroom building. This building, which has been renovated, is now the Continuing Education Center. The bookstore is still located in this building. The Continuing Education division has also opened a new Learning Center on S. South Street in Mount Airy, next door to Bray's Tire Service. This Center offers ABE and GED classes as well as many computer classes.

A new addition on campus is the One Stop Center which coordinates job-related support services for students and area citizens. These offices include representatives from Social Services, Employment Security Commission, Vocational Rehabilitation and JTPA. This program is located in the Continuing Education Center.

SCC also has a newly expanded Student Employment Center, next door to the Student Services Office, in A building. The Employment Center includes the Cooperative Education Program, which places students with area employers, allowing them to earn an income and job-related experience while they attend classes and the JobReady program, which coordinates Surry's technical programs with those offered at local high schools. In this office, students have access to job listings from around the world using World Wide Access on the Internet.

The A building, formerly known as the Administrative Building, is now the Student Center/Business Office. The Business Office has been expanded and is located on the main level of the building. The cafeteria, located on the lower level, will be renovated and expanded during the spring and summer of 1997.

The Learning Resources Building is being renovated at this time. This building is now totally devoted to the library and library services which will occupy both the main and upper levels of the structure. The reference and special collections, including the extensive genealogy collection, will be located on the second floor of R building.

Dedication/open house

The Technical Building or T building now contains all science classes and laboratories, the mechanical drafting program, as well as the arts programs—music, art and foreign language. The building will be renovated in the next few years.

The Shop Building, S building, houses the machining technology and welding programs. The building was air conditioned last year.

The V building or Vocational Building houses the business division, automotive technology, light construction and electrical installation programs. This building was renovated in 1995.

The Physical Education Building, P building, houses the gymnasium, the fitness room and the student lounge.

The Body Shop Building, B building, houses the automotive body shop.

The Electronics Building, E building, completed in 1988, contains all computer classes and laboratories, including one open to citizens of the service area as well as all the electronics programs.

Faculty offices are, whenever possible, located in the building that houses the program the instructor teaches.

The entire campus is connected by fiber optic cable and will be completely "networked" by March of 1997. Therefore, by the fall of 1997, SCC will offer full use and access by students and faculty to the Information Highway, as well as conversion of many student services to electronic methods, including telephone registration.

These advances ensure that SCC's students will have the training and education necessary to meet the demands of the technical workforce of the 21st century.

Finally, as a part of a statewide project to improve services to our communities, Surry is involved in a "re-engineering" project which includes a systematic evaluation of all curriculum programs and courses, with conversion to the semester system of credit. Students will benefit from improved articulation and guaranteed transfer of credit to other community colleges and the university system.

The business and industrial communities will benefit from more flexible academic calendars to meet workforce training needs. Efficiency of the entire system will be improved through regional program planning and delivery, as well as through reduced administrative costs. Implementation of the semester system and other parts of the project will begin in the summer of 1997.

Also during the summer of 1997, SCC will complete the Emergency Training Facility for fire, rescue, law enforcement and emergency medical services training. This new facility will be built with state bond money and will provide a 600' x 250' driving facility, a classroom/storage facility, a burn prop, five propane burn simulator pads and a trench-rescue/confined space simulator.

This facility will improve SCC's ability to train both volunteers and professionals who safeguard our communities. In 1995-96, the college offered 260 firefighter, rescue and emergency medical courses to 4,736 participants. Another 61 law enforcement courses were provided for 748 students. More than 7,000 hours of instruction were provided to service area individuals in these groups.

Surry Community College President, Dr. Jim Reeves says, "The key word in our name has always been community. Our success has been the result of the committed efforts of the community and our dedicated employees. We have always been proud of the partnership we have with the citizens and businesses of Surry and Yadkin counties. Last year, more than 60 community groups and government agencies used the college for meetings and programs. The college also sponsors about 50 public service and cultural events yearly. Our educational programs served more than 12,500 individuals last year—this equates to approximately one out of every six adults in the service area attending classes. For all these reasons, we hope everyone in the service area will attend our Open House — really an open campus — Dedication/Homecoming. The new building is beautiful and something the community can really be proud of."

North Carolina Community College System Converting to Semester System

All North Carolina community colleges, including Surry Community College, will begin offering credits based on a semester system starting in the summer of 1997. This is an important transition and we want to keep you informed concerning benefits the semester system has to offer. We want to make the conversion to semesters as easy as possible for everyone. As the college makes decisions about how things will work, we encourage you to ask questions about how this will affect you. If you do have questions, please see your counselor, advisor, or call SCC at (910) 386-8121.

College Presents 228 GED Diplomas

The Mt. Airy News, Sunday Oct 20, 1996

DOBSON - Hundreds of people gathered in the Surry Community College gymnasium recently as families and friends watched as 228 graduate equivalency diplomas were presented to the graduates in the college's 11th annual graduation ceremony program.

The GED testing on campus was begun through the joint efforts of Dr. James Reeves and Ayers in 1969 when SCC had 59 GED graduates. Ayers' dream for the program was to produce 200 graduates, which this year's class did. Currently, SCC's GED program produces more graduates than any single high school in Surry or Yadkin counties.

The GED program is ongoing throughout the calendar year. Since the students in the program begin studying at different times and work at different speeds, the date of completion of the program and the taking of the test varies greatly.

Surratt congratulated the graduates, their families and friends and their instructors. He encouraged each student to continue to "learn and take advantage of the opportunities offered at Surry Community College."

Surratt recalled one previous GED graduate who exclaimed, "Boy! This learning is an adventure." Finally, he challenged each student to talk to someone else who needs to get a GED. "Tell that person that he or she is not too old. Don't send them to the learning center — bring them and introduce them to the instructors who helped you get a diploma. That person will be forever grateful."

Riggs announced scholarships winners Robert Walker Jr., Amy Williams, Sarah Tenny, Michael Sparks, Jamie Caudill, Jerry Goins, Francis Swisher, Velvet Brown, Dawn Payne and Sheila Whiskant. "Top ten" scholarships are

These were the honor graduates of the latest GED class.

Eleven years ago, the college decided to hold one annual graduation ceremony to honor all of those who earned their GED in the previous 12 months.

During the ceremony this year, the invocation was presented by Carolyn W. Flippin, Human Resource Development Program director. The Surry Community College Chorus sang, and college motto.

Judy Riggs, director of basic education, introduced the special speaker for the ceremony, Carlos P. Surratt, retired dean of the SCC Evening Division and still a part-time counselor for that unit.

graduates and their relatives and friends and the staff of SCC were welcomed by Dr. Claude V. Ayers, vice president for continuing education.

Ayers reminded those present that according to Benjamin E. Mays, "It must be born in mind that the tragedy of life doesn't lie in not reaching your goal. The tragedy lies in having no goal to reach."

Dr. Ayers urged each individual to continue striving to reach his or her farthest star, which is the quest suggested by the college motto.

Surratt congratulated the graduates, their families and friends and their instructors. He encouraged each student to continue to "learn and take advantage of the opportunities offered at Surry Community College."

Surratt recalled one previous GED graduate who exclaimed, "Boy! This learning is an adventure." Finally, he challenged each student to talk to someone else who needs to get a GED. Surry Community College dedicates new building

The Tribune, Monday, October 28, 1996

The Mount Airy News Sunday, October 27, 1996

More than 300 people turned out in Dobson Sunday afternoon for the dedication of the new 65,000-square-foot Richards Health Sciences Building. John Springthorpe III, chairman of the Surry County Commissioners, formally opened the building with a handshake for college President James Reeves. The Richards building, named for former SCC President Swanson Richards, features facilities for nurse training and cosmetology and houses the administrative offices. It was built with state bond money, but supplemental fundraising included the sale of engraved bricks for a memorial walkway that links the new structure with the main campus. The dedication included speeches by Board of Trustees Chairman Charles Madison, former Chairman Dallas Nance, student Jim McAtee, faculty representative Marie Simmons, Springthorpe and Reeves.

College Dedicating Building

From Staff Reports

DOBSON - Surry Community College will dedicate the new Richards Health Sciences Building today with a ceremony beginning at 2 p.m.

The building is named for Dr. Swanson Richards who was president of the college from 1972 until 1994.

Today's events will include tours of the entire campus from 1 to 4 p.m.; the sale of prints of William Sanders' painting of the SCC campus; a ceremonial key presentation and speakers at 2 p.m.; and refreshments in the building following the ceremony.

The Richards Health Sciences Building, which was built with state bond money, houses the new state-of-the-art nursing department, which will be offering free blood pressure screening; and the cosmetology department, where there will be demonstrations and free facial

SCC holds GED graduation

Surry Community College held its eleventh Graduate Equivalency Diploma graduation in the gymnasium of the Dobson campus recently.

Speaker for the ceremony was Carlos P. Surratt, retired dean of the evening division and a part-time counselor for the evening division. Surratt challenged each student to talk to someone else who needs a GED. "Tell that person that he or she is not too old. Don't send them to the learning center—bring them and introduce them to the instructors who helped you get a diploma. That person will be forever grateful."

The top 10 GED graduates are eligible for scholarships to SCC. Scholarship winners are Robert Walker Jr., Amy Williams, Sarah Tenny, Michael Sparks, Jamie Caudle, Jerry Goins, Francis Swisher, Velvet Brown, Dawn Payne and Sheila Whisenhunt. These same "top 10" scholarships are offered to each area high school through the SCC Foundation.

College Opens Writing Center

From Staff Reports

DOBSON - With better writing skills one of the qualities demanded by employers these days, Surry Community College recently opened the SCC Writing Center.

The center, located in a new health sciences facility on the Dobson campus, provides tutoring, reference and support services to college students. The new program also will promote writing programs for the SCC community and the overall service area of the school, according to spokesman Susan Wilmoth.

The SCC Writing Center sprang from efforts of the Surry Community College Faculty Association, which identified improvement in writing skills as a major goal for the institution. The center will provide an important step in reaching this goal, college officials say.

Jim Booth has been named as director of the SCC Writing Center. Booth, who was trained in writing at the University of Albany, N.Y., is also a freelance writer and journalist. He was formerly assistant professor of writing at Salem College.

SCC To Sponsor Four-Hour Shade Matching Workshop

The Enterprise, October 31, 1996

The Industrial Training Center of Surry Community College will sponsor a four-hour "Shade Matching" workshop on November 12, meeting from 9:00 to 1:00 p.m. on the SCC campus in Room C207 (Continuing Education Building).

The instructor for this course will be a representative from the Center for Applied Textile Technology in Belmont, North Carolina.

The topics will recognize the variables encountered such as fibers, equipment, dyes, chemicals and the process itself. This seminar will also teach color matching science: how to understand a color problem, how it happened and how to correct the problem. The program will expand into building a color history library for quality as well as customer confidence.

There will be no charge for this workshop; however, persons interested should call the Industrial Training Center at 386-8121, extension 211 to pre-register.

The Mount Airy News Sunday, October 27, 1996

Charles Madison, a retired Elkin educator, is the new chairman of the Surry Community College Board of Trustees. Michael E. Royster, a Pilot Mountain attorney, is the new vice chairman of the board.

Madison was appointed to his first term on the board in 1993 by the Surry County Board of Commissioners. Before he retired from the education profession, he was one of the original instructors in the North Campus Division at Surry Community College.

In 1992, the Surry County School Board appointed Royster to the board of trustees for his first term. He is a partner in the law firm of Royster and Royster, whose offices are on Depot Street in Pilot Mountain.

When Madison's term as chairman of the board ends, Royster will assume the duties of board chairman.

- Any person repeating an Occupational Extension course for the second time will be charged an additional fee.
- N. C. residents age 65 or older may register free of charge.
- The non-resident tuition fee for credit courses is $108.00 per credit hour.
- Classes may be cancelled if a sufficient number of persons do not register at the first class meeting.
- SCC provides educational opportunities without regard to race, sex, creed, national origin, age, or disability.

ATTENDANCE

Students are encouraged to attend all classes. Those who attend at least 80 percent of the classes and complete course requirements will be awarded a Certificate of Completion.

Continuing Education Units (CEUs) are awarded to students who complete all course requirements for non-credit courses above the secondary school level. CEU records are maintained by the Continuing Education Division. Transcripts of individual records are available upon request.

BASIC SKILLS PROGRAMS

ADULT BASIC EDUCATION (ABE)

The Adult Basic Education program provides instruction for adults who want to learn to read, write, and improve basic math skills. Practical teaching methods enable students to acquire skills such as using a telephone directory, reading road signs, counting money, and completing job applications.

HIGH SCHOOL COMPLETION (GED)

The high school completion program is designed to prepare adults for the Tests of General Educational Development (GED). Upon successful completion of the program of study and a satisfactory score on the GED Tests, students are awarded a high school diploma by the State of North Carolina.

ENGLISH FOR SPEAKERS OF OTHER LANGUAGES (ESL)

The ESL program provides a means for speakers of other languages to attend classes to learn English communication skills as well as American customs and history.

* Books, materials and instruction are provided free of charge. Classes are individualized and instruction is designed to meet each student's needs.

Local Artist To Teach Acrylic Classes In Elkin

Local decorative artist Patsy Pardue will begin two Decorative Acrylics classes in Elkin this winter.

The classes will be held as follows:

Monday, November 25, from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 noon at the Elkin Public Library in the public service room.

Tuesday, November 26, from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. at Elkin High School.

Pardue will instruct students in the art of decorative painting, including choosing the ideal project, basic preparations and painting techniques. Students will complete projects of their choice during the eleven week class.

The classes will meet one day or evening a week for eleven weeks, for a total of 33 hours of instruction. The registration fee will be $35; N.C. residents 65 years and older may register free of charge. Supplies for the class will be approximately $20.

Interested persons must call the Continuing Education Division of Surry Community College at 386-8121, ext. 269 or 261, to pre-register.

New "Paper Art" Class Is Planned

Surry Community College will sponsor a new class entitled "Paper Art" this winter.

Students in this class will create beautiful cards and silhouettes to share with friends and family, learn German paper cutting, and discover the technique of quilting.

The first class will begin on Monday, November 18, from 8:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon at the Foothills Arts Council in Elkin and will meet each Monday morning for eleven weeks. The second class will begin on Thursday, November 21, from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. on campus in Room C-103 and will meet each Thursday night for eleven weeks.

The registration fee for each class is $35. North Carolina residents age 65 or older may register free of charge. Students will need a small, sharp-pointed pair of scissors and a glue stick.

The instructor for both classes will be Susan Fulcher.

Interested persons should plan to attend the registration/first class meeting that best fits their schedule. For further information, contact the Continuing Education Division at 386-8121, ext. 261 or 269.

Supervision Series Course Is Scheduled At SCC

The Enterprise, November 14, 1996

The Continuing Education Division of Surry Community College will sponsor a Supervision Series course beginning on November 25 and meeting through January 20, 1997 in Room C102 from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. on the College campus.

Class will meet on Monday and Thursday evenings, for a total of 36 hours. Cost for the course will be $35.

Garry Moore, Human Resources director of Kentucky Derby Hosiery, will be the instructor.

Registration will be held at the first class meeting on November 25. Persons interested should contact the Industrial Training Center at (910) 386-8121, extension 211, to pre-register.

The number of cars parked outside a new learning center on North South Street reflects the heavy traffic the facility recently has received since opening during the summer.

Adult Education On Rise

By JEFFI INVILLE
Staff Writer

Surry Community College officials have been pleasantly surprised at the number of people who have joined its continuing education classes since a new location opened up in Mount Airy over the summer.

In July, the college moved its Mount Airy operations from Martin Memorial Community Health Building beside Northern Hospital of Surry County to a building between Bray's Recapping Service and Michael's Restaurant on North South Street.

Carolyn Flippin, the director of human resources development at the center, said many more people are using these facilities than they did at the previous location above the Surry County EMS headquarters.

Since making the move in July, stated Flippin, the GED program has had 20 graduates.

Other courses offered at the center include computer courses and training in job skills, such as filling out applications and interviews, goal setting, career development and communication skills.

Flippin said the basic skills program assists adults in improving their education. The staff counsels the adult to determine his or her goals before offering assistance.

"Most of the students work toward receiving a GED," stated Flippin, "but some just want to improve their math, reading or language skills."

Flippin is assisted by two full-time workers, Carmen Jeausip and Roslyn Holland, and three part-time workers, Pam Harrell, Jessie Stewart and Janet Bruner. The supervisor of the Mount Airy Learning Center is Claude Ayers, vice president of the continuing education division.

Flippin said the owner of the building, Dean Bray, has been a big help with the center and its biggest supporter. "He is so excited about the building and that it's being used for educational purposes."

Bray is now renovating the basement area of the building in case the upstairs becomes overcrowded from the increased usage.

NEW ROLE: Professor gives up teaching stars for Surry college

WINSTON-SALEM JOURNAL Saturday, November 16, 1996

By William L. Holmes
JOURNAL SURRY COUNTY BUREAU

DOBSON

Debra Kay Hillyer has left behind the classes she once taught under shade trees and in movie-set trailers for a campus with walls that don't move and a cozy office.

Hillyer, 38, taught on the sets of television and movie productions for four years while she worked her way through graduate school at Rollins College near Orlando, Fla. She left show business behind after getting her master's degree and has landed a job as a full-time English professor at Surry Community College.

Hillyer met a friend in Florida who persuaded her to move to Sparta last year.

"I wanted what I have now," Hillyer said. "I wanted a full-time, stable position. It (show-busness work) helped me get through graduate school, and that's the important thing. I'm hoping this will last a long time."

Hillyer worked her way into the entertainment industry gradually. She started as a music teacher in Florida, met some musicians and started to book them in local clubs. The music gigs led her to the comedy circuit, and she started to book acts for local comedies. One of the comedies introduced her to a woman who hired on-site teachers for local productions.

Hillyer taught on the set of the Wesley Snipes movie Passenger 57, and she taught the Mouseketeers on The New Mickey Mouse Club and the child actors for shows on the Nickelodeon cable-TV network.

See TEACHER, Page B6

Most of the young actors were good students and pleasant, she said, not like the stereotype of child actors as spoiled rich kids. She noticed, though, that the transition from actor to student came hard for some.

"They go from being whatever in the movie to being a kid again," she said.

Her classrooms on the movie sets were sometimes the nearest shade tree or, at best, some space in a motor home.

Studios provided nicer facilities, she said. Nickelodeon provided the best environment. The studios gave the teachers large, well-kept classrooms. A buffet of tasty snack foods was always available, and studio officials had a genuine interest in providing the goods with a solid education, she said.

Other parts of the industry did not make good impressions on her. She said she got a look at holkey sets, such as the one for the television show Swoop Thing, that showed how phony some of the shows were. The sets were often small and cramped.

Few looked as they appeared on-screen.

She also learned that the glamour of the industry often hides the reality of job insecurity and oversize egos.

"What I've searched for in my path in life is different," Hillyer said. "I'm glad I did it, but I don't miss it or want to go back."

Surry Will Offer Acrylics Classes

Local Decorative artist, Patsy Pardue, will begin two Decorative Acrylics classes in Elkin this winter. One will begin this Monday, from 9:30 am until 12:30 pm, at the Elkin Public Library. The other will begin on Tuesday from 6:30-9:30 pm at Elkin High School.

The classes will meet once a week for 11 weeks. The registration fee is $35, persons 65 years and older may register free of charge. Supplies for the class will cost approximately $20. Interested persons should call the college at 386-8121 ext. 269 or 261 to register; class size is limited.

SCC Adds Eleven New Faculty And Staff Members

A Yadkin County native and a former Elkin school teacher have joined the staff of Surry Community College in Dobson, along with nine other new employees.

Surry Community College issued contracts to more new employees this Fall than it had since the original faculty and staff were hired in 1966.

Dr. Jim Reeves, president of SCC, remarked that "this is a year marked by change for Surry. We have added the new Richards Health Sciences building, which brought about moves for almost all the faculty and staff as well as many classroom locations. The former classroom or "C" building has been converted to the Continuing Education Center; the new Learning Center on S. South Street in Mount Airy opened; the library and cafeteria will be renovated and expanded, and a new Emergency Training facility will be completed by the summer. The college is converting to the semester system, a process to be completed by June 1997, and we have added eleven excellent new employees. It is certainly an exciting time for the college."

Dr. Clinton "Oz" Prim, whose parents still reside in Yadkin County, and Sandra Hill were issued contracts, along with Dr. Jim Booth, Jeff Boles, Dr. Marvin Hall, Dr. Donna Harbour, Debra Hillyer, Dr. Doug Linebarrier, Robert McPherson, Candace Ring, and Mark Tucker.

Prim is a history instructor. Before joining the SCC faculty, Prim served as assistant professor of history at Gardner-Webb University in Boiling Springs, N.C. and was a history instructor at Appalachian State University in Boone and Mitchell Community College in Statesville. He was also a visiting professor at Winston-Salem State University in Winston-Salem.

Additionally, Prim has worked with Investment Management and Research in Statesville, working as a financial planner and investment advisor. He received his B.A. degree in political science from Wake Forest University in Winston-Salem, and his Ph.D. in history from Florida State University. Prim has numerous publications which deal with his special interests - local, state and southern history. However, he is better known as "Oz", the coach of the Elkin and Statesville Swim Teams.

Hill is an instructor in the campus Learning Center where she teaches Adult Basic Education and General Educational Development (GED) students. She also administers tests, tutors, and works with students on computer skills. She has been a part-time instructor in the Learning Center since 1995 and coordinator of Compensatory Education since 1994.

Prior to working for SCC, she taught in the Elkin City Schools in Elkin. Hill is a graduate of Surry Community College and received her B.S. degree from Appalachian State University in Boone. She is currently working on her M.A. degree at Gardner-Webb University.

Nine of SCC's new faculty and staff members.

University in Greensboro; a counselor/media technician in the Division of Student Development at Fayetteville State University in Fayetteville; an assistant director for Lutheran Family Services in Burlington; a customer service agent for Delta Airlines; and an occupational education instructor and coach in the Bladen County Schools in eastern North Carolina.

Hall received his B.S. and M.S. degrees in guidance and counseling from North Carolina Agricultural and Technical State University in Greensboro, and his doctorate in Community Agency Counseling at Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo, MI. While completing his doctorate, Hall had a doctoral associateship and served as an adjunct counseling intern. Dr. Hall was recognized in the Who's Who Among America's Teachers in the 1996-97 edition.

Harbour teaches economics at SCC. Prior to coming to Surry, Dr. Harbour was coordinator of Distance Learning and Conference Center Supervisor of the Wake Medical Center Medical Education Institute in Raleigh; Director of Small Business and Corporate Education for Gaston College in Dallas; independent consultant/training specialist with IBM in Research Triangle Park; coordinator of Continuing Dental Education for UNC-Chapel Hill School of Dentistry Office in Chapel Hill; adjunct computer studies instructor for Durham Technical Community College in Durham; lecturer in business and computer studies for the University of Maryland in their European division; and internal audit manager for First Union Corporation in Charlotte.

Harbour received her B.S. degree in business administration from Pembroke State University in Pembroke; her MBA from Queens College in Charlotte; and her doctorate in adult education from North Carolina State University in Raleigh.

Hillyer is an English instructor. Hillyer has served as a part-time/full-time English instructor at Surry during the 1995-96 academic year. Previously, she has served as a literacy instructor for Wilkes Community College in Sparta; an English instructor for Brevard Community College in Melbourne, FL; a writing consultant for Rollins College in Winter Park, FL; and English instructor for Florida Technical College in Winter Park, FL; an English instructor for Brevard Community College in Cocoa, FL; and a music and specific learning disabilities teacher for James Madison Middle School in Titusville, FL. Hillyer also taught child performers elementary and secondary curriculum as well as English as a second language while they were on location with motion picture studios, television production companies, musical touring groups, and Ringling Brothers Circus. Hillyer received her B.A. in humanities and her M.A. in teaching English from Rollins College in Winter Park, FL.

Linebarrier teaches chemistry. During the 1995-96 year, Linebarrier taught chemistry on a part-time basis at both SCC and the University of North Carolina in Greensboro. Before beginning his teaching career, Linebarrier worked as a research associate with Dr. Robert Wykle at Bowman Gray School of Medicine in Winston-Salem in biomedical and biochemical research; Dr. Joseph O'Flaherty at Bowman Gray School of Medicine in biomedical research; and Dr. James Mayer at the University of Washington in Seattle in inorganic research.

