

Taekwon-Do, a Unique Martial Art

For the past five months, Sherry Hinson (Automotive Division) and June Ward (Wet Finish) have been students of Taekwon-Do, a martial art. This form of self-defense has become quite popular among Chatham employees. Tim Pickett (Dye House) is also studying this art.

Sherry and June are very sold on the personal benefits of this program. They have shared some general information and history about Taekwon-Do.

Taekwon-Do, with Chinese, Japanese, and Korean influence, is a very unique form of martial art. Its use can be traced back to the 6th century A.D. on the Korean peninsula. In 1955 it was given the name Taekwon-Do by a board of instructors and historians. The name was selected for its apt description of the art: Tae (foot), Kwon (fist), and Do (art).

Taekwon-Do was made popular by Korean General Choi Hong Hi. Choi, a General known for great military achievements, perfected the art and began teaching it to his soldiers. Since then Choi has become a world renowned instructor of the art. Today this martial art, headquartered in Canada, is taught in over seventy countries.

Taekwon-Do is more than a martial art. It is a way of life. Its disciplines, techniques, and mental training are foundations for building a strong sense of justice, fortitude, humility, and resolve. At each class students must repeat the tenets of Taekwon-Do which are courtesy, integrity, perseverance, self-control, indomitable spirit, and victory. These principles effect body, mind and soul.

A high degree of etiquette is observed by students. This applies to the belt rank and age. Emphasis is placed on correct and proper salutation.

The health benefit of this martial art are extraordinary. The entire muscle system of the body is brought into play through exercise techniques. The training tends to be a normalizer of body weight in that it results in a gain of solid tissue for the underweight and a loss of body fat for the obese. Students develop agility.

Its strict self-imposed disciplines promote concentration and tenacity among students. This exercise relieves the tension and pressures of participants and helps clear and calm the mind.

Perfection of moral character is a part of Taekwon-Do. Its purpose is to eliminate fighting by discouraging the stronger's oppression of the weaker with a power based on humanity, justice, morality, wisdom, and faith, thus helping build a better and more peaceful world.

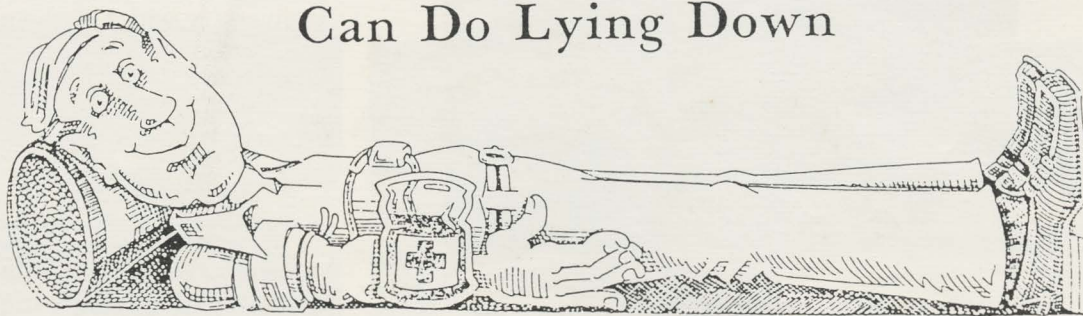

Taekwon-Do is popular among young and old, male and female, and even the handicapped. A dedicated student can make incredible personal achievement of mental and physical discipline. He can gain confidence in himself and his abilities.

In the ranking system of Taekwon-Do, character development, fortitude, tenacity, and individual capabilities are graded. The promotion scale is divided into nineteen ranks and nine degrees. Belt ranks are determined by testings. Testing involves doing forms, attempting to break a board, doing one-steps (a practice technique), and sparring. Sherry and June will attend a testing which is open to the public at the North Wilkesboro school on August 31. Good luck Sherry and June!

Sherry Hinson (Automotive Division) is pictured above wearing two medals she won at regional tournament competition in Charlotte. She won a gold medal in forms and patterns and a silver medal in sparring. The gold medal is the highest achievement, then silver, and finally bronze.

Volunteer Work You Can Do Lying Down

Giving blood is one of the easiest things you can do to help other people. All you really have to do is lie down. It hardly takes any time. Start to finish, from filling out a health history to snacking on cookies after you finish donating, the whole process usually takes about an hour. The time you spend actually giving blood is only about 6 to 12 minutes. You can do it at your convenience, too.

There are not many requirements for becoming a blood donor. You need to be at least 17 and not yet 76; you need to weigh at least 110 pounds and be in good health.

The only other requirement is that you care about maintaining a life-giving supply of blood for all those depending on it. So if you care, please come by the Bloodmobile to be held in the Personnel Building on Wednesday, August 28 and Thursday, August 29 between 10:30 a.m. and 3:30 p.m.

Our goal is 75 pints per day for a total of 150 pints for the drive. Come and volunteer to give the gift of life.

Retiring - Retiring

Doc Maness Retires

Doc and his wife Pat open presents at his retirement party as friends like Jim Heckel (Accounting) look on. Doc was given a retirement party at Western Steer by Data Processing. About fifty people were present.

Doc Maness has been employed with Chatham for nine years and eleven months. All of this time he has worked as a systems analyst in Data Processing.

Doc and his wife, Pat, make their home in State Road. They have one son, Michael.

Doc is going to be a busy retiree. He loves to play golf and plans to spend plenty of time on the golf course. He and Pat have several trips planned. They will be traveling to Myrtle Beach this summer and to Virginia to visit relatives. They intend to continue their annual trip to Homecoming at Williamsburg.

Doc loves to read history novels. He is especially interested in those written about the Civil War. Douglas Southall Freeman, the author of Lee's Lieutenants, is his favorite writer.

Doc is a member of Elkin Presbyterian Church and is President of Elkin Kiwanis Club. He and Pat will be attending the District Convention of the Kiwanis in Fayetteville, North Carolina.

"I've enjoyed working here. I appreciate everything Chatham has done for me. I'm looking forward to retirement," said Doc.

The Dancing Champs

"Come on baby. They're playing our song," said Spanky to his dance partner, Cocoa. Spanky is the Boston terrier of Charles W. Holcomb (retired) and Cocoa is the Shih Tzu of his daughter, Joyce Sacra.

This picture was taken at Charles' home when his daughter, Joyce, from Richmond, Virginia was visiting. The dogs were dancing around the room as you see above while some country music was playing.

Spanky looks forward to Cocoa's visits. They definitely enjoy each other's company. With or without music, it is not uncommon to see these two dancing around the room.

A Drying Of "Shirley Temple" Toes

*Two feet in the shade
of a rooftop mingle...
slither through pale, green grass
and sparkling morning dew...
to dangle relief
in a lawn chair;*

*And wet between the toes,
spread wide, then close
to caress a calico cat to purr
(at a brief, false pretense)...*

*Then fan the air in rapid motion
a dozen times or so,
spread wide, again, then close.*

LITTLE PILL

Oh, little pill here in my hand
I wonder how you understand
Just what to do, or where to go!
To stop the aches that hurt me so.
You work in regions there below
As down my throat you quickly go!
But where, I wonder, little pill,
How do you know where I am ill?
And just how do you really know
Just where you are supposed to go?
I've got a headache, that is true,
My broken bones need attention, too.
But how can anything so small
End my aches in no time at all?
Do you work alone - or hire a crew
To do the good things that you do?
I'm counting on you mighty strong
To get in there where you belong.
Don't let me down, and do not shirk
But do your undercover work.
So down my throat, be on your way
And end my aches another day.
Don't take a wrong turn, is my plea
My next pill doesn't come till three!
