Lambsburg Vet Is Killed Near Here

Roger Emmett Golding, 24, of Lambsburg, Va. was killed instantly in an automobile accident seven miles from Mount Airy on the Sileam road Wednesday afternoon. He was a veteran of World War II.

Oscar Hawks, also of Lambsburg, who with Miss Sarah Quisenberry, Mount Airy, Route 4, was riding with Golding, was knocked unconscious and is a patient in Martin Memorial Hospital here.

Miss Quisenberry was not injured.

Surry County officers who investigated the accident, said that the automobile, a light, old model sedan, left the road on the left side, jumping a small stream and crashed into the abutment of the bridge on the far side of the stream. The car was demolished.

Mr. Golding was the son of Jack Golding and Grace Hawks Golding, of Lambsburg. He was wounded while serving with the army in the European theatre of the recent World War.

Tommy Golding Is Fatally Wounded By Pistol Bullet

Small Gun Accidentally Discharged As Well Known Lambsburg Man Alights From Car To Inflict Fatal Wound In Left Side.

Tommy Golding, 40-year-old merchants of the Lambsburg community north of Mount Airy, was instantly killed about 11 o'clock Saturday night near his home when he was shot in the side by a bullet from a .22-caliber pistol. The shooting, termed an accident, was investigated by the Surry county officers and coroner.

The shooting is said to have occurred when Golding, accompanied by a small boy, drove up in his yard and started to get out of his car. Reports are that as he stepped from the car the pistol fell to the running board, either from the seat or his pocket, and was discharged, the bullet taking effect in his left side.

Tommy Golding was born Tommy Barker, the son of the late Hilary and Betty Barker, but he was reared by a relative by the name of Golding and had always been known under that name.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Fannie B. Golding; one son, James Golding; two daughters, Misses Eula and Elizabeth Golding; and three brothers and four sisters.

Funeral services were held from the Bethel Baptist church at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, with Rev. Joe H. Hall conducting the final rites. Burial was in the Bethel cemetery.

Generation No. 4

Mrs. Lettie June "June Bug" Hawks

June 5, 1933 - May 7, 2016

Mrs. Lettie June "June Bug" Edwards Hawks, age 82 of Mt. Airy, went to be with her Lord on May 7, 2016. Mrs. Hawks was born in Carroll County on June 5, 1933 to Gilbert John, Sr. and Maude Golding Edwards. After 54 years of perfect attendance at Renfro Corp. where she was a supervisor and later, manager of the sock store, she finally retired from the job she truly loved and enjoyed. She was a faithful and dedicated member of New Bethel Baptist Church while her health allowed. "June Bug" will always be remembered by her sweet smile that could brighten any room. She was so loving and humble, everyone who knew her will dearly miss her, but rejoice in the knowledge that she rests peacefully in the arms of God. Left behind to cherish her memory is a daughter and son-in-law, Linda and Mike Joyce; devoted brother and sister-in-law, Raymond and Kathy Edwards who lovingly cared for "June Bug" throughout her battle with Alzheimer's; brothers and a sister-in-law, Frank Edwards and Gilbert Edwards, Jr. and wife Jama Lee and several special nieces and nephews. In addition to her parents, Mrs. Hawks was preceded in death by her husband, Troy Ray Hawks; and by a sister, Mary Lee Parks. Funeral services will be held at 2:00 PM, Monday, May 9, 2016 at Moody Funeral Home Chapel by Rev. Jimmy McCraw. Burial will follow in New Bethel Baptist Church Cemetery. The family will receive friends at the funeral home beginning at 12:30 Monday. In lieu of flowers, memorials may be made to New Bethel Baptist Church at 2826 Pipers Gap Rd., Mt. Airy, NC 27030 or to Mountain Valley Hospice & Palliative Care, 401 Technology Lane, Suite 200, Mt. Airy, NC 27030. "Words cannot express the sincere gratitude for all the love and compassionate care given to June Bug throughout the years by Central Continuing Care and Mountain Valley Hospice & Palliative Care. May you all receive blessings in return."