Linebarrier received his B.S. degree from UNC-Greensboro and his Ph.D. in chemistry from Yale University in New Haven, CN. While a student at UNC-G, he received the Anderson Award for academic excellence and at Yale, the Richard Wolfgang Memorial Prize from the Chemistry Department.

Additionally, Linebarrier plays the cello with the Salem Community Orchestra.

McPherson is a computer science instructor. Since 1992, he has been a part-time computer science instructor for Surry. In addition to his teaching at SCC, McPherson has been the self-employed owner of MC Accounting Systems, where he consulted with clients concerning the purchase, installation, and use of personal computer software and hardware.

He also worked as assistant accounting manager for Wayne Poultry Division of Continental Grain Company in Dobson, and as chief accountant for Ray's Restaurants, Inc. in Mount Airy. McPherson graduated from SCC and Gardner-Webb University in Boiling Springs, N.C.

Ring is a computer science instructor. During the last year, Ring has been a part-time computer science instructor at Surry. Since 1990, she has been employed as Student Information Management Systems data manager for the Surry County School at White Plains Elementary School. Ring graduated from SCC and High Point University with a degree in Computer Information Systems.

Tucker is the Evening Financial Aid Advisor at SCC. Before assuming these duties, Tucker was employed at Surry as a part-time Evening Financial Aid Advisor and Learning Center assistant and Tutor coordinator. He has also worked as substitute teacher in the Newton-Conover School System in Newton, N.C. Tucker received his B.A. degree in physical education from Lenoir-Rhyne College in Hickory, and his M.A. degree in higher education administration from Appalachian State University in Boone.

He is the baseball coach at SCC.

Booth is the director of the new SCC Writing Center and also an English instructor. Prior to coming to Surry, Dr. Booth was an assistant professor of Writing, English, and Communications at Salem College in Winston-Salem. He was also an adjunct assistant professor of English at Winston-Salem State University in Winston-Salem and an English instructor at Barber-Scotia College in Concord.

Additionally, Booth served as an adjunct English instructor for Forsyth Technical Community College, Guilford Technical Community College, and Davidson County Community College, as well as teaching in the Davidson County Schools in Lexington. He helped to found Salem's Writing Center. He received his B.A. and M.A. degrees in English from the University at Albany.

Booth also is a free-lance journalist, advertising copywriter, and computer programmer.

Boles is an auto body shop instructor. Before joining the staff at SCC, he was self employed as the owner of Jeff's Paint & Body Shop. He has won numerous awards, including three "Best Paint" awards and 65 first place awards.

Additionally, he won "Top 25" awards in Tennessee, North Carolina, and South Carolina. Boles has more than twenty years experience in auto body repair and is certified by various paint manufacturers in numerous paint-application processes.

Hall teaches psychology at Surry. He has been a part-time psychology instructor at SCC since 1990.

Hall has served as an adjunct assistant professor in the Department of Human Development and Services at North Carolina A&T State

SCC Schedules Tanning Course

Surry Community College next week will offer the Tanning Facility Operators Course, which has been approved by the N.C. Department of Environment, Health and Natural Resources. The training is required by state law for all tanning equipment operators.

The 13-hour course will begin Tuesday at 6 p.m. It will be held in Room C-207 on the college campus on Tuesday and Thursday at 6 p.m. for two weeks. The registration fee will be $35, and materials are provided free.

William Cail will be the instructor. Additional information is available by calling the Continuing Education Division of the college at 386-8121, extension 261 or 269.

SCC Offers Teacher Training Class

The Continuing Education Division of Surry Community College has scheduled an Effective Teacher Training class for Monday, October 14, from 4:30 to 7:30 p.m. in Room T-125.

The class will meet on Monday and Thursday afternoons for five weeks, for a total of 30 hours of instruction. The instructors will be Dr. Annette Ayers and Judy Simpson.

The registration fee is $35; materials will be provided free of charge. N.C. residents 65 and older may register free of charge.

Contact the Continuing Education Division at (910)386-8121, ext. 269 or 261, to pre-register, as the class is limited to thirty students.

CHAIRMAN OF THE BOARD-Retired educator Charles Madison, right, a Jonesville native, has been named chairman of the board of trustees of Surry Community College, where he was one of the original instructors in the college's North Campus Division. Madison, a United Methodist layman, attends Mitchell's Chapel UMC. His wife, Mary June, is assistant Yadkin County register of deeds. At left is Dr. Jim Reeves, SCC president. Madison has been a member of the college's board of trustees since 1993. He once taught at Starmount High School.

SCC Plans Dedication/Open House For Richards Health Sciences Building

Surry Community College will officially dedicate the new 65,000 square-foot Richards Health Sciences Building on Sunday, October 27, with the actual ceremony beginning at 2:00 p.m.

The building is named for Dr. Swanson Richards, who was president of the college from 1972 until 1994. As part of the celebration, the entire campus will be open for tours conducted by the SCC Ambassadors from 1:00 p.m. until 4:00 p.m. Additionally, guests are urged to visit the "Community Support Wall of Honor" which is located on the west side of Frank Comer Drive.

William Sanders' painting of the SCC campus titled "Commitment," which was commissioned by the SCC Foundation, will be displayed in the main lobby of H building. Prints of this painting will be sold for $35 each, with proceeds going to the General Scholarship Fund of the Foundation.

During the ceremony, John Springthorpe, chairman of the Surry County Commissioners, will symbolically present the key to the building to Dr. James M. Reeves, president of Surry Community College. Reeves will accept the key, and Marie Simmons, president of the SCC Employees Association, and Jim McAtee, a student Ambassador Scholar, will speak, representing each of these groups.

Dallas Nance, past Board of Trustees chairman, and Charles Madison, current Board chairman, will also speak. The SCC Chorus will perform as well.

Immediately after the ceremony, refreshments will be served in the main lobby of H building.

The newly-completed Surry Community College Community Support Wall of Honor, which features the college seal, the original and current Board of Trustees and Foundation directors, the endowed scholarships, as well as more than 850 bricks with the names of people who support and have supported the college, will be dedicated and ready for inspection.

Members of SCC's Phi Beta Lambda (International Business Society) will be selling additional brick to those who wish to purchase one during the day. They will be sold on the lawn next to the wall and inside the administrative lobby of H building for $25 to individuals and $50 to businesses.

The Richards Health Sciences Building, which was built with state bond money, houses the new state-of-the-art nursing department, which will be open and offering free blood pressure screening.

The Cosmetology Department, which offers not only the latest in hair care but also facials, manicures, pedicures, acrylic nail applications and any other service a modern salon performs, will have the cosmetology students and instructors modeling and explaining the history of hair styles. The students will also be providing complimentary facials and manicures to demonstrate their skills.

The H building also contains the new SCC Writing Center, which offers across-the-curriculum writing assistance to SCC students and community patrons. The Learning Center, the development studies division, the English and mathematics divisions, as well as the president's administrative staff, are located in H building.

All former students are encouraged to register in the administrative lobby of H building. This registration will help the college update its alumni mailing lists, as well as give alumni a chance to win a framed print of William Sanders' painting, "Commitment," which features an across campus view of the Learning Resources Building. When the painting is examined closely, the viewer will see Carlos Sorrell, long time evening dean, in the lobby of the R building.

Additional changes on campus include moving Continuing Education classes and staff into the former G, or classroom, building. This building, which has been renovated, is now the Continuing Education Center. The bookstore is still located in this building.

The Continuing Education division has also opened a new Learning Center on S. South Street in Mount Airy, next door to Bray's Tire Service. This Center offers ABE and GED classes, as well as many computer classes.

A new addition on campus is the One Stop Center, which coordinates job-related support services for students and area citizens. These offices include representatives from Social Services, Employment Security Commission, Vocational Rehabilitation, and JTPA. This program is located in the Continuing Education Center.

SCC also has a newly-expanded Student Employment Center next door to the Student Services Office in A building. The Employment Center includes the Cooperative Education Program, which places students with area employers, allowing them to earn an income and job-related experience while they attend classes and the JobReady program, which coordinates Surry's technical programs with those offered at local high schools. In this office, students have access to job listings from around the world using World Wide Access on the Internet.

The A building, formerly known as the Administrative Building, is now the Student Center/Business Office. The Business Office has been expanded and is located on the main level of the building. The cafeteria, located on the lower level, will be renovated and expanded during the spring and summer of 1997.

The Learning Resources Building is being renovated at this time. This building is now totally devoted to the library and library services, which will occupy both the main and upper levels of the structure. The reference and special collections, including the extensive genealogy collection, will be located on the second floor of R building.

The Technical Building or T building now contains all science classes and laboratories, the mechanical drafting program, as well as the arts program - music, art, and foreign language. The building will be renovated in the next few years.

The Shop Building, S building, houses the machining technology and welding programs. The building was air conditioned last year.

The V building, or Vocational Building, houses the business division, automotive technology, light construction, and electrical installation programs. This building was renovated in 1995.

The Physical Education Building, P building, houses the gymnasium, the fitness room and the student lounge.

The Body Shop Building, B building, houses the automotive body shop.

The Electronics Building, E building, completed in 1988, contains all computer classes and laboratories, including one open to citizens of the service area as well as all the electronics programs.

Faculty offices are, whenever possible, located in the building that houses the program the instructor teaches.

The entire campus is connected by fiber optic cable and will be completely "networked" by March of 1997. Therefore, by the Fall of 1997, SCC will offer full use and access by students and faculty to the Information Highway, as well as conversion of many student services to electronic methods, including telephone registration. These advances ensure that SCC's students will have the training and education necessary to meet the demands of the technical workforce of the 21st century.

Finally, as a part of a statewide project to improve services to our communities, Surry is involved in a "re-engineering" project which includes a systematic evaluation of all curriculum programs and courses, with conversion to the semester system of credit. Students will benefit from improved articulation and guaranteed transfer of credit to other community colleges and the university system. The business and industrial communities will benefit from more flexible academic calendars to meet workforce training needs. Efficiency of the entire system will be improved through regional program planning and delivery, as well as through reduced administrative costs. Implementation of the semester system and other part of the project will begin in the summer of 1997.

Also during the summer of 1997, SCC will complete the Emergency Training Facility for fire, rescue, law enforcement, and emergency medical services training. This new facility will be built with state bond money and will provide a 600'x250' driving facility, a classroom/storage facility, a burn prop, five propane burn simulator pads, and a trench rescue/confined space simulator.

This facility will improve SCC's ability to train both volunteers and professionals who safeguard our communities. In 1995-96, the college offered 266 firefighters, rescue, and emergency medical courses to 4,736 participants. Another 61 law enforcement courses were provided for 748 students. More than 7,000 hours of instruction were provided to service area individuals in these groups.

Surry Community College President Dr. Jim Reeves says, "The key word in our name has always been community. Our success has been the result of committed efforts of the community and our dedicated employees. We have always been proud of the partnership we have with the citizens and businesses of Surry and Yadkin Counties. Last year, more than 60 community groups and government agencies used the college for meetings and programs. The college also sponsors about 50 public service and cultural events yearly.

Our educational programs served more than 12,500 individuals last year - this equates to approximately one out of every six adults in the service area attending classes. For all these reasons, we hope everyone in the service area will attend our Open House - really an open campus - Dedication/Homecoming. The new building is beautiful and something the community can really be proud of."

SCC dedicates building Sunday

Surry Community College will officially dedicate its new 65,000-square-foot Richards Health Sciences Building on Sunday at 2 p.m.

The building is named for Dr. Swanson Richards, president of SCC from 1972-1994.

The Richards building was constructed with state bond money. It houses a new nursing department, which will be open and offering free blood pressure screening during the dedication.

SCC Plans Dedication Ceremonies

DOBSON — Surry Community College will officially dedicate the new 65,000 square-foot Richards Health Sciences Building on Sunday, October 27, 1996, with the actual ceremony beginning at 2:00 pm.

As part of the celebration, the entire campus will be open for tours conducted by the SCC Ambassadors from 1:00 pm until 4:00 pm. Additionally, guests are urged to visit the "Community Support Wall of Honor" which is located on the west side of Frank Comer Drive. Mr. William Sanders' painting of the SCC campus titled "Commitment," which was commissioned by the SCC Foundation, will be displayed in the main lobby of the H building. Prints of this painting are available with proceeds going to the General Scholarship Fund of the Foundation.

During the ceremony, Mr. John Springthorpe, Chairman of the Surry County Commissioners, will symbolically present the key to the building to Dr. James M. Reeves, President of Surry Community College. Dr. Reeves will accept the key and Mrs. Marie Simmons, President of SCC Employees Association, and Mr. Jim McAtee, a student Ambassador Scholar, will speak representing each of those groups. Mr. Dallas Nance, past Board of Trustees Chairman, and Mr. Charles Madison, current Board Chairman will also speak. The SCC Chorus will perform as well. Immediately after the ceremony, refreshments will be served in the main lobby of H building.

The newly completed Surry Community College Community Support Wall of Honor, which features the college seal, the original and current boards of Trustees and Foundation Directors, the endowed scholarships, as well as more than 850 bricks with the names of people who support and have supported the college, will be dedicated and ready for inspection. Members of SCC's Phi Beta Lambda (International Business Society) will be selling additional brick to those who wish to purchase one during the day.

Surry Community College's Basic Law Enforcement Training Graduates.

SCC Holds Graduation For Law Enforcement Class

Surry Community College recently held graduation exercises for its Basic Law Enforcement Training class. In order to complete the class, students must have 577 hours of training. The classes meet from 6:00 pm until 10:00 pm on Monday through Thursday nights and on Saturdays from 8:00 am to 5:00 pm.

From the nineteen students who began the class, eighteen completed all course work. Of these eighteen, 100% passed the state examination. The class average was 87.3 and nine students had perfect attendance.

Chris Baker had the highest state examination score and the highest average. School director, Garrett D. Hinshaw, Dean of Continuing Education and Assistant to the Vice President, presented the Max A. Blackburn Outstanding Student Award to Toby Butcher.

James T. McHone, Chief Deputy for the Surry County Sheriff's Department, was the guest speaker. Approximately 175 people attended the ceremony.

The graduates include Christopher Stephen Baker, Mark Dwane

Watson Wins SCC Door Prize

During the recent Open House/Dedication of the Richards Health Sciences Building, the Surry Community College Alumni Association sponsored a drawing for door prizes open to any ACC Alumni who registered. In an effort to get current names and addresses of all SCC Alumni, the association, sponsored by Dr. Carlyle Shepherd of the Mathematics Division, asked all alumni present for the dedication to fill out a registration card to bring mailing lists up to date.

After the cards were completed, they were placed in a box for the drawing which occurred at 3:30 pm. The Alumni did not have to be present to win. More than 200 Alumni registered. Susan Wilmoth, Director of Institutional Development, drew the winning registration forms before a large group assembled in the main lobby of the Richards Health Sciences Building.

The first prize, a beautiful framed print of William Sanders' painting of the SCC Campus, was won by the Surry County Sheriff Connie Watson. The painting, titled "Commitment," depicts a sunset view of the campus featuring the Learning Resources Building. An interesting feature of the painting is that long-time evening dean, Carlos Surratt, is standing in the entrance to the building. The title "Commitment" was chosen to reflect the dedication of all past and present SCC employees which has ensured that the college began with a commitment to excellence in educational programs and continues that tradition as long as the institution exists.

Additional door prizes for Alumni included two SCC embroidered sweatshirts. The sweatshirts were won by SCC Alumni Beth Stone of Pilot Mountain and Judy Combs of Dobson.

The Alumni Association was also selling notecards featuring three different pen and ink campus scenes. The pen and ink drawings were also done by Mr. William Sanders, SCC art instructor. The packaged set includes twelve notecards and envelopes, four notecards of each scene, and sells for $5.00. These notecards are available at the SCC Bookstore or through the SCC Alumni Association.

The SCC Alumni Association Officers are Mike Howell, President; Teresa Howell, Vice President; Linda Johnson, Secretary; and Sue Joyner, Treasurer. For additional information about the SCC Alumni Association, contact Dr. Carlyle Shepherd at (910) 386-8121, ext. 212.

Chapter Installed At SCC

The Surry Community College Chapter of Collegiate Secretaries International was installed on November 21, 1996, by Jo Peay, North Carolina division President of Professional Secretaries International; Peggy Scott, Winston-Salem Chapter President; and Dawn Davis, CSI/FSA Committee Chairman. Twenty students were installed as new members and four officers were installed.

The new members include Jeri Atkinson, Lori Bowman, Karen Brammoch, Tabitha Edwards, De Ann Hawkins, Debbie Hiatt, Krystyna Hicks, Camille Johnson, Renee McGee, Sadie Michaud, Kathy Money, Teresa McCrary, Tammy Norman, Tammy Osborne, Christy Riggs, Tonya Warden, Margaret Williams, April Wilmoth, Marie Wood, and Melissa York.

CSI's mission is to enhance the professional image of administrative support positions in an office environment by promoting the professional development of students preparing for careers in administrative support positions or as business teachers in business; and promoting and coordinating the professional activities of Collegiate Secretaries International, Future Secretaries Association, and student members of Professional Secretaries International.

Collegiate Secretaries International is supervised by the Institute for Education, a department of PSI. The Dean of this Institute offered these words of encouragement to the students.

"The studies in which you are currently engaged will provide you with a means to enter one of the top growth fields of the nineties: the secretarial profession. Whether you become a secretary, an administrative assistant, or an office manager, you will have the satisfaction of knowing that your skills make possible the success of your organization."

By the year 2000, over four million secretaries will be working in the United States, and another nine million people will hold related positions. Together, this is almost 10 percent of the total work force.

Judy Riggs, who is director of Basic Skills Programs through the Surry Community College Continuing Education Division, has been chosen to participate in the N.C. Community College Leadership Program. She was chosen from a field of 52 applicants to be one of the 34 participants in this year's leadership class.

Riggs

Riggs has been employed at SCC since 1976. The program is designed to offer an opportunity for leadership training to faculty and staff from the 58 community colleges in the N.C. system. She will attend monthly seminars that began last month and end with graduation in May 1997.

The N.C. chapter of the American Association of Women in Community Colleges sponsors the program. It is partially funded by a grant from the N.C. Department of Community Colleges.

Stockton, Bryant pace SCC in win

BY ANDY ANDREW
Sports Correspondent

DOBSON — Surry Community College scored almost as many points in the second half as Central Carolina Community College did in the entire game en route to a resounding 114-75 win in its home basketball opener Thursday night.

The Knights placed six players in double figures, and every player on the squad scored at least four points.

Former Elkin teammates Marcus Stockton and Josh Bryant were among the leaders with 17 and 16 points. Alleghany's Mitch Adams also had 17 and Kevin Singleton 16. Ronnie Rothrock had 14 and David McPeak 10.

"It's nice to come home for our first game and get a W," said Surry coach Tony Searcy.

The Cougars stayed even through the first 11 minutes before a combination of foul trouble and cold shooting sank them. With the Knights ahead 23-21, Rothrock warmed up. He knocked in nine of the last 13 points scored by his team in the first half. In all, Surry outscored Central Carolina 24-10 in the last nine minutes of the half.

Central Carolina coach Ed Blackman was visibly perturbed with the disparity in the number of fouls. His team attempted only seven free throws. Surry had 42 attempts.

When the teams returned to the floor, Bryant and Stockton took over. Together they scored 18 of their team's next 26 points. Stockton made up for a rusty first half with a variety of moves to the basket and pull-up jumpers.

At that point, Searcy allowed his bench to finish out the game. It played very effectively, scoring 39 points in finishing out the last 11 minutes.

Central's Benjamin Lucas was the game's high scorer, with 22 points, including a dunk off an alley-oop pass that brought big cheers. Unfortunately for him, that only made the score 100-65. As Lucas boasted about the shot while jogging down the floor, Rothrock calmly glanced at the scoreboard and replied, "We've got you by how many?"

Both teams were successful at the three-point line. Central Carolina converted seven and Surry six.

"We played the second half much better," Searcy said. "Was it our best half of the year? Definitely so."

"We've still got to work on some things. We missed some easy layups and threw the ball away. It really is going to be a different kind of team when we play Hiwassee [Tennessee] Saturday. We'll have a long bus ride, then we will have to play a team ranked in the top 10 in the country."

SCC — Singleton 4 0-0 16, Adams 5 6-8 17, Joyce 0 4-6 4, Smith 4 0-0 9, Bryant 8 2-5 16, Stockton 8 1-4 17, Rothrock 5 4-7 14, Hauser 0 0-1 6, Allen 2 1-3 5, McPeak 4 0-0 10. Three-pointers: Bryant 2, McPeak 2, Adams, Smith. Totals: 41 26-42 114.

Classes Set At SCC, Dobson

The Continuing Education Division of Surry Community College has announced that it will sponsor two classes with the American Management Association.

Former SCC visiting artist to lead concert

December 28, 1996, The Enterprise, The Limestone College singing Saints Show Choir, under the direction of former Surry Community College Visiting Artist Gena Poovey, will perform in concert in the fellowship hall at First United Methodist Church in Elkin, Jan. 2, at 7:15 p.m.

The show choir includes nine singers and three instrumentalists. The musical selections which they perform include sacred and secular pieces in gospel, rock, popular and musical theater styles.

An ambassador for Limestone College in Gaffney, S.C., the Singing Saints perform regularly for prospective student open houses and in the Gaffney community. Usually in January, the show choir enjoys a 4-5 day tour, visiting numerous high schools and churches.

Their repertoire includes the national anthem, "Fiesta," "I Hear America Singing," "And So It Goes," "Uptown Girl," "Why Haven't I Heard From You," "The Twelve Days After Christmas," "In the Mood," "Footloose," and a piano and percussion solo.

Poovey was a Visiting Artist at Surry Community College from 1991-93. She has a bachelor of arts degree in music education from Pfeiffer College and a master of music degree from Southern Methodist University. She has been assistant professor of choral/vocal music education at Limestone College since fall, 1993.

McAtee Receives Full-Tuition Community Bank Scholarship

Dr. Jim Reeves, President of Surry Community College, announces that Jim McAtee, SCC second-year business management student, has received the Community Bank Scholarship. This full-tuition scholarship is available to any business, finance, or economics student at Surry who has financial need; however, preference is given to the employees of Community Bank or their children, parents, brothers, or sisters. The recipient is chosen by the SCC Financial Aid Office. This award can be renewed for a second year upon evaluation of the student's record.

Jim McAtee is president of Phi Beta Lambda, an international business society; an SCC Foundation Ambassador Scholar; treasurer of Phi Theta Kappa, an international honorary society; and president of the Inter Club Council/Student Government Association. McAtee also won first place in the state and seventh place in the national PBL public speaking contest. He is a full-time employee of the Hampton Inn of Mount Airy and lives in Pinnacle.

The Community Bank Scholarship was established in March 1996 through the efforts of President and CEO Jim Frye and Vice President Van Coe. This scholarship is an integral part of the bank's initiative to invest in the development and growth of local citizens to improve the quality of life in local communities. Community Bank, incorporated in 1987, supports local charities, civic groups and educational systems that demonstrate traditional values and strive to build good character and citizenship. Community Bank has branches in Pilot Mountain, Dobson, Madison, Sandy Ridge, Union Grove, and two in Mount Airy.

Additional information about The Community Bank Scholarship or any other SCC Foundation scholarship is available from the Office of Institutional Development or the Financial Aid Office at Surry Community College (910) 386-8121.

A special closet supervised by student Amy Flippin helps Surry Community College students get proper clothing for a job interview.

College finds solution for job attire shortfall

BY JAY R. DAVIS
Staff Reporter

DOBSON — The dream job has called. The interview is next week. No money? No suit?

No problem. Surry Community College now offers the Clothing Closet for students who need professional attire for job interviews. The closet, which is set up in a room on the Dobson campus, is available free of charge for financially strapped SCC students.

"When you think about students, all they have, some of them, are blue jeans," says Mary Emily Cook, a marketing and retailing instructor for SCC. "You can't really wear that to an interview."

Cook says the idea for the Clothing Closet came from another community college.

"It was such a good idea," she says.

"There are a lot of people who need this."

Students can obtain a new or like-new professional outfit for their job interviews and a second outfit if they receive the job.

The program is sponsored by SCC's American Association for Women in Community Colleges. The Clothing Closet is on the upper level of the Vocational Building at the college's Dobson campus.

