

to. She did not know yr. Darling Mother - but she saw some one like her earthly mother and I believe it was my precious Sister. She was beautiful and gentle and tender enough to be a fit escort for two such lovely souls to the regions of the blest.
I found such a sweet piece of poetry in an old paper not long ago. Must send you one verse - which I changed a little. It makes me think of my two children and yr. Dear Mother. Here it is. You can cut it off if you like.

"I see afar,

The radiance streaming from its portals pearly - I catch a glimpse through gates left-half ajar!

Ah! lily-crowned are two who entered early -
And one who gave her soul to God - in lands afar, Shines like a star."