University may have hard time filling job

Former NASA chief exits before taking president's position

BOSTON

Former NASA chief Daniel S. Goldin's decision to back out as Boston University's next president, after his relationship soured with the board of trustees, may dissuade other candidates, some experts said yesterday.

DANIEL GOLDIN

"This is a radioactive institution. It has done the unprecedented and it's going to be extraordinarily difficult to find able candidates to come forward," said David L. Warren, the president of the National Association of Independent Colleges and Universities.

Goldin was to take office yesterday as the leader of the nation's fourth-largest private university. But trustees, in a highly unusual reversal, said Friday that the deal was off and appointed an interim president as another search began. Goldin was reported to have received $1.8 million in severance.

"If you have someone as prominent as Goldin ... and they didn't save that presidency, I think they're going to have trouble recruiting someone," said Rita Bornstein, the president of Rollins College in Winter Park, Fla.

Nancy Sterling, a spokeswoman for the BU trustees, disagreed, saying that candidates would have confidence in a well-run board "that has some excellent structure and governance in place and some very good people."

An attorney for the trustees has said that they grew disillusioned with Goldin because of his brusque style and other issues.

Critics have said that the boardroom battle was linked to John Silber, the university's prickly former president who has held sway there for more than 30 years.

Warren said that before Goldin was appointed, he spoke to people who might have applied for the job, but all were concerned that Silber might continue to wield influence.

According to reports, the rift began when Silber reneged on a promise to step down from the board. Other reports have said that Goldin may have alienated board members when he questioned the financial ties some had with the university, suggesting that they amounted to conflicts of interest.

BU trustees said Friday that Silber had resigned from the board and from the position of chancellor, where he had served since leaving the presidency in 1996.

Warren said that candidates might give the job a new look if they're convinced that Silber will no longer be a second power center at the university.

WAGNER

MOUNT AIRY — Mrs. Dorothy Vernell Bowman Wagner, 74, the widow of George Washington Wagner, of 168 Brenda Drive passed away Monday, June 25, 2001, at Northern Hospital of Surry County in Mount Airy. She was born May 19, 1927, in Stokes County to John Henry and Dona Golding Bowman. She was a homemaker and a member of White Plains Baptist Church. She is survived by her guardian, Merle B. Lambert of Mount Airy; and several nieces, nephews and cousins. Graveside services will be 2 p.m. Wednesday, June 27, 2001, at Brim's Grove Baptist Church Cemetery, conducted by the Rev. Bobby Mills. The family will receive friends at Cox-Needham Funeral Home from 7 to 9 p.m. Tuesday, June 26, 2001. The Wagner family is being served by Cox-Needham Funeral Home in Pilot Mountain.

■ Daniel S. Goldin, a former NASA chief, may be on his way out as president of Boston University before he even gets started. The board of trustees unanimously selected Goldin, 63, in July to replace John Silber, a man who wielded iron-fisted control over the nation's fourth-biggest private university. But Goldin, who was himself a strong-willed figure at the space agency, promptly tangled with Silber and his loyal backers over who would really be in charge at BU. Last week, the board of trustees' executive committee issued a no-confidence vote in Goldin. The full board has scheduled a meeting for Friday — the day before Goldin is supposed to take office — to reconsider his appointment.

Property sale forcing couple to leave forest that's been home for 50 years

ROSMAN

A Jackson County man who has lived in a 3,000-acre forest for nearly 80 years now must find a new home for himself and his wife.

Ralph Golden, 78, was born and raised on the property near Cedar Cliff Lake, which will become part of the Pisgah National Forest. He and his wife have lived for 50 years in their house, where their four children were born.

"I live the old-time way," Golden told WLOS-TV. "Burn wood, use a cookstove. Never had any Jackson County power."