SCC is looking for donations.

"We want something students can wear proudly to a professional interview," Cook says. A lot of people change sizes or get tired of the clothes they have, she said, and if that's the case they can donate them to the closet and get a tax deduction.

Clothing may be dropped off at the college or the Learning Center in Mount Airy.

For information, contact Amy Flippin or Mary Emily Cook at SCC at 386-8121, extension 251. Students interested in the program may also contact Cook.

The registration fee for all classes is $35, supplies for the rug courses are extra. N.C. residents 65 or older may register free of charge. For more information on the Starmount courses call 367-7562; for the others, call 386-8121 ext. 261 or 269.

New Chapter Officers Installed

The Surry Community College Chapter of the American Association for Women in Community Colleges installed the new officers for the 1996-97 year during the December Christmas Dinner meeting held at the Pine Ridge Inn in Mount Airy. The meeting was held on Monday, December 9, 1996, at 6:00 p.m.

The new officers who were installed are Mary Emily Cooke, President; Vicki M. York, President-elect; Jean S. Badgett, Secretary; and Cindy F. Gillmore, Treasurer. Mrs. Cook served as president-elect last year. Mrs. Judy Riggs, charter president, conducted the installation service.

During the last year the Surry Chapter of the AAWCC initiated and funded free GED testing for students presenting a coupon which was printed in the newspaper and the class schedule mailer. Money for this project was raised through a raffle in the fall. The group has also begun a new campus project, the Clothing Closet, which allows students with demonstrated need to obtain professional work apparel for interviews with prospective employers. Also, the organization was campus sponsor for "Denim Day" on October 25, 1996, in recognition of breast cancer awareness. Money raised through this project went to the Komen Foundation for Breast Cancer Research.

Additionally, the new president, Mary Emily Cook, attended the state AAWCC conference in Winston-Salem in November. Judy Riggs, former president, was selected to attend the N.C. Community College Leadership Program.

The SCC AAWCC now has 30 members. For additional information about the organization contact Mary Emily Cooke at Surry Community College (910) 386-8121. Clothing Closet-Surry Community college is offering a new program to help SCC students striving to be successful in the workforce. The Clothing Closet programs students with demonstrated need to obtain professional apparel free of charge. The program provides students with a selector of new and like-new professional outfits for their job interviews and a second outfit upon receiving the job.

According to Mary Emily Cooke SCC marketing and retailing instructor "The Clothing Closet has been needed on our campus for a long time. This service will give some of our student, the extra edge they need to secure a professional position."

Anita Bullin, SCC Director of Career Services, also believes that "there is a definite need at Surry for this service. Other community colleges offer this service to their students and have found it invaluable to their students. Any student who comes to Job Link/Career center seeking employment who needs interviewing clothing can let us know about this need and we'll refer them to The Clothing Closet."

The Clothing Closet is located on the upper level of the Vocational building on the SCC campus in Dobson. Since this is a non-profit program, all donations of new or good used professional clothing would be welcomed and greatly appreciated. All donated items are tax deductible. Clothing can be dropped off at the college or The Learning Center in Mount Airy (between Bray's Recapping and Michael's Restaurant). For additional information, contact Amy Flippin or Mary Emily Cooke at 386-8121, ext.251

Air Force ACC Heritage Of American Brass Quintet To Perform At SCC

The U.S. Air Force ACC Heritage of America Brass Quintet will span more than 250 years of musical tradition when they appear at Surry Community College for a free performance on Thursday evening, January 23 1997 at 7:30 p.m. in the college teaching auditorium. The program is being sponsored by the Foothills Arts Council.

The Quintet's repertoire includes a wide variety of chamber works, as well as popular and patriotic pieces.

According to the group's leader and Trombonist, Staff Sergeant Gregory Werner, the Quintet's versatility comes from their educational backgrounds and experience. They have studied with members of such major orchestras as the Boston Symphony, Boston Pops, Los Angeles Symphony, San Francisco Symphony, Minnesota Symphony, Dallas Symphony, Louisville Orchestra, and numerous others. In addition, they have attended some of the leading music schools in the country: the University of Illinois, Temple University, University of New Mexico and Virginia Tech. Comprised of two trumpets, horn, trombone and tuba, the Brass Quintet is part of the ACC Heritage of America Band, a 60-member band based at Langely Air Force Base VA. For further information, contact the Continuing Education Division at 386-8121 ext. 269.

College Offers Emergency Course

From Staff Reports
 DOBSON — A First Responder course will be offered by the Continuing Education Division of Surry Community College beginning Feb. 6 and ending March 27.

First responders are volunteers who are situated in the various communities of Surry County and often are first on the scene in emergencies. They serve as a vital link in rendering assistance for accident or other victims until agencies such as the EMS arrive.

The class schedule for the 80-hour course includes meeting from 6 to 10 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays and from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturdays in Room C-102 on the Dobson campus.

The class carries a $35 registration fee and the required textbook, "First Responder: A Skills Approach, Fourth Edition," costs $32.55. Members of life-saving organizations may register free of charge.

College Names Center Director

From Staff Reports
 DOBSON — George M. Snyder left the educational field in Surry County last summer, but it didn't take him long to return.

Monday, Snyder will become director of the Small Business Center at Surry Community College, a job that includes coordinating training and other programs to meet needs of local business and industry. He is replacing Sue Marion, who accepted a position as Small Business Center director at Forsyth Tech.

Snyder, a longtime administrator in the Mount Airy school system, resigned in July to become assistant principal of Northwest Guilford High School. His departure came during a time of turmoil in Mount Airy schools, in which Snyder served 22 years. He and others resigned during the reign of controversial Superintendent Joe Rogers, who himself left later in the year in period of city school board and other reorganization.

"We are pleased to have someone of George's caliber - a person who has already made so many contributions to education in this area is part of our staff," SCC President Dr. Jim Reeves said of the appointment of Snyder.

At the time he left the Mount Airy school system, Snyder, a native of the city, was serving as director of operations and personnel as a member of the central-office staff. His duties included coordinating the hiring, recruiting and certifying of DOBSON — Surry Community College got the short end of the stick Thursday night. The undersized Knights basketball team was victimized by a string of put-backs of offensive rebounds in the second half, allowing Brevard College to escape with a 75-73 win.

Brevard's shortest starter was as tall as Surry's tallest. Despite that, and the fact that Brevard competes in Junior College Division I (two levels above Surry), coach Tony Searcy felt that his team missed a good chance to win.

"I thought we could have beat this team," he said after the game. "We just didn't come to play. We didn't work hard enough. We didn't take care of the ball and turned it over a ton of times."

Brevard coach Dudley Bradley agreed, saying, "I give a lot of credit to Surry. They're not going to give you anything easy. They were scrappy. They made a good run at us."

Surry started strong on a layup and a turnaround by Marcus Stockton, but a basket and a pair of free throws from Benjamin Warren tied it. It stayed close throughout the first half. The Knights fell behind 14-11, but two three-pointers by Mitch Adams thrust them back in front. Brevard climbed back on top 19-18 with eight minutes to go. Then a 19-8 run, spurred by seven points from David McPeak, put Surry ahead 36-26 with 1:30 to go in the half.

Bradley, a former star for UNC and the NBA's Indiana Pacers, learned one lesson well from coach Dean Smith. Namely, that many games are won or lost at the very end of the first half and the very beginning of the second. Shannon Miller and Ryan Rasnake each buried three-point shots in the final minute to cut the lead down to four before Anthony Smith followed a miss by Jeff Allen with a second remaining to extend it back to 38-32 for Surry at halftime.

The Tornadoes roared out of the locker room with Philip Tensley and Marc Lindgren teaming up for an 11-1 run. Surry refused to roll over, replying with a 16-6 streak of its own to move in front 55-51.

Lindgren, a 6-9 center, began to hit the hook shots he had been missing in the first half and kept his team in the contest. Lindgren scored 19 to lead all scorers. All but two came in the second half. Tensley followed with 15 for Brevard.

In the furious final 10 minutes, the big height advantage began to take its toll. In a three-minute stretch, Brevard scored five of its six baskets on stick-backs of missed shots.

That was not enough to pull away, however, as McPeak scored nine of Surry's points in a row. The score was tied four more times and stood at 70-69 in favor of the Knights with 2:13 left to play. Lindgren scored two more times to make it 73-70. Sean Joyce hit one of two free throws and Jeff Allen muscled in a bucket to tie it at 73 with 28 seconds to go. Brevard methodically worked the clock down and moved the ball inside, where 6-10 Derrick Jackson hit a short jumper to put his team ahead.

Surry called timeout at midcourt with 10 seconds left. The ensuing play took too long to develop, and a left-handed drive by Smith from the lane bounced off the rim as the horn sounded.

McPeak (16 points), Stockton (12), Allen (12), and Smith (10), all placed in double figures for Surry.

Said Bradley, "Those offensive rebounds were the difference in the ball game. In the first half they gave us shots, then took away the inside. We can't win when we're one-and-done. Once we got over that, we did pretty well."

"Their offensive boards killed us," agreed Searcy. "They took the shots we wanted them to take. But when you're small, you have to box out better. Especially down the stretch. Foul shots [nine for 21] hurt us a lot. That's been our Achilles' heel all year."

Forsyth Slips By Knights

From Staff Reports
 DOBSON — Don Chadley drilled a 3-pointer with just five seconds left to play Thursday night to lift Forsyth Tech to a 103-100 win over Surry Community College.

The loss snapped Surry's three-game winning streak and dropped the Knights to 9-7 overall.

The Knights led 53-43 at the break, but Forsyth netted six of eight 3-pointers in the second half to spark its comeback. Forsyth also helped itself at the free throw line by hitting 19 of 27 attempts. Surry hit just 8 of 17 at the line.

Anthony Smith led the Knights with 18 points, Jeff Allen followed with 17. David McPeak had 15. Marcus Stockton 11 and Ronnie Rothrock 10.

Hackley Will Be Missed In Community College System

When North Carolina's Community College President Lloyd "Vic" Hackley announced last week he was giving up his job no later than June, two immediate bits of speculation arose. One is that Hackley was in line for an appointment in the Clinton administration and the other is that he had become increasingly frustrated with his inability to effect meaningful change among the 59 scattered campuses.

Hackley, head of the community college system for only two years, didn't directly discount either possibility, lending some credence to both theories.

Hackley, 56, accepted the community college job with a pledge to transform the system into one attuned to the needs of North Carolina's job market. He worked at that, but quickly found tough going against an array of individual presidents and local boards of trustees. It was a far cry from the hierarchy of the university system, where he'd built his career.

As Hackley's frustration with the bureaucracy of the community college system grew, so did his interest in possibilities elsewhere, particularly in Washington.

Losing someone of Hackley's ability is a blow to post-secondary education in this state. And it comes at a time when all signs point to an even more vital role for the community colleges. He is not the first leader to find the politics of the system stifling. But his departure ought to wake up the legislature to the urgency of unifying and streamlining management of the two-year college system.

SCC stays close, can't pull ahead of Spartanburg Methodist

By ANDY ANDREW
Sports Correspondent

DOBSON — A year ago, the Spartanburg Methodist men's basketball team rolled onto the campus of Surry Community College and stomped it by nearly 100 points. The memory must have still been stinging, because Surry nearly took its revenge before finally falling 82-71 Thursday night.

With a little over 12 minutes left and leading by six points, Spartanburg coach Brian Garmroth called time. As his players huddled around him, he jumped on them pretty hard, saying, "These guys would like nothing better than to kick your butts, and they're durned closed to doing it."

Point guard Earl Grant took the message to heart. Grant scored four baskets for 10 of his game-high 21 points and assisted on another in a five-minute span to stretch the lead to 12, which is about where it remained for the final five minutes of the game.

Granted, this was not the same team as the one last year and Garmroth was not the coach. The school has tightened academic standards and done away with scholarships, making it somewhat more mortal. But it is still a Division I team, one of three the Division III Knights faced this year over five games.

"We played three Division I games this year," said Surry coach Tony Searcy, "and were able to play along with two of them. When you play against a team that's bigger and quicker, you've got to be at the top of your game. You have to do the little things that it takes to win, and we didn't always. Maybe that [the big loss last year] affected them mentally a little bit."

Jeff Allen gave the Knights a 3-2 lead, their only lead, with a three-point play. The muscular Allen had one of his best outings of the year, scoring 19 points and boxing out the taller Pioneers underneath for rebounds. Allen scored 10 in the first half. A three-pointer by Kevin Singleton cut it to 43-28 before a six-point run opened it up again. A late basket by Marcus Stockton made it 40-30 at the half.

Michael Jones was the Pioneers' big hitter in the first half, both scoring and rebounding. Jones had nine points in each half while playing out of position.

"Michael has been a perimeter player all year," Garmroth said, "but we had two post players get hurt Tuesday night, so we had to move him inside. He picked up on it real well in practice."

Surry never let the game out of its sight. At the eight-minute mark, the margin was only five, 59-54. But a series of fatal inside misses and missed three-pointers allowed Spartanburg to move out to a comfortable lead again and hold onto it.

Stockton finished with 11 points in the second half and 15 in the game.

"Surry made several strong runs at us," Garmroth said. "They're a real scrappy team. They have excellent penetration, I told my players at the half that they were capable of scoring 20 points in a hurry if we didn't stay with our man and let them get in the lane and dish off."

Said Searcy, "Jeff [Allen] played super. He really fought hard underneath. But, overall, it was our worst shooting night of the season."

Surry is 11-10 for the season, 3-2 in the conference. A make-up game with Wilkes will be played at 6 p.m. today, ending the conference season.

Surry will be seeded second behind Forsyth Tech in the conference tourney, which it will play host to on Thursday afternoon.

SCC PARTICIPATES IN GOV. HUNT'S INAUGURATION

A delegation from Surry Community College participated in Gov. Jim Hunt's inaugural celebration. The event began on Jan. 8 with a "kick-off" program honoring the state's community colleges.

Hunt joined college officials and students to showcase the system's contributions to North Carolina. The theme was "Education is our Future - It is Everything."

Attending from Surry Community College were Jim Reeves, president; John Collins, vice president for curriculum programs; Susan Wilmoth, director of institutional development; Becky Money, technical assistant in the office of institutional development; Linda Whitt, secretary for planning and research; and Jim McAtee, inter-club council president.

Hunt said, "This inaugural and this administration will be dedicated to our young people, our schools and our future. Our community colleges have been an important part of building North Carolina's strong economy, and I look forward to holding them up as an example of how we can work together to make North Carolina all it can be in the next four years."

In the event, which was held at Durham Tech, former students from the 59 community colleges related their experiences in the community college system. Other speakers included Lt. Gov. Dennis Wicker, chairman of the state board of community colleges; Dr. Vic Hackley, president of the state community college system; and Phil Wynn, president of Durham Tech.

Whitt, a Surry Community College graduate, was one of the six students from across the state to speak. A single parent who returned to school at age 36 after her husband's death, Whitt graduated with an A.A. degree with a concentration in business and was employed at SCC right after graduation.

She told the audience, "My degree enabled me to make a home for myself and my children without having to rely on anyone else. The community college enables students to fulfill their dreams and dare to hope for a brighter future."

Her son, Stephen, also attended SCC before transferring to Lenoir-Rhyne.

After the program, a reception was held to give participants and guests a chance to talk to Gov. Hunt, Lt. Gov. Wicker and President Hackley.

In addition to events honoring universities and community colleges, Hunt invited student body presidents from all the state's colleges, universities and community colleges to Raleigh for a discussion on higher education on Jan. 11. Surry Community College Inter-Club Council President Jim McAtee participated in the discussion and remained in Raleigh for the inauguration on Jan. 11.

McAtee heard singer James Taylor sing "Carolina on My Mind" and writer Doris Betts read an original piece centered on the inaugural theme. McAtee said, "Both events were impressive, and I was proud to represent SCC at the inauguration."

Driving Class Set To Begin

DOBSON — An adult drivers-education course will be offered by Surry Community College beginning Tuesday at 6:30 p.m. in Room C-104 on the Dobson campus.

The course is specifically designed for unlicensed persons age 18 or older, college officials say. The class will meet each Tuesday from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. for 10 weeks for a total of 30 hours of classroom instruction. In addition, each student will be required to complete six hours of "in-car" training.

A $35 registration fee is required for the course, with a textbook provided by the school. North Carolina residents who are 65 or older may register free of charge.

Change At SCC Will Effect All Students

► Changing from the quarter system of credit to semesters will effect the school calendar, conversion of courses, course load, GPA, graduation, fees, and financial aid.

THE PILOT 2-12-97

DOBSON — The most significant change since its beginning over 32 years ago will occur at Surry Community College starting June 2, 1997, as the quarter system gives way to the semester system of credit. The change will effect the school calendar, conversion of courses, course load, GPA, graduation, fees, and financial aid.

College leaders said the changes positively will effect a number of issues including transfer of credit and alignment with all N.C. community colleges and universities in the nation.

Surry Community College President Jim Reeves said "the conversion to the semester system will improve the college's services to both students and the communities served by the college. Students will benefit from improved articulation and guaranteed transfer of credit to other community colleges and the university system. The business and industrial communities will benefit from more flexible academic calendars to meet workforce training needs."

"The conversion to the semester system is part of a state-wide project which included a systematic evaluation of all curriculum programs and courses," Reeves added, "This project ensures that all N.C. community colleges are now aligned with all community colleges and universities in the nation. This alignment makes transferring to any other community college or university much easier for Surry's students. This project involves the most significant change at SCC since its inception more than 32 years ago."

SCC Student Elizabeth Flinchum of Westfield noted she liked the idea of change from quarter to semester.

"I went to a university first and we had semesters there," she said. "It's hard to switch from the quarter to the semester system. I think it's good to start off that way to avoid a big change when you transfer. Plus, you can get all the classwork finished before Christmas and don't have to come back after vacation in the middle of a quarter."

"Whenever major change occurs, people are concerned about how this change will affect them—that's human nature," Reeves said. "All of us at SCC want to assure our students and their parents that this change will not adversely affect them. We have an excellent faculty and staff who are ready to help all current students and former students, who need to return to complete a program, make the change to the semester system—that personal attention and our strong educational programs are the things about SCC that have not and will not ever change."

Students Should Plan Carefully

Mike McHone, SCC Vice President for Student Services, said, "Students and parents have concerns about the semester system conversion which will begin with this year's summer school session. There really is no "big deal" about the change to semesters if students plan carefully—especially for spring quarter which begins February 26, 1997. The key to success involves meeting with faculty advisors and SCC counselors before registration day, February 24."

According to McHone, the questions about conversion center around calendar, course conversion, course load, GPA (grade point average), graduation, fees, and financial aid issues. In order to alleviate these concerns voiced by both students and parents, McHone and his staff have answered the most commonly asked questions.

Questions dealing with calendar issues include:

What will be the academic calendar for 1997-98?

Fall semester will begin August 20, 1997, and end December 20, 1997. Spring semester will begin January 8, 1998, and end May 13, 1998. A summer semester will begin May 28, 1998, and end August 8, 1998. This time frame puts our calendar in line with most colleges, universities, as well as area public schools. This makes transfer easier as well as making it easier to arrange work schedules and child care.

Will semesters mean it takes more than two years to earn an associate's degree?

No. Students will still be able to earn a degree in two years if they have all the requirements and take the suggested full-time load.

Next week questions about graduation, course conversion, course load, GPA, and fees will be covered.

SCC plans business courses for March

DOBSON — The Continuing Education Division at Surry Community College will hold the following business-oriented courses next month.

• A 66-hour National Electric course begins March 3. Classes will meet Mondays and Wednesdays through May 28, from 6:30-9:30 p.m. The registration fee is $35.

• A 78-hour Wastewater Treatment Course begins March 4. This course will meet from 6-9 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday evenings. This course is designed to assist the individual in preparation for the N.C. Water Pollution Control System Operators Certification Commission Grade I and II Examinations. The registration fee for this course is $35 plus a textbook charge.

• A 15-hour course in small business development. The course will be offered beginning Tuesday evenings, March 4-April 1, from 6:30-9:30 p.m. A registration fee of $35 will be collected at the first class meeting.

Preregistration for each course is required. Call 386-8121, extension 211, to preregister.

SCC Represented At Governor Hunt's Inaugural Celebration

► Linda Whitt, SCC graduate and Secretary for Planning and Research, was one of the six students from across the state to speak.

Members of the administration of Surry Community College participated in Governor Hunt's inaugural celebration. Attendees were President Jim Reeves, Vice-President for Curriculum Programs John Collins, Director of Institutional Development Susan Wilmouth, Technical Assistant in the Office of Institution Development Becky Money, Secretary for Planning and Research Linda Whitt, and Inter-Club Council President Jim McAtee.

The celebration began on Wednesday, January 8 with a kick off program with the theme: Education is Our Future - It is Everything honoring the state's community college. Governor Hunt joined college officials and students to showcase the system's contributions to North Carolina.

Governor Hunt said, "This Inaugural and this Administration will be dedicated to our young people, our schools, and our future. Our community colleges have been an important part of building North Carolina's strong economy, and I look forward to holding them up as an example of how we can work together to make North Carolina all it can be in the next four years."

In the Wednesday event held at Durham Tech, former students from the 59 community colleges related their experiences in the community college system. Other speakers included Lt. Governor Dennis Wicker, Chair of the State Board of Community Colleges; Dr. Vic Hackley President of the state Community College System and Phail Wynn, President of Durham Tech.

Linda Whitt, SCC graduate and Secretary for Planning and Research, was one of the six students from across the state to speak. Whitt is a single parent who returned to school at age 36 after her husband's death. She graduated with an A.A. degree with a concentration in Business and was employed at SCC right after graduation. Whitt said, "My degree enabled me to make a home for myself and my children without having to rely on anyone else. The community college enables students to fulfill their dreams and dare to hope for a brighter future."

Her son Stephen also attended SCC before transferring to Lenoir-Rhyne. She has a unique perspective of a student, employee, and parent of a student.

After the program, a reception was held to give participants and guests a chance to talk to Governor Hunt, Lt. Governor Wicker, and President Hackley.

In addition to events honoring universities and community colleges, Hunt invited Student Body Presidents from all the state's colleges, universities, and community colleges to Raleigh for a discussion on higher education on Friday, January 11. SCC Inter-Club Council President Jim McAtee participated in the discussion and remained in Raleigh for the inauguration on Saturday, January 11.

McAtee heard singer James Taylor sing "Carolina on My Mind" and writer and UNC-Chapel Hill Professor Doris Betts read an original piece centered on the inaugural theme. McAtee said, "both events were impressive, and I was proud to represent SCC at the Inauguration."

Snyder Named SCC Small Business Center Director

Dr. Jim Reeves, President of SCC, announces that George M. Snyder, has been hired as the Director of the SCC Small Business Center. Reeves, commented, "We are pleased to have someone of George's caliber, a person who has already made so many contributions to education in this area, as part of our staff."

Snyder, who left the Mount Airy City School Snyder last year, is currently the assistant principal of Northwest Guilford High School. While in the Mount Airy system, Snyder served as Director of Operations and Personnel coordinating the hiring, recruiting, and certifying of staff, as well as overseeing the finance and food services departments; he also monitored the physical facilities for the system.

Prior to joining the central office staff, Snyder was the principal of Mount Airy Senior High School from 1988 to 1991 after serving as assistant principal for several years. He also taught history and coached football and golf. Snyder is a Mount Airy native who graduated from Mount Airy Senior High School, East Carolina University, and received his M.A. degree from Gardner-Webb University. Additionally, he received teaching certification from Wake Forest University and graduate training from Radford University. He had been active in both professional and civic organizations and has been actively involved in efforts to improve the economic and recreational opportunities for the community.

Beginning work at SCC on Monday, February 3, Snyder will be responsible for maintaining close contact with the small business community and area chambers of commerce to identify the courses, seminars and programs needed by local business and industry. He will be responsible for organizing and coordinating these efforts, securing instructors, maintaining records, and assuring state and local standards are maintained.

SCC triumphs in tournament

The Surry Community College men's basketball team advanced to the final of the Western Tarheel Conference tournament by beating Wilkes 112-81 Thursday night.

"Tougher defensive intensity in the second half led to the victory," coach Tony Searcy said.

Marcus Stockton had 19 points and 10 rebounds. Josh Bryant had 11 points.

