Students Stage Salvage Hunt In Mount Airy

CROSSINGHAM LEADS

The Mount Airy school students with the help of all citizens in town have collected an impressive pile of scrap metal during the past weeks in behalf of Uncle Sam and all his friends, amounting at this time to 180,000 pounds.

Every morning high school students come to school with sacks, boxes, and large newspaper-wrapped packages. These students are doing their duty by bringing all the old scrap, steel, iron, and any other metal they can find for the great defense program of Uncle Sam's.

According to reports Friday of last week about 85,000 pounds of scrap metal have been brought to the high school by students and trucks. Everybody wants to collect scrap to beat the Japs and get a half holiday Friday. All students who brought at least 20 pounds get a half holiday Friday afternoon. Mr. Finch said, "I will be ashamed to see anybody here Friday afternoon." Jimmy Crossingham, the leading scrap digger in high school, has outdug all the rest of the students. According to reports Monday, Jimmy, an eighth grader, is ahead. First prize of $5.00, second prize of $2.50, and three third prizes of $1.00 each will be awarded to the students collecting the most scrap.

Ensemble singing, solo voices, feminine charm and dramatic presentation will highlight the Victory Belles Revue which will be presented to students and parents in the Rockford Street Auditorium on Wednesday, October 21, at 8:15 p. m.

The subscription campaign, launched by the HIGH SPOTS staff in the homerooms, was carried to a successful climax by 16 students who participated in the subscription contest, in which Tom Browne, Jimmy Hadley, and Doyle Perdue finished first, second, and third, respectively.

With 56 subscriptions Tom Browne took the top honors and the prize of $5.00, Jimmy Hadley, winner of last year, came in with 43 subscriptions and received $3.00, and Doyle Perdue won $2.00 with his 23 subscriptions. Honorable mention should be given Robert Pease, who came in fourth with 20 subscriptions.

The total number of subscriptions brought in by the contestants was 187. Others entering the contest were Dick Lowe, Jimmy Crossingham, Virgil Money, Mary Garden Lewis, Mildred Lewis, Jack Toler, Emily Ardner, Ronald Tilley, Robert Pease, Katie Edwards, Jimmy Lamm, and Shirley Johnson. Representatives of the HIGH SPOTS continued to take subscriptions from those in the home rooms who had not already subscribed.

Although Mount Airy High School suffered the loss of six teachers this year, the school board was able to secure six well-qualified teachers.

Miss Elizabeth Sargent takes Miss Sara Wilson Jones' place, Miss Jones remaining at home in High Point this year. Miss Sargent, who attended Woman's College, has charge of homeroom nine and teaches typing and shorthand.

While at college she was elected May Queen and also served as chief marshal her junior year. The Woman's College annual of '41-'42 carries two full page pictures of her.

Miss Sadie Wolfe, editor of HIGH SPOTS in 1938, fills the vacancy left by Miss Beverly Steinert, a very popular teacher in Mount Airy high, is attending school at Carolina this year and also doing laboratory work there. Miss Wolfe attended Greensboro College and during her senior year there served as president of the student body. She has homeroom six and teachers biology and eighth-grade science.

Miss Lucy Dix teaches home economics to the girls this year in place of Miss Mam Ficklen, who was married the summer and now lives in South Carolina. Miss Dix is a former Mount Airy high school student. When asked where she attended school she replied, "Madison College, Harrisonburg, Virginia, and it really is a good school." While at college she was very active in all phases of college life.

Miss Grace Sykes, who fills the shoes of Miss Jeanette Trotter in the Mount Airy high school library, came to this school from Stoval, North Carolina, where she has taught for the past few years. Miss Sykes attended Chowan College and the University of North Carolina, and this year she has charge of homeroom seventeen. She has already made herself very valuable to the high school students.

Friday, October 9, a large number of Mount Airy High school students went to see the picture, "Oliver Twist," given at Rockford Street Auditorium for the price of ten cents. All students who attended the picture were given credit for one book report. Before the main picture started a comedy "Holland Days", was shown which provoked hearty laughter from students and faculty.

Ellis M. Hawks, better known to most Mount Airy High school students as "Bill", sent in the first subscription to the High Spots. Bill graduated from Mount Airy high last year after which he entered the navy and he is now located at Solomons, Maryland.

By October 12 seven rooms in Mount Airy High school had joined the Junior Red Cross. With a total already of $13.46, the school is expecting to continue the drive on up into November. Every room in the high school has always been a hundred per cent but this year special emphasis has been placed on the Red Cross, and the school wants to have the most successful drive in history.