Golden was a caretaker for the property, where he lived for free. But neither he nor his parents owned the property, which is why new owners can ask him to move.

The owners sold the land to Duke Power Co., which has asked the Goldenes to leave by April 15 so the property can be sold again and then deeded to the U.S. Forest Service.

The deal is part of a trade some Texas investors made to acquire the closed Rosman Research Station. More than 200 people worked at the station under the Department of Defense and National Security Agency before it ceased classified communication gathering operations in early October 1994.

The investors want to develop the station into a two-way satellite computer-communications center that will capitalize on the burgeoning global computer-communication industry.

So Golden is packing up to leave the only home he's ever known.

"They say they didn't want anybody on it," he said. "They want it to grow up as a wilderness. . . . I don't know what they mean by that."

Problems with tenants must be resolved before the Forest Service can acquire property offered in an exchange, district ranger Art Rowe said.

"So that's why we're working with Duke Power in this situation," he said.

Golden said he does not want to leave. "I really like it here," he said. But he admits a move to property his family owns that has power and indoor plumbing will be safer for him and his wife.

William Golding, Nobel Winner, Dies at 81

■ 'Lord of the Flies' and other novels explored the dark side of human nature

LONDON

Sir William Golding, the Nobel Prize-winning author of the classic Lord of the Flies and other disturbing works exploring the dark side of human nature, died yesterday at his home in Perranarworthal, England. He was 81.

A heart attack was the probable cause, said Matthew Evans, the chairman of his publisher, Faber and Faber.

Golding won the Nobel Prize for literature in 1983, and he was knighted in 1988. Although he was primarily a novelist, his writing also included short stories, dramas, essays, and poetry.

Golding was best-known for his themes of the struggle between good and evil and for symbolism that invited interpretations on many levels.

After a string of rejections, he published his first and most popular book, Lord of the Flies, in 1954. It portrays a group of proper British schoolboys who, when marooned on a deserted island by a plane crash during an international war, lose their societal inhibitions and regress into shocking savagery.

WILLIAM GOLDING

never matched Lord of the Flies in sales, they continued to win close critical attention. They included The Inheritors (1955), Pincher Martin (1956), Free Fall (1959), The Spire (1964), Darkness Visible (1979) and Rites of Passage (1980).

Rites of Passage won Britain's premier literary award, the Booker

The novel inspired two films and became a standard on college and high-school reading lists.

For a man who once complained of his "inability to write poetry," Golding made a major contribution to English literature.

Although his succeeding works

Prize. It describes a voyage to Australia in the 19th century, showing how a pompous cleric becomes involved in a sexual scandal and dies of shame.

In 1987, Golding completed a sequel to Rites of Passage called Close Quarters. A third novel, Fire Down Below, finished the series in 1989.

In a rare interview, he spoke of death: "I'd rather there wasn't an after-life, really. I'd much rather not be me for thousands of years. Me? Hah!"

William G. Golding was born Sept. 19, 1911, in Cornwall. He attended Marlborough Grammar School, where his father taught, then studied science and later English at Brasenose College, Oxford.

After college, he joined the Royal Navy, serving as a lieutenant commanding a rocket-firing ship, taking part in the Normandy landings in 1944, and developing an enduring love of the sea. Early in his career, he took up teaching, acting, directing, and writing in London. He spent his last years quietly with his wife of 54 years, the former Ann Brookfield, at their home near Falmouth, Cornwall. They have two children, David and Judith.