SCC will play Forsyth Tech at 7 tonight at SCC for the tourney title.

SCC loses in tournament finale

By ANDY ANDREW
Sports Correspondent

DOBSON - Surry Community College pushed Forsyth Tech to the limit before finally falling in the Championship game of the Western Tarheel Conference Tournament 108-103.

The Knights, who had already lost twice to Forsyth, played one of their best games of the season until the height disadvantage that has plagued them all season cost them once again.

As Coach Tony Searcy made the trophy presentations, he thanked both teams for putting on a good show. That was an accurate statement, as fans were treated to a good exhibition of a variety of basketball skills.

Afterward, he praised his team's effort, saying, "They played hard. They really put it on the line tonight. I can't say we lost because of a lack of effort."

Marcus Stockton and Jeff Allen each had one of his best games of the season in leading Surry. Stockton had 29 points, mostly on drives to the hole and pull-ups in the lane, shooting soft jumpers over the defense. Allen, on the other hand, was the Knights' only real force inside. Showing unexpected quickness, he faked jumpers and ran by his man for layups. Allen also was responsible for most of his team's rebounds on both ends of the floor.

Also in double figures were Anthony Smith with 20 and Josh Bryant and David McPeak with 12 each.

The contest stayed close nearly the whole time. The score was tied on 16 occasions. Surry's largest lead came at 13-6 early in the first half, while Forsyth managed an eight-point spread with just under eight minutes left in the game. Other than that it was a see-saw contest that could have gone either way.

Stockton and Allen scored 14 of their team's first 17 points before Forsyth bounced back. Coach David Solomon shouted for his team to remember who their shooter was. That turned out to be O.J. Linney, who showed why with a string of 12 points in five minutes. The last 10 minutes of the first half saw neither team build a lead of more than three points.

It continued that way until a 12-4 surge gave the Tigers their biggest lead, 89-81 at the 7:47 mark.

Stockton fouled out at that point, even though the Surry bench and Stockton himself claimed that he had only been charged with four fouls. Smith, Bryant, and Allen took up the slack to close it to one point. Two goals by Forsyth were answered by a basket by McPeak and a three-pointer by Mitch Adams to tie it up at 94-94.

That turned out to be the high-water mark. The next time down the floor, Forsyth made a shot on its fourth attempt. Following a Surry miss, Linney scored on the third tip of a miss. A steal and a fast break by Donnie Greeley gave Forsyth a six-point working margin, that it was able to maintain until the last few seconds.

Leading 107-101, the Tigers committed the unpardonable sin of fouling a three-point shooter, giving Surry a chance to pull to within one score with 11 seconds remaining. However, Kevin Singleton made only two of the free throws and Greeley added one for his team to close out the scoring.

Linney had a superb night, with 15 field goals and six-of-seven from the line for 36 points. Greeley also had a strong showing, adding 31.

"Forsyth is a good team," said Searcy. "Those second-chance opportunities are what killed us. That's what happens when you are smaller and the other team can jump higher. Marcus' fouling out hurt us. He had a great game. So did Allen. I had to play him more minutes than I would have liked to, because he was all we had to go up against them inside."

As a result of the forfeiture of two wins by Central Piedmont earlier in the season, Surry carries a 15-10 record into the Region 20 Tournament at Hagerstown Community College in Maryland Saturday. Seedings and times will not be known until later today.

Noting that his team made only two three-point shots, Searcy said, "Normally we do a better job than that from the three-point line. We usually attempt more and make more. We're going to have to be hot on three-pointers to have a chance in Maryland. But if we can play with the same effort and step it up a little bit, we might put on another good show."

CPR Courses Set For March 1

College Plans To Sell Bonds

By ANGELA LEONARD
Staff Writer

DOBSON - With one project just complete, Surry Community College plans another phase of renovations with more than $3 million from state and local bonds.

"We're requesting that ... remaining bonds, $2,064,761, for the college be sold," SCC President Jim Reeves told the Surry County Board of Commissioners Monday night.

These funds will be used to finance the already approved Public Officer Training Facility and cafeteria and library renovations estimated to cost $1,154,041 from local bonds and $927,959 from state bonds.

Reeves said that once those three projects are complete, the county still will have a balance of about $900,000, which is needed for further campus renovations.

will include renovating shop areas for machine shop classes, an electrical installation program and automotive body shop improvements; making all buildings handicapped-accessible at the main entrance; a new parking lot behind H-Building; repairing a crack in the gym wall; and roof repairs. Those projects, the SCC official said, will cost an estimated $325,000.

"I feel like we have underestimated the cost of the Public Officer Training Facility," Reeves continued, indicating that as much as $300,000 more might be needed. "Those estimates were conservative and are several years old."

Once those projects are complete, he said, "We should have

Foxx To Target College System

By STEPHEN HARRIS
Raleigh Correspondent

Community colleges have played third fiddle in North Carolina to public universities and public schools, state Sen. Virginia Foxx says, and she is setting out to do something about that.

The Republican senator from Banner Elk, who also represents Surry County, said she intends to meet with representatives from the area's community colleges (including the one in Surry) to see what she can do to help.

"I think community colleges have become the redheaded stepchild," Foxx said, with the General Assembly giving more attention (and money) to the other two branches of public education.

Last week, Foxx won a second term on the state Senate Education/Higher Education Committee. She already knows something about education: She has been the president of a community college in Spruce Pine, an assistant dean at Appalachian State University in Boone and a school board member in Watauga County.

Foxx said she has no plans in particular yet for Surry Community College in Dobson. However, she does want community colleges to cooperate more closely with the public universities and pursue more cooperative ventures such as adding high school programs.

The state Senate president pro tem made new committee assignments last week as the 1997 session of the N.C. General Assembly began.

Since legislators handle most of their work in committee, their assignments dictate much of what they will do for the next two years of the legislative session.

Foxx, who began her second term in the Senate last week, saw one committee change. She was moved from the Agriculture Committee to Commerce. She remains on Education and two other committees.

Don East, a state senator from Pilot Mountain, picked up an extra committee duty. He was added to the Senate Pensions and Retirement and Insurance Committee, which deals mostly with matters involving state employees. He returns to budgetary work with Children and Human Resources, Agriculture and Ways and Means.

The two senators received the committee assignments one might expect for second-term Republicans. The best assignments go to more senior senators and to those who belong to the majority party. In the Senate, the Democrats are in the majority.

For instance, all freshmen Democratic senators were named committee co-vice chairmen, though that position is mostly honorary.

A NEWS BRIEF

SCC hires educator as center director

MOUNT AIRY — A former principal and football coach at Mount Airy High School has been hired as the new director of Surry Community College's Small Business Center here.

George M. Snyder, who left the Mount Airy City School System last year, will be responsible for maintaining close contact with the small business community and area chambers of commerce to identify the courses, seminars and programs for local business and industry.

Snyder, a Mount Airy native, has worked since last fall as an assistant principal at Northwest Guilford High School. He was principal at Mount Airy from 1988 until 1991.

He started work Feb. 3.

SCC creates new scholarship

BEULAH — A scholarship has been created at Surry Community College to honor four community educators.

The scholarship, available to any active member of Oak Grove Baptist Church in Beulah, honors Rebecca P. Allen, Ivylyn Allen Green, Edward Martin Allen and Fleta Rhyne Allen. All four taught for some time at Beulah School.

Together the four long-time members at Oak Grove, represent 124 years of teaching.

Anyone who would like to contribute to this scholarship can call the Office of Institutional Development at SCC at (910) 386-9131.

SCC Scholarship Honoring Navy Man

From Staff Reports

DOBSON — A scholarship recently was established at Surry Community College in memory of a local man who drowned last year while serving in the Navy.

The Andrew Lawson Memorial Scholarship was announced by SCC President Jim Reeves as an addition to a large number of memorial and other scholarships established through a college support organization called the Surry Community College Foundation. The total number of scholarships begun is around 30.

The Andrew Lawson Memorial Scholarship was established by Lawson's parents, Nancy and Michael Lawson, to honor the memory of their son.

Andrew Lawson, known to his friends and family as "Drew," was an Eagle Scout who played football all four years before his graduation from Surry Central High School at Dobson. He became interested in the Navy and the medical field when he worked with a hospital representative of the Navy at the local Camp Raven Knob, a Dogwood District Boy Scout facility, during one summer. Lawson subsequently joined the Navy in December 1993.

The local man's last assignment was with the

See SCC, page 2A

Marines as a field medic on duty at Camp Schwab in Okinawa, Japan. On July 16, 1996, Lawson accidentally drowned as a result of what the Navy identified as "shallow-water blackout."

Lawson's dream was to become a Navy SEAL and later work in orthopedics or inhalation therapy.

Those dreams will never be accomplished, and for that reason, Lawson's mother said, "this scholarship helps someone else's dream become reality. What better way to keep his memory alive than to help someone else with their education. Drew would be so and has a grade-point average of at least 3.0, or a "B." Recipients will be chosen by the SCC Financial Aid Committee. The scholarship can be renewed each semester for a second year, contingent upon a satisfactory evaluation of the student's record by the committee.

An endowed scholarship at Surry Community College must have a core balance of $10,000 or more, with the funds invested according to policies of the SCC Foundation. Only the income from invested funds is used for awards or scholarships. The endowment generates enough interest income from the invested funds to award a full-year scholarship for a student.

Therefore, as long as Surry Community College exists, the Drew Lawson scholarship will be awarded to one student a year, SCC officials say.

Couple Fund $50,000 Scholarship

From Staff Reports

DOBSON — A $50,000 scholarship has been established at Surry Community College by a local construction company official and his wife.

The gift and pledge was made by Betty Kay and Richard Vaughn in honor of the late John S. Clark, who founded the well-known area construction company of the same name.

Mr. Vaughn is now the chairman and CEO of John S. Clark Co. Inc., and a former member of the N.C. Board of Transportation. Mrs. Vaughn is a long-time member of the Surry Community College Board of Trustees and one of the area's most vocal supporters of SCC, officials say.

The Vaughns' newly established endowment scholarship made possible by their $50,000 pledge is directed to help employees of John S. Clark and Riverside Building Supply Inc. and their children. Riverside Building Supply is part of the same business group as John S. Clark Co.

The $50,000 gift at maturity will provide a minimum of five full yearly scholarships or multiple partial scholarships, officials say.

The gift was announced by college President Jim Reeves and the Surry Community College Foundation, an arm of the school that supports its mission by overseeing a number of endowed scholarships and other programs. In the past year, a number of endowments have been established in honor of area residents to enable students to better take advantage of the college's educational opportunities.

The scholarships are created from income received from investing the principle of the gift according to the Surry Community College Foundation's Investment Policy. Any income received in excess of the employees' requirements will go into the college's general scholarship fund, officials say.

"Surry Community College is one of the best institutions in our area," Mrs. Vaughn said. "It has not only offered our local students an inexpensive educational opportunity, but has helped many area citizens improve their skills. Our area has benefitted economically and many of our young people have chosen to remain and work in the area because of this institution."

The Vaughn Scholarship Fund assistance will be available for students for the 1997 fall semester.

Royster Scholarship

In connection with a similar move, the formation of a new SCC Foundation scholarship by local attorneys Stephen and Michael Royster was announced.

This fund will provide three full-tuition scholarships each year, according to the college. One recipient each will be chosen from Mount Airy, North Surry and East Surry high schools.

Michael and Stephen Royster are partners in a law firm with offices at 110 S. Depot St. in Pilot Mountain and 851 Marshall St. in Mount Airy. Michael Royster is on the college Board of Trustees.

"So many of our clients come from the service area of these three schools that Stephen and I wanted to do something to help the children of our clients and former clients," he said. "We decided that a scholarship to SCC was the best way to benefit these students."

The recipients of the Royster scholarship will be selected by the Financial Aid Office of SCC. Recipients can be involved in any college degree, diploma or certificate program, officials say. Those interested in applying may contact the Financial Aid Office at 386-8121, Extension 279, 217 or 245.

Vaughns Establish SCC Endowed Scholarship

Dr. Jim Reeves, President of Surry Community College, announced that the college Foundation has a newly established endowed scholarship facility for the employees and children of employees of John S. Clark Company Inc. and Riverside Building Supply Inc. A gift and pledge has been made by Betty Kay and Richard Vaughn in honor of the late John S. Clark.

The $50,000 gift at maturity in the Foundation will provide a minimum of five full yearly scholarships or multiple partial scholarships. The scholarships are created from income received from investing the principle of the gift according to the Surry Community College Foundation's Investment Policy. Any income received in excess of the employees' requirements will go into the college's general scholarship fund.

Mr. Vaughn is the Chairman and CEO of John S. Clark Company, Inc. Mrs. Vaughn is a long time member of the Board of Trustees of Surry Community College and one of the area's most vocal supporters of the college.

Mr. Vaughn said, "Surry Community College is one of the best institutions in our area. It has not only offered our local students an inexpensive educational opportunity but has helped many area citizens improve their skills. Our area has benefitted economically and many of our young people have chosen to remain and work in the area because of this institution."

The Vaughn Scholarship Fund assistance will be available for students for the fall semester in 1997.

Community College May Not Require All $2 Million In Bond Funding

By ANGELA LEONARD
Staff Writer

DOBSON — The remaining $2 million in local community college bonds might not be sold this spring, despite plans for an upcoming building project that was expected to require the funds.

Surry Community College will need only half of remaining county bond funds for an upcoming construction project, according to Jim Reeves, SCC president.

Reeves reminded the county Board of Commissioners Monday night that it earlier had approved spending the re-maintaining local bonds and state bonds totalling $2,082,000 on a new emergency services training center and renovations to the college library and cafeteria.

Bond money not used for those projects was to be applied toward other capital improvements, such as making SCC buildings more accessible to the handicapped and enlarging shop areas.

The college president told the commissioners Monday that SCC was pleasantly surprised when bids for the work came in at $1,544,465 — about $500,000 less than anticipated.

"State bond money available totals $927,959," said Reeves. "We would like to use all the state bond money available, which would leave the county's share of the project at $616,506. That would leave a balance of $1,383,494 in the See county funds.

"On Feb. 3, we asked you to allow us to sell all those bonds and use the surplus for capital improvements," he said. "Since there was so much of an underestimate on the cost, we would like to amend that request to just sell half the bonds — and use the $383,484 for capital improvements."

"We would leave the other $1 million for some time until we see where we can best use it for the college," said Reeves.

Commission Chairman John Springthorpe III said he was amazed to see a project bid under the estimated cost for a change. "I am concerned about how selling only half will affect the cost of selling the bonds."

Reeves said he had not talked with county Finance Director Betty Taylor about the expenditure.

"Would it be acceptable to you if we commit to providing the $1 million you need, then see how we can juggle the funds to best accomplish this?" Springthorpe asked. "It might be that we make it a loan against the bond sale in the future to save on interest and bond sale costs."

"That's no problem," said Reeves. "All we want is the money."

Commissioners agreed to provide $1 million in funding and evaluate the county budget to determine the best source for the money when it is needed.

SCC Pounds Wilkes 17-3

From Staff Report

DOBSON — John Paysor went 4-for-6 with three RBIs to lead a 16-hit attack as Surry Community College clobbered Wilkes 17-3 in baseball action Tuesday.

The Knights, 15-9 on the season, fell behind 2-0 in the top of the first before rallying for five runs in the bottom of the inning. They then added a run in the second and four more in the third on their way to their fourth win of the year against Wilkes.

"Fortunately, we battled back to put up five runs (in the first inning)," said Knights coach Mark Tucker.

Russ Griffith ran his record to 3-0 on the season, shutting down Wilkes for five scoreless innings after the rocky start.

Lee Vestal drove in two runs with three hits and scored three times. Junior Mallard went 2-for-4 with three RBIs and Chad Durham was

2-for-4 with an RBI. Durham also scored four runs.

The Knights play a pair of doubleheaders this weekend, traveling to Montreat on Friday and to Spartanburg to play Methodist Saturday.

SCC Preparing For Semester System

DOBSON — Surry Community College President Jim Reeves reminds students, parents, former students, and prospective students that, beginning June 2, SCC will be using the semester system rather than the quarter system of credit.

The college president believes that "the conversion to the semester system will improve the college's services to both students and the communities served by the college."

"Students," he said, "will benefit from improved articulation and guaranteed transfer of credit to other community colleges and the university system. The business and industrial communities will benefit from more flexible academic calendars to meet workforce training needs."

Reeves added, "The conversion to the semester system is part of a state-wide project which included a systematic evaluation of all curriculum programs and courses. This project ensures that all N.C. community colleges are now aligned with all community colleges and universities in the nation. This alignment makes transferring to any other community college or university much easier for Surry's students. This project involves the most significant change at SCC since its inception more than 32 years ago."

He continued, "Whenever major change occurs, people are concerned about how this change will affect them - that's human nature. All of us at SCC want to assure our students and their parents that this change will not adversely affect them. We have an excellent faculty and staff who are ready to help all current students and former students, who need to return to complete a program, make the change to the semester system. That personal attention and our strong educational programs are the things about SCC that have not and will not ever change."

SCC Vice President for Student Services Mike McHone comments, "Students and parents have concerns about the semester system conversion which will begin with this year's summer school session. There really is no 'big deal' about the change to semesters if students plan carefully—especially for spring quarter which begins February 26."

"The key to success involves meeting with faculty advisors and SCC counselors before registration day, February 24," he said.

According to McHone, the questions about conversion center around calendar, course conversion, course load, grade point average, graduation, fees, and financial aid issues.

In order to alleviate concerns voiced by both students and parents, he and his staff have answered the most commonly asked questions.

Questions dealing with calendar issues include:

What will be the academic calendar for 1997-'98?

Fall semester will begin August 20 and end Dec. 20. Spring semester will begin Jan. 8, 1998 and end May 13, 1998. A summer semester will begin May 28, 1998 and end Aug. 8, 1998.

"This time frame puts our calendar in line with most colleges, universities, as well as area public schools," McHone said. "This makes transfer easier as well as making it easier to arrange work schedules and child care."

Will semesters mean it takes more than two years to earn an associate's degree?

No. Students will still be able to earn a degree in two years if they have all the requirements and take the suggested full-time load.

Questions dealing with course conversion issues include:

How will quarter hours be converted to semester hours?

Quarter hours will not be converted to semester hours. A list of old quarter courses that are equal to new semester courses is available for each program. Students should see either their faculty advisor or one of the counselors in Student Services.

What if the requirements for a course in a program have changed, and the student doesn't have those requirements?

Changes in requirements to take a course indicate changes in the skills required to successfully complete the course. Faculty in each program will work with students who have course requirements that weren't part of the program when the student entered.

What do students do if they have only one course in a two- or three-course group when SCC changes to semesters?

Students can prevent this problem by careful planning with an advisor or counselor during the early weeks of February. If the student or former student has begun a sequence of courses, he or she should make every effort to finish the courses during spring quarter.

If students find themselves with credit for only one or two courses in a three-course group, they should work with advisors using the list of old quarter courses that equal new semester courses to find a substitute.

In general, if students have finished only one course in a group, they may have to take the first-semester course even though it may repeat some of the course content they have already had. If students have finished two courses in a sequence, they may have to complete the second semester course.

Will the courses students need to complete a sequence be offered in the spring/summer of 1997?

Courses needed to complete a program will be offered during the spring quarter and summer session of 1997 for students who entered in the fall of 1995 and who are currently "on track" in the second year of a two-year program, or who entered in the fall of 1996 and are currently in a one-year program. Every effort will be made to make the last courses needed in a multi-course sequence available spring quarter.

What will a student's transcript look like and how will employers view the change on the transcript?

In simple terms, a line will be drawn on students' transcripts showing that in the summer of 1997, SCC changed to a semester calendar. Everything else will be the same - term, course, grade, etc. Students' grade point averages will not be affected. This change should not affect how employers view student transcripts since all community colleges in the state are changing to a semester system and most employers will know about this change.

Questions dealing with course load issues include:

What is a minimum load for a full-time student?

The number of hours that make up full-time status - for financial aid and insurance purposes - is 12 semester hours. However, a full academic load is considered to be 15 to 18 semester hours which makes it possible for students to complete an associate's degree in two years.

Questions dealing with GPA issues include:

Will the conversion affect students' grade point average?

No. Students' grade point averages will stay the same since GPA is determined by dividing quality points earned by hours taken.

Do students have to have a certain grade point average?

Yes. If students' grades fall below the minimum satisfactory level, which is determined by the Minimum Quality Point Standard schedule, they will be placed on academic probation for the following semester. Students placed on academic probation will be notified by letter at the end of the current semester.

Questions dealing with graduation issues include:

Will students have to graduate under the new degree requirements or can they graduate under the degree as it existed when they entered?

Students will graduate under the new degree requirements; however, advisors and counselors will work with students to ensure that the student is not "disadvantaged" as a result of the new requirements.

What if some of the courses in a degree no longer exist?

In many cases, the content of courses will exist in semester versions, and those semester courses will substitute for former quarter courses. In cases where this is not true, a student's advisor will prepare course substitutions after consulting with the department chair responsible for the courses in question.

How many hours are required for graduation under the semester system?

Diploma or one-year programs will require 36 to 48 semester hours. For a full-time student, a typical diploma program will take two semesters and one summer to complete.

Associate's degree programs will require 64 to 76 semester hours. For a full-time student, a typical associate's degree program will take four semesters and one summer to complete.

What if the conversion of quarter hours leaves students short of the hours needed for the semester-hour degree?

When quarter hours are converted to semester hours, it's possible that a student could have a semester-hour deficit. Students should be able to make up the deficit by taking appropriate elective courses. Students must work very closely with their advisors to make sure they have the right number of hours for graduation, as well as the right courses.

Questions dealing with fees and financial aid issues include, "What will semester costs be?"

SCC doesn't expect the total cost of tuition for a year to increase. However, because students will pay twice a year - two semesters - instead of three times - three quarters - the amount students pay for a semester will be more than the amount they paid for a quarter.

For example, maximum tuition for a full-time student is $185.50 per quarter, so over three quarters a student would pay $556.50, but he or she pays only $356.50 each time. Under the semester system, the total cost for a year will still be $556.50, but because students will pay twice - there are two semesters - they will pay $278.25 each time.

Tuition is set by the state legislature and could change at any time. How will conversion affect financial aid?

First, the total amount of aid students are eligible for will not change under the semester system. It will be given out at different times and for different amounts. For example, if Student A is eligible for a $1,000 Federal Pell Grant, under the quarter system, the award would be divided in three payments: $333 for fall quarter, $333 for winter quarter, and $334 for spring quarter. Under the semester system, the award would be divided in half: $500 for fall semester and $500 for spring semester.

The amount of the award does not change under the semester system. It is only divided differently. Student A still receives $1,000 over the course of an academic year. All financial aid will be handled in the same way.

Will students be able to get special financial aid if they can't afford their tuition in August 1997?

SCC now accepts major credit cards for payment of tuition, fees, and books.

"The bottom line," states McHone "is if anyone has questions or concerns about the semester system, call us or, better yet, come talk to us in student services. We are here to help." If additional information is needed, contact the Office of Student Services at (910) 386-8121, Extension 264.

Richards Adjusts To New Role

By JEFF LINVILLE
Staff Writer

After spending his entire career helping educate young adults in this area, Swanson Richards is busy learning himself these days, as interim city manager for Mount Airy.

The retired president of Surry Community College accepted the temporary position last week after being approached by members of the city Board of Commissioners. He began his duties Monday, as former City Manager Ron Niland started his new job as manager of Morganton.

In accepting the offer, Richards said he wanted to enjoy himself in his role while learning more about city government. He will be paid a monthly salary of $1,500.

While he has no previous governmental experience, Mayor Emily Taylor said last week, Richards has several years of administrative experience and should fill the position nicely.

"We are very fortunate getting him on line with us," Taylor said. Richards has much experience, a good personality and commands respect, the mayor explained. He has shown an interest in the city's overall workings and was putting in time before Niland left, she added.

Before he left, Niland called Richards "a very fine person" who has great character and who was a friend to him during his time in Mount Airy.

Richards' Career

Richards, 66, is a native of Surry County, born and raised in Beulah. He has a wife, Ruth, and a daughter, Dr. Anne Hennis of Pfafftown. He is a past recipient of the Mount Airy Chamber of Commerce's "Citizen of the Year" award and the Northwest Development Association's "Educator of the Year" honor.

