Midway Church Will Operate Kindergarten, Day Care Unit

With a combination gymnasium and lunch room facility already completed and workmen laboring daily to complete an outdoor recreational area, Midway Baptist Church on North Franklin Road is moving rapidly toward the late August opening of a new kindergarten and day care center on the church property.

The pastor, the Rev. Lee Meadows said a new director has been hired to supervise the entire operation. He is the Rev. Don Wagner of Winston-Salem, a recent graduate of Piedmont Bible College.

A gymnasium facility now stands on the site. 103 feet long by 50 feet wide. Recreation equipment has been ordered and will be installed when it arrives. A cafeteria located in the same building will feed up to 300 persons per meal. The equipment is already in place.

The pastor said the church will offer kindergarten classes for four and five-year-olds, plus day care facilities for children two-years-old and up. The facilities will operate on a schedule parallel to that of the public schools in the county.

The center grew out of plans born from the requests that originated among the 500 members of the church. But the services of the facilities are to be offered to parents throughout the region, not just Meadows said the facilities have been designed to meet state specifications and to earn the approval of state authorities. Certified teachers have been employed; the entire operations will be reviewed regularly by state authorities to insure that all standards are continually met.

"There'll be training in group activities, regular rest periods, meals, training in personal discipline and restraint, lessons in how to get along with others, plus some Bible training offered," Meadows reported.

The members of the church are sponsoring the facility and supporting it financially.

"We'll be able to keep tuition rates fairly low, because of this support from the church," the pastor explained.

Although there's quite a bit of work yet to be done, Meadows avows the center will be ready to open in about a month, at the beginning of the fall school term in the county schools.

Area parents desiring detailed information about enrollment of a child in the facility may get it by calling the church office at 739-2284.
