Miss June Caudle Weds Mr. Coe at Bannertown

Mount Airy. — Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Caudle announce the marriage of their daughter, June Cathryn, to Thomas W. Coe, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Coe of Ararat, Va., on Wednesday, Dec. 24, in a home ceremony. Rev. Jesse Woodruff, pastor of the bridegroom, officiated, assisted by Rev. Edgar Burrus, pastor of the bride.

Members of the immediate families assembled in the living room, where the vows were said before a flower arrangement of fir, hemlock and white gladiolus. The soft glow of candlelight illumined the improvised altar.

The bride was attired in a suit of aqua gabardine with black accessories and her corsage was of purple orchids. The matron of honor was Mrs. Thomas Irvine, only sister of the bride, who wore a dressmaker suit of black crepe with a corsage of red rosebuds. Thomas Irvine served as best man.

Immediately following the ceremony, the 25 guests present were entertained at a reception and cake cutting. The bridal couple cut the first slice of the tiered wedding cake, after which Mrs. Irvine, Miss Lavania Edwards and Miss Hazel Martin finished cutting and served the punch.

Mr. and Mrs. Coe are residing with the bride's parents at Bannertown.

Beauty Facts

By Frank Kinney

Little facts of great value:

Don't expect a permanent wave to solve every problem of hair management. A new permanent wave is very much like an unruly head of curly hair. It needs training and finger waving, to make it keep in place.

A cheap permanent is a poor investment and one that you can't discard when you realize it. Buy wisely and rejoice in your own good sense. A good wave never lasts long enough and a bad wave lasts entirely too long. A bad permanent wave even reflects itself on the next wave, preventing it from being of best quality.

You can't go wrong when you buy the best. The Hair Designers Beauty Salon, 416 W. 4th St. Dial 9553 or 2-2420.—adv.