He graduated from Beulah School in 1948, then went to Appalachian State University, earning bachelor and master's degrees.

After earning his B.S. degree, Richards coached at White Plains High School for five years while pursuing his master's.

When Surry high schools began consolidating in 1959, Richards

Decorative Painting Classes Will Be Offered

The Continuing Education Division of Surry Community College has scheduled two Decorative Painting classes this spring.

Class I will be held on Monday, April 7, from 9:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon in room C-103 on the college campus.

Class II will be held on Monday, April 7, from 6:00 to 9:00 p.m. in room A-11 on the college campus.

Brenda Maudlin will be the instructor for both classes.

The registration fee is $35. N.C. residents 65 and older may register free of charge.

Interested persons should plan to attend the registration/first class meeting on Monday, April 7, at the time that best fits their schedule.

If you have any questions, contact the Continuing Education Division at (910) 386-8121, exts. 269 or 261.

Painting Class To Be Held In Boonville

The Continuing Education Division of Surry Community College will offer a Decorative Painting Class at the Boonville Center on River Road in Boonville.

The class will begin on Thursday, April 3, at 6:30 p.m.

The instructor for this 33-hour class is Brenda Maudlin of Mt. Airy.

The registration fee is $35, or free to anyone age 65 or over.

moved into the central office, taking over the position of director of testing and guidance for three years.

From 1962-63, Richards lived in Florida, where he attended Florida State University, earning his educational doctorate in 1963. He was asked to come back to Surry to be assistant superintendent of county schools.

After six years as an assistant, Richards had a chance to move up to the top spot in the Watauga County school system. He accepted that job and remained with that unit until offered the presidency at SCC.

Richards stayed with SCC until deciding to retire in December 1994. Just half a year later, Richards was coaxed out of retirement by Wilkes Community College, which needed an interim president. Richards helped out at that school for nine months.

While he has not had a full-time job in the past year, Richards has kept his school ties by teaching two classes at Appalachian State University, as he has for the past few years. He will continue to teach the courses, working that around his schedule with the city.

New Job

After just a few days on the job, Richards said, "I'm impressed with the people who work here." The city employees are interested in and dedicated to the daily functions of the city, he mentioned.

While admitting that he has no previous experience as a city manager, Richards said, "What's important are the people." Like many upper-level jobs, a main concern is managing the employees and getting the most productivity out of those workers.

Some sources close to the city board have speculated that Niland's differences in opinion with the commissioners might have led to his decision to look elsewhere for a job. Asked how he would handle this, Richards said he thinks such differences are good for government.

If people have a difference of opinion, Richards said, they should express it and get the matter out in the open.

When Terry Sanford and Jesse Helms were both serving in the U.S. Senate, Richards recalled, the two legislators disagreed with each other on many subjects and the result was that each kept the other in line.

This country's system of government was founded on checks and balances, which uses such differing opinions for the public good, the interim city manager says.

The most important factor, Richards believes, is that the commissioners care about the city and want what is best for the people. As interim manager, he hopes to do the same.

DOBSON — Garrett Hinshaw never expected to wind up in an office at Surry Community College.

Although he'd grown up with both of his parents working at the school, he saw his future in baseball and far away from the Boonville farm where he was raised.

But an unexpected injury his senior year at Appalachian State University changed all that, and he says now that he's glad of the different direction his life has taken.

Born in Mount Airy, Hinshaw moved with his family back to the 72-acre tobacco farm in Boonville when he was 3. "Outside of my involvement in athletics all my life with some success, and growing up on a farm in a small town like Boonville, there was not a lot to do. That was about the extent of it."

After playing both baseball and football in high school, Hinshaw was awarded a baseball scholarship to Appalachian State University, where he played outfield. He made the All-Southern Conference Team for two years, and the All-Atlantic Regional Team one year.

He also participated in the Valley League, a college scouting league where talent recruiters recommend players to major league scouts.

"I was looking at playing professional baseball, and, in my junior year, was told I would be drafted in the top 10 rounds with good money, but because of politics I wasn't. My hopes were that my senior year I would go further, but once I was injured it seemed all the interest disappeared."

Playing ball his senior year, Hinshaw dived for a ball in the outfield and his glove caught, severely injuring his thumb.

"I had to have reconstructive surgery and have no muscle use in my thumb now," he said. "That pretty much ended it as far as a professional career went."

Having majored in commercial recreation management and minored in business management with his eye on a professional career, and just shy of graduation, Hinshaw was suddenly without direction.

He and his wife, who is now director of bereavement counseling for Hospice of Surry County, moved to Mount Airy in search of work. They now live on Cross Creek Drive with their daughter, Jordan, a student in the Mount Airy schools.

"I went into a depression for a pretty good while. I didn't know what direction to go. I was doing an internship at C & D Sporting Goods when I got a call from Surry Community College. They were needing someone."

Hinshaw said that he was supposed to be a full-time temporary replacement for someone who was ill, but that when that person died he was moved into the position of coordinator of continuing education.

"Once I got into helping people and seeing the opportunities that education and training offered people, it just lit my fire," he said.

"If you told me when I was a junior or senior in college that I would be in education, I would have said you were crazy, even if you'd told me that when I walked out the doors of ASU in May," he said. "I saw myself selling sporting goods for a major chain."

"But I'm so glad things worked out the way they did." Hinshaw started at SCC in 1990 and returned to ASU two years later to get his master's degree — this time in education administration.

From working with occupational extension and occupation improvement programs for Surry County, Hinshaw said his job intensified and developed into more. "From coordinator I moved to director and this past year was named dean."

Hinshaw said the past year he had set up 264 classes and served over 3,000 students through the continuing education program.

Angela Leonard/The Mount Airy News

"When you have a chance to make that much of an improvement in people's lives, that is a reward in itself. From law enforcement to emergency medical services, fire service, aviation ground school, rescue departments, heating and air-conditioning, and small engine repair. You name it."

"I meet a lot of different people. That's part of what I like. There's a lot of variety helping people improve their job performance or get into a job."

Although, he said he likes the variety, having to be able to handle so many different areas has to be one of the drawbacks of the job, if there is one.

"I feel like if I could just concentrate on one area, then I could do a much better job for that area," he said. "But this size system requires that you do it all, and I knew that when I took the job."

He also admits, however, that just working with one group might prove boring after a while.

The biggest reward of the job is seeing the impact that the SCC classes make on people's lives. "I like seeing the paramedics and law enforcement officers out there on the scene, utilizing the training we've given them that they might not have been able to afford any other way," he said.

"Surry County EMS is the best in the state, and it's nice to know that I had a part in helping to get them there."

"The majority of the people I work with are volunteers or on a set schedule working some of the most difficult jobs, and I watch them put in more time to do a better job. I see everybody in the county benefiting from what they do."

Hinshaw said he also enjoys working with the staff at SCC, and the support of the administration which makes it possible for his department to do what it does.

Outside of his everyday work hours, Hinshaw has found his way back to the baseball field, although in a totally unexpected position.

When college friend and teammate Scott Carter came to Mount Airy High School three years ago, he asked Hinshaw to be his assistant coach. Hinshaw, who had worked with some junior league teams and baseball clinics, said he enjoys the post.

"We were close friends and we work well together," he said. "I love working with the kids and watching them develop."

Coaching, however, was never something he's considered doing full-time. "It's something I like to do, but not on a full-time basis."

"I don't know how long I'll be able to continue anyway," he added, citing his plans to begin work on his doctorate degree at some point in the next year. "That's going to take the majority of my time."

Hinshaw said he plans to pursue his doctorate at North Carolina State University and expects it to take three to five years, working around his work schedule and fitting in classes. "It's a long row to hoe," he said.

After getting his doctorate, Hinshaw said he'll "keep the doors open," but that he loves Surry County and isn't interested in leaving. "I'm still close to home — the farm and Momma's cooking," he laughed. "As long as there are opportunities for me here, I'll stay here."

His doctor's degree, he says, will be in education administration.

"I never thought I wanted to be in education," he said. "I didn't realize what kind of rewards there are for people who offer advances to people's lives, who impact people's lives. I think that's where it's all at."

SCC Pounds Wilkes 17-3

The Mount Airy News Thursday, April 3, 1997

From Staff Report

DOBSON — John Paysor went 4-for-6 with three RBIs to lead a 16-hit attack as Surry Community College clobbered Wilkes 17-3 in baseball action Tuesday.

The Knights, 15-9 on the season, fell behind 2-0 in the top of the first before rallying for five runs in the bottom of the inning. They then added a run in the second and four more in the third on their way to their fourth win of the year against Wilkes.

"Fortunately, we battled back to put up five runs (in the first inning)," said Knights coach Mark Tucker.

Russ Griffith ran his record to 3-0 on the season, shutting down Wilkes for five scoreless innings after the rocky start.

Lee Vestal drove in two runs with three hits and scored three times. Junior Mallard went 2-for-4 with three RBIs and Chad Durham was

2-for-4 with an RBI. Durham also scored four runs.

The Knights play a pair of doubleheaders this weekend, traveling to Montreat on Friday and to Spartanburg to play Methodist Saturday.

Health Building Brings Changes

From Staff Reports

DOBSON — Renovation work has continued this year at Surry Community College in Dobson as the school adjusts to having a new health building on its campus.

In the fall, the college dedicated the new Richards Health Science Building, named for Dr. Swanson Richards, who was president of the college from 1972 until 1994.

Construction on the $5 million facility began in January 1995 and was originally expected to be completed by mid-March 1996.

However, the severe winter weather experienced in the Blizzard of '96 and the following ice storm, as well as the unusually high amount of rain received during some months, held up construction by John S. Clark Co. and the other contractors on the job.

The school building was completed and given state approval only days before the fall semester began.

SCC President Jim Reeves said following the dedication ceremony, "I thought it was a wonderful day for the college. It showed a lot of community support for the building. The building was paid for by state and local bond referendums."

"We've been in cramped quarters in our nursing program ever since we started," Reeves explained. "It (the nursing facilities) meets all the state guidelines that we have to have to operate the program. ... It provides office space for the faculty."

The college's cosmetology school, which was previously located on South Street in Mount Airy, occupies the first floor of the left wing, while the learning center moved from above the library to the second floor of the wing.

Also to be housed in the three-story, 65,000-square-foot building will be the language arts classes and offices, the math department offices, some general education classes and the president's administrative staff.

The college president considers the top floor to be the jewel of the crown in the construction. Reeves said the nursing facilities were patterned after actual hospital rooms, complete with oversized X-ray viewing screens, hospital-style lights on the walls above the beds and even rollers in the ceiling for privacy curtains.

The nursing program will occupy the entire top floor, instructing 90 students each year — the maximum limit set by the state for the school's facilities.

New Writing Center

Included in the plans this year for the "H" building is a new program, a writing center which offers across-the-curriculum writing assistance to SCC students and community patrons.

School officials noted that employers are seeking better writing skills in workers as a reason for opening the center this school year. The SCC Writing Center sprang from efforts of the Surry Community College Faculty Association.

The center provides tutoring, reference and support services to college students.

The new program also will promote writing programs for the SCC community and the overall service area of the school, according to spokesman Susan Wilmoth.

Jim Booth has been named as director of the SCC Writing Center. Booth, who was trained in writing at the University of Albany, N.Y., is also a free-lance writer and journalist. He was formerly assistant professor of writing at Salem College.

Community College To Host Teleconference On Dealing with Grief

From Staff Reports

On April 16, at 1:30 p.m. in Room A-121, the people in the Teaching Auditorium, Surry Community College will join 2,000 other organizations across the United States and Canada as a local host for the fourth-annual National Bereavement Teleconference.

Sponsored by the Hospice Foundation of America, "Living with Grief: When Illness is Prolonged," a live-via-satellite video teleconference, will focus on grief and bereavement issues associated with prolonged illness, including cancer, AIDS and Alzheimer's disease. It will be moderated by Cokie Roberts of ABC News and will feature a panel of experts.

The teleconference, co-sponsored by the Association for Death Education and Counseling (ADEC), in cooperation with the American Medical Association, is funded in part by a grant from Project on Death in America.

Last year's teleconference was seen by 120,000 people in more than 2,000 communities.

"The teleconference was excellent; panelists were knowledgeable; topics relevant and the moderator kept everything going smoothly. It was a great opportunity for people from our community — Hospice staff, volunteers, clergy, funeral directors and families — to hear valuable information from the nation's top experts in the field," according to a site coordinator, Barbara Bell, director, Hospice Volunteers of Kennebec Valley, Gardiner, Maine.

"Everyone has been touched by grief associated with prolonged illness," said Jack D. Gordon, the president of the Hospice Foundation of America. "We want to do what we can to assist individuals in mourning, as well as physicians and nurses, clergy, social workers and teachers who deal with these issues professionally, so they can respond effectively to survivors in need and take care of themselves as well."

In addition to Hospice locations, teleconferences sites will include hospitals, state offices on aging, community colleges such as Surry and funeral homes.

During the two-and-one-half hour teleconference, Ms. Roberts will moderate the panel discussion. There will also be opportunities for viewers to participate during interactive call-in segments.

The panel will include Betty Davies, Ph.D., professor of nursing at the University of British Columbia; Kenneth J. Doka, Ph.D., Lutheran minister and professor of gerontology at the College of New Rochelle; Dr. William Lamers Jr., a founding father of the American Hospice Movement; and Therese A. Rando, Ph.D., clinical psychologist and executive director of the Institute for the Study and Treatment of Loss.

The Hospice Foundation of America is non-profit organization established to assist those who cope either personally or professionally with terminal illness and the process of death, grief and bereavement. It is dedicated to providing leadership in the development of Hospice care for the terminally ill through education, research and philanthropic programs.

More information is available from Marion F. Venable, director of services at SCC, at 386-8121, Extension 269.

College Program Looks At How Grads Dress

From Staff Reports

DOBSON — Sometimes that snappy sport coat or the professional-looking attire of the modern businesswoman can make all the difference in landing a desired job.

With that in mind, instructors and career personnel at Surry Community College recently launched a "Clothing Closet" in an effort to help SCC students trying to enter the work force be successful.

The Clothing Closet program allows students with demonstrated need a selection of new and like-new professional outfits for their job interviews, and a second outfit upon receiving a position.

"That's something I've tried to get started here for about four years now," said Anita Bullin, SCC director of career services, who believes "there is a definite need at Surry for this service." Already, she said Tuesday, six students enrolled at SCC have made use of the clothing.

"Other community colleges offer this service to their students and have found it invaluable. ... Any student who comes to Job Link/Career Center (at the college) seeking employment who needs interview clothing can let us know about this need and we'll refer them to The Clothing Closet." It is on the upper level of the Vocational Building on the Dobson campus.

In pointing to the longtime need for the project at SCC, Mary Emily Cooke, marketing and retail instructor, said, "This service will give some of our students the extra edge they need to secure a professional position."

Bullin also pointed out that when securing the clothing, participating students can obtain a coupon allowing them to visit the school's cosmetology unit for a hair session, to further make their appearance at the interview as tip-top as possible.

"Since this is a non-profit program, all donations of new or good used professional clothing would be welcomed and greatly appreciated." All donated items are tax-deductible, SCC officials say.

More information about the clothing program is available from Amy Flippin or Mary Emily Cooke at 386-8121, Extension 251.

College Construction Continues

By JEFF LINVILLE
Staff Writer

DOBSON - In addition to its new health building, several projects have been completed or are currently under way on the campus of Surry Community College.

Emergency Training Facility

The newest project at SCC is the construction of a training ground for emergency personnel.

When local fire chiefs want to train their firefighters, finding a location can be difficult. Some have resorted to holding these sessions in parking lots at night.

Garrett Hinshaw, the dean of continuing education and assistant to the vice president of the Continuing Education Division, is responsible for the management of the new training project.

"We've been working for five years to complete a comprehensive emergency services training facility," said Hinshaw. "It's going to be a benefit to our paid firefighters, our volunteer firefighters, policemen and emergency services."

The plans call for a 600-foot by 250-foot driver's training course for defensive driving lessons for lawmen. Instructors who are certified in this area will be hired to teach the classes.

Hinshaw explained that behind the wheel of a car is the most dangerous place for a policeman for most injuries on the job occur there.

"The EPA has made it almost impossible to do live-fire structure burns," said Hinshaw.

The school has planned a two-story burn structure for interior burn simulations. This will allow them to simulate these fires with a lower risk factor, he added, as the amount of flammable material on the metal shelves in the structure can be controlled.

Another area will include four propane simulator pads where teams of firemen can learn how to best handle a propane gas fire since burning propane cannot be extinguished by spraying water on the flames.

Other training techniques include tanker truck situations and hazardous fuel situations. Trench collapse/confined space simulation can help firemen learn to work in dark, tight spaces.

A classroom will be included where the instructors can hold more organized meetings as well as a storage building for the equipment used in training.

Hinshaw said that, once completed, the training ground will be the most advanced in this area.

"The closest training facility of this type is in Charlotte," Hinshaw noted. "There's also a basic training center up in Asheville."

The building and facility, to be located on several acres of land down a hill behind the new health sciences building, is expected to cost about $750,000.

"That's a very rough estimate. We won't know until the state engineers send back their approvals," Hinshaw said. With the approval of the state, the school expects the project to be complete by the fall of the 1997 school year.

Hinshaw said, "The main goal is to ensure that our firemen and police are better equipped to handle emergencies in the county."

Wall Of Honor

In the fall, the college completed the first phase of a project designed to help honor those who have made a contribution to the school's scholarship fund.

The SCC Community Support Wall of Honor features the college seal, the original and current boards of trustees and SCC Foundation directors, the endowed scholarships, as well as more than 850 bricks with the names of people who support and have supported the college.

The 260-foot-long, 5-foot-high structure is located on the west side of Frank Comer Drive between the main campus and the new health sciences building.

"The center portion of the wall is complete," said college spokesman Susan Wilmoth. The members of SCC's Phi Beta Lambda, an international business society, are still selling bricks for $25 for individuals and $50 to businesses.

By the end of the school year, the college will take all of the new bricks which have been sponsored and continue building on the wall, Wilmoth said. If enough bricks are sold, the wall could line the east side of the street as well.

Mount Airy Office

Last year, SCC moved its continuing education satellite office in Mount Airy from the south end of South Street to the north end - a positive change, according to school officials.

For residents living on the north side of Surry County or the southern parts of Virginia, traveling to Dobson for classes may not be convenient. To assist those in such situations, an office was opened in Mount Airy.

In July, the college moved its Mount Airy operations from Martin Memorial Community Health Building beside Northern Hospital of Surry County to a building between Bray's Recapping Service and Michael's Restaurant on North South Street.

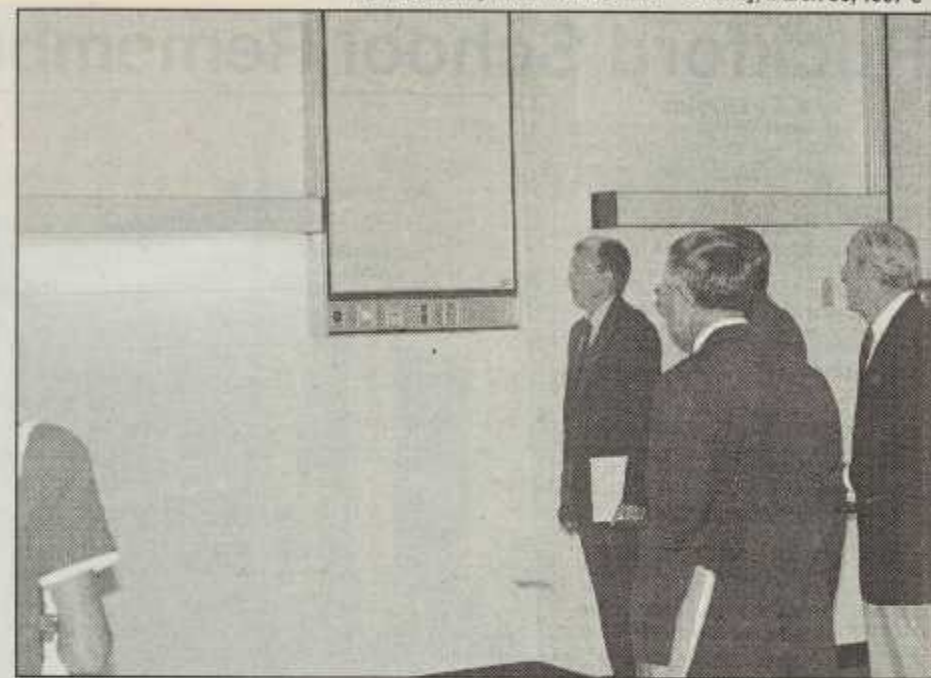

Carolyn Flippin, the director of human resources development at the center, said many more people are using these facilities than they did at the previous location above the Surry County EMS headquarters.

In addition to the popular GED courses taught at the center, other classes offered include computer courses as well as training in job skills, such as filling out applications and interviews, goal setting, career development and communication skills.

Flippin said the basic skills program assists adults in improving their education. The staff counsels the adult to determine his or her goals before offering assistance.

"Most of the students work toward receiving a GED," stated Flippin, "but some just want to improve their math, reading or language skills."

Flippin is assisted by two full-time workers, Carmen Jessup and Roslyn Holland, and three part-time workers, Pam Harrill, Jessie Stewart and Janet Bruner. The supervisor of the Mount Airy Learning Center is Claude Ayers, vice president of the continuing education division.

Financial Help Is Offered

From Staff Reports

DOBSON - 1996 was busy not only for Surry Community College itself, but the SCC Foundation, an arm of the school that supports its educational efforts through scholarship and other programs.

In fact, it might have been a record year for the establishment of endowed scholarships aimed at providing students with a needed boost to help them achieve various educational goals. At least five such scholarships came about during 1996, according to reports from SCC throughout the year.

An endowed scholarship must have a principal balance of $10,000 or more. The funds are invested according to the SCC Foundation's Investment Policy. The endowment then generates enough interest income to award one full-year scholarship for a student. Only the income from invested funds is used for awards or scholarships.

Nearly $100,000 in assistance was received by more than 330 students in 1995 alone.

Bank Scholarship

The Community Bank, a locally based institution, established an endowed scholarship in Spring 1996 to benefit deserving students who need financial aid who are not receiving other awards.

This scholarship is aimed at freshmen or sophomores enrolled in business, finance or economics in a college degree or certificate program. Preference is given to employees of The Community Bank or their family members.

The amount of the scholarship, first available last fall, is determined by student need.

Boyd Scholarship

Dr. Stanley Boyd, a retired dentist from Mount Airy, and Mrs. Boyd funded another scholarship last year to students who need financial assistance, with preference given to residents of the Ararat or Cara, Va. areas.

This scholarship, available for the first time this spring, can cover the costs of tuition, books and fees.

Fred C. Pruett And Sons Scholarship

Mr. and Mrs. Don Pruett of Mount Airy began this scholarship to honor his father and brothers, all veterans. Fred C. Pruett also was an adjunct in the Veterans of Foreign Wars for many years. Don Pruett passed away last spring after a long illness.

The Fred C. Pruett and Sons Scholarship, first available for Winter Quarter 1996, is targeted for any sophomore with proven financial need who is a descendant of a veteran. The student must have a grade-point average of at least 2.5, be a resident of the college's service area for one year and enrolled in a degree program.

The Pruett's honored her mother and aunts in 1995 with another endowed scholarship - the Mays, Owen and Monson - or MOMS Scholarship. It is intended for women with dependent children who are pursuing a health- or education-related education.

Graves Scholarship

The Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Graves Sr. Memorial Scholarship was announced in September to aid nursing students with high values.

It was set up by Dr. and Mrs. Charles Louis Sykes in memory of her parents. Dr. Sykes has practiced medicine in this area for more than 50 years.

"My parents were so interested in education in Surry County - my mother was the first woman to serve on the Mount Airy City School Board - that we felt there was no more appropriate manner to honor them than to help deserving students in the county."

We're Proud Of Our Students!

Ronald Hill

Ronald completed his B.S. degree through Gardner-Webb University on the SCC campus. He has been a law enforcement officer in this area for 21 years and is now captain for the Mount Airy Police Department. Ronald's daughter, sister, and brother all received degrees at SCC.