Thursday, October 8, students in Mount Airy High school was awakened in their second period classes by the sudden ringing of the fire drill bell. As the students marched out single file, the ones coming out of the left hand side of the building marched up toward Main Street while the others went down South Main. No fatalities were reported.

All the schools of Mount Airy and neighboring schools are taking an active part in the scrap metal drive. North Main, according to the present report, has collected 50,000 pounds. The students of North Main not only collected scrap metal but also formed an army. A private is the first and lowest rank. The students are then promoted to First Class Private, Corporal, Second and First Lieutenant. The students received these ranks according to how hard they work in getting the scrap metal to school.

Rockford Street school, with 30,000 pounds of scrap metal, also got a half holiday Friday afternoon. Their goal was 10,000 pounds, but their goal has almost been doubled.

15,000 pounds of automobile parts, water tanks, and thousands of other things have been collected by the students of Bannertown school. The grade which has turned in the most scrap metal will get

The four talented young artists who comprise this group, Misses Loraine Lucas, lyric soprano; Jean Sharon, mezzo soprano and dancer; Judi Soffere, contralto; and Mary Louise Cressy, pianist, present a program especially designed for war-time audiences.

The program is divided into three distinct parts. Part A is composed of good music from operatic and semi-classical fields, while for the second part the artists invade Latin America for their theme and inspiration. Spanish costumes, familiar Spanish rhythms and authentic Spanish dances by Miss Jean Sharon make an attractive and pleasing display.

For the finale the young ladies are at their best in a patriotic group titled "Victory Belles Parade." Dressed in the colors of freedom, they present a rousing group of folk and military songs that have sent men into battle to

Girl Reserves Elect Officers

When the Girl Reserves Club under the leadership of Miss Lorene Graham and Miss Lucy Dix met for the first time this year the club elected new officers for the year 1942-43.

The following officers were elected: President, Betty Gray Ward; vice-president, Adele Daber; secretary-treasurer, Marjorie Brannock; chairman of Program Committee, Geraldine Miller; and chairman of the Social Committee, Betty Hill.

The club will have two meetings a month this year. They will meet on the first and third Wednesdays in the school library.

The members are planning an all-out effort in the war program this year and will have for their projects during October and November the making of U. S. O. Scrapbooks and the Share-our-Clothes-Plan.

In the making of U. S. O. Scrapbooks for the soldiers the girls will cut out interesting stories and articles from the best magazines and combine them all in scrapbooks. After these books are finished, they will be sent to the National Board of the U. S. O. From there they will be distributed to the various U. S. O. centers for the enjoyment of the soldiers.

The other project, the Share-our-Clothes-Plan, is a plan by which the Girl Reserves will share their wardrobes with needy girls of their own age. The club members will repair and donate their outgrown dresses to the American Friend's Service Committee from where they will be distributed to war sufferers and girls in countries whose families are not able to provide enough clothing for them to keep warm.

Sadie Hawkins Dance - Race To Be Sponsored

All Lil' Abners and Daisy Maes of M. A. H. S. will gather in front of the high school Friday night, Oct. 30th at 8:00 o'clock for a real Sadie Hawkins race which will end in a dance at the gym.

The boys will get one half minute start on the girls, and then the girls will chase them until they catch one. When a boy is caught he must ask the girl to go to the dance with him. Anyone who does not want to enter the race, may come to the dance at 8:30.

The HIGH SPOTS poll showed a very favorable report concerning the number that wanted to participate in the race.

Since a large number of the students want a Sadie Hawkins race, and since there will be good music furnished by the turntable presented to the school by the junior class of '42, every one can have unlimited fun.

The Great Step Between High School and College

The step between high school and college is the greatest step in a man's life. When you enter college you are no longer "babied." You can study if you want to or not if you don't want to. If you do not study the professors, will not fool with you. They don't worry their heads off about one or two pupils who do not intend to work.

You can talk, smoke, or anything you want to do on class as long as you get the work. Everyone in MAHS that is planning on going to college can thank about three of Another thing that impresses me about the colleges is the honor system. They place each student on his honor. The students realize that if they aren't truthful and honorable gentlemen the other students will have nothing to do with them. Many students have been boycotted for not being reliable. If the high schools were more like this and would ask every student if he would be on his honor not to cheat, there would be much better be between the teachers and the students.

High Spots Poll

The Inquiring Reporter obtained interesting information from approximately 500 of M. A. H. S. students when the following questions were asked:

Would you like to participate in a Sadie Hawkins Day Race ending in a school dance? The majority of the students were in favor of this. The few who were against it were the people who couldn't dance. There were about ten in favor of the dance but against the Sadie Hawkins Day Race.

