Siloam Gazette.

Our little town was considerably brightened up, by last Saturdaynd Sunday, by the presence of Miss Viola Patterson one of East Bend's charming young ladies.

We think Siloam is on a boom, because we have five new dogs in the place.

From all indications, Miss Dixie Fleming is very badly struck on the merchant, but we fear it will not do any good, from the manner in which he has been putting in time over our mill trees.

We think Miss Sallie's cedar will grow very rapidly for it is founded on a rock though it be a "Pughrock".

The conductor passed over some very winning smiles to Misses Lela Turnernd Jennie Cornelius. And sends them apples occasionally by Master Charlie Idol.

We are glad to see have 3 new girls this week in our society, Misses Emma Atkins, Carrie Scott, and Anna Key.

Miss Lucy Turner slipped in the river yesterday evening as she went home, and Lennie seemed to regret that he wasn't there to assist her in getting out.

Miss Jennie C. is taking a great deal of interest in the Bible lesson every morning of late, as our lesson is the song of David.

Doc Flippin has been sporting so much jewelry lately, will some one please ask Miss Pearl to tell us where he got it.

Misses Jennie Atkinson and Georgie Miller are struck on all the jokes and pieces that come along.

Let's ask Miss Etta when Mrs. Badglett's school is out for we all want to go to another exhibition.

Better look out Miss Annie, or Mr. Ross will mesmerize you and take you snipe hunting some time.

But we will all watch and find out which one of the boys you do like the best, and we will fix up a better joke on you by the time we have another paper. You know we are all going over to Mr. Atkinson's Sat. night and will see who goes with you then.

Constitution.

We the young ladies of the Siloam High School, feeling the need of further studies in literature, elocution, composition and music do resolve

I That we organize a society for improvement in these branches.

II That the officers of this society be a president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer, and door-keeper.

The duties of the president shall be the appointment of committees, the reading of program, the fixing of fines, the casting of the decisive vote in case of a tie the preservation of order, and the general supervision of the society.

III The vice-president shall assist the president in the duties and shall preside in absence of same.

The secretary and treasurer shall keep a record of all our proceedings and shall have the care of all moneys.

IV That these officers shall be chosen by ballot once in every four weeks.

Amendments.