Beverly Tatum

Beverly transferred to the University of Maryland and received her BS degree. Now she works for Lane, Ltd. who distribute tobacco products including Dunhill cigars. She is an area sales manager for Alabama, Tennessee, Georgia, North Carolina, and Mississippi.

David Casstevens

David transferred to UNC-C, received his B.S. degree in Mechanical Engineering Technology, and was commissioned a second lieutenant in the U.S. Air Force. His senior design project is currently under review for a U.S. patent. David is currently assigned to the 563 Flying Training Squadron undergoing Air Force-Navy Joint Navigator Training at Pensacola Naval Station.

Bradley Goad

Brad transferred to Virginia Tech, received a B.S. degree in Biochemistry and began attending medical school in West Virginia in August.

Jim McAtee

Jim, President of the Inter-Club Council and Phi Beta Lambda National Business Society, won the state public speaking contest, represented the club in Moscow, won seventh place in the national public speaking contest in Washington, D.C., and represented SCC at Governor Hunt's Inauguration.

Tim Watson and Rick Bowman

Both of these former students work in the North Carolina District Attorney's Office. Rick Bowman is the District Attorney and Tim Watson serves as Assistant District Attorney.

Shelby & Vernon O'Toole

Shelby received her ADN and is a registered nurse with Tri-County Orthopedic and Sports Medicine. Vernon earned his Retail Management degree and works in advertising for the The Tribune. Both Shelby and Vernon completed their degrees in the evening program so that they could continue to work and raise their three sons - all of whom have been SCC students.

Teresa D. Yeatts

Ms. Yeatts is owner and President of Surry Temporary Services in Mt. Airy. She is immediate past president of the Mount Airy Chamber of Commerce and served as vice-president from 1991-94; she also won the Chamber's Extra Mile Award, Citizen of the Year Award, and the small business award for innovation. She is 1996 president of the Mt. Airy Rotary Club - the first woman to hold that position.

Jim McAtee, Sadie Michaud, Cindy Puckett, and Alecia Haynes

Jim, Sadie, Cindy and Alecia were chosen as 1996-97 SCC Ambassador Scholars. They receive a SCC Foundation tuition scholarship and represent Surry at various community, civic, and college sponsored events.

Alice Brannock

Alice received her BSN and WSSU and volunteers with Operation Smile traveling to Panama, Russia and Kenya to help repair cleft lips, palates, and other facial deformities at no cost to the recipients.

Casey Wilmoth

Casey, a SCC baseball pitcher, was chosen First Team All American by the American Junior College Athletic Association - the only player in the state to be selected for this honor.

Recordkeeping Classes Planned

A course in small business tax and recordkeeping, "Bookkeeping Made Simple for Small Business," will be held April 30 from 6:30 until 9:30 p.m. in Room C-101 on the SCC campus.

There is no cost for the course, which will be instructed by Jerry Sawyers.

The course will cover the advantages of manual versus a computerized system, double-entry bookkeeping as opposed to single-entry and discuss what the students should do themselves and what to hire a professional accountant to do.

Second Class

Another segment of the course, "Understanding Payroll - Employment and Sales Tax," will be held May 7 from 6:30 until 9:30 p.m. It will also be held in Room C-101 on the SCC campus and be taught by Sawyers.

The thorough review includes withholding and reporting compliance, deadlines for tax deposits and payments, filing of quarterly forms 940/941, avoiding penalties and so forth.

It will also address some issues like the hiring of family members or the pitfalls of "subcontractors" who are really employees. Too, those attending will get acquainted with their liability for collecting and remitting state sales tax.

College Plans 'Career Day'

From Staff Reports

DOBSON - More than 500 area high school students are expected to be part of "Career Day" this week at Surry Community College.

The event scheduled April 10 from 9 a.m. to noon will give students from high schools in Surry, Yadkin, Stokes and Alleghany counties a chance to be exposed to area employers and participate in career-oriented workshops.

"We have 567 high school students registered to attend," SCC Director of Career Services Anita Bullin said Tuesday. In addition, the college students will be part of "Career Day," being sponsored by the SCC Student Employment Center.

Employers will be seated in display/interview areas of the college gym, located on College Circle just off U.S. 601-Business in Dobson, Bullin said.

"Employers may promote their organizations and are encouraged to recruit candidates for co-op jobs and/or permanent positions."

The college announced plans to separate participating employers into three career groups - Technical and Industrial, Business/Marketing/Financial and Health/Human Services. High school students will be admitted to the gym in groups of about 100 at 9:10, 9:50, 10:30 and 11:10 a.m.

In addition to the activities there, small workshops will be conducted campus-wide, according to Bullin. An example is one workshop geared toward helping students decide on a career, she said.

Door prizes donated by participating companies will be awarded during the event.

More information on "Career Day" is available at 386-8121.

Electrical Contractor Course Is Scheduled

The Surry Community College Education Division will offer a six-hour Electrical Contractor License Renewal course for a one year license renewal period.

The class will meet on May 6 and 8 from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. in Room C101.

The registration fee for this class will be $35. North Carolina residents age 65 or older may register free of charge.

Contact Renee Hutchins at 910-386-8121, extension 211, to pre-register.

Community

College Month

Surry Community College is celebrating Community College Month. President Clinton has proclaimed April as National Community College Month, and Governor Hunt has also announced that April is North Carolina Community College Month. Governor Hunt's theme for the month is "NC Community Colleges: Opening Doors to the 21st Century."

The state's 59 community colleges employ more than 23,000 people, teach more than 779,000 students, and serve countless businesses and industries. North Carolina's community colleges offer people in any situation, at any stage of life, the chance to learn and grow.

Governor Hunt values community colleges for the opportunities they provide for economic development. He recently told a gathering of educators and business leaders that "We must be...ambitious when it comes to training and retraining our workers, and giving our community colleges the support they need to do that. In today's job market, employers must train—and retrain—workers quickly. Helping our community colleges provide that skill training is key to recruiting new industries, creating new jobs, and keeping our state's economy healthy."

His words are substantiated every day on community college campuses across the state. No where is this more true than on our own local community college campus. Last year SCC's educational programs served more than 12,500 individuals—that's approximately one out of every six adults in the service area.

Also more than 60 community groups and government agencies use the college each year for meetings and programs. The college also sponsors about 50 public service and cultural events yearly.

SCC plays a vital role in training bot the volunteers and professionals who safeguard the communities in its service area. Last year the college offered 260 firefighter, rescue, and emergency medical courses to 4,763 participants. Another 61 law enforcement courses were provided for 748 students. More than 7,000 hours of instruction were provided for the individual in these groups.

Additionally, SCC's Small Business and Industrial Training Center conducted more than 200 workshops and seminars involving more than 1,850 participants. This center provides specialized training targeted at the needs of area manufacturers and businesses. This service included 77 specialized classes which enrolled 674 area workers, primarily in textiles, plastics, apparel, furniture, metalworks, electronics, and transportation. It also offered courses for 47 individuals through the new Industrial Training Program.

According to Dr Jim Reeves, President of SCC, the college's mission is to open the door to opportunity by providing education and training for the workforce, support for economic development, and services to communities and individuals. Reeves believes, "the keys to SCC's success have always been and continue to be the creative development of programs, quality delivery of programs, judicious financial planning, and the commitment of bot excellent employees and the community we serve."

One former student referred to SCC as a "dream factory—it's a place where people can go to find a new direction in life." Reeves concludes by saying, "Come to our campus anytime—we have classes during the day, evening, and on weekends—and see the great things that are going on here. If you haven't visited us lately, I urge you to do so during Community College Month."

New College Degrees Planned

From Staff Reports

DOBSON — Surry Community College will host a meeting Monday at 6:30 p.m. to discuss two new bachelor's degrees that might be offered from Lees-McRae College.

Area residents interested in completing a bachelor's degree in teacher education or criminal justice are urged to attend the meeting in the SCC Teaching Auditorium.

Dr. William Karrison, provost and dean of faculty, and other Lees-McRae staff members will be present to listen to suggestions and answer questions regarding the two programs. They will be offered on the Surry Community College campus as early as the fall semester of 1997 — if sufficient interest exists.

Interested persons are urged to attend Monday's organizational session. More information is available from Surry Community College at (910) 386-8121, Extension 236, during the day and Extension 276 (evenings).

Surry Community College Trains Most Area Firefighters

The fire burns, smoke billows, and water sprays fiercely as the firefighters practice what they've been taught. Surry Community College trains 95 percent of the area's firefighters. Using what they learn in their occupational extension courses, the firefighters can then protect and save lives. These training courses are being highlighted in celebration of April as Community College Month both nationally and in North Carolina.

"We want to make sure that people in fire training, emergency management services, rescue, and law enforcement fields know the skills necessary to do their jobs well," said Garrett Hinshaw, Dean of Occupational Extension an Assistant to the Vice President for Continuing Education at SCC. "Everybody does. When you call an ambulance, for instance, you want to be confident that the paramedics know what they're doing."

Occupational Extension Courses, as the name suggests, are occupationally oriented, specifically designed to train an individual foremployment, upgrade the skills of people currently employed, and retrain others for new employment. The courses are short, anywhere from 10 to 360 hours in length, and range from child care, emergency management services, nursing, and teaching to general contracting, electricity, and plumbing. People often take the courses to obtain certification or recertification for their jobs.

Many of these courses are developed and taught at the request of a group, agency or employer. Such training must be clearly linked to employment in the service area. Occupational extension courses are always customized to meet the needs of both students and employers.

These courses offer students and employers several big advantages. Training, for one, can be offered at SCC or at the agency or business that has requested it.

Since the majority of people who take the training courses work full-time, they are generally held in the evening or on weekends so as not to interfere with the students' work schedules.

A third advantage is the cost, which is set by the North Carolina General Assembly. It's a flat rate of $35 per student per course, regardless of the topic. If the course is required for a job or certification in the areas of law enforcement, fire training, emergency management services, and rescue, the fee is waived.

"It's a very cost-effective option for employers," Hinshaw said. "They give business and industry the edge to compete with and lead competitors worldwide in the 21st century, and they provide the area with a well-trained workforce that will meet the needs of employers and help attract new business and industry."

Hinshaw affirms, "SCC gives our students the skills and knowledge they'll need to meet the challenges of working in the highly-competitive and technologically-advanced marketplace. The college is essential to the economic growth of the area—especially, with the addition of our new emergency training facility which should be completed during 1997. This facility is being built with state and local bond monies. The citizens of Surry and Yadkin counties demonstrated their belief in the work done by SCC to improve economic development and the quality of life in general when they supported the local bond referendum."

SCC President, Dr. Jim Reeves, invited all area residents to visit the campus to see the work the college does to train, retrain, and educate local people. He especially invites people to come during April to help celebrate Community College Month.

Local Churches To Recognize SCC Alumni

If you are a Surry Community College student, former student, employee, former student, former employee, trustee, Foundation board member, or if you've taken any classes at SCC, expect to be recognized if you're in church on Sunday, April 20.

According to Dr. Jim Reeves, President of SCC, April is both the national and state Community College Month; and as part of Surry's celebration of this special month, he has asked all local churches to recognize the people who are and have been a part of SCC's 32-year involvement in the area.

Dr. Reeves said "We at Surry Community College—the Trustees, the Foundation Board, faculty, and staff—feel that the college and the churches in our area share a common goal: to make the community a better place for all of us to live. We think this partnership has improved the quality of life by emphasizing the goals, values, and moral responsibility of each individual. Both of these institutions strive to help individuals find the best in themselves and reach their full potential as part of the family of man, or as the college motto says, "To each his farthest star."

Since April is Community College Month, Surry is asking our service-area churches to join with us on Sunday, April 20, to recognize the people in their congregations who have been involved with the college. For churches to participate all they need to do is to ask members of the congregation to stand if they are students, former students, employees, retirees, trustees, Foundation board members, or have taken at least one class at SCC. Reeves believes that "the community will be amazed by the number in their churches who have been touched by Surry Community College."

"We have tried to compile a complete list of churches in Surry and Yadkin counties; however, if people reading this article realize that their church didn't get a letter or didn't participate because they didn't know about SCC Sunday, please call SCC at (910)386-8121, extension 210, so that we can get their church on our list. This is the second year that we have celebrated SCC Sunday in April, and we hope this practice will continue as long as the college and churches share the goal of preparing our area citizens for the future."

College Hosting Cancer Forum

From Staff Reports
DOBSON — Surry Community College will host a teleconference broadcast Tuesday focusing on older adults and cancer.

The "Decisions for Health" broadcast, set for 2 to 3:30 p.m. in Room 110 of E-Building, will involve an interactive satellite television program in which viewers can call in with questions.

Many researchers and physicians will address caregivers' concerns, patient issues, pain control and palliative care. Questions will be fielded from across the country.

Local sponsors of the event are the Surry County office of the N.C. Cooperative Extension Service and North Carolina SALIC (Southern Appalachia Leadership Initiative on Cancer).

The broadcast is free to the general public, according to Elaine Whitaker of the local Cooperative Extension Service. Because cancer affects one in four families and being a caregiver involves many more, she said, everyone is likely to encounter the disease in some way over their lifetime.

More information on the teleconference is available from Whitaker at 401-8025.

The meeting will begin at 7 p.m. in Room H-340 of the new Richards Health Science Building.

Observance Highlights Community Colleges

From Staff Reports

DOBSON — Surry Community College is concluding its celebration of "Community College Month" by reminding of the role the school plays year-round.

President Clinton proclaimed April as "National Community College Month" and Gov. Jim Hunt announced that North Carolina also would observe the special month. Hunt's theme for the observance is "North Carolina Community Colleges: Opening Doors to the 21st Century."

The state's 59 community colleges employ more than 23,000 people, teach more than 779,000 students and serve countless businesses and industries, officials say. Community colleges offer people in any situation, at any stage of life, the chance to learn and grow.

Hunt says he values community colleges for the opportunities they provide for economic development. He recently told a gathering of educators and business leaders that "We must be ambitious when it comes to training and retraining our workers, and giving our community colleges the support they need to do that. In today's job market, employers must train — and retrain — workers quickly. Helping our community colleges provide that skill training is key to recruiting new industries, creating new jobs and keeping our state's economy healthy."

His words are substantiated every day on community college campuses across the state. Nowhere is this more true than at Surry Community College, officials added. Last year, SCC's educational programs served more than 12,500 individuals — about one of every six adults in its service area.

Surry Community College's educational programs served more than 12,500 individuals — about one of every six adults in its service area.

Also, in excess of 60 community groups and government agencies use the college each year for meetings and programs, and SCC sponsors about 50 public-service and cultural events annually.

The school additionally plays a vital role in training both the volunteers and professionals who safeguard the communities in its service area. Last year, it offered 260 firefighter, rescue and emergency medical courses to 4,763 participants. Another 61 law enforcement courses were provided for 748 students. Hours of instruction supplied to individuals exceeded 7,000.

Additionally, SCC's Small Business and Industrial Training Center conducted more than 200 workshops and seminars involving 1,850-plus participants. The center provides specialized training targeting needs of area manufacturers and businesses.

This service included 77 specialized classes with 674 area workers enrolled, primarily in textiles, plastics, apparel, furniture, metalworks, electronics and transportation. It also offered courses for 47 individuals through the new Industrial Training Program.

The college's mission is to open the door to opportunity by providing education and training for the work force, support for economic development and services to communities and individuals, according to Dr. Jim Reeves, SCC president. "The keys to SCC's success have always been and continue to be the creative development of programs, quality delivery of programs, judicious financial planning and the commitment of both excellent employees and the community we serve."

"Come to our campus anytime and see the great things that are going on here," Reeves said. "We have classes during the day, evening and on weekends. If you haven't visited us lately, I urge you to do so." He invites all area residents to visit the campus to see the work the college does to train, retrain and educate local people.

One former student referred to SCC as a "dream factory — it's a place where people can go to find a new direction in life."

Surry Community College Honors Five Outstanding Alumni

Surry Community College honored five alumni at the Alumni Association's annual Outstanding Alumni Awards Dinner at the Elks Lodge Ballroom in Mount Airy on Saturday, April 12. Mr. Brack Llewlyn introduced the honored alumni: Mr. Dwight Coleman, Ms. Sandra Elliott, Mr. Carlos Goad, Mr. Michael McHone, and Mr. Jerry Taylor, who were each presented with a personalized rocking chair.

Mr. Coleman is presently Chairman of Opera Studies and Artist Teacher of Voice at Georgia State University in Atlanta. He is also the Artistic Director of the nationally recognized Peter Harrower Summer Opera Workshop.

Ms. Sandra R. Elliott is presently owner and manager of Elliott Signs and Banners in Jefferson, NC. Elliott began her business shortly after graduating with an Associate of Applied Science in marketing and retailing.

Mr. Carlos Goad is currently Senior Vice President of Operations at the North Carolina Granite Corporation in Mount Airy. Shortly after being discharged from the army after a tour of duty in Vietnam, he joined the Granite Corp., as an apprentice draftsman. Goad worked his way from his original position to draftsman, project draftsman, chief draftsman, production coordinator, general manager of cut stone operations, vice president of operations, to his present position.

Mr. Michael McHone is currently Vice President for Student Services at Surry Community College. He joined the staff at SCC in 1978 serving as Evening Dean; Vocational/Technical, Veterans' and Job Placement Counselor; Focused Industrial Training Coordinator; and Dean of Student Services before assuming the vice presidency.

The last honored alumni is Jerry Taylor who is store manager of Sherwin-Williams Company of Mount Airy where he has been employed since 1975.

Also recognized during the banquet were the recent retirees from the college's faculty and staff who included Eileen Kidd, Pat Branch, and Broadus Atkins. Each of these retirees was presented with a plaque which will be included on the Honored Retirees wall in the Business Office/Student Services Building lobby.

Mrs. Eileen Kidd has 23 years of working as a secretary at SCC, during these years she has been in both the Continuing Education Division and the Evening Division.

Mrs. Pat Branch has 21 years of experience working the SCC cafeteria.

The last honored retiree was Broadus Atkins who taught Automotive Body Mechanics at SCC since 1967.

Dr. Carlyle Sheppard, advisor for the Alumni Association and math instructor, was also recognized for his years of service to the association. Dr. Jim Reeves, President of SCC, presented Dr. Sheppard with a framed Resolution of Respect and the Alumni Association presented him with one of the personalized rocking chairs. Dr. Sheppard will retire at the end of May after 29 years of service.

BASIC SKILLS PROGRAMS

ADULT BASIC EDUCATION (ABE)

The Adult Basic Education program provides instruction for adults who want to learn to read, write, and improve basic math skills. Practical teaching methods enable students to acquire skills such as using a telephone directory, reading road signs, counting money, and completing job applications.

HIGH SCHOOL COMPLETION (GED)

The high school completion program is designed to prepare students for the Tests of General Educational Development (GED). Upon successful completion of the program of study and a satisfactory score on the GED Tests, students are awarded a high school diploma by the State of North Carolina.

ENGLISH FOR SPEAKERS OF OTHER LANGUAGES (ESL)

The ESL program provides a means for speakers of other languages to attend classes to learn English communication skills as well as American customs and history.

All books, materials and instruction are provided free of charge. Classes are individualized and instruction is designed to meet each student's needs.

College Hosts Teleconferences

From Staff Reports
DOBSON — Surry Community College will host two teleconferences Wednesday discussing workplace violence and child abuse.

The teleconferences, being co-sponsored by the college and the Surry County Cooperative Extension Service, will feature leading experts presenting information and fielding questions from participants.

The first conference, titled "Is It Child Abuse?" will last from 12:30 to 2 p.m. Wednesday. Topics will include recognizing incidents of abuse, what role culture plays in the perception of abuse, alternatives to corporal punishment, when professionals or family members should intervene, how to approach such intervention and where to find resources to assist children and their families.

The second presentation, "Workplace Violence and Peacemaking Solutions," is scheduled from 3:30 to 5 p.m.

An average of 15 people are murdered at work each week in this country, according to national statistics. The conference will show that deaths and injuries are not inevitable and that employers can reduce risks among their workers with common-sense strategies.

Employees can learn to identify warning signs and use appropriate intervention. "Downsizing" scripts can be used to help employers avoid lawsuits, while tools are available to curb violence in the workplace.

The local facilitator for Wednesday's event will be Elaine Whitaker, a family and consumer educator for the Cooperative Extension Service. More information is available from SCC at 386-8121.

Watercolor Painting Class To Be Offered By SCC

The Continuing Education Division of Surry Community College has scheduled a Watercolor class.

The class is designed for both beginners and advanced artists in the development of still life and landscape paintings.

Ed Eaton will be the instructor of the class. He studied commercial art at ICS-Scranton and first arts at High Point College. He served as a draftsman/illustrator in the military and worked as art department supervisor at AT&T until he retired. He taught at Reynolds Homestead Continuing Education Center (VPI) and is currently an instructor at Forsyth Technical Community College.

The class begins Thursday, May 29. It will be held Thursday afternoons from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. at the Charles Stone Memorial Library in Pilot Mountain. The class will be held for eleven weeks - a total of 33 hours total.

The tuition fee will be $35, and N.C. residents 65 and older can register free.

Something's Cooking In Melissa Key-Atkinson's Kitchen

Melissa Key-Atkinson grew up in Ararat on a family farm as the middle of three children.

"My mom was at home with us throughout our childhood and spent a lot of time cooking for the five of us as well as for the work hands. My mom and my grandmother are fantastic cooks and they taught me how to cook at an early age.

"Like both of them," she continued, "I seldom measure ingredients; therefore, I never make a dish the same twice. I often develop new recipes by throwing together what I have on hand and many times it works well, but I have had some disasters."

She is married to Graham Atkinson and they have a four-year-old daughter, Samantha. She is a counselor at Surry Community College and is involved in various community groups. They are active members of Siloam United Methodist Church.

Heading off to work, she said, "It seems that I don't get to cook as much as I would like and most of my meals are rushed. Yet my family members are my best fans for they enjoy whatever I choose to prepare. However, Samantha would be happy with pizza or chicken noodle soup everyday!

"I love to prepare dishes for friends and family and baking is my favorite Saturday morning activity."

Melissa had baked Frosted Pineapple Cookies the night before and brought some of them to sample. They were just wonderful!

Here are just a few recipes that she enjoys using for her family.

ONION ROASTED POTATOES

- 2 pounds potatoes, cubed
- 1/3 cup oil
- 1 envelope dry onion soup mix

Combine all ingredients in large plastic bag and shake until well coated. Empty bag into ungreased 13x9-inch baking dish. Cover and bake at 350 degrees for 35 minutes, stirring occasionally. Uncover and bake 15 minutes longer or until potatoes are tender.

ITALIAN TOWERS

- 1 medium eggplant, with no green on skin
- Salt
- 1 large fresh tomato, sliced
- 1 large onion, sliced thin
- 1/2 cup margarine
- 1/2 teaspoon basil
- 4 slices mozzarella cheese, 2 1/2 inches square
- 1/2 cup Italian bread crumbs
- 2 tablespoons Parmesan cheese, grated

Preheat oven to 450 degrees. Peel eggplant and slice 1/2 to 3/4 inches thick. Soak in cold, salted water for 15 minutes. Drain on paper towel and pat dry. In a flat, greased 2-quart baking dish, place four slices of eggplant, lightly salted on both sides. Cover each slice with a salted slice of both tomato and onion. Melt 1/4 cup margarine, and pour evenly over the four towers. Sprinkle with basil and bake, covered in a preheated oven at 450 degrees for 20 minutes. Place a slice of mozzarella cheese over each tower. Combine bread crumbs and remaining 1/4 cup margarine and sprinkle on top of mozzarella. Finally, top with the Parmesan cheese. Bake, uncovered, for about 8 minutes or until cheese is bubbly. Serves 4.

IMOGENE'S SPRING CASSEROLE

- 8 small new potatoes
- 8 small carrots
- 1 small head cauliflower
- 1 pkg. green peas
- 1/2 pound Velveeta Cheese
- 2 cups cream sauce (4 tablespoons butter, 4 tablespoons flour, 2 cups milk)

Melt cheese in cream sauce; pour over steamed and drained vegetables. Bake at 350 degrees until cheese is bubbly.