What is your favorite record? "My Devotion" and "At Last" won out in this question. "Jingle-Jangle, Jingle" and "Serenade in Blue" won an easy second. "Ida Red" and "By the light of the Silvery Moon" came in third.

What is your favorite loafing place? The Pool Room and the Drug Store won out in this question. There were a few students who put school and home for their favorite places. The Brown Derby and Gibsons held their own.

Miss Florence Partridge

Mr. L. B. Pendergraph, superintendent of the Mount Airy school system, has employed Miss Florence Partridge as his secretary for the past two years. Florence, better known as Flossie, comes at 8:30 in the morning and stays til around 4:30 in the afternoon. She does all types of office work that is necessary.

Flossie is a graduate of Mount Airy High school and attended Greensboro College and W. C. U. N. C. of Greensboro before returning here. The very school spirited, charming, once-small Partridge twins are her sisters.

When asked if anything funny had happened this year she replied,

Senior Teacher Stresses Student War Responsibilities

Mrs. Tom Mackie, senior home-room sponsor and history and Spanish teacher in Mount Airy high school, said today that M. A. H. S. students must assume more responsibilities than ever before. The teachers are being called out on war business so often that the students must take care of themselves.

"Aside from that," said Mrs. Mackie, "chances are no changes will be made except in basket ball and baseball. We will have few basketball games and fewer baseball games. Of course, this is due to the tire and gasoline shortage."

Mrs. Mackie continued, "Our school socials will flourish. Now is the time to keep good-will among the students. These social activities don't cost us anything, and there is no reason why we should not have them."

"I think we will have a very successful school year; I don't know of anything that could prevent it," said Mrs. Mackie.

Girls Phys Ed.

What a wave of excitement there was when the girls learned that they would be required to take physical education. Some were delighted with the idea, some said they wouldn't take it, while others decided they would be willing to a trial—knowing all the time that each and every one of them would take physical education with all the trimmings.

Now at the end of five weeks experience the majority are delighted with it, and it is hard to remember how it used to be when there was no such training for the "weaker sex."

Of course there have been some aching muscles, some falls, and can study if you want to or not if you don't want to. If you do not study the professors, will not fool with you. They don't worry their heads off about one or two pupils who do not intend to work.

You can talk, smoke, or anything you want to do on class as long as you get the work. Everyone in MAHS that is planning on going to college can thank about three of the teachers and the principal for preparing them for this. Some teachers in some high schools embarrass the students by "babying" them. Naturally this tends to make the student show that he is not a baby. Mr. Finch no doubt has had many worries over such things as this.

CLUBS

Many students, no doubt, have been wondering what became of the clubs this year in MAHS. Mr. Finch solved the mystery by announcing that clubs could be formed again this year if enough members were interested. Those interested may ask the teacher who headed the club last year to reorganize it. Meetings would be held in activity period or after school.

Mr. Finch said, "It was agreed upon by the teachers at the first meeting that a thirty minute activity period only gave time for a nice business conference which left out the real club functions. Therefore there is no period definitely set aside for clubs."

The only club to be organized this year is the Girl Reserves Club headed by Miss Dix and Miss Graham. Mrs. Barringer's Debating Club, the Science Club, and the Home Economics Club for boys are other possibilities for this year.

SUPPORT YOUR S. C.

If a student has any grievances concerning laws made by the school, let him lay his complaints before his class representatives of the student council. Above all don't gripe and blame the student council for doing its duty. Its purpose is, after all, to enforce school regulations. True sportsmanship does not end on the athletic field but is manifested also in the observance of all school laws.

that they aren't afraid and honorable gentlemen the other students will have nothing to do with them. Many students have been boycotted for not being reliable. If the high schools were more like this and would ask every student if he would be on his honor not to cheat, there would be much better ... be between the teachers and the students.

The teachers can help prepare the students for college, but the student must apply himself considerably. Since high school is comparatively easy and college is exceptionally hard, the student must acquire all the knowledge he possibly can in high school and at the same time learn to discipline himself.

How To Get On A Crowded Bus

Have you ever been in the Winston-Salem bus depot on Saturday and tried to get a seat on the Mount Airy bus? This was the predicament of the Granite Bears the Saturday after the Lexington game. There they were, waiting in a distant town, with a horde of fellow passengers who were all ahead of them. It looked as if the victorious Bears and Coach would have to stand in the aisles; and were they tired after jitterbugging till mid-night (we do mean Sandy) at a dance after the game Friday and riding around town until the wee hours of the morning in a certain green "A model"!