Reuben DAVIS

The brothers, William, born between 1750-1765, and Joseph Hollingsworth, born September 22, 1769 were residents of Amherst County for about twenty-five years. When they decided to leave, Joseph went to Mount Airy, Surry County, North Carolina while William went to Davidson County, Tennessee. William was first married to Jamina Mays in 1780. She died between 1790 to 1807. She was the daughter of Joseph and Sarah Cash Mays(Mauze) While still in Amherst County, He married a Frances (Fanny) Wright on June 10, 1807. She was born in 1760 in Overwharton Parish, Stafford County, Virginia

Joseph married Mary "Molly" Matthews, daughter of James and Mary Matthews, March 10, 1789 in Amherst County. In 1790, they moved to Surry County, where he acquired from his father-in-law an iron mine in Tom's Creek near Pilot Mountain, North Carolina. This mine had been worked by the settlers since the first pioneers came to this land. Tradition has it that the old iron fence around the capital grounds at Raleigh was made in the forge at Tom's Creek. Joseph and Molly had six children: Acquilla born between 1780-1810, died 1837, James M. born March 4, 1797 in Stokes County, died in 1857 in Mount Airy, Surry County, North Carolina. He married Elizabeth Golding in March 20, 1819 in Stokes County, Tandy born 1800, died between 1810-1890, Mary born 1802, died 1875, Daniel born 1804, died 1833, married unknown Williams and William born 1807, North Carolina.

In the Hollingsworth family there were seven physicians and two dentists.. The two who practiced dentistry were my grandfather, Edwin Fabius Hollingsworth, Jr. and my uncle William Moore Hollingsworth. They were dentists because there were too many physicians in the town of Mt. Airy. Dr. Joseph graduated from the Jefferson Medical in Philadelphia in 1845. There was a long line of physicians, starting with Dr. Joe until the death of Dr. Robert Edwin Hollingsworth in 1954. Dr. "Bob" delivered me. While Dr. Joe was at school, he showed a great talent for surgery and he was encouraged by his instructors to offer his services to the Confederacy. He was accepted and commissioned a major. He rode by horseback to Manassas to tend to the wounded on the battlefield. His speed and skill in amputation was unmatched.

When he returned to Mount Airy, he started a practice with his brothers, William R. and Edwin Fabius. This was where he met Eng and Chang Bunker, the Siamese twins. At times they would come to Dr. Joe and plead with him to separate them. After a long talking with them, they would go back to their own homes. Dr. Joseph was instrumental in getting the bodies sent to the Thomas Jefferson Medical school for autopsied.

Dr. Joe got in the habit of attending court in Surry County so they could give medical aid to the many people who could not travel the long tortuous miles to the office. One of Dr. Joe favorite patients was the mother of J.E.B. Stuart who lived across the state line of Virginia. It was Dr. Joe who would make the long trip whenever she needed him. He tended to her in her last illness. By 1859, Elizabeth, J.E.B. Stuart mother, had sold Laurel Hill to two men from Mount Airy, North Carolina, Dr. Joseph Hollingsworth and Robert Galloway.

Mrs. Shirley Ann Puckett 79, of Mt. Airy passed away Sunday, August 12, 2018 at Iredell Memorial Hospital in Statesville. She was born August 8, 1939 to the late Phillip and Violet Cooper Adkins. Mrs. Puckett was retired from Northern Hospital of Surry County from the Skilled Nursing Floor; she also worked at Surry Community Nursing Center.

Mrs. Puckett's legacy began over 35 years ago when she was told about an Angel Tree at the Salvation Army where she could go and pick a name from the tree and buy Christmas for a less fortunate family. She loved the idea so much that she wanted to start something of this nature on her own. Her son Danny got a Santa suit and the family went out all over the community giving out gifts and hope to less fortunate families. Over time this grew and Shirley was then Sponsored by Golden Corral and Hardees where now they were able to provide gifts and a meal to those in need.

Since then she has provided hundreds of children and families with gifts and a meal in celebration of the holiday season. Her selfless giving has provided many with hope and love over the years. As a family we will continue to carry on her legacy as "Shirley's Christmas Angels." Left to cherish her memories are sons and daughters-in-law, Steve and Annette Golding, Danny and Angela Golding, and Michael Golding; daughters and sons-in-law, Theresa and Bobby Miller, Debbie and Greg Smith; eight grandchildren and six great-grandchildren all