BAKED HUSHPUPPIES

- 1/2 cup yellow cornmeal
- 1/2 cup all-purpose flour
- 1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon sugar
- 1/8 teaspoon red pepper
- 1 egg, beaten
- 1/3 cup evaporated skim milk
- 1/4 cup thinly chopped onion
- 2 tablespoons oil

Combine first 6 ingredients in medium bowl; make well in center. Combine egg, milk, onion and oil; add to dry ingredients stirring until just moistened. Spoon about 1 tablespoon batter into muffin pan coated with cooking oil. Bake at 425 degrees for 15-20 minutes.

MEXICAN CORNBREAD

- 1 1/2 cups plain cornmeal
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 3 teaspoons baking powder
- 2 eggs, beaten
- 2/3 cup vegetable oil
- 1 cup sour cream
- 2 tablespoons jalapeno relish
- 1 (16-ounce) can cream-style corn
- 1 cup sharp cheddar cheese, grated

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Combine cornmeal, salt and baking powder; mix well. Add eggs, oil and sour cream; stir until mixture is just blended. Stir in jalapeno relish and corn. Pour 1/2 batter into a greased 8-inch square baking dish. Cover with 1/2 of the cheese; repeat layers of batter and cheese. Bake in a preheated oven at 350 degrees for 35 to 40 minutes. Cut into squares.

LOWFAT FRESH PEACH PIE

- 1 Graham cracker crust (9-inch)
- 1 (8-oz) cream cheese (fat free)
- 1/2 cup sugar (or sugar substitute)

Bring to a clear boil:

- 1 cup sugar or sugar substitute
- 1 cup water
- 3 tablespoons cornstarch

After coming to a boil, remove from heat and add 4 tablespoons of peach jello. Smooth cream cheese mixture into crust. Slice fresh peaches on top of cream cheese mixture. Pour jello mixture on top of peaches and chill at least 4 hours. You may also use strawberries instead of peaches.

FROSTED PINEAPPLE COOKIES

- 1 (8-oz.) can crushed pineapple
- 1/2 cup shortening
- 1 cup packed brown sugar
- 1 egg
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 2 cups all-purpose flour
- 1/2 teaspoon baking powder
- 1/4 teaspoon baking soda
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1 1/2 cups confectioners' sugar

Drain pineapple, reserving 3 tablespoons juice. Set pineapple aside; set juice aside for frosting. In a mixing bowl, cream shortening and sugar. Add egg; mix well. Add pineapple and vanilla; mix well. Combine flour, baking powder, baking soda and salt; stir into the creamed mixture. Drop by teaspoonfuls 2 inches apart onto greased baking sheets. Bake at 325 degrees for 17-20 minutes or until golden. Immediately remove from baking sheets to cool on wire racks. For frosting, in a small bowl, combine confectioners' sugar with enough of the reserved pineapple juice to achieve a smooth spreading consistency. Frost cooled cookies. Yield: 3 dozen.

FOUR CHEESE PASTA

- 6 ounces penne
- 3/4 lb. ground beef or turkey
- 1 can chunky stewed tomatoes
- 1 cup sliced green onions
- 1 (3 oz.) pkg. cream cheese
- 1/2 cup shredded Swiss cheese
- 1/2 cup shredded Parmesan cheese
- 1/2 cup shredded cheddar cheese

Cook pasta as directed; drain. In skillet, brown meat; drain. Add tomatoes. Cook uncovered until slightly thickened. Stir in onions and cream cheese. Toss with remaining ingredients. Cover 2 minutes to melt cheese.

CHOCOLATE CHIP CAKE

- 2 cups plain flour
- 1 teaspoon soda
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup margarine, softened
- 1 cup sugar
- 2 eggs, well-beaten
- 8 oz. carton sour cream
- 2 teaspoons vanilla
- 6 oz. semi-sweet morsels real chocolate

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Measure flour and sift; then re-measure flour by spooning lightly into cups. Re-sift flour with soda and salt; set aside. Grease a bundt pan very generously with shortening. In an electric mixer, cream the margarine and sugar until light and fluffy. Then add eggs, sour cream and vanilla; beat at medium speed for 2 minutes. Slowly add the flour mixture and beat for 4 minutes. In a small bowl, combine pecans, brown sugar and chocolate morsels; toss to mix. Pour 1/2 batter into a greased pan, and sprinkle with 1/2 the pecan mixture. Pour other 1/2 batter over the pecan mixture and sprinkle with remaining topping. Bake in the preheated oven at 350 degrees for 35 minutes or until cake tests done. Let cake cool in the pan for 30 minutes; then turn out onto a cake stand. Carefully turn cake over to show the decorative topping.

SCC Pins 45 Nursing Students

Surry Community College pinned 45 nursing students May 22 at 7 p.m. in the sanctuary of the First Assembly of God in Winston-Salem.

The pinning ceremony was dedicated in honor of Elizabeth Smith, a member of the nursing faculty who was cited as "having strength and courage that is an inspiration to all the nursing students."

Kathy Woodruff, SCC nursing instructor, delivered the invocation, and Dr. Jim Reeves, president of the college, welcomed the graduates, their families, the SCC faculty and staff and other guests.

Class members Jessica Vaughn, Jennifer Felts, Carolyn Wells, Robyn Crouse, Randi Coleman, Tammy Anderson, Patty Creed, Melanie Forrest, Melissa Willard and Tammy Bailey sang a hymn.

Fonda Younger and Benny Younger, SCC music instructor, sang a selection as did Duane George. The class joined George in singing the chorus of the song.

The first-year students were presented their stripes by Kim Adams, Robin Benfield, Dianne Culler, Marie Simmons and Janie Draughn of the SCC nursing faculty. Sharon Kallam, chairman of Allied Health Division; Dr. Michael Wells, former SCC psychology instructor who is now program director for Surry County's Foothills High School; and Tammy Whitt, class president, spoke to the graduates.

Sharon Kallam presented pins to the nurses, who received the Nightingale lamps from Marguerite Burcham, nursing instructor. Each graduate received roses from instructors Ellen Wyrick and Sherry Reece.

Tammy Bailey, a class member, presented the "Poem of the Friendship Rose," and Dorothy Davis, also a member of the class, delivered the benediction.

Graduation marshals came from the freshman class and were chosen based on academic achievement. They included Kathy Easter, Stacey Lewis, Sarah Martin, Loretta Matthews, Vicky Smith, Timothy Snow, Michelle Spann and Jeanette Wright.

Nurses pinned were Tammy W. Anderson, Ricky B. Bishop, Victoria K., Bullins, Melinda B. Cartwright, Elisabeth A. Casstevens, Jeannie C. Cave, Randi M. Coleman, Janet W. Couch, Patty Creed, Robyn S. Crouse, Peggy Eller, Jennifer Felts, Christy F. Flinchum, Melanie A. Forrest, Wendy C. George, Leann Hamm, Karen B. Holder, Teresa W. Hoosier, Marie C. Horton, Janice A. Hunter, Deborah W. Inman, Michelle Jolly, Vicky W. Kirkman, Amy R. Lineberry, Penny R. Lowe, Valerie Maurer, Kay H. Mears, Tracie J. Moorefield, Laura W. Pardue, Marquitta H. Pardue, Angela B. Parker, Susan H. Robertson, Janet S. Tilley, Jessica M. Vaughn, Carolyn E. Wells, Tammy J. Whitt, Melissa D. Willard and Pamela J. Winesett.

Those pinned from the Licensed Degree Nursing to Associate Degree Nursing program were Tammy H. Bailey, Angela H. Collins, Dorothy H. Davis, Lisa C. Driskill, Angela J. O'Neal, Lori C. Shumate and Linda B. Vernon.

The 1995 nursing class officers included Tammy Whitt, president; LeAnn Hamm, vice president; Ricky Bishop, secretary; Vicky Kirkman, treasurer; Tammy Bailey, night treasurer; and Tammy Bailey and Dorothy Davis, night representatives.

First-year students receiving their stripes were Paulette Ashley, Brian Beasley, Julie Booker, Amy Bottomley, Brandy Bowman, Amanda Boyd, Kim Boyd, Melissa Brawley, Anne Browne, Cynthia Delp, Denise Donard, Donna Easter, Dorothy Easter, Kathy Easter, Linda Farlow, Teresa Felts, Amanda Finney, Eva Freeman, Robin Gardner, Kathy Gwyn, Jennifer Haymore, Mary Johnson and Monica Johnson.

Also, Lisa Johnson, Christy Jones, Stacy Lewis, Jennifer Luffman, Sarah Martin, Christine Martin, Loretta Matthews, Angelica McKinney, Shannon Messer, Donald Money, Julie Morgan, Jane Norman, Glenda Nunn, Karen Porter, Amanda Prevette, Diane Rook, Evelyn Sifford, Robert Simmons, Crys-

SCC Graduates 451, Its Largest Class In 30 Years

DOBSON - Surry Community College conferred 451 degrees Friday during its thirtieth commencement program - the largest number in its history. The exercises, held in the college gymnasium, began at 6:30 p.m. and drew an overflow crowd of 2,200.

The President's Reception followed in the student lounge. Afterwards, those who wished toured the campus.

During the graduation ceremony, Charles Madison, chairman of the SCC Board of Trustees, delivered the invocation and Mike McHone, vice president for Student Support Services, welcomed graduates, faculty and guests.

McHone also announced Melanie Groce of Jonesville as the winner of the Eugene Sydnor and Elizabeth Brame Spainhour Scholarship. The scholarship assists Surry Community College graduates who want to continue their education beyond SCC at a private or public college or university. She plans to attend the university of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and major in international studies.

Dr. Carlyle Shepherd, a member of the SCC Employees Association and mathematics instructor, presented a message from the faculty to the graduates.

Degrees were conferred by Dr. Jim Reeves, president of the college. John Collins, vice president for curriculum programs, presented the graduates.

Music was provided by Benny Younger, SCC music instructor, and the college chorus.

Students from the freshman class served as graduation marshals based on their academic standing. They

Honor Graduates

Surry Community College Holds Academic Excellence Award Program

Surry Community College held its annual Academic Excellence Awards program on Thursday, May 8, 1997, in the teaching Auditorium of the Administration Building at 1:00 pm. Ms. Melissa Atkinson, College Transfer Counselor at SCC, welcomed students, faculty, parents, and friends of the college to the campus to honor academic achievement by current students.

Mr. Tony Searcy, SCC Counselor, presented certificates to students inducted into Who's Who Among Students in American Junior Colleges. The students are Ms. Melanie Allen, Ms. Tammy Wiles Anderson, Mr. Bryan Jason Baker, Ms. Brandi Leigh Barber, Ms. Dina Marie Bickley, Mr. Ricky Brian Bishop, Ms. Angela Lynn Brannock, Mr. James Gary Brown, Ms. Tonia Dara Brown, Mr. Edward Everette Cassell, Ms. Cathy Ann Cochran, Ms. Ronda Kay Cockeram, Ms. Shirley Hiatt Cox, Ms. Charity Poplin Cranford, Ms. Sheila Ann Cromer, Mr. Marvin D. Driskill, Jr., Ms. Shannon Renee East, Ms. Tammy Jones Edwards, Mr. Harold Duke Fowler II, Mr. Anthony Dewayne France, Ms. Dori Herbst Fritzing, Mr. Corey Andrew Gammons, Ms. Denise Ann Genevie, Ms. Ailee Antonia Ginette, Ms. Leslie Hairston, Ms. Kelly Suzanne Hawks, Mrs. Alecia Quesenberry Haynes, Karen Davis Heath, Mrs. Teresa Wilson Hoosier, Ms. Evon Higgins Hull, Ms. Janice Ann Hunter, Ms. Ashley Hope Hutchens, Ms. Carolyn Marion Irby, Ms. Linda Cheryl Jacobs, Mr. Adrian Blake Jennings, Ms. Sherry Willard Jessup, Ms. Rosa Maria Jimenez, Ms. Angela Maria Johnson, Mr. Sean Kenneth Joyce, Ms. Lisa Miller Kline, Ms. Angela Eileen Lawson, Ms. Judith Nora Maloney, Ms. Laquita J. Maker, Ms. Rachel Issacs Mayes, Mr. James Frances McAtee, Ms. Sadie Lynn Michaud, Ms. Dorinda Musick Moore, Mr. Scott Bradley Mossley, Ms. Marsha Dale Needham, Mr. Robert Sean Niston, Ms. Cynthia Marshall Puckett, Mr. Allen Barrin Presnell, Mr. Johnny Gery Shew, Ms. Deetra Nicole Snow, Ms. Emily Bledsoe Stroud, Ms. Engle Erin Talley, Ms. Janet Stevens Tilley, Mr. Kenneth Bryan Vaught, Ms. Tammie Renee Waggoner, Mr. Eric Robert Wall, Ms. Tonya Lynn Wardern, Mr. David Gray White, Ms. Tammy James Whitt, Ms. April Denise Wilmoth, and Ms. Melissa Hawks Wyatt.

Mrs. Jamie Childress, Director of Financial Aid, presented the North Carolina Foam Industry Scholarships to Benjamin Johnson and Lynette Adair in College Transfer, Christine Pruett in Business Computer Programming, Teresa Horn in Industrial Electrical/Electronics Engineering. These scholarships give students $500.00 for their second year's tuition at SCC and are based on academic excellence.

Ms. Melissa Key-White, Counselor at SCC and advisor to the Ambassador Scholars Program, presented plaques to the 1996-97 SCC Ambassadors—Jim McAtee, Alicia Q. Haynes, Sadie Michaud, and Cindy Puckett. White explained that the 1997-98 Ambassadors would be chosen by May 22, 1997.

Mrs. Sharon Kallam, Chairperson of the Allied Health Division, recognized a student from each program level for academic excellence. These awards were presented to first year Associate Degree Nursing students—Timothy Snow and Jeanette Wright; first year LPN/ADN student—Loretta Matthews; second year ADN student Tammy Whitt; second year LPN/ADN student Tammy Bailey; and LPN students Jeanette Coffey and Lisa Ferguson. Kallam also presented the awards for student nurse of the year, who are chosen by their peers, to second year ADN student Penny Lowe and LPN/ADN student Linda Vernon. Outstanding Student Nurse of the Year, chosen by the nursing faculty, to Teresa Hoosier.

Dr. Dwight Atkins, Chairperson of the Mathematics Division, presented the William N. McCachren Mathematics Award to Jacob Hill, the student with the highest average in calculus. Atkins also introduced the team that participated in the Georgia Community College Math Contest. These students are Joseph Cave, Shelly Creed, Mickey Harris, Engle Talley, Peggy Tate, Jacob Hill, and Jacob Medley who had the highest score on the team. Atkins also presented, for the first time, the William N. McCachren Mathematics Scholarship to Jamie Vestal. This endowed scholarship-funded by retired SCC mathematics instructor, Bill McCachren—provides a full-tuition scholarship to a mathematics student who has completed at least three courses in the math sequence and plans to major in a math-related field.

Mr. Tom Parker and Mrs. Mary Emily Cooke, co-sponsors of Phi Beta Lambda—the national business honor society, presented the club's state conference awards for Membership Achievement, being the Second Largest Chapter in the Western Region, a Blue Ribbon Award, as well as being a Go for the Gold Chapter. The 1997 Leadership Development Program participants included Evon Hull, Sadie Michaud, Treva Kirkman, Jim McAtee, Marsha Needham, Deena Phipps, Sheila Cromer, Dori Fritzing, and Melissa Wyatt. Sheila Cromer was named PBL Person of the Year. John Dickenson and Evon Hull received PBL Selling Awards. PBL officers for the 1996-97 year include Jim McAtee, president; Sheila Cromer, vice president; Sadie Michaud, secretary; Debbie Davis, treasurer; John Dickenson and Treva Kirkman, co-reporters; and Kelly Hawks, historian.

Mr. Dennis Lowe, Cooperative Education Coordinator/Job Developer, presented the Cooperative Education Excellence Award which is based on academic excellence and job performance. The award, voted on by the SCC faculty, was presented to Bridget Fulk by her employer, Mrs. Pat Coe Todd, Surry County Clerk of Court. Ms. Fulk's job performance has been such that she has been offered a full-time position in the office after her graduation on May 23.

A reception for students, parents, faculty, and guests was held in the SCC Cafeteria after the program.

SCC FOUNDATION SPONSORS GOLF FUND FUN FEST

The Surry Community College Foundation recently held its first Golf Fund Fun Fest at Cross Creek Country Club and raised more than $9,000 to provide money to the general fund scholarship.

This fund provides full-tuition scholarships to the SCC Ambassadors and any Surry or Yadkin county high school graduate, including SCC GED graduates, who finish in the top ten students in their respective classes. This fund also provides scholarships to students with financial need who do not meet the guidelines for any specific named scholarship.

The tournament was won by the team of T.J. Payne, Jimmy Mundy, Keith Seivers and David Bradley. They received etched glass trophies, furnished by Andrew Pearson Design, and golf shirts from Cross Creek Apparel.

The second-place winner was the Scenic Ford team that included Ricky Gough, Robert McKinney, Joey Jessup and Carl Ray Smith. Their prizes were framed prints of Pilot Mountains furnished by Talley's Custom Frame Shop and SCC poloartec jerseys furnished by Lee-Wind Sportswear.

The third-place team included SCC vice president of administrative services Wayne Mottsinger, SCC retirees Guy Tolbert and Paul Hinshaw, and Martin Reece. They received sweaters from Pine State Knitwear and golf shirts from Cross Creek Apparel.

The fourth-place team included SCC math instructor Carlye Shepherd, Jim Wilmoth, Mike Hiatt and SCC alumnus Kevin Atkins. They won golf shirts from Cross Creek Apparel.

The longest drive prize, a Cobra Titanium driver from Cedarbrook Country Club, went to Ricky Marion, who played for Centura Bank. The closest to the pin prize, a ping ponger from Cedarbrook Country Club, went to David Bradley.

The "club throw," held on #17 hole during the social was won by Kevin Atkins, who received a framed golf print from Talley's Custom Frame Shop. A special prize of a potted peace lily, furnished by Airmont Florist, was presented to Bobby Harold for the most unusual throw.

The tournament included 96 golfers comprising 24 teams. Tournament co-directors Jerry Venable, chairman of the SCC Foundation Board, and Bobby Harold, treasurer of the board, noted that the tournament was a great success.

In addition to Venable and Harold, those serving on the tournament committee included SCC President Jim Reeves, Tee Gillespie, Charlotte Bokesch, Swanson Richards and Susan Wilmoth.

After the tournament a social and dinner were held at Cross Creek Country Club. The tournament had the support of many area businesses and industries.

TOURNAMENT CHAIRMEN: Jim Reeves, Susan Wilmoth, Bobby Harold and Jerry Venable headed the event. Tee Gillespie and Charlotte Bokesch also served on the committee.

SCC Offers Seminar On COBRA Compliance

The Continuing Education Division of Surry Community College will sponsor a three-hour COBRA Compliance seminar on Tuesday, June 10.

The workshop will meet from 1:00 to 4:00 p.m. on the college campus in room C101 (Continuing Education Building).

There will be a $35 charge for materials. The seminar leader will be Walter Batista.

Non-compliance or partial compliance with the Consolidated Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act (COBRA) could result in a loss of hundreds of thousands of dollars to your business. There have been more than 450 revisions to COBRA.

This fact-filled course takes a simple, non-intimidating approach to this very complex subject through case studies and group discussion. New changes under the Health Insurance Portability & Accountability Act of 1996 will be covered.

Pre-registration is required—call (910) 386-8121, extension 211, to reserve your seat.

By CHARLES MATHIS

Daphne Taylor who thinks she might want to be a missionary is going to give herself a mission test. This summer—she is planning a trip to Australia, where it won't be summer but winter.

"I want to see what it's like", she said, noting that she expects to be at Berwick, Victoria for six weeks, including two weeks in Bible School Camp and four weeks helping a missionary couple.

Her trip, called a "Mission Practicum", is part of a missionary apprenticeship program through Baptist Mid-Missions.

Miss Taylor, a 1996 graduate of Forbush High, must pay her own way and so far, with help of friends, has come up with enough money to pay for her airplane ticket there and back. She held a yard and bake sale a month ago and has scheduled another yard sale for Saturday, June 7, at a house owned by her great aunt and uncle-in-law, Roseleen and Joseph Brandon, on Carolina Avenue, off Lee.

Miss Taylor, a member of Peace Haven Baptist, has been attending Surry Community College, but is transferring to Piedmont Bible College. She lives with her mother, Jane Hoots Taylor, on Hoots Road.

The yard sale will begin at 7 am and continue to 2 pm. All funds raised are to be used on the mission practicum, scheduled for June 17-Aug. 1.

Beginning Watercolor Class Set

The Continuing Education Division of Surry Community College has scheduled a Watercolor class beginning Monday, June 16 at 6:30 pm in room C-101 on the college campus.

This beginning watercolor course is your invitation to learn the beauty of watercolor. Painting is one of the most satisfying forms of self-expression—looking at the world with renewed interest, noting colors and textures, and achieving a completely new insight into the most common scenes of daily life. Watercolor is an ideal medium in which to learn to paint—its fast, clean, inexpensive to begin, and challenging. Instruction will include basic techniques and the variety of uses for watercolor creations.

Local artist, Cindy Poole, will be the instructor. The class will meet each Monday and Wednesday evening from 6:30-9:30 pm for five and a half weeks.

The registration fee is $35.00.

Shelby & Vernon O'Toole

Shelby O'Toole received her ADN and is a registered nurse with Tri-County Orthopedic and Sports Medicine. Vernon O'Toole earned his Retail Management degree and works in advertising for The Tribune. Both Shelby and Vernon completed their degrees in the evening program so that they could continue to work and raise their three sons--all of whom have been SCC students. Vernon says, "We chose SCC because it was close to home, costs were affordable, class sizes and schedules were manageable, and the personal attention offered by faculty and staff was great."

Gretchen Hollar

Gretchen Hollar transferred to the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill where she will graduate in May with a degree in English and psychology. While at SCC, she was a member of the Phi Theta Kappa international honor society and selected for inclusion in Who's Who in Two-Year Colleges in America. At Carolina, she has been a member of Alfa Delta Phi sorority. Hollar did so well on the LSAT (Legal Scholastic Aptitude Test) that she has her choice of law schools for next year. At this time she is leaning toward going to Wake Forest. She says, "SCC provided excellent preparation for my studies at Carolina and for my future career."

Richie Parker

Richie Parker transferred to UNC-C and received his degree in Engineering Technology. He is employed by Surry Telephone as a staff engineer. Richie says, "The student to instructor ratio was an important factor in my learning as well as the facilities provided at SCC. This includes the hardware and software available in the drafting program. I was better prepared than other transfer students at UNC-C."

Dawn Matthews

During Dawn Matthews' two years at Surry, she was a member of the Spanish Club and chosen for both Who's Who in America's Junior Colleges and Outstanding College Students of America. She was an honor graduate with an A.A.S. degree. Dawn says, "SCC prepared me very well to transfer to UNC-G where I began my major as a junior." Dawn earned her B.A. and M.A. at UNC-G. She and her husband, Michael, now own and operate Tutsi Rolls Gymnastics and Fitness Center in Jonesville. Dawn recommends SCC to EVERYONE because of the "one-on-one assistance from the instructors, quality instruction, friendly atmosphere, affordability, good food in the cafeteria, and the fact that the student can stay at home while getting all these benefits!"

Wagoner, Hellard First Women To Graduate SCC Electrical Program

Two women, Tammie Wagoner and Stephanie Hellard, became the first in the history of Surry Community College's Electrical/Electronics Technology program to receive an Associate in Applied Science degree. Previously, women have begun the two-year program, but until this year's graduation on May 23, none have completed the program.

Tammie Wagoner, a Jonesville native, will be employed by AMP Corporation in Winston-Salem beginning in late June. She obtained this position without ever having to leave the SCC campus. Wagoner worked with the SCC Co-Op program for Heritage Construction Company in Elkin. The Co-Op program arranged for her to interview with AMP Corporation on the campus. She then received notification that AMP did indeed have a job for her. Wagoner said, "It's great to complete my education at SCC and have a good job waiting for me—all of this came about without my having to go out searching for a job. The Co-Op program is great."

Stephanie Hellard, a Yadkinville native, is employed by CW Electric in Yadkinville as an electrician's helper. She chose to work in Yadkinville because she wanted to be employed close to her home. She feels the training she received at SCC was "invaluable" and will help her to advance in her chosen field when she has more experience.