As the bus pulled in close to the loading platform the over anxious crowd pushed a member of the team, namely Frank Graves, so close to the edge of the platform that the 8 ton goliath eased its front wheel against his toe with the platform as a backstop. After a few lusty yells by the unfortunate victim, the bus slowly withdrew and Frank rapidly extracted his bruised toe. The bus driver held back the crowd and called him into the bus to see if his toe was hurt. Coach followed to inspect his player who in turn was naturally followed by the rest of the team. As the whole team was then waiting at the door, the driver let them in first so they all got to rest their weary bones in peace.

Flossie is a graduate of Mount Airy High school and attended Greensboro College and W. C. U. N. C. of Greensboro before returning here. The very school spirited, charming, once-small Partridge twins are her sisters.

When asked if anything funny had happened this year she replied, "Nothing funny has happened since John Mickey." Flossie is always surrounded by a great number of students, and if she should ever leave Mr. Pendergraph, there would be a big gap at the office.

Flash, Flash: We find that Flossie must leave us to go to New York. It is rumored that Nancy Lewis will take her place.

Coach Shelton, adding this work to his many other duties, is proving an excellent instructor, and the results of his efforts should be seen during the coming years in the form of strong, healthy girls.

ALUMNI

Our dear ol' M. A. H. S. graduates seem to be doing fine in their respective fields.

We'll start off with Miss Cleo Vaughn, our Student Council president of 39 and 40 and the only one to be married since graduation. Cleo, we hope you'll be very happy.

Edward Jackson, Phi Kappa Sigma at W. & L., seems to be doing quite all right. Ed was our editor-in-chief in 1940 and is heading on upon the W. & L. paper staff. He's working mighty hard (so he says.) Jim Miller is running first string on the Freshman team at Duke University. Jim won out over 12 other competitors for his position. Nice going, Jim.

George Sparger, in spite of a nose injury sustained in practice, is really going places on the Carolina ball club. George played about half the game against South Carolina and went to New York to play Fordham. Keep it up, George.

Jack Folger, Joe Fowler, and Barney Toler make up a large part of the second team for the Carolina freshmen. All three of these boys are playing heads-up ball.

Madison To Meet Bears Here In Last Home Game

Reidsville Game Decides Western Championship

The Bears meet the Madison football team at Mount Airy October 23, in Mount Airy's last home game of the season. The Bears defeated Madison last year by the score of 45 to nothing. Coach Shelton says he is expecting more competition this year.

The M. A. H. S. football team will travel to Winston-Salem October 29, to meet the Golden Lions of Reidsville in a state championship game. The teams will play on a neutral field this year because of the confusion caused by last year's game. The Bears won a close 15 to 7 verdict over the Lions last year and the game is expected to be another thrilling affair.

Bears Off To Flying Start In 1942 Season

The victorious Bears continue to march triumphantly in the 1942 football season. Transportation difficulties notwithstanding, the Bears have, in two home games and two away, piled up a total score of 71 points.

A summary of the games follows:

Lexington

was the third straight victory for the Bears squad of 1942.

Due to wartime scarcity of gasoline and tires the Bears were forced to travel by Greyhound. The squad making the trip was limited to 14 players and one manager.

The Bears struck hard in the first play of the game when Cox took a pass from Folger and dashed 68 yards for a touchdown. The Bears again got the pay off by Folger's taking a lateral from Tom Browne and speeding 66 yards for a second touchdown.

Carlton, Dorsett, and McBride were outstanding in the Lexington line-up, Dorsett accounting for the touchdown.

Gray.

Under a waning, half-hidden moon the Mount Airy Bears continued their winning streak by trampling the Gray Hounds of Gray high, Winston-Salem, on Reddick Field 14-0.

Although an enthusiastic crowd supported the Gray eleven, enthusiasm was no match for ability and bull-dog determination of the Bears. The stirring contest was frequently punctuated with the Bears smashing through the Gray line for long runs.

To Freddie Folger, Mount Airy quarterback, went the credit for the longest run of the game—a gain of twenty-nine yards in the third quarter. Mount Airy's first tally came in the first quarter, when the Bears marched down the field deep into Gray territory. This advance, led by the ten and fifteen yard dashes of Tom Browne, brought the fighting Bears within scoring distance. Then Tom Browne, who made all of the first downs, was allowed to carry the pigskin across the goal line. After the kick by Sandy Simmons for the extra point, the score stood: Mount Airy, 7; Gray, 0.

During the second quarter, in which no score was made, Gray took the offensive only to be gradually forced back by the superb punting of Freddie Folger. Aerial attacks by both teams failed to click, giving more responsibility to the linemen.