Both women do not have immediate plans to seek a license since the state only offers an electrical contractor's license, and the applicant must have more than 24,000 hours of experience in order to take the test.

Randy LeQuire, the electrical/electronics instructor at SCC, praised both Tammie and Stephanie for their hard work and perseverance in completing the program. He also mentioned that other women are now in the program and credited both women for paving the way for others to complete the program.

For more information about the electrical/electronics technology program, contact the SCC Student Services Office at (910)386-8121.

HONOR WALL: Names stand out on bricks in Surry Community College's Wall of Honor. Hundreds of people and businesses making contributions to the college's scholarship funds are honored by the wall that stretches between the main campus area and the new Richards Health Sciences Building on Adams Street. Program Coordinator Susan Wilmoth said a new load of bricks would be ordered soon to continue the wall further down the street.

Yadkin County Women Are First To Finish Electronics Program

Two Yadkin County women are the first to graduate from Surry Community College's Electrical/Electronics Technology program. Tammie Wagoner and Stephanie Hellard received Associate in Applied Science degrees.

Previously, women have begun the two-year program, but until this year's graduation on May 23, none have completed the program.

Tammie Wagoner, a Jonesville native, will be employed by AMP Corporation in Winston-Salem beginning in late June. She obtained this position without ever having to leave the SCC Campus. Wagoner worked with the SCC Co-Op program for Heritage Construction Company in Elkin. The Co-Op program arranged for her to interview with AMP Corporation on the campus. She then received notification that AMP did indeed have a job for her. Wagoner said, "It's great to complete my education at SCC and have a good job waiting for me—all of this came about without my having to go out searching for a job. The Co-Op program is great."

Stephanie Hellard, a Yadkinville native, is employed by C. W. Electric in Yadkinville as an electrician's helper. She chose to work in Yadkinville because she wanted to be employed close to her home. She feels the training she received at SCC was "invaluable" and will help her to advance in her chosen field when she has more experience.

Both women do not have immediate plans to seek a license since the state only offers an electrical contractor's license, and the applicants must have more than 4,000 hours of experience in order to take the test.

Randy LeQuire, the electrical electronics instructor at SCC, praised both Tammy and Stephanie for their hard work and perseverance in completing the program. He also mentioned that other women are now in the program and credited both women for paving the way for others to complete the program.

College's Electrical/Electronics Program Graduates First Women

From Staff Reports

DOBSON — On the television show "Home Improvement" the only tool belt on a woman appears on a make-believe show where the woman wears the belt as a fashion accessory.

But two women who recently graduated from Surry Community College will be wearing tool belts to work at their new jobs, not as accessories, but as a job necessity.

Tammie Wagoner and Stephanie Hellard recently became the first women in the history of Surry Community College to receive degrees in the Electrical/Electronics Technology program. Previously, women have begun the two-year program, but until this year's graduation, none have completed the program.

Wagoner, a Jonesville native, is employed by AMP Corporation in Winston-Salem beginning. She obtained this position without ever leaving the SCC Campus.

Wagoner worked with the SCC Co-Op program for Heritage Construction Company in Elkin. The Co-Op program arranged for her to interview with AMP Corporation on the campus. She then received notification that AMP did indeed have a job for her.

"It's great to complete my education at SCC and have a good job waiting for me," Wagoner said. "All of this came about without my having to go out searching for a job. The Co-Op program is great."

Hellard, a Yadkinville native, is employed by C.W. Electric in Yadkinville as an electrician's helper. She chose to work in Yadkinville because she wanted to be employed close to her home. She feels the training she received at SCC was "invaluable" and will help her to advance in her chosen field when she has more experience.

Neither women has immediate plans to seek a license since the state only offers an electrical contractor's license, and the applicant must have more than 4,000 hours of experience in order to take the test.

Randy LeQuire, the electrical/electronics instructor at SCC, praised both Wagoner and Hellard for their hard work and perseverance in completing the program. He also mentioned that other women are now in the program and credited both women for paving the way for others to complete the program.

SCC Career Day Well Attended

Career Day '97 was the best attended event of its type ever held on the campus of Surry Community College. Three hundred eighty-five (385) students from eight local high schools participated in workshops which included a PowerPoint presentation on Choosing a Career and information about Computer-Electronics Technologies, Business Technologies, Allied Health, Engineering Technologies, Criminal Justice-

Law Enforcement, Agribusiness-Horticulture, and Cosmetology. Thirty-eight employers participated in an employer career fair, and JobLink Career Center staff manned booths providing information on career preparation. Student Services staff also provided information about programs at SCC, including financial aid and how to register for classes. A total of 663 high school and SCC students participated in the Career Fair.

SCC Sponsoring Career Choices

Surry Community College is sponsoring Career Choices, a free 4-week program to introduce you to high skill/high wage occupations. Many people do not realize that Drafters, Electricians, Machinists and other technical workers earn an average of $25,000 a year after 1-2 years of community college education.

Services offered to participants are: Career exploration and assessment; Counseling/goal setting; Financial assistance; Job preparation; Self-image enhancement; Orientation to technical training.

The purpose of this unique summer program is to: Match your skills and interests with a career; Gain first hand knowledge of high skill/high wage jobs; Discover how you can earn while you learn; Set goals to achieve your dreams; and help discover your earning power. Many of the jobs considered non-traditional for women are jobs that pay much higher wages than traditional jobs.

This program will run from July 14 - August 7, Monday - Thursday 9am-1pm at Surry Community College in Room C-102. There will be no charge.

Please pre-register by contacting Surry JobLink Career Center, Surry Community College, PO Box 304, Dobson NC 27017 or call (910)386-1051.

Country Breakfast Scheduled For July 19

Last summer's popular Old Fashioned Country Breakfasts will be repeated by the Whitehead Community Club. The Club announced that this year's first breakfast is scheduled for Saturday, July 19.

Authentic country ham, bacon and sausage, eggs to order, grits, homemade biscuits from scratch, gravy, fried apples, and homemade jams and jellies will be served from 8 a.m. - 11 a.m. in the 1914 schoolhouse that houses Whitehead's active community club.

Located only a few miles south of Sparta on Highway 18, the Whitehead Community Club has long been active in raising money for charity and to maintain the historic structure which serves as their meeting place. Built in 1914, the school was closed in 1951 after mandatory consolidation. Following years of abandonment this landmark was saved by a handful of concerned Whitehead citizens in 1955. "The building was badly in need of immediate repair," states club president Myrtle Taylor. "Everybody joined in to help. Our community is committed not only to salvaging the past, but to honoring it. Thanks to these efforts, the school building is now a functional part of our county - here for everyone to enjoy."

Prices are $4.50 for adults, $2 for children. Buffet and take-out available.

Questions about the forthcoming breakfasts can be addressed to Myrtle Taylor at 372-8758.

Job Workshop Held At College

From Staff Reports

DOBSON — Some 20 teachers and counselors recently participated in a curriculum integration workshop at Surry Community College sponsored by the SYSTEM (Surry, Yadkin, Stokes, Elkin, Mount Airy) JobReady partnership.

Before the workshop, teachers and counselors from the five school systems did internships at local businesses, including Bowman Gray, Renfro, York Oil, The Mount Airy News and many others.

Teachers then attended the workshop to learn how they can integrate vocational and academic education to better prepare students for the labor force. The workshop was conducted by Cal Crow of Seattle, and will be repeated next year.

Eventually, all students will have the opportunity to have a work-based learning experience before they graduate high school. Work-based learning experiences include job shadowing, cooperative education, apprenticeships and internships.

More information about JobReady is available from Anita Bullin at (910) 386-8121 Extension 268 or Jim McAtee at Extension 390.

1 Quality

SCC provides high quality, reasonably priced educational and job-training programs to meet YOUR needs!

SCC's purpose is to enlighten, empower, and inspire YOU. SCC is the place where you can expect to achieve YOUR best.

Bradley Good transferred to Virginia Tech, received a B.S. degree in Biochemistry and is attending medical school in West Virginia. Brad says, "Every class I took at Surry transferred and I was more than prepared to enter all the upper level classes with the background I got at SCC."

SCC teaches success — one student at a time!

2 Service

At some institutions you're known mainly by a number—not so at SCC.

SCC's average class size is 20 students.

All SCC instructors have degrees in their fields

Your SCC advisor will spend lots of time getting to know you, understanding your goals, and helping you plan to reach them.

Learning isn't just about classes and classrooms. It's also about being a respected part of an academic community.

Beverly Tatum says, "I found a feeling of wholeness at SCC. The instructors and staff interact with students. They really cared about me!"

SCC is the place where everybody knows YOUR name!

3 Cost

Myra Wright says, "I saved thousands of dollars by going to SCC for two years."

College	Tuition
	In State	Out of State
Appalachian State University	$1,637.00	$6,465.00
North Carolina State University	1,732.00	7,868.00
UNC-Chapel Hill	1,448.00	3,756.00

Shelby O'Toole received her ADN and is a registered nurse with Tri-County Orthopedic and Sports Medicine. Vernon O'Toole earned his Retail Management degree and works in advertising for The Tribune. Both Shelby and Vernon completed their degrees in the evening program so that they could continue to work and raise their three sons—all of whom have been SCC students. Vernon says, "We chose SCC because it was close to home, costs were affordable, class sizes and schedules were manageable, and the personal attention offered by faculty and staff was great."

Gretchen Hollar

Gretchen Hollar transferred to the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill where she will graduate in May with a degree in English and psychology. While at SCC, she was a member of the Phi Theta Kappa international honor society and selected for inclusion in Who's Who in Two-Year Colleges in America. At Carolina, she has been a member of Alfa Delta Phi sorority. Hollar did so well on the LSAT (Legal Scholastic Aptitude Test) that she has her choice of law schools for next year. At this time she is leaning toward going to Wake Forest. She says, "SCC provided excellent preparation for my studies at Carolina and for my future career."

Dawn Matthews

During Dawn Matthews two years at Surry, she was a member of the Spanish Club and chosen for both Who's Who in America's Junior Colleges and Outstanding Students of America. She was an honor graduate with an A.A.S. degree. Dawn says, "SCC prepared me very well to transfer to UNC-G where I began my major as a junior." Dawn earned her B.A. and M.A. at UNC-G. She and her husband, Michael, now own and operate Tutsi Rolls Gymnastics and Fitness Center in Jonesville. Dawn recommends SCC to EVERYONE because of the "one-on-one assistance from the instructors, quality instruction, friendly atmosphere, affordability, good food in the cafeteria, and the fact that the student can stay at home while getting all these benefits!"

The good news is financial aid is available to every qualified student.

The better news is flexible scheduling and child care assistance are also available.

The best news is SCC has more than 30 career technology and college transfer programs.

Fall Semester '97 College
Telecourses by Video

What are Telecourses?

Telecourses are videotaped colleg-level courses for adults. They contain the same content found in comparable on-campus courses. Telecourses earn full curriculum credit.

What are the advantages of a Telecourse?

Telecourses are for those who need an alternative to traditional college courses on campus. Students can learn by viewing programs over WUNL-TV or video replay. There is less need for travel to the main campus. Students can earn college credit toward a degree!

What should I know about Telecourses?

*Your instructor will be available by telephone or in person during specified office hours here at SCC.

*You will be advised concerning textbook, study guides, or other requirements of the course at the Orientation Session in Room A-121 on Saturday, August 23, 1997, at 9:00 a.m.

*Each telecourse is equivalent to the on-campus sections of the same course in terms of learning objectives, expectations, and transferability.

How do I register for a Telecourse?

Call Tony Scarcy, a counselor in the Student Services Offices, at 386-8121, ext. 246, to pre-register.

What type of student is successful in completing Telecourses?

Because students must complete their work independently, they should possess above average reading and writing skills. Students who are self motivated, organized, responsible, committed, goal-oriented and able to study independently will be successful in these courses.

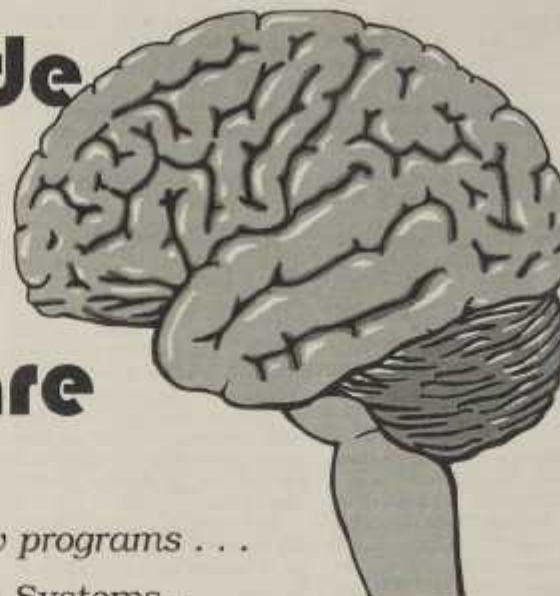

CALL (910) 386-8121,

SCC graduates largest class

The Tribune, Elkin-Jonesville, N.C., Wednesday, August 20, 1997

DOBSON — During the 30th commencement program in the spring, Surry Community College conferred 451 degrees—the largest number in the history of the college. The ceremony was held in the gymnasium on the college campus. The President's reception for graduates and friends, immediately following the ceremony, was a cooling respite from the intense heat and humidity of the gymnasium as guests spilled from the Student Lounge onto the lawn. Family and guests, should chose to do so, then toured the campus.

During the ceremony, Mike McHone, vice president for student support services, welcomed graduates, faculty, and guests. McHone also announced the winner of the Eugene Sydnor and Elizabeth Brame Spainhour Scholarship to assist outstanding Surry Community College graduates who wish to continue their education beyond SCC at a private or public college or university. The winner was Melanie Groce from Jonesville who plans to attend the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill to major in international studies.

The college offers degrees, diplomas, and certificates to graduates. The associate in applied science degree is awarded to students who complete one of the college technical programs. These programs are designed to prepare students with technical competence for immediate employment in business, industry, government, health occupations, social services, or other agencies. This degree also has the option for transferring to a four-year college.

The associate in arts degree is awarded to students who complete the two-year college transfer program. The curriculum is designed to parallel the freshman and sophomore years of a four-year college or university. Students are required to complete a specified number of courses in humanities, social studies, science, and mathematics. A liberal number of elective courses provide flexibility to structure a program to parallel the curriculum at major colleges and universities.

The associate in science degree is also awarded to students who complete the two-year college transfer program. It differs from the associate in arts degree in that more courses are required in science and mathematics and fewer required in humanities.

The diploma is awarded to students who complete one of the technical programs offered by the college. These programs are designed to prepare individuals for initial employment in skilled occupations, to retain for new occupations, to advance in a given occupation by updating or upgrading skills and knowledge, to develop an understanding of the American free enterprise system, and to develop an interest in the betterment of our society.

Finally, the certificate is awarded to students who complete a designated set of courses taken from certain technical programs. Required courses are generally those which provide specific job skills.

SCC conferred 111 associate in arts degrees, 23 associate in science degrees, 234 associate in applied science degrees, 26 diplomas, and 45 certificates. Students receiving these degrees, diplomas, and certificates are:

Patsy Amburn

Guess what this SCC graduate is doing?

Patsy teaches third grade at Cedar Ridge Elementary School. She got her degree, entered the GOAL program through Gardner-Webb, received both her B.S. and M.A. in Elementary Education, and she did it all on the SCC campus — at night, on weekends, and in the summer. She completed her degrees after she became a grandmother. Patsy says, "SCC can make dreams come true. It has excellent instructors, offers a wide range of classes, is affordable and convenient, and offers night and weekend classes for working people."

Classes Begin August 21!

College Offers Class On Angels

From Staff Reports

DOBSON — Surry Community College's Continuing Education Division will begin a class on angels Sept. 9.

Titled "Speaking Of Angels," it will be held from 7 to 9 p.m. for four sessions. Leonard Day will teach the course in Room A-121.

Day, described as an "angelologist," has taught classes on angels at Rockingham, Randolph, Davidson and Guilford community colleges. Last year, he presented 400 lectures across the country. He holds bachelor's and master's degrees in art education from Fort Hays University in Kansas.

Day's research on angels began five years ago. He uses the Bible to illustrate the three distinct ways he believes that angels come to people: visual, auditory and dream/dream sequence.

As an author and artist, Day has contributed articles and art creations to "Angels A-Z." He also is working on a children's book, "God's Whisper: The Story of How Angels are Created Through the Whisper of God." He is vice president of the Angel Watch Foundation, which serves as a center for research on angels, and a contributing editor/writer for both the Angel Watch newsletter and Planet Pathways.

In addition, Day is a certified lay speaker with the Methodist Church conference and a member of Christ United Methodist Church. For more than 20 years, he used his art degrees in serving as executive director and administrator for museums throughout the Midwest and East. He established his own art conservation and appraisal firm in 1992, moving his family to High Point.

The upcoming class has a $35 registration fee, with more information available at 386-8121, Extension 269 or 261.

SCC To Offer Three New Programs

Surry Community College will be offering three new programs when Fall semester 1997 begins today, Thursday, August 21.

These two-year degree programs are the associate degree in Early Childhood, Information Systems, Networking Administration and Support, and Cosmetology.

The Early Childhood Associate degree is appropriate for anyone interested in working with young children in a day-care facility, the head-start program, or in a school. This program includes the child-care credentials mandated by the state as on-going training for those employed in these fields. Many local day-care facilities are requesting their employees to either have this training or agree to begin the training as a prerequisite for employment or to continue employment.

According to Program Director Kay Hamlin, "The United States is the only industrialized nation in the world without an articulated child-care program. Research on the brain indicates the ages 0-5 are the most formative years of cognitive growth for a child - certain 'windows of opportunity' will close, never to open again, if the brain is not stimulated during these years. This training can teach child-care workers to provide this stimulating environment; we hope this program will provide these workers with the skills to offer our children an environment rich in learning opportunities."

Hamlin believes that financial assistance will be available either through SCC's Foundation and Financial Aid Office or through the state's TEACH scholarships.

The child-care credential is also offered through SCC's Continuing Education Extension classes. Anyone interested in this program can call Hamlin at (910) 386-8121, extension 365, for additional information.

The second new program SCC is offering is Information Systems: Networking Administration and Support, which prepares students to install and support networks and develops strong analytical skills and extensive computer knowledge. This concentration covers concepts that allow students hands-on experience with different types of network operating systems.

Classes cover media types, topologies, and protocols with installation and support networks and develops strong analytical skills and extensive computer knowledge. This concentration covers concepts that allow students hands-on experience with different types of network operating systems. Elective classes provide opportunity for specialization and individualization.

Jerry Eller, chairman of the Computer Science Division, reports, "In a recent survey of 35 local businesses, employers identified a need to train 222 current employees and projected 139 new employees would be needed in this area within two years. In response to this urgent need, the college designed the program and got state approval to offer it beginning this fall."

Graduates of this program should qualify for positions such as LAN/PC Administrator, Microcomputer Support specialist, Network Control Operator, Communications Technician/Analyst, Network/Computer Consultant, and Information Systems Specialist. Graduates are also prepared to sit for certification exams, which can result in industry-recognized credentials.

For additional information, call Candace Ring at (910) 386-8121, extension 362.

The third new program this fall is an associate degree in Cosmetology, which is open to the general public; however, any licensed cosmetologist can finish the program in one year.

Classes will be offered at night, with Charles Jackson teaching Trichology and Chemistry on Thursday from 6:00 p.m. until 9:50 p.m., and Gidget Gough teaching Esthetics on Tuesday during the same times. SCC will be offering two of the required advanced courses at night each semester.

For additional information concerning the Cosmetology degree, call Blanca Murphy at (910) 386-8121, extension 354.

Leonard Day, angelologist, has taught classes on angels at Rockingham, Randolph, Davidson, and Guilford Community Colleges, and last year presented 400 lectures across the country.

Day holds bachelor's and master's degrees in art education from Fort Hayes State University in Kansas. His research on angels began five years ago.

Day uses the Bible to illustrate the three distinct ways, he believes, angels come to us: visual, auditory and dream/dream sequence.

As an author and artist, he has contributed articles and art work to "Angels A-Z." He is working on the children's book, "God Whisper: The Story of How Angels are Created Through the Whisper of God." He serves as vice-president of the Angel Watch Foundation that serves as a center for the research on angels and is a contributing editor/writer for both the Angel Watch newsletter and Direct Pathways. He is a certified lay speaker with the Methodist church conference and a member of Christ United Methodist Church.

For more than 20 years, he used his art degrees to serve as executive director and administrator for museums throughout the Midwest and East. He also established his own art conservation and appraisal firm in 1992, moving to High Point.

Program Providing Job Help

By ANGELA LEONARD
Staff Writer

DOBSON — Many people out of work face a number of hurdles when it comes to finding a job — especially if they are new to the work force or have been out of work for some time.

But clearing those hurdles as quickly and easily as possible is what JobLink at Surry Community College is all about.

Recently chartered by the state WorkForce Development Board, the program offers one stop assistance for job hunters, whether they are students trying to plan a career, displaced workers looking for a new career, mothers looking to re-enter the work force, or anyone else interested in changing or starting their career.

Anita Bullin, director of career services, said the program began at the initiative of the state, which was aiming to set up "one-stop" career centers throughout the state, and received a federal grant to begin programs.

While students may receive some guidance into the

SCC Child-Care Administration Class Scheduled

Surry Community College will offer a 33-hour child care administration class beginning Sept. 18 at 6:30 p.m. The course will be held in Room C-102 on the college campus at Dobson each Tuesday from 6:30 until 9:30 p.m. for 11 weeks.

Course topics will include facility requirements, operational and curriculum planning, staff development, enrollment, financial management, and parent and community relations.

The course was developed cooperatively between the N.C. Department of Community Colleges and the N.C. Department of Human Resources.

Sarah Lawson will be the instructor and the registration fee is $35. SCC officials said the course will be extremely helpful to people interested in directing day care programs. Current state requirements will be emphasized.

Those interested should attend the registration/first class meeting. MT Airy News 9-7-97

career center, which is located beside student services, the general public in search of a job may enroll in the program at the Continuing Education building next door.

There, Bullin said, they complete an intake form which asks if they have or need information or assistance in a number of areas including child care, food stamps, unemployment, WorkFirst, adult day care, medical assistance, child support, education, job training, and so forth.

"We can either provide the service or direct them to where they can get those services," she said. To aid in that goal, a representative from JTPA (Job Training Partnership Act), vocational rehabilitation, and the Department of Social Services have office space in the building. "Here, they can receive the services offered by any of those agencies."

If job seekers need additional assistance, SCC can provide them with short-term training in such programs as nursing assistant, emergency medical services, and basic law enforcement. Financial aid from the college or JTPA assistance may also be available for those who want to seek a degree in their chosen field.

Anyone uncertain of their best career option can participate in a career assessment, Bullin said.

If they don't need to clear some barrier, then job seekers are ready to go next door to the employment center. There an extensive library contains information about career options, educational requirements, and salaries.

Computers provide a link to the Employment Security

Commission's computer system, listing jobs available across the state and nationwide, and Internet access for job seekers.

A representative from the employment office is also on hand three days a week to answer questions and assist those using the career center. JobReady, which aims to provide students with work experience before graduation, is also housed in the center.

Initially, the office was only the Surry Student Employment Center, Bullin said, but that began to change in 1994 when the Employment Security Commission moved in. It changed further last fall with the state legislation which brought representatives of other agencies into the effort as well.

"The idea was to offer all these services at one location," said Tom Carter, chairman of the JobLink steering committee and ESC director. "We're trying to avoid duplication of services and benefits. Instead of going door-to-door to get services, clients can come to one door and get it all at once."

The center sees about 150 clients each month, most of them students because of the convenient location at the college and their familiarity with the center.

Bullin said that employers can also use the center, both as a location for listing jobs and as a source for gathering potential employees and conducting interviews. Bullin said that an interested employer can have the center handle the application process and schedule interviews, then come to the center to conduct the interviews and chose employees.

Aviation Classes Planned At SCC

The Continuing Education Division of Surry Community College will offer a 72-hour Aviation Ground School for Pilots course beginning Monday at 6:30 p.m. in Room C-211 on the college campus at Dobson.

The class will meet each Monday and Wednesday from 6:30 until 9:30 p.m. until Nov. 26. It will prepare students to take the knowledge portion of the private pilot's license exam, SCC officials said. No previous flying experience is required.