Again in the third quarter the Gray team was forced to yield ground under the hammering ground attacks of the Bears. As the Bears neared their opponent's goal line, Bill Tesh was given the honor of making the final plunge.

With the score 13 to 0 in Mount Airy's favor Simmons repeated his excellent footwork boosting the score to 14.

Rousing cheers could be heard from the cheerleaders and the cheering section from time to time, especially in tight spots.

Otstanding players for the Gray Hounds were Pinkston and Crocker.

SPORTS HONOR ROLL

Ernest Randleman, hard hitting little back of the Bears this year, is one of the outstanding defensive players on the team. Randleman, the unsung hero of past, has also had a lot to do with the defensive play of the Bears. Although he hasn't actually accounted for a score, he has helped in his way. Whenever Ernie has a man to block, that man will be blocked.

Emmet "Lum" Semones, veteran tackle of the Bears, is one of the main standouts in the forward wall this year. Emmet has stopped many plays going for long gains and is a menace to the opposition because he is always in there to fill up that gap.

defend their homes since the founding of the Republic.

On Wednesday October 28, "Slim" Williams, rugged, straightforward philosopher and humorist who spent thirty-two years in Alaska and the Far North will present a lecture illustrated by color films of his own Alaska. This Alaskan pioneer drove his dogs 5,600 miles, to Washington, D. C., to plead for the Alaskan-Canadian International Highway and later rode a motorcycle over the proposed route.

The world famous S. S. Henry Company will display pastel drawings, crayon pictures, cartoons, sand paintings, and magic tricks during their two-part show which appears the third week, "November 4.

"Polly's on the Air", a three-act comedy which burlesques radio advertising will conclude this year's Collin's Entertainment Festival on November 11.

FOLLOWING THE TEAM

a good time for the Bears. Be careful, Bears, and don't let them show you too good a time.

* * *

Willie Johnson did a good job as cheer leader for the team at Lexington. His cheering squad was Thomas Elder and you could hear them faintly through the great crowd at Lexington. Willie stayed over with the team and he said he had a very good night.

* * *

A little boy in Lexington was asked by a member of the MAHS football squad what he thought of Mount Airy's team. He studied for a while and then looked up and said, "They are pretty tricky."

Seniors Present Play

The seniors will lead off in the year's series of student chapel program by giving a two act play, "Diogenes Looks for a Secretary" at Rockford Street Auditorium, Friday, Oct. 23.

The cast will be made up of Ann Clark, Susan Pendleton, Paskel Lineback, Carolyn Carter, Margaret Hatcher, Dick Lowe, and Adele Daber. One lone Junior, Jimmy Hadley, was drafted to play the part of the office boy.

The prologue of the play suggests its theme: "The spirit of Diogenes. The Greek, still roams the world. Thieves have almost divested him of his garments; the light of his lantern has long since been extinguished by the breath of scoffers; but the spirit still tramps on, searching for an honest man. Now his eye grows filmy and his bones begin to creak, looking for that eighth wonder of the modern world, the perfect secretary. It is a thankless task. The last candidate for his approval has called him a poor old dumbbell, another warned him to watch out for the squirrels, and still another has advised him to buy a nice little lot and settle down. Wearily, the old lyncic consults his pocket dictionary. He is thinking of attending a night school to learn the language spoken by the moderns. But there is a new class being graduated at the Roanoke Business College and he must be off."

Finally the lowly office boy works himself up and fulfills Diogenes' requirement of an honest man.

five dollars to spend for their best benefit.

The Negro schools in the system have reported 5,000 pounds of scrap.

The Mount Airy high school sells their household junk and automobile parts through the W. P. A. for thirty cents a hundred. The profit, if any, will go to buy books and materials for the library.

Strange looking scrap has been heaped upon the pile behind the high school. Among the scraps are water tanks, stoves, automobile parts, and a German helmet.

These figures are not complete, for scrap is being brought in steadily by students of all the schools mentioned. The drive will end for the city school system Friday, October 16.

War Effort Includes Physical Training For 500 Students

Coach Shelton, the physical education teacher, stated Wednesday afternoon to his fifth period class that there would be over five hundred students taking the course.

"We do not have much equipment, so the students will have to furnish their own clothing, which will consist of a sweat shirt, which I can get for you for 50c, an old pair of pants and the heaviest shoes you can get.

"The boys classes will meet on Monday and Wednesday, and the girls classes will meet on Tuesday and Thursday.

"Each student will get over six points each day if he bears down. Therefore some students will be able to make a hundred on it. This subject counts half a unit."
